IMPORTANT TO ADVERTISERS.

The PRESS has—in accordance with the fact—claimed for the last six months a larger circulation, Daily, Tri-Weekly and Weekly, than any other paper in the city or State, and has challenged the Pioneer to compare the circulation of that paper with the PRESS, and make the result public, which challenge has been constantly declined, thus, on the part of the Pioneer, practically admitting the larger circulation of the PRESS. The bills of newspaper for the several editions of the PRESS and Pioneer show conclusively that the circulation of the several editions of the PRESS is nearly two thousand sheets per week greater than the circulation of the Pioneer.

Republican District Convention.

A Republican District Convention, of the Second Congressional District of this State, will assemble at Saint Paul on the 30th inst., at twelve o'clock M., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for MEMBER OF CONGRESS from the Second District.

The different counties in the District will be entitled to be represented in the Convention by delegates who are bona fide residents of the counties from which they are accredited, as follows:

Aitkin	1	Lake	1
Andy Johnson	1	Lincoln	1
Anoka	2	Mahomin	1
Anoker	1	McLeod	1

THE NEWS.

Nothing startling has transpired since our last issue.

Vicksburg still holds out—that is, what is left of it.

It is given out that Commodore Foote is to command the important naval expedition now organizing—which means doubtless the James River fleet against Richmond.

Burnside is moving towards Richmond, and Pope's forces are concentrating.

The States are responding patriotically to the President's call for more troops.

MINNESOTA WOUNDED.

In addition to what we have already published, we find the following names of Minnesotians wounded in the late battle, in our eastern exchanges:

Arrived at Fort Monroe on the 2d, Charles M. Hoag, of company H.

By other arrivals, C. K. Fisher, H. G. Wells, company G.

Capt. W. Colville, Co. F, breast; D. Metzelbee, Co. F, finger; C. E. Robbins, Co. B, hand; J. C. Henry, Co. H, fever; H. G. Wells, Co. G; John Moore, Co. K; L. S. Wood, Co. G.

The following mention is made of Gen. Gorman:

Brig. Gen. Gorman, of Minnesota, arrived at Fortress Monroe on the 2d, from the scene of action before Richmond. He is suffering with typhoid fever, and has been sick for near three weeks. Nevertheless he has been in command of his brigade through six successive days of fighting, when the Medical Director ordered him to Baltimore.

The New York Herald says Col. Sully succeeded Gen. Gorman in command of the Brigade.

FIRES ON THE FOURTH.

The reckless use of fire crackers and other fireworks by children, little and big, on Independence Day, causes immense loss of property. Our readers know that one of the fairest and most prosperous cities of this State—Winona—was swept as with the besom of destruction, by fire, originating probably from rockets. In Chicago, the Tribune says, "since the morning of the Fourth, no less than four disastrous fires have occurred, three of which are directly traceable to the spirit of patriotism rampant among the children—the explosion of fire crackers." The aggregate loss of the whole country must be millions of dollars from Fourth of July nonsense.

THE DUTY OF MINNESOTA—OUR COUNTRY'S CALL.

The President of the United States upon the recommendations of the Executives of eighteen loyal States has called upon the country for three hundred thousand new troops, mainly infantry, to meet and defeat the rebel hordes now vastly outnumbering and pressing upon the Union armies already in the field.

Recent events leave no room to doubt the necessity of an increase of our force, and we call upon every citizen to ponder well this appeal to his loyalty, and to make the right response. There are no doubt many who thought the government had force enough to break the back of Rebellion some time ago, when they ceased recruiting. But the traitors realizing their position took the last desperate step that tyranny could devise. They ordered a levy en masse, and with their draft conscription laws, &c., they have forced every able-bodied man, both white and mulatto, in their Confederacy to join their ranks. By brute force and terror they have filled their ranks with some three hundred and fifty thousand conscripts, many of them Unionists, but lacking the power to resist that edict. They are dragged into the ranks of treason through simple terror of the swords and muskets that gleam around them.

The President finds it necessary to call 300,000 patriots into the field to meet this new horde of rebel conscripts and victims. This is in all probability the last appeal that will be made to the loyalty of our nation, as the rebels have now done their utmost, and must naturally grow weaker and weaker.

FREEMEN OF MINNESOTA, the people of the Southern States, mad with the fanaticism of slavery, have been inveigled into this war by ambition, by hopes of rapine, by terror, and finally by wholesale lying, until ten States and parts of four others are now under the control of the arch traitors, who are doing their utmost to divide and destroy our great and glorious Union. They must not succeed. You must on the battle-field prevent it. Resolve now that you will aid the government. Do not stand upon the order of joining but join at once. You that are of the requisite age and vigor must volunteer while others contribute of their substance to sustain the families of those who peril every thing to "save their country."

We do not desire to hide from our readers the serious chapter of recent events on the Peninsula, or to blind ourselves to the check our forces received there. But these ought not to discourage us—on the contrary it should serve to nerve the people to new determination and new efforts.

Let the voice of MINNESOTA assure the government that it has the fullest confidence in its ability to succeed, and that it has the undivided support of all the people in the great northwest demanding that the country shall be saved by the suppression of the Rebellion.

Every one who is able now to serve in defense of his country, should not delay one hour, but immediately prove his loyalty by swelling the ranks with men who would rather sacrifice their all than the wisest and best government in the world should be torn asunder and destroyed.

MINNESOTIANS we call upon you now in the hour of danger to come nobly up to your country's call, and show to the Government that in the hour of need there can be as much reliance placed on our little State as any in the Union. Let not Minnesota be behind hand in evincing her devotion to the cause of our imperilled country. For, on on the great Northwest with all its resources the Government has looked for its best and truest material. Never yet has our gallant little State lagged, and it must not in this hour of peril sacrifice the high reputation that has been won by her sons on the bloodiest battle fields of the war.

Severe Storm in Rice County---Celebration of the Fourth in Faribault and Northfield---Nearly Fatal Accident.

NORTHFIELD, RICE CO., MINN., July 8, 1862.

To the Editor of the Press:

A severe storm, accompanied by wind, passed over this county during Sunday night and Monday morning last. The bell and a portion of the roof of the Catholic Church in Faribault were carried away by the violence of the wind. Several chimneys in that place were also blown down, and a tree in a thickly settled part of the village was struck by lightning. Many trees in the big woods, and in the timber on the road from Northfield to Faribault were twisted and broken off by the wind, so that the road in many places was obstructed by the fallen timber. A tempest of equal severity has rarely visited this region. I have heard of no casualty to life or person.

The Fourth in Faribault—batmg an exceedingly uncomfortable, hot, windy day—passed off finely. A large number were in attendance, and the orator, Jas. W. Taylor, Esq., of your city, if he did not quite satisfy the wishes of the secessionists-as-much-as-they-dare-be among us, met the views of the truly loyal men in the patriotic views expressed. The fireworks in the evening were, I suppose, quite as much an object of attraction to some as the "thoughts that breathe and words that burn," served up during the day.

Northfield, also, had its celebration, with Rev. Daniel Cobb, of Red Wing, for orator of the day, its large gathering of people from the adjacent country, and its night display of fire-works. The oration is generally commended by those who listened to it, and nearly everything went off pleasantly. What came near being a fatal accident to a son of one of the citizens, partially marred the pleasures of the day. The youth had gone into the river with others to bathe, and getting beyond his depth, narrowly escaped drowning. He had gone down the fourth time, and was rescued by the ready skill and prompt action of Mr. C. Cutler, who plunged in and brought him up from the bottom. After considerable effort the boy was resuscitated.

The people of Northfield have a most beautiful grove for celebrations of this kind, and seem inclined to improve their privileges with each recurring anniversary of the nation's Declaration of Independence.

The crops in all this region look finely. A Wisconsin farmer, just up from the southern part of that State, assures me that the crops here look much better and more forward than in his own locality.

Yours truly, DELTA.

Interesting Resume of the Recent Battles.

Correspondence Cincinnati Commercial.

HOME, Saturday, July 5th, 1862.—In the record of my last seven days with the army of the Potomac, some interesting facts were necessarily omitted, and some were not presented with sufficient distinctiveness. I shall mingle them together with some additional particulars and opinions, which I hope will enable our readers to understand the situation more perfectly.

I suggested rather than stated the condition of affairs at Malvern Hill, on Tuesday July 1st. Prudential motives restrained me from committing all the gloomy facts to publication. But the records of eastern journals now relieve me from further embarrassment. I was not competent to appreciate the reticence of the government relative to the situation of the army. Indeed, in common with many fellow citizens, I felt that the administration had been guilty of crime, not simply by concealing the gloomy facts from their constituents, but by resorting to actual deception in order to inspire false confidence. I believe the people of the North can not only bear the truth, but they prefer to confront it, as their noble soldiers have breasted death for the sake of truth and loyalty. There was wisdom, no doubt, in attempting to conceal the knowledge of the condition of the army from the enemy, yet it seems to me that the course adopted by the War Department was extremely absurd, since the wounded and others, who were returning, would be apt to circulate the tidings widely. The enemy must have been morally satisfied of the real condition of things, but from the fact that they did not pursue their destructive enterprise to the dreadful climax, justifies the inference now, that they were too cruelly punished to avail themselves of advantages in their favor which were the fruits of their own vehement energy. As it seems that they gave our desperate army more than a day's respite, it must rejoice all patriotic hearts to know that they failed to avail themselves of their golden opportunity, if God will vouchsafe a little mite of wisdom to his feeble instruments at Washington.

PREVALENT GLOOM.

If the brooding catastrophe has really passed away, it will be easy hereafter to explain that the situation of the army of the Potomac was not so desperate as has been suggested. But, fellow-citizens, those who realized the gloom which oppressed all hearts and minds on that terrible Tuesday, can cite facts to prove that there was but one other condition in which that army could have been more frightful. Absolute and irretrievable ruin menaced us. It was believed that the enemy was massing his forces that day for a final combined movement, which but for some unlooked for interposition of Providence, it was feared would have swept the army of the Potomac into James River. Preparations were made for the catastrophe. It was resolved by that (then) enfeebled and wasted army to fight a fight of desperation. But it seemed hopeless. Our numbers had been fearfully reduced by sickness, exhaustion and battle. Those who still stood shoulder to shoulder, resolved to resist until death, exhibiting the most touching and sublime devotion to their country, were unable to retreat further had there been an open field behind them. But they were hemmed about with grim destruction. They hardly enjoyed a justifiable hope of extrication. It seemed that Malvrin Hill was to be our Thermopyle. Officers of exalted rank so expressed themselves—carefully it is true, that their sentiments might not reach the hearts of the devoted soldiers, who had fought so grandly, but it required no keen perceptive powers to discover the agony of despair which crushed their brave hearts. "We will wrap this hill in sheets of flame before they take it"—was heroism and despair in one terrible graphic sentence. Before our proud flag would have been humbled, there would have been an awful sacrifice of human life, but it was sadly believed the sacrifice would soon be made. At Trent's I had asked our leader what were his hopes for reinforcements? With looks and gesture of indescribable despondence he replied—"I cannot tell. None have been sent. I only know that I shall live and die with the army of the Potomac." The retrogressive movement had not then begun, but disaster was looming up in dreary proportions. At Malvern Hill, as at Savage Station, White Oak Swamp, and on the march, his usually cheerful countenance was scared with deep lines of care and anxiety. Those nearest him were grave and sorrowful. But why sketch the gloomy picture. Evidences to fortify the facts apparent to the people, could be multiplied almost indefinitely. Every hour of Tuesday which wore away without calamity was so much gained—also much hope, so much prospect of relief, and as it verged upon darkness without the grand movement of the enemy which had been anticipated with a shudder all day long, the heavy load upon our hearts seemed a little lighter. It is true that supplies were scant, but the troops did not suffer so much from want of food as from physical prostration. One night's undisturbed rest would have changed the conditions altogether. That was impossible. Those who did dot stand in line of battle were required to dredge in the trenches, so that there was no respite for any. Soldiers in the trenches dropped from sheer weariness. You can put no finer point upon it. God be thanked for his mercy, the battle of Monday, and the stupidity or inability of the enemy on Tuesday—as it now seems—proved a rainbow of promise to those who had fought so long for human rights.

DARK HOURS PASSED.

From my knowledge of the situation, I cherish a strong hope—amounting now to conviction—that the darkest hours have passed. It was the cruel belief of all on Tuesday that the enemy was massing his power to close upon us that day or the next. As they failed to press upon us then, I feel satisfied that they lost their golden opportunity, I left Harden's Landing (headquarters) at about 7 o'clock Tuesday evening. The army was above that point. The position on which our last standing would be made, when the climax should arrive, was Malvern Hill. Here some fighting was going on, but not a general battle. We had repulsed the enemy in the terrible battle of Monday, but that night our lines were necessarily contracted. Both flanks were protected somewhat by gunboats, but still part of our position was assailable. Had the army been fresh we could have defied assault. At 8 o'clock our steamer left Harrison's Landing, several miles below, perhaps 2,000 troops, which were returning from hospitals, including the two regiments which had been sent, with Gen. Stoneman to decoy the enemy to White House, and the White House garrison, were then anchored in the river awaiting orders. Our transportation trains were arriving from Malvern Hill but the army was not following. Supplies had not even then arrived. That night, however, we met transports with supplies and reinforcements, and before Wednesday morning the army had received some relief, enough, perhaps with the inactivity of the enemy, to save it. But you know now that the country was never before in such awful peril. Do you not thank Almighty God that he has so mercifully spared us from awful calamity?

THE POSITION.

With limited time, I endeavored to convey to readers a clear idea of the position of the army. It may be wise perhaps to restate it. With our backs to the James river, facing the enemy, who pursued from Fair Oaks, our left rested on Malvern Hill, which looks down into Turkey Island, in Turkey Bend. Our left wing as we faced, was posted on the crest of the hill, about opposite the head of the island, a mile from the river. A narrow valley lay between the hill and the river—covered by both the army and the gunboats. In front of the left wing, up the river, there is a wide cultivated bottom, with an intervening swamp and heavy forest. The center bowed out towards the southeastern corner of Richmond, and swept around northwardly in irregular horse shoe course towards White Oak swamp. And the left curved back again towards Harrison's Landing Malvern Hill, as you now understand it, is a lofty bluff, unapproachable, almost impregnable on the river side, and upon the declivity looking down upon the swamp I have described. The north front however, is much less abrupt, and the hill itself, perhaps a mile square (may be more) in area, could, with fresh troops, be made a very powerful fort within thirty-six hours. The exterior positions were simply woodlands and plantations alternately, with some considerable undulations on Turkey Creek. Below Malvern Hill, the plateau in a bluff and a swamp—materially contributing to the defensibleness of the position. In short, the site is admirable for defense—with the proviso that the army has time to fortify it. It is strong in any light, and its sanitary merits are conspicuous. It is about seventeen miles below Richmond via the river, and some forty miles above the Chickahominy. Fort Darling is on the opposite side of the river, some ten miles, I think, above. Three main thoroughfares—the Charles City, Central and New Market—roads, and one obscure road, passable in dry weather by infantry and artillery, lead to it from Richmond, and several roads are open towards it from the Chickahominy, so that the enemy could launch columns upon it from the front and both flanks. The gunboats, however, protect the flanks directly, and the river and Turkey Island protects the rear. I am not familiar with its strategic relations offensively, in any other sense than that which will occur to readers and the enemy.

STRENGTH OF THE ARMY.

Of the exhaustion of the army you have read enough to distress you. It would not be prudent to attempt to state definitely how much of it has been reduced numerically. But there can be no impropriety in stating that Gen. McClellan was never able to carry over 80,000 effective men into battle. When he landed at Fortress Monroe his muster rolls exhibited 115,000 men of all arms. A considerable proportion of these, say 8,000, were cavalry, of which 2,000 were serviceable. The remainder would have served their country better behind their plows at home. Others were necessarily detailed to keep open our communications and protect our flanks—leaving about 100,000 to be disposed of. A very large per centage of sick was then to be substracted. It is not very extravagant to say that wounds and deaths at Yorktown cost us 1,000 men: Williamsburg cost us 3,000 men; West Point 250; Hanover Court House 500; Fair Oaks, so say official bulletins, 5,700. I wish I could believe that were all. Skirmishes and affairs in front of Richmond, 1,000 at least, Mechanicsville 300 at least; Gaines' Hill 7,700: Savage Station 1,000; White Oak Swamp and Turkey Creek—oh, how many! Where are the stragglers? To be sure, the enemy have lost full as many, but they could afford it. With out attempting to estimate the average number of sick, I will give one exceptional fact which may cause you to shudder. When Gen. Casey's division landed at Fortress Monroe it numbered 13,000 men. When his Division was routed at Seven Pines it numbered less than 6,000 men. All the rest were dead and in hospitals. But no other division suffered as much. After Seven Pines it was no division at all. Many of these losses were compensated by reinforcements—seven regiments, say 5,000 men, from Fortress Monroe, and McCall's division of 10,000 effectives from the Rappahannock. But even with all these reductions, the army could sustain itself against attack if it had requisite rest and supplies. I state these facts because the crisis seems to have passed. Reinforcements and supplies have been forwarded.

OUR LOSS OF MATERIAL.

Some of the eastern papers have published so many misrepresentations of affairs since the army landed on the peninsula, that no man can hope to counteract their influence. Extravagant statements, made with a view to apologize for General McClellan, doing him much injury, have been published about his late misfortunes. I will not now attempt to specify. The grand facts in relation to the retreat have been already communicated to the Commercial. Our actual losses of war material were comparatively trifling. I could not learn that any siege guns were lost. I saw none at Fair Oaks but six Rodman guns and four large pieces of ship ordnance. They were in position on Malvern Hill on Tuesday evening. All our twenty and thirty pound Parrott guns were carried safely through. I think no field pieces of ordinary calibre were lost on the route, excepting one three inch ordnance gun. Twenty three inch guns were lost in Porter's battle; and an aid to Gen. McCall told me that twenty more were captured by the enemy in Monday's battle. I know that Randall's battery was lost. Excepting the stores destroyed at Savage Station, I think no others were lost, save about 200 wagons and wagon loads, which were destroyed Monday afternoon. Our loss of war material, (excepting guns) therefore, was not important.

MATTERS AT THE CAPITAL.

THE HOUSE DISCUSS GEN. HUNTER'S POLICY.

Negro Soldiers Historical and Useful.

THE WHOLE SUBJECT VENTILATED.

DISPOSITION OF RETURNED PRISONERS.

Special Dispatch to the Chicago Tribune.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Hunter's letter about his negro soldiers was brought up by a lively debate in the House Saturday, in which some very conservative men said some very ultra things, that must prove sadly firing for the Southern heart.

Wickliffe wanted to reconsider the vote by which Hunter's letter was ordered printed, and couldn't contain himself on the insult Hunter had offered to loyal people. He charged officers of the government and of the army with having undertaken, without law, against order, and in violation of every principle of humanity, to assume the power of enlisting slaves to serve against their masters. Gen. Hunter's letter was in manner and terms unbecoming a general. He held Secretary Stanton responsible for Hunter's conduct, and sneeringly said Hunter had better have been seeing to his business when the late disaster in South Carolina took place, than tinkering with negroes.

Mallory made the usual Kentucky speech against arming the blacks. He ridiculed the idea of making them soldiers: said a single cannon shot would put 10,000 of them to flight: and closed by declaring that arming them was barbarous, inhuman, and contrary to the practice of all civilized nations, and that it was almost as bad as putting the tomahawk in into the hands of the savage.

This stirred up Thad. Stevens, who inquired, how does it come that they are so dangerous to their masters, when a single cannon shot will put ten thousand to flight? Or how is it they have not courage enough to make soldiers when you call them savage and dangerous as Indians? But the gentleman was mistaken in his facts. Common history, he repeated, proved them false. It had been the general practice of civilized natons to employ slaves for military purposes, whenever and wherever needed.

Lovejoy here begged leave to interrupt, and read from common school history about Jackson's arming slaves in the war of 1812, and his promise to give freedom to all who served. He then read Jackson's general order, thanking the negroes for their gallant success, saying that he had not been unaware of their good qualities as soldiers, but that they had far surpassed his highest expectations, and re-assuring them of emancipation as a reward for their conduct. Lovejoy concluded his demonstration on the negro frightened gentleman by reference to another history, showing that one-fourth of the men who helped win Perry's victory on the lakes were negroes. The effect of all this was sensational. Men who had been denouncing Hunter could not have been more astonished if one of Hunter's own bomb-shells from Port Royal had been dropped among them.

Sedgwick heightened the effect by reading an elaborate statement of the New York State Librarian, showing that nearly every civilized nation had, some time or other, employed negroes as soldiers, and always with success, and winding up with the example of Brazil, the largest slaveholding empire of the world, using regiments of slaves at this very day, as among the best soldiers they have. Diven begged to trespass on Stevens' time, just to say that he had long been profoundly convinced that Congress failed in its imperative duty, just so long as it failed to provide for the enlistment of negro troops to serve in unhealthy regions to which they had become acclimated, and he now had a bill to that end prepared, and was ready to offer it at any opportunity. That (resumed Mr. Stevens) is precisely what I would have done long ago, only I wasn't a conservative, and so they'd have called it an abolition scheme.

Stevens then went on with usual earnestness and force, to urge the necessity of using negroes instead of white men. He declared that all over his State households were everywhere desolated to-day because we hadn't troops enough, and they wanted to call on them for more to be sent into unwholesome climates, where exposure was certain death to any white man, and asserting that, while such a policy was pursued, the suppression of the rebellion was hopeless.

The effect of the discussion was seen, when at the close of Stevens' speech the House laid Wickliffe's resolution on the table by a vote of 74 to 29.

There will be no more sneering at Hunter's letter or his negro brigade.

SALE OF SCHOOL LANDS.

NOTICE is hereby given that in compliance with Section 46 of an act entitled "an act to establish the State Land Office, and for other purposes," approved March 10, 1862, appraisers have been appointed, and will appraise the school lands in the following counties, viz:

ANOKA,	McLEOD,
BLUE EARTH,	MOWER,
BROWN,	NICOLLET,
CARVER,	OLMSTED,
DAKOTA,	RAMSEY,
DODGE,	RICE,
FILLMORE,	SCOTT,
FREEBORN,	STEARNS,
GOODHUE,	STEELE,
HENNEPIN,	WABASHAW,
HOUSTON,	WASECA,
LE SUEUR,	WASHINGTON,
	WINONA.

All lands appraised at or above five dollars per acre will be offered for sale at public auction at the county seat of each county on or before the first day of November next, further notice of which will be given.

Fifteen per cent. of the purchase money and interest to June 1st, 1863, will be required on prairie lands, and seventy-five per cent. and interest on timber lands, the balance of the purchase money with interest at 7 per cent. will be payable any time within twenty years, at the option of the purchaser.

No lands will be sold for less than five dollars per acre, nor less than their appraised value.

The aggregate amount of land offered will be upwards of SEVENTY-FIVE THOUSAND ACRES, comprising the best farming and timber lands in the State, and located in the most densely settled counties, their aggregate population in 1860 being upwards of 152,000.

All settlers occupying lands valued at less than five dollars per acre will be required to lease the same according to law.

The Rebels Fire Into a Mail Boat.

NO REBEL BATTERIES FOUND

Surgeon Gen. Hammond Reports our Army in Good Condition.

Refugee from Richmond Reports City Cannot Hold Out for Want of Provisisons.

WASHINGTON, July 8.

[Special to World.]—Intelligence from the James river has been received here to the effect that yesterday the rebels fired into the mail boat Juniata on her way to headquarters, killing two men and wounding six on board. The shot was from a six pound field piece. The gunboats failed to find any permanent batteries on the river or any rebel troops or indications of any attempt to build batteries.

Surgeon General Hammond returned from the army of the Potomac to-day and represents it as being in excellent condition and all the wounded are well cared for.

Dr. Oliver, the refugee from Richmond, states that it will be impossible for the rebels to hold out much longer at Richmond on account of the scarcity of medicines and provisions. Late Richmond papers received here say that Richmond is so full of sick and wounded soldiers that those who fell into their hands from the Union forces are cared for in fields by the city.

Senator Grimes gave notice to-day of his intention to introduce a bill authorizing the President to call on the militia of all the States without reference to color to aid in suppressing the rebellion.

Mr. Foster introduced a bill in the Senate authorizing the President to enter into agreement with any of the authorities of the West Indies for acceptance of all negroes whom this government may take from vessels engaged in the slave trade, provided that after we transport them there, no expense shall be incurred.

Bill Prepared to Give the President Power to Call Out the Entire militia of the Country.

None to be Exempt on Account of Color or Nationality.

NEW YORK, July 9.

Special to the New York Tribune says: Just at the close of the session of the Senate yesterday, a bill was introduced giving the President complete power to call out the militia of the country whenever he might deem it necessary, and whenever the call is made there are to be none excepted on account of color, cast or nationality. The President is to organize them into regiments or other divisions as he sees best.

Governor Boutwell has accepted the appointment of commissioner of internal revenue under the tax law, tendered him three or four days ago.

Com. Foote to Command New Naval Expedition.

MOVEMENT OF McDOWELL.

Concentration of Pope's Command

NEW YORK, July 8.

It is rumored that the navy department will soon place Commodore Foote at the head of the new naval expedition, for which vessels are fitting out.

Lieut. Frank Brownell, Ellsworth's avenger, is not killed, as has been reported.

Richmond papers claim victory as the general result of the late battles, tbut admit a defeat on Tuesday.

A Winchester letter of the 2d, says Geary advanced to Big Fort Valley, and had a slight skirmish with the enemy, driving them from the rocks and stone fences.

Gov. Andrews and Adjutant General Schoater of Boston have prepared and published military apportionment of the State, designating the number of men cities and towns are to furnish to make up the quota of Massachusetts.

CONCENTRATION OF POPE'S COMMAND.

WASHINGTON, July 8.

Gen. McDowell's corps has taken up their line of march for Warrenton, Va. This movement is preparatory to prompt concentration of Pope's command.

The Old Granite State Comes Nobly up to the Work.

CONCORD, July 9.

Resolutions have passed the Legislature unanimously pledging the Granite State to furnish her full quota of soldiers under the late call. Meetings are being held to encourage volunteering, in all parts of the State.

Patriotic Action of the American Express Company.

NEW YORK, July 9.

At a meeting of the Directors of the American Express Company, held in this city to-day, it was unanimously resolved that any of their present employees who may promptly enlist under the recent call for troops, shall continue to receive one-half of their pay during the term of service in the war, and their situation restored to them on their return. Two thousand men are in the regular employ of this company, at an average salary of $600 per annum.

Rebel Bombast.

WASHINGTON, July 9.

A late copy of the Richmond Examiner says the rebels could certainly cut off McClellan's retreat, but it would be far better to prevent his receiving further supplies, and starve him into a capitulation. It says, fill up our armies and prepare for a contest as long as our enemies will choose to urge it, and let it be as energetic as possible.

Naval Preparation for Advancing on Richmond.

Our Loss in Late Battles 25,000.

NEW YORK, July 8.

A Fortress Monroe letter to the Herald says some gunboats went up the river to-day and others will follow. A certain general who was looked for to-day has not arrived, but we still have hopes of seeing him before the going down of the sun. Weather is beautiful for the trip, and it seems strange he did not turn up. A large number of naval officers are here to report on their vessels hourly expected. This great point of interest is becoming more and more important. A few days longer and Richmond will be taken.

Other letters give the following as a correct list of escaped Union officers brought by the Massachusetts to Fortress Monroe: Lieut. G. W. Brown, 23d Mo.; Lieut. N. J. Camp, do.; Lieut. H. R. Mayer, 9th Ky.; Lieut. James S. Agry, 14th Iowa: Lieut. G. H. Logan, do.; Sergeant G. H. Rhodes, do.; Sergeant Miller Rhodes, do.

A letter in the Times places our loss in recent battles at 25,000.

A letter in the Herald reports the death of Colonel Woodbury, at the head of the Fourth Michigan regiment. This regiment was badly cut up, losing 53 killed, 158 wounded, and 33 missing.

Among the officers killed is Captain Rose. He was formerly principal of Union Academy, at Monroe, Michigan. In this company were a large number of his former pupils, eleven of whom are among the killed and wounded.

Captain Decue, a talented young lawyer, is among the killed.

Among the wounded are Lieutenant Earl and Captain Spaulding, the latter erroneously reported killed. Both these gallant officers left to-day on recruiting service. They say they will return within thirty days with the complement of the regiment restored.

Colonel McQuade escaped unharmed, although in the thickest of the fight.

The Enemy's Account of Tuesday's Battle.

Awful Carnage by our Artillery and Gunboats.

WASHINGTON, July 9.

The Richmond Examiner of the 4th calls Tuesday's battle the fiercest and most sanguinary of the series of bloody conflicts. Magruder's command was ordered to charge the strongest of the Federal batteries. The officers and men went down by the hundreds, while the horrors of the battle were increased by the continuous broadsides of the enemy's gunboats. The carnage from the withering fire of the Federal artillery and gunboats was dreadful. The rebel line wavered and fell back to the corner of the woods, and twice again was the attempt made to carry the position with the same result.

The Examiner says the battle-field surveyed through the cold rain of Wednesday morning presented scenes too shocking to be dwelt upon without anguish. The woods and fields were covered on the western side with our dead in all degrees of violent mutilation, while in the woods on the east lay in about equal numbers the blue covered bodies of the enemy. Many of the latter were still alive, having been left by friends in indecent haste to escape. Enormous shells thrown by the gunboats, eight inches in width by thirty-two in length—the ravages of these monsters were everywhere discernable through the forests, long avenues being cut through the tree tops, and great trees three or four feet thick burst open and split into shreds.

Indian Troubles on Central Pacific Route.

PACIFIC SPRINGS, Utah, July 7.

The Indians have taken all stage stock from three or four stations east of Rocky Ridge—thirty-two head in all: killed two emigrants and took their stock: also took 140 horses from Californians at Yo Springs. War with the Cheyennes and a few bands of Sioux appears inevitable. Only 500 troops are on the whole line—not enough for its protection.

LATEST FROM EUROPE.

Lord Brougham Softens his Speech.

CAPE RACE, July 8.

The Great Eastern has arrived.

Lord Brougham explained his speech in the House of Lords on American affairs, that he merely wished as fellow Christians to remonstrate with America in its civil war. Gloss it over as they might, the war threatened fatal results to the character of the American people.

—Mr. S. S. Hersey, Jr., in a letter to his father, gives the following account of the way in which Sedgwick's division received a rebel charge at the battle of Fair Oaks:

"I did not go over where Sedgwick had it with the rebels, but one of our men who did go told me it was sickening to see how they were piled up. When the rebels attacked, he stationed his artillery and supported it by forming his men in front of the guns like a V, with the open part towards the enemy, and his artillery behind the point. Then he placed his men at the guns, hitched on the horses, and made a great fuss, the men lifting and swearing, so that he actually made the rebels believe the battery was stuck, and could not retreat. The rebels thought they had the battery sure, and came on like so many devils. When they were within a few rods the infantry opened at the point, and the guns at that range poured in a terrific discharge of canister. The rebels broke, for there was a lane through them in front of every gun. They ran, and the old war dog, Sedgwick, sent his cavalry and infantry into the terror-stricken mass. You know what a thing for mischief cavalry is when once the ranks are broken, and they did dreadful work there. In front of Sedgwick's line there lay 1500 dead rebels."

—Gen. Pope graduated at West Point in the same class with the Federal Generals William S. Rosecrans and Abner Doubleday, and the rebel Generals Gustavus W. Smith, Mansfield Lovell, Earl Van Dorn and James Longstreet.

—General Scott is now at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. Hoyt, Sixteenth street, New York, and at present declines to receive visitors. He appears to be prostrated with grief at the recent death of his wife, and there are no indications at present that he will proceed to Washington.

—The wife of Colonel Christian, a Union man of northern Alabama, lately sent to General Thomas J. Wood a very beautiful and skillfully arranged boquet of flowers, and accompanied it with the following patriotic and noble sentiment: "Every leaf sends up a prayer for the preservation of the Union."

—It is rumored that Frank Brownell, of the 11th Regular Infantry, who killed Jackson, the assassin of Colonel Ellsworth, was himself slain in the late fight before Richmond.

—A late arrival from Nassau, in the West Indies, brings information which appears to fix upon a firm of New York merchants active complicity with the rebellion, indirect it may be, but none the less discreditable for its deviousness. It appears that this firm have shipped to Nassau, on their vessels, general cargoes suitable to the wants of the Southern States. When they arrive at Nassau the cargoes are transferred to vessels whose business it is to run the blockade, and thus aid and comfort is extended to the enemies of the Union.

—Daniel S. Donelson, Brigadier-General in the confederate service, while ordering his troops to burn other people's cotton and rice, in the Southern States, recently sold his own in Sumter county, Tennessee, for Yankee gold and "green back."

—Lieut. Thomas C. Floyd, of Company G, First Ohio Artillery, committed suicide in his room at the United States Hotel in Cincinnati, on Tuesday last, by shooting himself in the head with a pistol. He had been on a sick furlough, and was waiting for a discharge account of disability.

The Governors' Letter to the President

Misapprehensions and mistatements have grown out of the absence of the signatures of the Governors of Massachusetts and Rhode Island to the recent offer of troops to the President. The memorial was drawn up by Governor Morgan of New York, in consultation with Governor Curtin of Pennsylvania, and the responses received all contained patriotic sentiments in connection with the consent to add signatures to the document. Governor Sprague was absent on military duty in the army in Virginia, and it was on the day following the issue of the memorial that his dispatch reached Albany. With reference to Governor Andrew the Boston Transcript says:

We are authorized to state that Governor Andrew received a telegraph asking his signature to a letter respecting the raising of a large additional number of troops. His reply to the request was that he would be happy to sign such a document, after he had been made aware of its contents. Subsequently, Secretary Stanton telegraphed the form in which the letter had been couched, and Governor Andrew immediately replied, that it met his hearty and entire approval.

The proffer of troops is thus happily unanimous, and the quotas of the States require only to be announced to set the work of enrollment in motion. And we are glad to notice that the Federal Government is likely to return to the first policy of leaving the formation of the regiments to the State authorities, receiving at the hands of Governors the completed organizations ready to be mustered for service. By this process the first 50,000 was enrolled, and it will answer as well now as then. With the liberal bounties now offered the recruit—forty dollars in all is paid him on entering the service—and the unabated ardor of our citizens, the work of recruiting will and must go on rapidly. Every month is big with events, and our army is needed for the active work of the summer and coming fall.

BATTLE OF GAINES' MILL.

THE PANIC—EX-GOV. WOOD OF ILLINOIS—FARNSWORTH'S CAVALRY.

The New York Tribune's correspondent describing the battle of Gaines' Mill, relates these incidents which he saw:

It was only by overbearing exhausted men with fresh ones that the enemy succeeded in turning that flank, as at length he did succeed, only too well. And he accomplished it in three quarters of an hour. At the expiration of that time, our officers judiciously ordered their men to fall back; the order was not obeyed so judiciously, for they ran back, broken, disordered, routed. Simultaneously, the wounded and skulkers about the buildings used as hospitals, caught a panic, whether from a few riderless horses plunging madly across the field, or from instantaneously scenting the rout, does not appear. A motley mob started pell-mell for the bridges. They were overtaken by many just from the woods, and it seemed as if Bull Run were to be repeated.

The panic extended. Scores of gallant officers endeavored to rally and re-form the stragglers, but in vain, while many officers forgot the pride of their shoulder-straps, and the honor of their manhood, and herded with sneaks and cowards. O, that I had known the names of those officers I saw, the brave and the cowardly, that here, now, I might reward and punish, by directing upon each individual the respect or contempt of a whole people!

That scene was not to be forgotten. Scores of riderless terrified horses dashed in every direction; thick-flying bullets singing by, admonishing of danger; every minute a man struck down; wagons and ambulances and cannon blockading the way; wounded men limping and groaning, and bleeding amid the throng; officers and civilians denouncing and reasoning and entreating, and being insensibly borne along with the mass; the sublime cannonading; the clouds of battle-smoke, and the sun just disappearing, large and blood-red—I cannot picture it, but I see it, and always shall.

Among the most earnest in withstaying the frightened host was ex-Gov. Wood of Illinois. A large, handsome old man, with a flowing white beard and the voice of a Senator. I should not have been astonished had those poor, bewildered men taken him for some old patriarch risen from the dead and calling to them; had one risen from the dead they would not have heeded him. I thought, too, of the old regicide who left his concealment to head the simple Puritan villagers against the savages, and then vanished as quickly, leaving his appearance as the tradition of a heavenly vision.

Some time after the main body had passed on, when that stream had become decently small, in company with Governor Wood, I rode to find the Illinois cavalry, and came upon them stretched across the plain halting every unwounded man. They had cooped up several thousand, but the task of re-forming them was found impossible by even such officers as their Colonel and Major Clendenin, and they were at length permitted to continue rearward.

From Memphis.

MEMPHIS, Friday, July 4.

The prevalence of guerrillas in such numbers in this district, as well as in General Curtis' department, caused General Grant to issue a general order to the effect that whenever loss is sustained by the Government, collections shall be made by the seizure of a sufficient amount of personal property from persons in the immediate neighborhood sympathizing with the rebellion, to remunerate the Government for all loss or expense. Persons acting with the guerrillas without organization, or without uniform to distinguish them from private citizens, are not entitled to treatment as prisoners of war, and when caught will not receive such treatment.

On an island below the mouth of White river 2,000 men are said to be collected and united in self-defense against the oppression of the Confederacy.

The Daily Bulletin appeared this forenoon. B. D. Nabors and R. Hough are editors.

Goods and provisions of every description are low here. There is no chance for speculation. The market is well supplied. The amount of shipments North yesterday was 8,227 bales of cotton, 9,702 hogsheads of sugar, and 8,624 barrels of molasses.

THE FOURTH IN MEMPHIS.

MEMPHIS, July 5—10 A. M.—Yesterday passed pleasantly and quietly. There were no disturbances of any consequence. At sunrise a national salute was fired by all the batteries on land. At noon 100 guns were fired from the fleet. In the evening, at sunset, 100 guns from Capt. Cogswell's heavy battery. Crowds of citizens thronged the levee and different camps.

The steamers in the river were gaily dressed in flags and signal steamers, and were visited by many ladies and gentlemen. In the afternoon an old fashioned fourth of July celebration took place at Gen. Thayer's camp, in the eastern part of the city in a pleasant grove. The tables were bountifully spread, grace gracefully and earnestly said, and the dinner partaken of with relish; music, toasts, catawba and speeches followed, interspersed with singing and national airs by the band, addresses by General Thayer, Messrs. Charles A. Dana, late of the New York Tribune, A. D. Richardson, Rev. Sawyer, Capt. Blackson, Dr. Seymour, and other officers of the 1st Nebraska regiment, and other gentlemen. The best feeling prevailed, and all will remember the first anniversary of our national independence spent in Dixie land.

The telegraph North was first opened to press dispatches last night. Mr. Bacon, superintendent, will allow short, approved telegrams to newspapers daily hereafter.

Two thousand five hundred guerrillas are said to be collected at Helena, Arkansas, burning cotton, etc. Pickets are stationed at all important points to keep them informed of federal movements.

The Mississippi on either shore was covered with people desiring to escape conscription and guerrillas. North of Vicksburg the federal gunboats were continually importuned to take on persons of that kind. Something should be done for them. They are suffering the greatest hardships.

The provost marshal this morning issued an order forbidding the sale of spirituous or malt liquors within the city or immediate suburbs, or by store boats while at the landing.

Neither the Daily Avalanche or Argus appeared this morning, their editors and publishers having either neglected or refused to comply with the following order by Gen. Grant:

SPECIAL ORDER No. 10.—No newspaper will be permitted to be published within this District unless the editors and proprietors thereof shall first take the oath and bear true allegiance to the government of the United States of America, and will support the constitution and laws thereof, disclaim and renounce all allegiance to the so called confederate States. Local marshals will see this order strictly enforced.

Whether they finally comply or not, we shall not want for daily papers. A new one, the Daily Union Appeal, from the old Appeal office, edited by J. K. Davison, of Indiana—appeared yesterday morning, and this afternoon, another—the Evening Commercial, to be issued by Messrs. Sanders, Clark & Norton—to be strictly a newspaper.

FROM CORINTH.

THE LATE CAVALRY FIGHT.

FROM MOBILE.

CAIRO, July 5.—By arrivals from Corinth, we have particulars of the late cavalry fight at Booneville, participated in on our side by twenty-two companies of the 3d Michigan and 2d Iowa, two companies being posted two miles in advance of the town. These were attacked by twelve regiments of rebel cavalry, numbering 4,700 effective men, and driven back to Booneville, where other companies coming to their support the whole force was flanked on either side, and charged on the front by the rebels. Thus for seven hours did the little band resist this superior force, the two front companies being armed with six shooting repeating rifles and navy revolvers, mowed the enemy down by scores as they successively charged each time, throwing forward fresh men. The slaughter among them was terrible, though it is impossible to ascertain the number, as they carried off the dead and wounded. Continually charging and continually repulsed, they fought over three hours and then retreated, our men following them four miles. Our loss is four killed, fourteed wounded, and twelve missing.

The health of the army at Corinth is rapidly improving.

The line of railroad all the way from Columbus to Corinth is strongly guarded—transit safe.

A former employee of the Mobile & Ohio railroad, from Mobile via Tupelo, says there are two gunboats and one ram in the Mobile bay, and about 10,000 rebel troops below Mobile on the shell road, and that the fortifications around Mobile, commenced a month ago, are completed. The inhabitants are sanguine and think Mobile can't be taken.

He says Gen. Bragg is in command at Tupelo with 45,000 to 50,000 men. Gen. Breckinridge had left there with 30,000 men. All the troops were short of clothing and provisions, and have bacon twice each week, but no coffee or salt.

The rebels say the time will come to retake Corinth, and the rebel impression generally is that the majority of our troops have gone East. It is the unanimous testimony of scouts, deserters and spies, that no rebel troops except cavalry have gone East.

From Vicksburg.

MEMPHIS, July 5.—The ram Manassas arrived here from Vicksburg last evening, bringing letters from Commodore Farragut's, Porter's and Davis' fleets, to the 2d of July.

Storming the works was still going on, and responded to at short intervals.

The canal across the point opposite Vicksburg is nearly done. Five thousand negroes are working on it. It is out of range of the enemy's guns. These negroes were gathered from neighboring plantations.

This canal leaves Vicksburg eleven miles from the river, and makes it a country village hereafter.

The Confederates replied weakly. The city is not as badly damaged as at first supposed. The women and children and non-combattant residents were all sent away.

Farragut and Porter are below, and Davis above Vicksburg. There is no doubt that the stars and stripes now float above the city and batteries. An attack was planned for a Fourth of July celebration The rebel force is estimated at 16,000, not 30,000. Several hundred rebels are reported as already killed by the Federal shells. I shall send more particulars very soon.

Through Mississippi, hunger and starvation are rife. Women and children from Vicksburg are living in holes dug along the hills which rise back of the town, in most abject poverty.

From Cairo.---Southern News.

Special Dispatch to the Chicago Tribune.

CAIRO, July 6, 1862.—Passengers via Columbus report that the rebels are jubilant over a brilliant victory claimed at Richmond in the rout of Gen. McClellan's army.

The Cairo Gazette extra to-day contains a dispatch via New Madrid, that Vicksburg is ours. There are no particulars yet, and it is not believed here.

By a special order of Gen. Strong, issued to-day, none but those belonging to the army and navy are required to obtain passes to leave Cairo.

A dispatch from Vicksburg dated the 28th, says the rebels have planted a park of artillery on the bank of the river opposite the city.

Yesterday as the train was coming up from Humboldt to Columbus, a car loaded with cotton caught fire and was burned up.

An order has been issued closing the Mound City Hospital.

Death of Stonewall Jackson and Gen. Rhett.

BALTIMORE, July 5.—The Richmond Dispatch of Monday announced the death of Gen. Stonewall Jackson and of Gen. Barnwell Rhett of South Carolina.

The correspondent of the New York Post, writing from the army, says:

Elsewhere I have alluded to the fact that Jackson was knocked from his horse by a cannister shot from Martin's Massachusetts battery, during the fight on Friday. I can now state that the Richmond Dispatch of Monday, fomd on a prisoner taken last night, announces his death in solemn court: also that of Gen. Barnwell Rhett of South Carolina. Rhett was undoubtedly killed in the action at Savage's Station on Sunday. The prisoners further say that Gen. Longstreet was wounded in the back in the fight last night.

Medical and Surgical History of the Rebellion.

SURGEON-GENERAL'S OFFICE, Washington, June 9.

"It is intended to prepare for publication the Medical and Surgical History of the Rebellion.

"The medical portion of this work has been committed to Assistant Surgeon, J. J. Woodward, United States army, and the surgical part to Brigade-Surgeon John H. Brinton, United States Volunteers.

"All medical officers are therefore requested to co-operate in this undertaking, by forwarding to this office such sanitary, topographical, medical, and surgical reports, details of cases, essays and results of investigations and inquiries as may be of value for this work, for which full credit will be given in the forthcoming volume.

"Authority has been given to both the above named gentlemen to issue, from time to time, such circulars as may be necessary to elicit the desired facts, and the medical officers are desired to comply with the requests which may thus be made of them.

"It is scarcely necessary to remind the medical officers of the regular and volunteer service that, through the means in question, much may be done to advance the science which we all have so much at heart, and to establish landmarks which will serve to guide us in future.

"It is therefore confidently expected that no one will neglect the opportunity of advancing the honor of the service, the cause of humanity and his own reputation.

WM. A. HAMMOND,
"Surgeon General U. S. A."

The value of such a work can hardly be over estimated.

Proceedings of Congress.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—SENATE.—Mr. Grimes called up the resolution calling on the Secretary of War for official reports from Col. Canby in regard to operations in New Mexico. Adopted.

Mr. Hale introduced a bill repealing the act requiring the bonds of paymasters and assistant paymasters to be approved by the judge or attorney of the district in which he resides. Passed.

Mr. Chandler from the same committee reported back the bill to abolish certain ports of delivery in the Mississippi Valley. Passed.

He also reported a bill for the collection of the revenue on the northern, northeastern and northwestern frontier. The bill provides that vessels in the coasting trade shall file a manifest with the collector with the duties thereon, and authorizes the Secretary of the Treasury to appoint special agents at the re-opened frontier ports. Passed.

Mr. Lane of Kansas offered a resolution that the President be required to inform the Senate of the amount due to the State of Kansas from the several departments of the government with a view of applying the same on the taxes due from the said State. Adopted.

Mr. Wade called up the bill providing for certain post roads; the bill provides for a bridge across the Ohio River at Steubenville. An amendment was proposed to make the draw of the proposed bridge 300 feet instead of 270 feet. This was discussed at some length by Messrs. Wade, Cowan and Collamer.

On motion of Mr. Sherman the bill was postponed, and the bill making appropriation for the payment of certain bounties was taken up and passed.

On motion of Mr. Harlan the bill concerning certain lands granted the State of Iowa, was taken up and passed.

Mr. Grimes from the committee on the District of Columbia, reported a bill in relation to schools for colored children in Washington and Georgetown, which passed on motion of Mr. Foster.

The general pension bill was taken up and several amendments of the committee concurred in. Adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.—Mr. Wickliffe, of Kentucky, moved to reconsider the vote by which Maj. Gen. Hunter's reply to the inquiry as to the organization of negro regiments, was ordered to be printed. After a long debate Mr. Wickliffe's motion was tabled.

The Senate amendments to the United States note bill were non-concurred in, and a committee appointed. A joint resolution, assigning the first Tuesday of September for the corporators of the Pacific railroad to meet at Chicago, passed. A joint resolution was passed authorizing the Secretary of War to furnish clothing to wounded soldiers, to replace that lost by the casualties of war.

A resolution was adopted calling on the Secretary of War to inform the House whether any member of Congress has been interested in contracts since last April.

Scissorings.

—The present session of Congress reached its seventh month on Tuesday last.

—A Syracuse paper says a "colored lady," attired in the hight of fashion, sailed into a store and electrified the clerk by inquiring if he had one of them "hoop skirts with a digestible bustle."

—Dr. Garth, of Edinburg, stayed one night at his club long after he had said he must be off to see some patients. At length one of his friends becoming uneasy about the poor fellows, told him he had better stop drinking and be off. "It's no great matter," replied Garth, "whether I see them to-night or not; for nine of them have such bad constitutions that all the physicians in the world can't save them, and the other six have such good constitutions that all the physicians in the world can't kill them."

—All the pretty women in New Orleans are not Yankee haters. One of them recently fell in love with a handsome Union officer at first sight, and now that he is sick and in the hospital, she brings him flowers every day, soothes his aching brow, and says all sorts of sweet things to him. He is not very sick, but his brother officers think he will have a slow recovery, and it will be long before he will return to camp duty.

—A female writer says nothing looks worse on a lady than darned stockings. Allow us to observe that stockings that need darning look a great deal worse than darned ones, darned if they don't.

—A young lady in Georgetown, Virginia, was recently married to an officer in the regular army, and among the bridal presents was a loaded bomb-shell, sent by some of her secesh relatives.

—At La Crosse, Wisconsin, on the 8th inst., a man who first courted a daughter aged twenty years, then the mother aged over forty, and rejected by them both, was wedlocked, according to law, to the hired girl in the family he courted. That chap did not intend to have his love run waste while there was a show left.

—It is suggested that ladies who know how to preserve everything except their tempers, might save even that on the self-sealing principle. "Keep the mouth of the vessel tightly closed," is the recipe.

—A profound student of anatomy promulgates the remarkable fact that every man has several canals in his body, but no railroads. From the way some men keep the steam up it would seem as though they soon expected to have.

—A lawyer who was sometimes forgetful, having been engaged to plead the cause of an offender, began by saying: "I know the prisoner at the bar, and he bears the character of being a most consummate and impudent scoundrel;" here somebody whispered to him that the prisoner was his client, when he immediately continued, "But what great and good man ever lived who was not calumniated by many of his cotemporaries?"

BUSINESS LOCALS.

JULY—PIMPLES AND SKIN DISEASES are the result of impure blood. The blood becomes thick and clogged. The skin is not able to cast off the impurities so important to health. How many young men and women we see with their faces covered with pimples and blotches, who are endeavoring to remove them by the use of soaps and washes of various kinds. This is very dangerous and should never be practised by persons desirous of good health. Mothers who have children afflicted with sores and eruptions, should never dry them up by external applications, for in this way they will drive in the humors and produce ill health for the child during its whole life time. There is no mother that likes to see her children afflicted with feeble health.

Judson's Mountain Herb Pills are prepared expressly for the cure of eruptions of the skin, such as Pimples, Blotches &c. They cleanse the blood of all impurities, producing a beautiful, clear and healthy skin, so much admired by all people of taste and refinement.

Judson's Mountain Herb Pills are sold by all medicine dealers.

DR. UNDERWOOD,

Of Chicago, Ill., the eminent and skilful operator on the Eye and Ear, whose name and fame is so extensively known throughout the United States, for his science, skill and success in performing formidable operations, and in removing difficult and dangerous diseases from those delicate organs, has arrived in St. Paul and may be consulted at the AMERICAN HOUSE for a short time only.

Dr. U., who is a regular Physician and Surgeon of the old school, has had an extensive experience in both hospital and private practice of twenty-eight years, and will be found competent to perform any operation necessary to restore lost sight or hearing, or by other mild and gentle means to remove any disease from those delicate organs within the reach of science and human skill.

CHRONIC DISEASES, of every grade and character, whether requiring medical or surgical treatment, POSITIVELY and PERMANENTLY CURED, when not clearly beyond the reach of science and human skill.

Dr. Underwood treats all diseases on regular and scientific principles as recognized by the medical profession both in Europe and America, and hence does not use or deal in those pretended new and never failing remedies—specifics, inhaling vapors, and clairvoyant prescriptions—which are so ostentatiously paraded before the public by those impudent traveling quacks and money-fleecing empirics, nine-tenths of whom never were inside of a medical college. Patients afflicted or laboring under diseases of long standing, can consult Dr. U. with the most confident hope and expectation of being perfectly cured, or receiving with unerring certainty all the relief that the highest skill, the most judicious and scientific treatment can possibly bestow.

Among the diseases which the Doctor has lately treated with the most signal success, may be mentioned those of the Heart, Lungs, Liver, Stomach and Bowels—and Nervous Affections, Scrofula, Rheumatism, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, Dyspepsia, Neuralgia, Paralysis, Salt Rheum and Chronic Female Affections. my7-3m

DIVIDENDS ON CAPITAL LIMITED BY ITS CHARTER TO SEVEN PER CENT. PER ANNUM—

—THE ENTIRE PROFITS GO TO THE POLICY HOLDERS.

This Society was organized in the year 1859, with a cash capital of $100,000 deposited irrevocably with the Insurance Department of the State of New York, in United States bonds, on which it allows but seven per cent. per annum to the stockholders, and the entire profits of the business is shared by the policy holders. The nett profits in two years amounts to $129,000, which shows an unparalleled success in the history of Life Insurance. Its operations are managed by a Board of Directors composed of the the ablest business men of the country, and its business is conducted entirely on the cash plan. Dividends to the policy holders will be made every five years, and no Company in the country offers equal advantages to its dealers.

HOME

INSURANCE COMPANY,

NEW YORK.

Extract from Third Annual Report of the Superintendent of the Insurance Department of the State of New York. WM. BARNES,

Superintendent.

There are now ninety-five joint stock fire insurance companies incorporated by the State of New York, engaged in the transaction of business; of these companies, fourteen only received premiums during the last year, amounting to over one hundred thousand dollars; four only received premiums above the sum of two hundred thousand dollars, and the premium income of one only exceeded three hundred thousand dollars. The premium receipts of this Company, the HOME, with a capital of $1,000,000, were $829,993.33. The premium income of thirty of the smaller companies was $853,578.35 only, with capitals, however, amounting in the aggregate to the sum of $4,900,000.

The state of things should be improved; the premium income of the mass of our fire insurance companies is by far too small for their capitals, and inadequate to the proper support of a separate and independent corporation. The experience of the HOME, PHOENIX, (of Brooklyn) and some other companies, has demonstrated that, with proper skill, tact and sagacity, business can be increased and managed to an indefinite extent, with entire safety, and even additional security to the company. We have now the machinery and organization in working order for nearly one hundred joint stock fire insurance companies. In the course of a few years their business can be safely doubled, and even quadrupled, without doubling or quadrupling the yearly expenses. Any considerable expansion of business must of course be mainly effected through the instrumentality of reliable, safe, and well managed agencies. The premium income of the HOME amounts to nearly one-eighth part that of the ninety-five companies combined, so that eight corporations like the HOME could conduct the entire business of all these companies. If each company transacted the same amount of business as the HOME the aggregate premium income would reach the enormous amount of over seventy-eight millions of dollars per year. Our companies are not too numerous for the great future of this country, if managed on the progressive scale demanded by the spirit of the American people.

The annual statement of this our foremost local fire and inland company, made up to the first of January last, shows a condition of such positive strength and prosperity as to challenge unqualified admiration. In a circular accompanying the statement, subscribed by Charles J. Martin, President, A. F. Wilmarth, Vice President, and John McGee, Secretary, those well accredited officers very justly say: "The well-known reputation of the HOME for fair and honorable dealing, together with its capital of one million dollars, and surplus of over half a million in addition, all well invested, commend it to the special favor of all who desire reliable protection in the way of insurance, either fire or inland."

This is not saying one word too much for their company. The HOME is the crack company of our State, in high credit all over the Union, worked upon a comprehensive plan, and managed with admirable skill and efficiency. The assets of the HOME on the first of January last summed up to $1,521,208.08, against an actual liability of only $55,080.83; and, moreover, it is worth noting that the assets are all of the very first class. The balance in bank in cash was $124,434.14, very nearly enough to set up an ordinary company; bonds and mortgages $910,219.53, secured on real estate worth $1,715,900, and then government and other stocks, equivalent to cash and convertible into cash any day, $329,655. Any one not satisfied with the security of the HOME as an insurance institution, must be hard to please.

In 1861 the HOME wrote $705,75.18, taking $829,993 premium, and paid losses $355,775, including some losses for the year 1860. A dividend of ten per cent. was paid on the million capital; and after reserving an ample reinsurance fund, the company shows a "nett surplus" of $169,644 clear over capital and all claims, actual or possible, practical or theoretical.

The HOME is a good "testimony" in all places to the enterprise, energy and progress of the city of New York.

MILLS,

SITUATED ON PHALON'S CREEK, WHERE THE STILLWATER ROAD CROSSES.

This Mill is just completed, and is in good running order. Our machinery embraces all the latest improvements, and was got up in the East, without regard to expense. It has two run of Burrs, which will be kept running night and day, so that farmers coming from a distance can be accommodated without much delay.

The need of a first class Mill of this kind has long been felt by the citizens of St. Paul and vicinity. We have secured the services of James Craigie, who has made milling the business of his life, and in whom we can place entire confidence.

All kinds of grain will be weighed when brought to the Mill, and also when taken away, if desired. We feel confident in saying to the public that we can make as good Flour and as great a yield to the bushel as any Mill in Minnesota, and respectfully solicit a fair trial.

Also a new Mill for grinding corn in the ear.

LA CROSSE AND ST. PAUL

PACKET COMPANY.

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT

During the summer of 1862, till the close of navigation, the LaCrosse and St. Paul Packet Company, having completely equipped their Line and made large additions to their business facilities, will offer to shippers and passengers on the river greater inducements and conveniences, and QUICKER TIME, than was ever offered by any company on the river.

All the boats on the Chippewa, Minnesota, St. Croix and the upper Mississippi rivers, and the different lines of stages north of LaCrosse, will, the coming season run to connect with the Davidson boats and the LaCrosse and Milwaukee Railroad.

The LaCrosse and St. Paul Packet Company will run a

PASSENGER AND FREIGHT LINE.

The former will number two first class boats—the nicest and fastest on the river. They will be the McCLELLAN and NORTHERN BELLE.—The first will be the Lightning Line, making the run from La Crosse to St. Paul in EIGHTEEN HOURS, and returning will leave here in the morning, and arrive at La Crosse in twelve hours time to connect with the evening train, by which our passengers will make close connection and reach to-day police holders will be made every five years, and no Company in the country offers equal advantages to its dealers.

HOME

INSURANCE COMPANY,

NEW YORK.

Extract from Third Annual Report of the Superintendent of the Insurance Department of the State of New York. WM. BARNES,

THE CITY.

CLOTHING AT AUCTION.—The best place to buy clothing cheap is at Jackson's store, on Third Street. He sells at auction to-night.

RETURNED.—Dr. C. W. LeBoutillier, Assistant Surgeon of the First Minnesota, who has been on duty at Fort Mackinaw for some time past, has been relieved from that post, and returned home by the McLellan last evening.

FOR FORT ABERCROMBIE.—Capt. T. D. Smith, lately appointed Quartermaster, with orders to report at Fort Abercrombie, starts for that place this morning. He is to be followed shortly by F. Driscoll, of the Scott county Journal, who will be his clerk.

HORSE KILLED.—A team belonging to Geo. W. Ashley, of Lakeville, left standing at Hodges' store, at the corner of Sibley and Third, started up street alone, when getting too near the precipitous bank, just below Wolcott's stable, the wagon slid off, dragging down the team, which rolled over and over till it reached the bottom, where one of the horses was instantly killed. The other horse and the wagon did not seem to be much injured.

Moral—don't leave your teams without being hitched. It is dangerous, besides being against the city ordinance.

RETURNED.—Lieutenant Winegar, of Company E, Fourth regiment, arrived from Corinth yesterday, laboring under severe indisposition. He has had a violent attack of typhoid fever, from which he has not yet recovered. He left Corinth on the 4th instant. The regiment left the day previous for Holly Springs. There were a considerable number left in camp not really sick, but too much debilitated to endure the fatigues of a march this hot weather.

General Schuyler Hamilton's retirement from the command of the first division of Pope's old army, (now under command of Rosecrans,) General Buford commands the division, and Colonel Sanborn is acting Brigadier General.

Quartermaster Hunt is also coming home on sick furlough. He will be here this morning.

I. O. O. F.—A meeting of St. Paul Lodge No. 2, I. O. O. F., was held at the Lodge room on Tuesday evening, at which the following officers were duly installed:

T. J. KING—N. G.
H. W. SCHROER—V. G.
L. HOLMES—Secretary.
R. H. FITZ—Treasurer.
A. WILSON—Warden.
I. H. CONWAY—Conductor.
F. P. MCNAMEE—Guardian.

As this was the first meeting held since the dispensation for the mergement of Hennipin Lodge with the St. Paul, an unusually interesting time was had. By this mergement, the membership of St. Paul Lodge has been more than doubled, and in financial point of view greatly strengthened. It also owns a lot at the corner of Fifth and Wabashaw, containing 150 feet front on the latter street, a greater portion of which is leased, thus bringing in quite a revenue, in addition to its other resources.

RIVER NEWS.—The only boats in yesterday were the Sucker State, McLellan, Northern Light and Antelope.

The departures were the Key City for Dunleith, Keokuk for LaCrosse, Antelope for Carver, and Jeannette Roberts for Mankato.

The splendid packets McLellan and War Eagle are the down boats this morning, the former for LaCrosse, and the latter for Dunleith.

POLICE COURT.—John Simmes was arrested for stealing a newspaper. Fined $3 and costs. Pretty tough, that, John. You could have got one at the Press office for five cents. Now don't you fool away your money that way again, or "any other man."

Dennis Murphy, a cigar maker, assaulted Peter Dencer, another cigar maker. Fined $5 and costs, which he paid.

Martin Hashions, arrested for disorderly conduct, was discharged.

Ellen Trainer was brought up for larceny. The hearing was held over till this morning.

David Hoar was again up before his honor. He had but just been discharged from jail, where he had been confined two weeks on bread and water, on account of vagrancy. "In one short hour" he was again drunk, and is again put upon bread and water for three weeks.

Hannah Clancy was fined $5 for disorderly conduct, which she paid.

Martin Qualey, the king newsboy, has been acting quite bad. A big boy as he is should not hit small boys in the stomach, if he desires to keep out of jail. After staying 24 hours he was let out on receiving some severe admonitions to beware lest he should come to a bad end.

SUPREME COURT.—The syllabus in the following cases have recently been filed:

James O. Lovejoy, administrator of John L. Lovejoy, deceased, James O. Lovejoy and John G. Brockway, respondent, vs. Dorilus Morrison, Cadwallader C. Washburne, and Elihu B. Washburn, partners as "D. Morrison & Co." appellants.

The allowance of a warrant of attachment is a judicial act, and section 142, page 550 of the Compiled Statutes, so far as it authorizes Clerks of the District Courts to allow warrants of attachment is in conflict with section 1 of article 2 of the State constitution.

An attachment may issue in all actions brought for the recovery of money.

An affidavit for an attachment in the District Court, must state facts and circumstances sufficient to satisfy the officer that the case is a proper one under the statute for such remedy.

John G. Stevens, Appellant, vs E. A. C. Hatch, Respondent.

Where a party executes and acknowledges a deed, and afterwards either by acts or words expresses his will, that the same is for the use of the grantee, especially where the assent of the grantee appears to the transaction, it shall be sufficient to convey the estate.

And this even though the deed remains in the hands of the grantor.

No particular form is necessary in order to constitute a good delivery of a deed. This may consist in an act without words, or in words without any act. The main thing which the law requires, is that the mind of the parties should be manifest, the one to deliver, the other to accept the instrument.

Gerrish & Brewster, Appellants, vs. Pratt & Bunker, Respondents.

A judgment in a former suit for costs only, on the ground that the complaint contained one cause of action, and in which the merits were not litigated, constitutes no bar to a second suit for the same cause of action.

Nor can such judgment be urged in abatement of the second suit after pleading to the merits. The proper way to take advantage of it in the second action, is to move for a stay of proceedings until the first judgment is paid.

State of Minnesota, Supreme Court—Caleb Morgan, respondent—vs, William C. Thompson impleaded with others—appellant.

A mortgage executed in the presence of only one witness is ineffectual to pass any interest or estate in the land described, and is not entitled to record. The record of such a mortgage is no notice to any one.

The recital of such a defective mortgage in a deed of the same land by the mortgagor, merely describing the mortgage and declaring the deed to be subject to it, does not estop the grantee in the conveyance, or those holding under him, from questioning the validity of the mortgage.

The certificate of acknowledgment to a deed or mortgage need not be under seal, unless the statute authorizing to take it expressly requires it. If the certificate styles the officer taking it as an officer authorized by law to perform the act, it will be prima facie evidence of his official character. The statutes of this State in force in 1854 did not require a seal to such certificates.

The act of the Legislature of July 26, 1858, (Compiled Statutes 403-4) does not effect any rights that were invested prior to its passage. The Legislature may perhaps have power to cure irregularities in conveyances between the parties to them and all persons who take subsequent to the cure being wrought, but it cannot disturb the vested rights.

The Chaska Company, Appellant, vs. The Board of Supervisors of Carver County, Respondents.

The Board of Supervisors of Carver County issued thirteen bonds of said county, to the Chaska Company, for the purpose of negotiation, the proceeds to be used in the erection of a Court House. The Company sold one and hypothecated four others. In an action by the Company against the County to recover the value of materials and services in the erection of the Court House, held that the plaintiff was not estopped from showing that the bonds were of no value.

At the time those bonds were issued the County Commissioners were authorized to issue bonds for the purpose of erecting Court House and Jail, and the bonds are valid and binding upon the county.

Mary G. Woolley, et al., Appellants, vs. Alexander Naylor, et al., Respondents.

In a foreclosure of mortgage by advertisement, the notice was first published August 3d, and published successively once in each week, up to and including September 14th, the day of sale—held, a sufficient publication under the statute.

The mortgaged premises consisted of 100 acres of land, lying in three different sections, and in two distinct townships; 320 acres lay contiguous and in one body and 80 acres separated from the former by intervening lands, and also in one body; the 320 acre tract was sold in one parcel, and the 80 acre tract in another. Held, that there was no error in selling in this manner, and that the mortgagee was not obliged to offer the lands in government subdivisions, nor in as small subdivisions or parcels as were described in the mortgage.

PROGRESS OF THE BOMBARDMENT.

CAIRO, July 7.—On Thursday, June 26th, the bombardment of Vicksburg was commenced by Commodore Porter's mortar fleet, at about eight o'clock in the morning. The shells were directed against the upper fort below the town, which mounted eight guns. The bombardment continued on that fort all day without result.

On Friday morning the firing was again opened, and continued until the afternoon, at which time Porter signalized to shell the town, which was done with deliberation and great accuracy.

The effect of the shell could be not well discovered from the Octorara, then anchored in the stream about two miles below the town. The shells could only be seen to burst, but the effect of the bursting was hidden by the buildings in front.

This continued till about four o'clock, when the fleet was signalled to cease firing, which it did. The batteries on shore replied very lightly, and at long and irregular intervals.

Their firing was very inaccurate.

During the whole time the Octarora fired ten shots from her 100-pound rifle, almost every one of which was directed with surprising accuracy till the gun heated, when it began to throw high, and needed depression.

When the firing ceased at four P. M., the captains of divisions were ordered to report on the flag-ship, when an order was issued to open fire upon the town with the entire fleet, at eight o'clock that night.

At eight o'clock, therefore, the whole mortar fleet vomited a heavy rain of shells upon the devoted city, the round missiles seeming to be eager first to strike, and the last fired often outstripped its predecessors. This terrible fire continued about one hour, when an order was issued to cease firing.

It appears that an order came from Commodore Farragut, whose fleet was five miles below the town, in the bend, to again shell the town at four o'clock next morning, when a portion of his fleet would run past the rebel batteries.

This order was obeyed, and again the sky was shaken by the bursting of bombs and the explosion of mortars.

At about five o'clock that morning, as the sun was shining, Farragut's fleet came up, and eight of them passed the batteries, pouring broadsides into the town and batteries. These eight war vessels consisted of three men-of-war, two sloops-of-war, and three gunboats.

During this daring passage the rebel batteries poured in iron hail on the fleet, scarcely damaging any of them and disabling none. The firing from the batteries was high and cut much rigging. The flag-ship, the Hartford, was struck on the starboard side twice—one shot near the stern, and the other the bow. These shots struck some ten feet above the water line, passing through the bulwarks.

Two of the fleet passed above the mouth of the Yazoo river; the others anchored in the stream, where they remain.

When our informant left, the damage sustained by the city must have been very great. Toppling houses, falling chimneys and crushed roofs, with here and there a slight conflagration, present to the imagination a picture beyond all power of pen painting.

Capt. Curry was informed by refugees from the conscription along the shore, that the women and children had been removed from Vicksburg, and were on the line of the Jackson railroad, dwelling in holes dug along the hillsides.

There is a most abject state of distress, not only through the immediate range about Vicksburg, but through all Mississippi.

The Captain was informed that Hindman, of Arkansas, the rebel general in command, ordered no trading with the Yankees, on pain of death, save for ammunition and salt.

Ohio Democratic State Convention.

The democratic State convention of Ohio met at Columbus on the 4th instant. Sam. Medary was chosen President. The following nominations were made:

Judge of the Supreme Court—Rufus P. Ranney, of Cuyahoga.
Secretary of State—William W. Armstrong, of Seneca.
Attorney General—Lyman R. Critchfield, of Holmes.
School Commissioner—Chas. W. H. Cathcart, of Montgomery.
Member of the Board of Public Works—James Gamble, of Coshocton.

McClellan's Address to his Army.

McClellan has issued an address to the army on the achievements of the last ten days, saying: "You have succeeded in changing your base of operations by a flank movement, always regarded as the most hazardous of military expedients. You have saved all your material, all your trains, and all your guns, except a few lost in battle, taking in return guns and colors from the enemy. Under every disadvantage of numbers, and necessarily of position, you have in every conflict beaten back your foes, with enormous slaughter. We are prepared to meet the enemy who may at any time attack you. Let them come, and we will convert their repulse into a final defeat. Your government is strengthening you with the resources of a great people. On this, our national birthday, we declare to our foes, who are rebels against the best interests of mankind, that this army shall enter the capital of the so-called Confederacy; that our national constitution shall prevail: and that the Union which can alone insure internal security and peace to each State must and shall be preserved, cost what it may, in time, treasure and blood."

The Union Victory in Mississippi.

CORINTH, July 6.

To Hon. E. M. Stanton, Secretary of War:

Official reports are just received of a brilliant affair near Booneville, Mississippi, on the first instant. Colonel Sheridan, of the Second Michigan cavalry, with two regiments, 728 men, was attacked by parts of eight regiments of rebels, numbering 4,700, which he defeated and drove back, after seven hours' fighting. We lost 41 killed, wounded and missing. The rebel loss must have been great. They left 65 dead on the field.

(Signed) HALLECK.

Military Movements in Indiana.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 6.

Governor Morton, of Indiana, has issued a proclamation calling for eleven regiments of infantry—one for each Congressional district; also six batteries of light artillery.

The Fifteenth and Seventeenth Indiana batteries, Captains Von Schlin and Miner, left, splendidly equipped last night for the seat of war.

An Illinois regiment passed through here to-da , eastward bound.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Senator Clark will leave for New Hampshire in a day or two to recruit new regiments; Senator Dixon has gone to Connecticut for the same purpose.

SAINT PAUL, July 5d, 1862.

The undersigned will receive sealed proposals at his office in Saint Paul, Minnesota, until 12 o'clock M. on the 16th day of July, for furnishing and delivering, at Fort Snelling, Minnesota, complete rations for United States troops, prisoners of war, and to any other persons subsisted in kind by the Government, to be sent there.

The ration consists as follows: Three-fourths of a pound of pork or bacon, or one and a fourth pounds of fresh or salt beef; twenty-two ounces of bread or flour, or one pound of hard bread, or one and a fourth pounds of corn meal; and at the rate to every one hundred rations, of eight quarts of beans or peas, and ten pounds of rice or hominy; ten pounds of green coffee, or eight pounds of roasted ground coffee, or one and a half pounds of tea; fifteen pounds of sugar; four quarts of vinegar; one pound of sperm candles, or one and a fourth pounds of adamantine candles, or one and a half pounds of tallow candles; four pounds of soap, and two quarts of salt.

In addition to the foregoing, there is allowed twice per week one gallon of molasses per one hundred rations, and thrice per week, if practicable, an issue of potatoes, at the rate of one pound per man. When beans, peas, rice, hominy, or potatoes cannot be issued in the proportions given above, an equivalent in value shall be issued in some other proper food. Desiccated potatoes, or desiccated mixed vegetables, at the rate, per one hundred rations, of one hundred and fifty ounces of the former, or one hundred ounces of the latter, may be substituted for beans, peas, rice, hominy, or fresh potatoes, when these articles cannot be issued; or, upon the requisition of the proper officer, and when the supply on hand will admit of it, they may be issued at the foregoing rate, twice per week in lieu of beans or peas, or in lieu of rice or hominy. Fresh beef may be issued as often as the commanding officer of any detachment or regiment may require it, when practicable, in place of salt meat.

The Acting Commissary reserves to himself the right to diminish or increase the number of rations required, whenever the interests of the government demand it.

Bidders must name their sureties in their bids. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any and all bids deemed extravagant.

The contract will extend to, and include the 31st day of December, 1862.

Bidders can be present at the opening of the bids.

NOTICE OF FORECLOSURE AND MORTGAGE SALE.

Names of Mortgagors—A. Vance Brown and Louisa Brown, his wife, of St. Paul, Minn

Name of Mortgagee—John H. McAllister, of Harrisburg, Pa.

Mortgage dated and acknowledged—June seventh, A. D. one thousand eight hundred and fifty nine (1859.)

Mortgage recorded—June eighth, A. D. one thousand eight hundred and fifty nine, at 10 o'clock A. M. in the office of the Register of Deeds in Ramsey county, Minnesota, in Book D of Mortgages on pages 401 and 402.

Amount claimed to be due and unpaid upon said mortgage and note at the date of this notice, to wit, May 12, A. D. 1862, and now actually due thereon, is the sum of two hundred and two dollars and thirty cents ($202.30.)

Date of note secured by said mortgage and amount due thereon—Said mortgage was given to secure the payment of a certain note for four hundred and eleven dollar ($411) and interest, of even date therewith, payable to the order of the mortgagee on the 16th day of October, A. D. 1860, and which note is due and unpaid, four hundred and seventy six and 70-100 dollars ($476.70), and no action or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, nor any part thereof, and no part of said debt has been paid.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided, the above described mortgaged premises will be sold at public auction, by the Sheriff of the county of Ramsey to the highest bidder for cash on the 16th day of July, A. D. 1862, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at the front door of the court house in St. Paul, Ramsey county State of Minnesota, to satisfy and pay the amount due upon said promissory note and mortgage and all expenses allowed by law.

MORTGAGE SALE.—John Chever and Catharine, his wife, of the county of Ramsey, and State of Minnesota, by mortgaged deed, dated May 4, A. D. 1860, granted, bargained, sold and conveyed unto William H. Pelham, of the same place, and to his heirs and assigns forever, all that tract or parcel of land lying and being in the county of Ramsey, and State of Minnesota, described in said deed of mortgage as follows, viz: Lots numbered one (1), and two (2), of block numbered thirty-two (32) of the tract of land called Union, according to the recorded plat thereof in the office of the Register of Deeds, in and for the said county of Ramsey, condition of the said mortgage was duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Ramsey county, aforesaid, on the 25th day of May, A. D. 1861 at 9 o'clock A. M., in Book R of mortgage deeds, on pages 565, 566 and 567.

The said mortgage and the debt or promissory note thereby secured, were duly assigned by the said Wm. H. Pelham to James M. Freeman, of the City of Saint Paul, county and State aforesaid, on the seventh day of December, A. D. 1861, which said instrument of assignment was duly recorded on the ninth day of December, A. D. 1861, at 9½ o'clock A. M., of that day in the office of the Register of Deeds of said Ramsey county, in Book B of assignments on page 221.

Default has been made in the condition of payment of said promissory note and mortgage, and there is now claimed to be due and is due on the said promissory note and mortgage the just and full sum of one hundred and fifty dollars ($150), and no suit or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover said debt remaining secured by the said mortgage or any part thereof. The mortgage aforesaid contains the usual clause of waiver, whereby the mortgagors have waived surrendered and released for themselves, their heirs and assigns forever all the right, benefit, equity and claim of redemption in and to the premises in said mortgage described, according to the statute in such case made and provided.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided, the above described mortgaged premises will be sold at public auction, by the Sheriff of the county of Ramsey to the highest bidder for cash on the 16th (16) day of July, A. D. 1862, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at the front door of the court house in St. Paul, Ramsey county State of Minnesota, to satisfy and pay the amount due upon said promissory note and mortgage and all expenses allowed by law.

IMPORTANT TO ADVERTISERS.

The Press has—in accordance with the fact—claimed for the last six months a larger circulation, Daily, Tri-Weekly and Weekly, than any other paper in the city or state, and has challenged the Pioneer to compare the circulation of that paper with the Press, and make the result public, which challenge has been constantly declined, thus, on the part of the Pioneer, practically admitting the larger circulation of the Press. The bills of newspaper for the several editions of the Press and Pioneer show conclusively that the circulation of the several editions of the Press is nearly two thousand sheets per week greater than the circulation of the Pioneer.

FORWARD TO RICHMOND.

Burnsides and his forces have reached the James River, and everything indicates rapid preparation by land and water to once again "forward to Richmond." Let us trust that this time there will be no backward movement.

A DECLARATION OF POLICY.

Our dispatches intimate that the President will shortly give to the country a declaration of his policy upon the great questions of the hour. Deputations from both Houses of Congress have waited upon him, urging that all persons coming within our military lines should be permitted to bear arms in support of the Government. This means, of course, slaves who escape from their rebel masters. We believe the President will come to it, and change the policy of the war in this respect. The forthcoming manifesto will be looked for with great interest.

MINNESOTA WOUNDED.

Taken to Fort Monroe, July 1st Augustus C. Echoldt.

The State Atlas has the following:

We have received intelligence that Norman K. Hanks, a member of the First Minnesota Battery, recently died of dysentary near Corinth, Mr. Hanks enlisted from Minneapolis, where he has many friends. He was a young man of unusual intelligence and worth. His relatives live at Randolph, Vt., where there will now be another home made desolate by the war.

GOOD NEWS FOR VOLUNTEERS.

Captains Nelson and Saunders yesterday received orders from Adjutant General Thomas, to pay the twenty-five dollars bounty and two dollars premium in all cases at the time of mustering in. So, under this order, every volunteer will receive this amount the moment the company is mustered in, without having to wait for his regiment to fill up. This should certainly be an inducement for men to come forward and fill up the ranks of the Sixth Regiment.

SENATOR WILKINSON ON CONFISCATION.

We devote a large space to the speech of Senator Wilkinson, delivered in the Senate June 28th, on the question of confiscation. It will be seen that Mr. Wilkinson comes up boldly to the work of dealing with the traitors as traitors, and of emancipating the slaves of rebels. He holds now the doctrine he so promptly avowed at the time Fremont proclaimed freedom to the slaves of traitors in arms. We are confident the views of Senator Wilkinson will meet a hearty response from his constituents.

CALL FOR A CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION.

The following from the Stillwater Messenger expresses dissatisfaction with the style of the call for the Republican Convention, and also the time designated for the meeting. We publish it, as giving proper expression to a feeling of complaint, which had previously reached us in a number of private letters,—and at the same time to state some reasons which we understand influenced the Committee in calling the Convention at the early day named:

CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION.—As will be seen by a call published in another column, a convention will be held in St. Paul on the 30th of the present month for the nomination of a candidate for Congress for the second district.

It was perhaps proper, in the absence of any authorized committee for the State Committee to call the Convention; but in the exercise of the unquestionable authority we think that modesty at least should have suggested a consultation with Republicans and Republican committees outside of St. Paul as to time, representation and the style of the call. We think the Stale committee have made two great mistakes; but they may have had axes to grind which could be ground in better style through this hot haste. The convention should not have been held sooner than the 27th of August or 3d of September, for reasons that could have been suggested to the committee.

We presume our county committee will immediately issue a call for a convention to appoint delegates.

In view of the fact that the Vallandigham Democracy were throughly organizing, and were going to make a vigorous campaign in this district, canvassing every nook and corner of the district, it was thought by the committee that to give the Democracy two months' start, would be giving them too great an advantage. As it is, they will have one month the advantage.

No organized effort, or thorough canvassing will be made by the supporters of the Government until after the nomination is made. In this sparsely settled district, much will depend on the individual effort of the candidate, so far as counteracting the special appliances upon which the Indian trader tactics of the candidate of the Democracy will set at work. No such personal effort will be made, of course, until our candidate is duly nominated and in the field. These considerations, we believe, justly influenced the committee in fixing the time of the Convention the last of July, instead of the last of August. We think, therefore, that the Messenger does the committee injustice in attributing sinister motives in respect to the time of the Convention.

We have already expressed our regret that the action of the committee had not been to invite the co-operation of all true friends of freedom, and unqualified supporters of the Government in its efforts to crush out effectually the slaveholders' rebellion.

While stating the technical reasons which controlled the action of the committee in this regard, which reasons we are satisfied honestly influenced the committee, we have never felt the force of them: and we think with the Messenger, that the committee might well have added to the responsibility which it assumed, by making the call more liberal, which we think would have met the views of nine-tenths of the straight-out and ever true Republicans. This error, if it be one, may be remedied, as it was last year, to a great extent, by the County Committees in calling their primary meetings. Let them act in the matter in accordance with the views of the Republican masses in their several localities. Thus the people—the true repository of political power—will secure such action as they desire.

RAILROAD TO LAKE SUPERIOR.

On the 3d of July, as we learn from the Congressional Globe, the House of Representatives amended Senator Rice's resolution for changing the location of the branch line of the St. Paul and Pacific Railroad, so as to fix the southwestern terminus of the branch to the waters of Lake Superior at some point to be fixed by the Legislature between the Falls of St. Anthony and Crow Wing, and then passed the resolution. The arm to Lake Superior is in lieu of that portion of the original land grant, which extended northwest from the intersection of the tenth standard parallel with the fourth guide meridian to St. Vincent—that is northwest of some point near Crow Wing. The Senate will unquestionably agree with the House amendment: and we may therefore assume that a Land Grant in favor of a railroad to Lake Superior is now made certain. We hope to hear that the appropriation of swamp lands for this object by the State of Minnesota, and the Congressional grant of 3,840 acres per mile, concurring with other powerful motives and inducements, may secure the speedy construction of a road from the navigable waters of the Mississippi river to those of Lake Superior.

It is an interesting race, about to open—whether the locomotive shall first traverse Southern Minnesota from La Crosse to St. Paul, or northern Minnesota, from the Mississippi to Lake Superior.

News of the Day.

—The treasury note bill is a law when signed by the President. The appearances now are, that among the latest labors of this Congress will be confiscation and emancipation. God grant that this reward of the labors of loyal men may be reached.

—Harrison's Landing, from which the mail boat on James river at present hails, is on the North shore about ten miles by road from Turkey Creek, and ten miles by river below City Point. By river it is 44 miles from Richmond, but not more than 25 by land.

—An officer who arrived at Washington the 4th reports the death of Colonel Van Wyck, of New York. Colonel V. W. was a Representative in the present Congress, and chairman of a noted investigating committee.

—Arkansas news, from the Little Rock Gazette of the 28th ult., says the Federals have evacuated Indian Bay, Saint Charles, and the whole of the lower White river, and gone in the direction of Memphis. General Curtis left Batesville, crossed Black river, and is supposed to be marching towards Caiche bridge, with a view of getting to Crowley's ridge and reaching the Mississippi.

—It is the current belief that Congress will adjourn sine die by next Monday, the business before it being already reduced to only a few prominent measures, and all the other measures will be disposed of without much controversy.

PROCLAMATION.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, EXECUTIVE OFFICE, St. Paul, July 10th, 1862.

To the people of Minnesota:

The President of the United States has, at the solicitation of the Governors of the loyal States, called upon the nation for a large increase of the Volunteer Force; and has by special communication, dated the 8th inst., required of Minnesota one Regiment of Infantry, to be furnished at once, as part of her entire quota.

This call, based in part upon the suggestion of the Executive of our own State, and rendered imperatively necessary by the events of the war, must be promptly and heartily responded to.

The check recently received by our army before Richmond, has resulted, without doubt, from the superior numbers of the enemy; our army being compelled not only to meet the enemy wherever he presents himself, but to hold at the same time, the vast regions of country already won from him. Without an increase of our forces we cannot hope for a successful termination of the war.

The call of the President comes home to the heart of every man who desires to see the greatness of the nation restored, and law and order re-established in the rebellious States.

This end must be accomplished though it should require the entire militia force of the nation, and all its treasure. There can be no turning back. Reverses can but intensify the determination of the people. Without a restored government, properly, and life itself, will be valueless.

All classes must feel the terrible necessity which presses upon them. While we are struggling to preserve the unity of the best government on earth, it appears not improbable that we may be specially called upon to resist the attacks of the monarchies of Europe, and wage a war, not only for free institutions, but for our individual independence. Coldness or indifference upon our part, at this time, cannot but result in our becoming one of the subservient populations of the earth: exercising the right of self government as the will of some other people.

As Minnesota has heretofore nobly done her duty in this war; as she has furnished more than the quota heretofore asked of her; as her sons have established for themselves a pre-eminent reputation for discipline and courage: it now becomes her to meet, in an equally heroic spirit, this new emergency.

Meetings should be held in every county. Wealth, energy and ability should be devoted to the task of rousing the people to a sense of their present danger. The merchant, the farmer, and the manufacturer, must all understand, that unless this rebellion is speedily suppressed, their toil can profit them little;—that in a ruined country there can be no individual prosperity.

Let the reinforcements which must speedily be thrown into the Peninsula, to turn the tide of battle and aid in the capture of the Rebel Capital, contain at least one additional regiment from Minnesota.

The recruits first obtained, under this call, will constitute the Sixth Regiment, all subsequent recruits, after that Regiment is filled, will be used to complete Minnesota's quota of the force now called for by the President.

IGNATIUS DONNELLY,
Acting Governor.

Vital Guerin, Appellant, vs. Henry W. Hunt, et al., Respondents.

The selection of an incompetent assignee by an insolvent debtor with a design to control the administration of the estate, is a fraud upon the creditors, and will avoid the assignment. But the selection of such an assignee without an improper motive, will not render the assignment void, but only afford reason for the removal of the assignee, and the appointment of a person qualified to execute the trust.

The ignorance of the assignee, in his being unable to read and write, is a badge of fraud, yet by no means conclusive of the fact, and it may be rebutted by proof of business capacity. Proof of solvency or wealth on the part of the assignee would not be admissible to rebut a charge of ignorance.

Where a partnership makes an assignment for the benefit of creditors of the partnership effects, and such assignment is assailed for fraud it is incompetent to prove that one of the partners had previously disposed of portions of his individual property, on a secret transaction in his own favor.

Where an assignment contains general words of transfer, such as "all" the debtor's estate, and subsequent words of description, or a reference to a schedule as setting it forth particularly, the latter will limit the former, and nothing will pass but what is set forth or specified.

On a charge of fraud for the appointment of an incompetent assignee, evidence of how he conducted the business of the assignment is admissible.

The insertion in the schedule of debts, of fictitious demands, and giving them preference is a badge of fraud, but evidence is admissible in explanation and rebuttal of all proof offered to establish a charge of this nature.

Parol proof of the contents of a letter cannot be given until the absence of the letter is satisfactorily accounted for.

A judge in charging a jury is less liable to misconstruction when he states his points and their qualifications together: yet his charge must be taken as a whole, and if it contains a correct statement of the law it will not be held erroneous for want of methodical arrangement.

Edward Wainwright, Respondent, vs. Joseph F. Arnold, George E. Howes, Samuel R. Howes, and Henry A. Swift, impleaded with others, Appellants.

The real estate of a partnership is in equity treated as mere personalty, and governed by the rules and doctrines applicable to that species of property.

Whether land is to be deemed part of a partnership stock depends upon the agreement of the parties, which agreement may be either express or implied.

Lands may be converted into partnership stock by parol agreement of the parties, or by such facts and circumstances attending its acquisition or use as will raise an implication that the parties so intended. The legal estate will be controled by the terms of the conveyance, but equity will subject the lands to the same liabilities imposed upon other partnership estate, and restrict the parties to the same extent in the disposition of them as obtains in regard to the personalty.

Harmon Aiken and Gale, respondents, vs. Schalck, Fenske and Carl Schramm, appellants.

Under the act of March 8, 1860, laws of 1860, page 216, a party who has taken security for a debt in any of the ways enumerated in the act, cannot maintain an action upon the debt until he has first exhausted his securities. But when he takes an assignment of what he supposes to be a valuable interest in property as security, and afterwards discovers that it is of no value, he is not driven to a fruitless effort to realize upon the pretended security in the first instance, but may at once commence his action upon the original debt, and if the existence of the security is pleaded in abatement of the suit, he may allege in reply that the security was valueless, and in fact no security, and upon establishing such fact upon the trial he may have a judgment for the original demand.

J. B. Gardner, respondent, vs. Archibald McClure, executor of Nathaniel Bright, deceased, impleaded with William W. Fell, et al, appellants.

The deposit of title deeds of land with a creditor as security for a debt, even if accompanied with a writing stating the object of the deposit, will create no estate in the land in favor of the creditor, but merely gives him a lien on the deeds.

The English doctrine upon this subject is repudiated as having been founded in acknowledged error.

The plaintiff sued by his initial letters and not his full name—held, bad practice, that may vitiate a judgment, as against a purchaser of land, upon which it would otherwise be a lien, but that the object cannot be reached by demurrer.

FROM SOUTH CAROLINA.

THE EVACUATION OF JAMES ISLAND.

A BATTLE IMMINENT AT PORT ROYAL ISLAND.

HILTON HEAD, S. C., June 30.

THE EVACUATION OF JAMES ISLAND.

The fact that General Hunter has found it necessary to abandon James Island, ordering the forces of Generals Wright and Stevens to return to Edisto and Hilton Head, tends to show that the attack on the Tower battery was not so ill-advised nor so hasty a movement on the part of General Benham as was generally believed. It seems convincing as to the fact that our position was untenable without that work in our possession; while, if the assault had been successful, there is of course no doubt that the object of the expedition would have been eventually accomplished, and Charleston by this time have been ours.

A BATTLE IMMINENT AT PORT ROYAL ISLAND.

The news from Beaufort is again of an exciting character. Generals Brannon and Saxton are in command at that point. They have kept the signal station in constant operation all the afternoon. The purport of their dispatches is, that the enemy are preparing a strong force at Grahamville, opposite Port Royal Island, and are evidently contemplating an attack. Their number is variously estimated, no account putting it at less than 2,000, and the very latest gives 4,000 as nearest the truth. The troops, as fast as they arrive from James Island, will be sent to Beaufort, and General Hunter will lead them in person if an attack is made.

Grahamville is a small village on the west bank of Whale Creek, which empties into Broad river, and separates Port Royal Island from the main land. It is probable that the rebels, having learned that our forces were leaving the Stono, have hurried forward to this point, intending to take advantage of our weakness, and by a bold movement drive our troops from Port Royal ferry, leaving Beaufort at their mercy. Our forces on Port Royal Island are to-day 2,300 strong, but gunboats and fresh troops are already on the way, and no fears are entertained as to the result of the conflict, should one ensue. The fact that two experienced officers like Brennan and Saxton are present warrants us in believing that this report is not a second "Beaufort scare."

Washington News.

Special dispatch to the Chicago Tribune.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Major General O. M. Mitchell, U. S. A., is at Willard's. General Mitchell arrived in the city from Huntsville on Saturday last, having made the trip in 72 hours.

The vessels in James river are formed into a separate squadron, distinct from that of Commodore Goldsborough, blockading the coast. Captain Wilkes is ordered to command the river squadron, and left for his post this afternoon.

Governor Morton's private secretary returned from McClellan's army to-day. The men are anxiously awaiting reinforcements, but are all perfectly satisfied of being able to hold their position. The rebels are at present defiant and close to our lines.

Returns to-day show over 10,000 in the hospitals in and around Washington City.

The Richmond Dispatch of July 5th, in an article on the late engagements, says: "From the most careful and reliable estimates we can procure from officers and other authorities, it appears our (rebel) loss in killed alone was about 10,000."

Nothing is said about the wounded or missing.

The Richmond Examiner of July 4th, says the rebels killed, wounded and missing amount to at least 15,000.

Confederate stock rose from 93 to 97 after the late battle. It thinks that the capitulation of McClellan's army is probable, and gives a letter from Slidell saying he expects immediate recognition of the confederacy by Napoleon.

The Washington Republican of this morning gives a report that rebel papers found on the steamer Teaser, recently captured on James River, fix the strength of the rebel army about Richmond at 84,000.

Burnside's Forces Join McClellan.

NEW YORK, July 9.—A letter in the Tribune, dated James River, July 7th, says the veteran forces of Burnside formed a junction with the beleaguered army of McClellan. Gen. Burnside had made all his preparations for an advance inland from Newberne, and on Tuesday last the command to advance was to have been given; but on that day dispatches were received which changed the complexion of things. They announced the results of the series of battles before Richmond, and urged Burnside to send a part of his force to McClellan. Not an hour was lost in answering the call.

IT is said that Hon. Thomas Ewing will be the Republican candidate for Congress from the Fairfield District, Ohio.

DIED.

In this city, 10th inst., of cholera infantum, MARK B., son of John L. Merriam, aged 14 months.

June 27th, 1862, at Clear Creek, near Corinth, Mississippi, of typhoid fever, GEORGE FRANKLIN MURPHIE, Cannoneer in the Second Battery Light Artillery, Minnesota Volunteers, aged 23 years and 11 months, oldest son of E. D. W. Murphie, of St. Anthony, Minn.

Also on June 28th, in St. Anthony, Minnesota, of Hernea, HENRY WILLIS, aged 12 months and 6 days, youngest son of E. D. W., and M. A. Murphie.

From Fortress Monroe and James River.

Further Particulars of the Juniata Affair.

BURNSIDE ARRIVED.

President Lincoln Gone Up James River.

An Important Proclamation from the President Forthcoming.

He will Declare his Policy on the Great Questions of the Hour.

FORTRESS MONROE, July 7—P. M.

The steamer Juniata, while on her way up to Harrison's Landing, yesterday, and when without about four miles of that place was fired into by rebels and one injured—none killed. Firing was from six field pieces on the opposite side of the river, and little below the Federal Army. The steamer was aground at the time. Our gunboats went down and drove off the rebels. A reconnoitering party was sent out yesterday and found the rebel pickets within one mile of ours, which leads to the opinion that another battle is at hand.

Breastworks are being thrown up at Hampton about 2 1-2 miles from Fortress Monroe by our forces encamped at that place. The work is progressing vigorously. Thermometer 90 degrees.

FORT MONROE, July 8.

Gen. Burnside has arrived here and is looking well and appears in fine spirits. President Lincoln arrived here early this morning, accompanied by several officers, among them one was believed to be Halleck. He had a short interview with Gen. Burnside and then proceeded up the James river. Flag Officer Wilkes arrived here this morning and many rumors are afloat as to the object of his visit.

The New York 10th regiment, which has been reported as being badly cut to pieces, had only nine killed, forty-four wounded and thirty missing. There are many who, in various ways got separated from their regiments, and are now daily returning, thus greatly diminishing the number reported lost.

Our pickets now extend to within two miles of Warrenton Springs. Daily communication is had with Richmond from nearly all the towns in the valley.

An important manifesto, in the shape of a proclamation from the President, giving the future policy of his Administration on the great question of the hour, is not improbable at an early day.

Mr. Lincoln has been waited upon by several Senators and members of the House, and will be visited by a large delegation to-morrow, should he be able to receive them, urging him to issue a proclamation in the tenor of the bill reported in the Senate to-day, requiring Generals commanding departments to accept the services of all persons coming within our lines.

The debate in the Senate to-day merely paves the way for the assumption of this new polity, which creates no unavoidable sensation.

General Mitchell in about to take an important part in the campaign in Virginia. He has been assigned to a command under General Pope, and will take charge of it as soon as he returns from a visit to West Point.

Gen. Lew. Wallace was seranaded last night at Washington. In his letter he spoke strongly in favor of employing and arming slaves, and for quarerting upon the enemy instead of guarding his property.

The White House Controversy.

WASHINGTON, July 9.

The correspondence between the War Department and General McClellan was transmitted to the House, in answer to a resolution of inquiry.

General McClellan says, in the course of his explanations, that those who have originated the false statements concerning the White House and Spring are in fact as stated in his dispatch of the 7th inst. —enemies of this army and the cause in which it is fighting. They have impressed it on the Surgeon General, and caused him to make official representations which an examination proves to be unfounded. The facts which are disrespectful to his superior officer have unnecessarily occupied the attention of the Secretary of War, and have interrupted the Commander and Medical Director of this army in the midst of the most arduous duties.

New York Democratic State Convention.

ALBANY, July 9.

A meeting of the Democratic State Convention was held at Delavan House to-day, Dean Richard in the chair, and Peter Cogger, Secretary.

In accordance with the invitation of the committee, a large number of prominent men and Union men were present.

An advisary meeting was held at 1 o'clock, to give an opportunity for those gentlemen to express their views as to the duty of the Democratic organization at this time.

Speeches were made by Major Arnold, Jas. Brooks, Calvert Comstock, Senator Pruyne, Mr. Hadley, Elijah Purdy and others, earnestly in favor of immediate and sufficient reinforcement of the army of the Potomac, and in favor of unconditional support of the Government while maintaining the right of all patriotic citizens to oppose the errors, corruptions and weakness in the administration of that Government, and opposition to foreign intervention.

Gen. Granger on Beauregard.

DETROIT, July 9.

The Advertiser and Tribune this evening contain an interesting letter from Brig. Gen. Granger, who commanded the advance after the evacuation of Corinth, completely refuting infamous charges made by Beauregard in his letter to the Mobile News.

From the Rebel Capital.

UNION PRISONERS 4,500.

The Rebels Confess Our Bravery and Success in the Retreat.

NEW YORK, July 10.

Richmond papers of the 3d report Magruder's and Johnston's divisions frightfully cut up and the loss of officers very great, among the latter many of the bravest and best of the Southern army. It is confessed that the valor of our men defeated their plan to capture McClellan's entire force, and that the retreat was conducted with the most consummate skill.

The number of prisoners at Richmond is 4,500.

It is proposed to put our men on an island in the James river rapids. The rebel army is in danger of demoralization.

The papers suggest the parcelling out of prisoners among the plantations to work in place of negroes who have been stolen or run away.

Com. Farragut's Fleet Before Vicksburg.

PHILADELPHIA, July 9.

Special correspondence to Forney's Press, dated United States steam sloop Brooklyn, June 28th, says all hands were called up in the morning to attack the batteries and city of Vicksburg. The first gun was fired at one o'clock. The firing was intense.

The Hartford and Richmond and the gunboats have passed the batteries and city without silencing them. The Brooklyn received orders to not pass a battery without silencing it, and she remains below.

The loss on the Hartford was one killed and seven wounded. On the Richmond, the master's mate was killed, and some wounded.

A Grand Conspiracy.

Division of Pope at Front Royal.

WASHINGTON, July 9.

[Special to Times.]—Evidences reached Government of a well-planned secret conspiracy of a most extended character which was to have burst upon the country simultaneously with the battles at Richmond. Rebel leaders confidently relied on shaking off McClellan and annihilating his army by their own immensely superior numbers, and this success was to be followed immediately by a rising in Tennessee, Kentucky and Maryland, and the advance of Jeff. Davis upon Washington, in the midst of the confusion.

Families of rebel officials who are living in Kentucky, while their heads are in position in Richmond, were fully informed of the plan, and in their boldness and influence let it out. The facts were communicated to the War Department and Gen. Boyle of Kentucky, and preparations were made to defeat the movement: but the utter failure of the rebels to break the cover of the Union army now threatening Richmond makes it impossible for them to put their plan in motion.

The Washington Star of this evening says: "We have now at Front Royal quite a division of Pope's army. Capt. W. N. Smith, of the topographical engineers, was to-day confirmed by the Senate as Brigadier General."

Latest From Vicksburg.

VICKSBURG, July 9.

Mortars from above and below continue to shell the city. The rebels have a number of guns mounted on field carriages, which they transfer from point to point, as previous positions are made untenable by fire from our guns.

Gen. Williams has planted a field battery on a point opposite the city, which causes much annoyance to rebel gunners.

The work on the canal is progressing rapidly, and large additions being made to the number of contrabands employed.

Carl Schurz's Popularity with his Command.

Army Correspondence of the Philadelphia Press.

Gen. Schurz has become immensely popular with his command, and wonderful changes have taken place, both in the conduct and discipline of the division. Gen. Schurz rides three times a day, both in rainy and dry weather, and he attends personally to the wants of his soldiers. New clothing and shoes have been distributed to his troops. Most of them have been paid off, and efficient sanitary regulations have been devised, which will tend to the comfort of the troops. The result of this is that the Germans love the General as a heathen doth his idol, and have confidence from the well-known military ability he displayed in Germany, that he will be a fit head for them in battle. Several weeks ago the newspapers were teeming with the accounts of the outrages committed by Blenker's men on the march up the valley.

Now, from my own personal observation, I can say that a more orderly and well-behaved set of soldiers I have never seen. Everything they want they pay for, and if any of the number commits any excesses disgraceful to the name of a soldier, he is immediately pointed out by his fellow soldiers. No doubt the whole of this is brought about by officers who take an interest in their commands, and see that their soldiers are treated well, and conform to the duties of their profession.

Shields' Resignation.

The Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette writes:

I suppose the fact of Gen. Shields' resignation promptly on the heels of his rejection for a Major Generalship by the Senate, is by this time known in the West. Of the resignation itself, I suppose it is needless to say anything. As I wrote, in a letter forwarded some days before the resignation was offered, Gen. Shields could not help either resigning or demanding an investigation. It might have looked better for him to have demanded the latter, but the troops under his command were better pleased with the resignation.

From the Southwest.

CAIRO, July 8.—The expedition which left Memphis to reinforce Col. Fitch, met him near the mouth of White river, he having evacuated St. Charles. The whole force turned and went back fifty-five miles above St. Charles, when he learned that Hindman was a few miles below with 8,000 men. Col. Fitch fell below again on the 6th to St. Charles.

Nothing was known of the whereabouts of Gen. Curtis. Scouts sent out fail to return, or bring no tidings. He is supposed to be trying to reach the Mississippi above White river. He has been on half rations for over three weeks.

SALE OF SCHOOL LANDS.

NOTICE is hereby given that in compliance with Section 46 of an act entitled "an act to establish the State Land Office, and for other purposes," approved March 10, 1862, appraisers have been appointed, and will appraise the school lands in the following counties, viz:

ANOKA,	MCLEOD,
BLUE EARTH,	MOWER,
BROWN,	NICOLLET,
CARVER,	OLMSTED
DAKOTA,	RAMSEY,
DODGE,	RICE,
FILLMORE,	SCOTT,
FREEBORN,	STEARNS,
GOODHUE,	STEELE,
HENNEPIN,	WABASHAW,
HOUSTON,	WASECA,
LE SUEUR,	WASHINGTON,
	WINONA.

All lands appraised at or above five dollars per acre will be offered for sale at public auction at the county seat of each county on or before the first day of November next, further notice of which will be given.

Fifteen per cent. of the purchase money and interest to June 1st, 1863, will be required on prairie lands, and seventy-five per cent. and interest on timber lands, the balance of the purchase money with interest at 7 per cent. will be payable any time within twenty years, at the option of the purchaser.

No lands will be sold for less than five dollars per acre, nor less than their appraised value.

The aggregate amount of land offered will be upwards of SEVENTY-FIVE THOUSAND ACRES, comprising the best farming and timber lands in the State, and located in the most densely settled counties, their aggregate population in 1860 being upwards of 152,000.

All settlers occupying lands valued at less than five dollars per acre will be required to lease the same according to law.

Speech of Senator Wilkinson on the Confiscation Bill.

DELIVERED IN THE SENATE, JUNE 28, 1862

Mr. WILKINSON. Mr. President: I have not the vanity to suppose that I can add anything to what has already been said in the Senate upon the right or duty of Congress to pass a law providing for the confiscation of the property of the wicked men who are laboring to destroy this Government, nor shall I attempt it. The question has been exhausted already, and I would not venture to say anything about it were it not for the persistent and extraordinary course pursued by the Senators claiming to be Republicans, ardent advocates of the war, and devoted friends of the Union, who have evinced so much feeling, and have manifested such bitter hostility to all measures which look to the confiscation of the property of men in arms against the constitut d authorities of the Government.

Sir, I cannot understand this. Why is it that the Senator from Illinois, on the other side of the Chamber, [Mr. Browning,] while his own constituents, his neighbors, and his friends who have gone forth to defend and uphold the Government, are wasting away like snow before the influences of an April sun, and while those who are left behind are being taxed to support this war to an extent never before known in this country, stands here and exhibits such unmistakable hostility to a measure that is calculated to make the guilty authors of all this suffering and of all this crime bear some portion of the burdens which he is so ready to place upon the shoulders of the liberty loving citizens of the loyal States of the Union. Why is it that he is so sensitive when the interests of traitors are attacked, and yet so ready to pour out the property and the blood of Union men like water to save this Union?

Sir, we are expending $2,000,000 a day, and giving two thousand lives a week, in the cause of the country and yet, all this money and all these lives are furnished by the loyal people of the Union. The men in arms against the Government do not participate in this great sacrifice, and yet they have caused it. They have wickedly imposed this terrible necessity upon the country, and yet when we seek by this bill to disarm them, when we make an effort to take out of their hands the weapons which are raised against our people, when we wish to take from them the sinews of war, when we ask them to repair the injuries of the past, and to give securities against any wrong threatened by them to be committed in the future, when we endeavor to make traitors pay their portion of the expenses of this war, when we attempt by the exercise of the right of confiscation, to force the justice which we cannot otherwise obtain, gentlemen are found here in the Senate, who seemingly close their eyes to the monstrous wrong of this rebellion and the terrible sacrifices of our people in their efforts to suppress it, and they seem anxious to avail themselves of all excuses and subterfuges in order to evade or defeat such a result.

Mr. President, it seems to me to be a clear and obvious duty, and one which we cannot properly ignore or shuttle off, to employ all the means which are placed in our hands to suppress this wicked and barbarous rebellion. We are bound to avail ourselves of all legal means, of every constitutional prerogative, of every extraordinary right which a state of war places at our command, to punish traitors, and to trample treason and rebellion under our feet. No matter how severe the penalty; no matter how terrible the visitation may be upon the heads of the vile conspirators who are to-day stabbing at the heart of the nation; no matter how many estates may be forfeited, how many fields may be laid waste, how many bondmen shall be set free, it is our duty to avail ourselves of any or all these rights if the interests of our country require it, or the support of our Army on the bloody battle-field demands.

Mr. President, without attempting to argue the constitutional right of Congress to pass a law confiscating the property of rebels and traitors, I will simply content myself by stating my views upon this question, and by giving the principles by which my action will be governed in this matter.

Our Government is engaged in war, gigantic, desperate, bloody war—a war which, in its proportions, has had no parallel in the present century, and which, in its vastness, is not likely soon to be equaled by any of the nations of the earth. It is idle for us to call it anything but war. However pleasant and agreeable it might be to characterize the present conflict in our country by some other name, still we are forced (no matter how reluctantly) to admit that we are in the midst of actual war. This being our situation, the Government of the United States may, and rightfully should, exercise all the rights of war which, in the law of nations, are laid down as belonging to and property to be exercised by independent Governments. The rights of war are peculiar to a state of war, and cannot fully be exercised by any nation in times of peace. Nor is the Government of the United States, while engaged in the terrific, deadly struggle for its own life, to be hedged around and chained down by those purely constitutional restrictions which were intended only for the government of our people in times of peace. Were not the powers of the Government enlarged in times of national hostilities, it would be in vain for us to attempt to carry on a war. Under our Constitution, as under the common law, the house of the humblest citizen is his castle; and so fully is he secured in its enjoyment that even the President himself, in times of peace, dare not unbidden enter it. But, sir, war comes, and with it its accumulated horrors, its sick, its wounded, and its dead. War comes, bringing with it an entire revolution in the necessities of the country; and also a corresponding change in the laws by which the nation is governed. The residence which to-day cannot be entered or trespassed upon, except by the authority of judicial process, to-morrow is at the mercy and control of a single officer, who may, without any charge against its owner, turn him out, in order that his mansion may be made a hospital tor the sick and weary soldier.

But I need not further allude to this point, for its simple statement carries with it the conviction of its truth. Were this not so, no nation upon the earth could wage a successful war.

Now, sir, what are the rights of war, and for what is war waged? The rights of war are all deduced from a single principle, and that is the end of a just war. When the end for which the war is prosecuted is just, the rights of war grant to him who is waging it all necessary means to attain this end. The rights of war go hand in hand with necessity, and with the exigency of the case. Sir, I claim in defense of the right of confiscation, that it is necessary to compel the guilty authors of this rebellion to indemnify the loyal people of the country for the suffering and expense to which they have been subjected, in consequence of this rebellion.

The nation has the undoubted right to indemnify itself for the great wrongs which it has suffered, and that indemnity may rightfully be demanded of those who have forced the nation into this war. The people upon whom the confiscation act will operate, are those who have forced us into this war. They are the authors of all this violence. They have compelled the nation to use force, to raise armies, to build ships of war, to expend marvelous amounts of money and oceans of blood to preserve the rights of this nation; and they have no right to complain if things proceed so far that they shall lose either their lives or their fortunes in the struggle.

Another right which the nation has in war, is that of weakening the enemy, of taking away from him the means of maintaining war, and weakening him from supporting an unjust and wicked violence. An able author upon the law of nations says:

"A nation has a right to deprive the enemy of his possessions and goods, of everything which may augment his forces and enable him to make war.

"This every one endeavors to perform in the manner best suited to him. A nation on every opportunity lays its hands on the enemy's goods, appropriates them to itself, and thereby, besides weakening the adversary, strengthens itself, and at least, in part procures an indemnification, an equivalent, either for the very cause of the war, or for the expense and losses resulting from it. A nation here does itself justice."

I admit that violent remedies should be wantonly used, that there should be a great necessity for the exercise of them before they should be resorted to. But, Mr. President, does not that necessity exist here, and now?

Let the Senator from Illinois (Mr. Browning) and Pennsylvania (Mr. Cowan) go home to their constituents, where there is a sepulcher in every garden, and in the midst of the gloom and desolation and mourning that surround them, propound to them them the questions: is it right, is it just, is it necessary that the authors of all this mourning and desolation and gloom should be compelled to indemnify the nation, in some degree, at least, for all the terrible sacrifices which have been made? And, sir, what will be their reply? What will be their indignation when you argue to them as you have argued here in the Senate, that it is not right, no just, nor necessary, and that there is no power in Congress to compel the guilty murderers of their husbands, their fathers, and their sons, to make indemnity for the sufferings and the wrongs which have been borne by our people? What will they say, if you argue to them as it has been argued here that we must be kind and tender and conciliating with our southern neighbors: that we must win them back by kindness: and that the Constitution, which they have wantonly violated and outraged, extends to these rebels and traitors the same protection which, in times of peace, it extends to the whole people of the country? Why, sir, it would be an insult to the understanding of the suffering, mourning people represented by those honorable gentlemen. It would be an insult to their humanity.

Mr. President, while the Senator from Illinois strenuously opposes all bills confiscating the property of rebels as entirely unconstitutional, I understand that he admits that in time of war the rights and powers of the Government are, and necessarily must be, greatly enlarged from the necessities of the case. I understand him to admit that in times of war, if the necessity exists, private property may be taken and appropriated by the Government without due process of law; that the country through which the army passes may be laid waste; that we may raze every house, burn every blade of grass, and utterly devastate the country, if the military necessity for such procedure exists; indeed, that we may free every slave and confiscate the entire property of the enemy; but he denies entirely that Congress has any power whatever to exercise any of those rights of war. These powers, he claims, must be exercised by the President alone; and that neither the people nor their representatives in Congress have any voice whatever in regulating or providing the way and manner in which the war shall be conducted. I understand him to declare that the power of Congress is limited to raising and equipping armies, and to providing money to conduct the war. This being done, he contends that the representatives of the people have no more voice or authority in the matter, and that it would be an assumption of power on their part if they should attempt to inquire even as to the disposition which is being made of the troops which have been appropriated to carry on the war. This vast power, he contends, rests entirely in the arbitrary control of one man, and Congress cannot direct, in the slightest manner, as to the exercise of that high prerogative. The money which the people have appropriated may be squandered in fruitless and unwise campaigns, our Army be employed in defending the property of rebels, and in catching and returning runaway slaves to their rebel masters; the property of the rebels may be guarded by Union soldiers, while our sick and wounded may be crowded upon the deck of a narrow dirty schooner, as was the case at the White House; with nothing but the dirty, brackish water of the river to drink, but a few rods distant Union soldiers were guarding, with their bayonets, the sparkling silver spring of a rebel general; and yet the representatives of the people have no right to complain of these things, and have no power to provide against their recurrence in the future!

Mr. President, I rejoice with exceeding joy that these are not the views of the President of the United States. I rejoice that the warm republican heart of our worthy Chief Magistrate is closed against any such despotic, monstrous doctrine as this. We are not in doubt as to the views of the President touching the authority of Congress in exercising and carrying out the war powers of the Government. He has placed himself upon the record, not in favor of the obnoxious doctrines of the Senator from Illinois, but in favor of the rights and authority of Congress. He places himself, in regard to the legitimate prerogatives of Congress, on the platform where every man who was acquainted with him would stand.

No man knows better than Mr. Lincoln that it is not the peculiar province and duty of the President to defend the liberties of the American people; and no man would feel more reluctant than he to array himself against the representatives of the people and the representatives of the States in Congress assembled.

Sir, it is fortunate indeed that in this trying hour we have a President who is content with the exercise of his simple constitutional prerogatives. With an army of half a million subject to his order, and with untold millions of money at his disposal, were he more ambitious and less honest than he is, and did he entertain the views advocated by the Senator from Illinois, as to the powers and prerogatives of Congress, we should have a military dictator at once, and that would be an end of constitutional liberty and of representative government on this continent. But, sir, Mr. Lincoln advocates no such doctrines; he has no such ambition. I said that he had placed himself upon the record on the question of the right and power of Congress to confiscate the property of rebels. On the 6th of August last, Congress passsed, as a war measure, a law confiscating the property and setting free the slaves of certain rebel masters, and the President at once approved that act. Had he entertained the sentiments of the Senator from Illinois he would have returned the bill to the House into which it originated, with a message declaring that Congress was usurping prerogatives which were, by the Constitution, vested in the President alone, and that it would be dangerous to the liberties of the people were he to permit such an unwarrantable exercise of power on the part of Congress. But, sir, Mr. Lincoln did no such thing; he gave the measure his ready and earnest support.

But, sir, this is not all. Not many weeks after the approval of this act by the President, General Fremont, then being in command of the Western Department, issued a proclamation broader in in its terms than the act of Congress, and which, I confess, suited me much better than that act, because it proclaimed freedom to all the slaves of rebel masters, while the law of Congress was limited to the slaves actually employed in the rebel army. Well, sir, what was the course of the President touching that proclamation? I regard that he did not entirely approve it, because, as I said, the proclamation suited me better than the act of Congress. But Mr. Lincoln modified that proclamation, and he based his action entirely and solely upon the fact that it did not conform to the law of Congress upon that subject. This is the order:

WASHINGTON, D. C., September 11, 1862.

SIR: Yours of the 8th, in answer to mine of the 2d instant, is just received. Assuming that you, upon the ground, could better judge of the necessities of your position than I could at this distance, on seeing your proclamation of August 30th, I perceived no general objection to it.

The particular clause, however, in relation to the confiscation of property and the liberation of slaves, appeared to me to be objectionable in its non-conformity to the act of Congress, past the 6th of last August, upon the same subject, and hence I wrote you, expressing my wish that the clause should be modified accordingly.

Your answer, just received, expresses the preference on your part that I should make an open order for the modification, which I very cheerfully do. It is therefore ordered, that the said clause of said proclamation be so modified, held, and constructed, as to conform to and not to transcend the provisions on the same subject contained in the act of Congress entitled "An act to confiscate property used for insurrectionary purposes," approved August 6, 1861, and that said act be published at length with this order.

Your obedient servant,
A. LINCOLN.
Major General JOHN C. FREMONT.

The language of the order: "that the said cause of said proclamation be so modified, held, and constrned, as to conform to and not to transcend the provisions of an act of Congress, entitled 'An act to confiscate property used for insurrectionary purpose, approved, August 6, 1861.'" What was President Lincoln about if the Senator from Illinois is correct when he declares that Congress has no constitutional right to confiscate the property of rebels?

Sir, Mr. Lincoln entertained no fears that Congress would attempt to usurp the constitutional prerogatives of the executive department of the Government: but he did fear that the executive officers might not always conform their action to the strict letter of the law. He knew well that the struggle had been long and severe to rescue liberty from the grasp of executive power; and he also knew that the safest and best rule was to follow the strict letter of the law. Not so with the Senator from Illinois. His great fear is that Congress will pass some law confiscating the property of rebels, and that by such unwarrantable assumption of power, which belongs to the President alone, the liberties of the people will be endangered!

But, sir, the Senator again contends, that because the command of the army is lodged in the hands of the President, therefore Congress has no power to make any law regulating the government of the army. While I shall not stop now to answer this, in my judgment, absurd and monstrous proposition of the Senator from Illinois, for it was fully and clearly answered and refuted by the Senator from Michigan [Mr. Howard] yesterday. I will content myself by entering my most solemn protest against this abominable heresy. It is a doctrine which, if permitted to become fixed as the policy of the nation, will sweep away at once every feature of representative government. As a member of the Senate, I will never give up the right of this body carefully to watch over and defend every interest of the whole country, and to resist attacks, coming from whatever quarter they may, which tend to remove the ancient landmarks of the Constitution.

Sir, if the Congress of the nation surrenders its right to watch over and protect every interest of the whole country; if it gives up its right to be heard upon all great questions of public interest, in the language of Mr. Webster, "it is a representative body no longer; it has broken the ties between itself and its constituents, and henceforth is fit only to be regarded as an inert, self-sacrificed mass, from which all appropriate principle of vitality has departed forever." When the people of my State are upon "the tented field," neither the Senator from Pennsylvania, nor any other power, can compel me, as a Senator, to surrender the right which I possess as a representative of a sovereign State, to demand that the troops which go forth from Minnesota to maintain the honor and glory of the nation, shall go forth under proper regulations marked out and defined by a proper and well defined law of the land.

Mr. President, the Senator from Illinois, in his speech the other day, used this remaakable language, speaking of the danger of legislative encroachments upon the other departments of the Government: "Thus boldly begun, where will it end?" Sir, when was it boldly begun? At the extra session of Congress, last summer, they begun this system of usurpation, as it is denounced by the Senator, in the passage of the confiscation law, which Mr. Lincoln approved, and which he required to be enforced to the letter. Is that a usurpation of legislative power when the Executive joins with the law-making power of the land to enforce and carry out the strict letter of that law? The Senator from Illinois said further:

"It is from the legislative department of the Government that danger is to be apprehended, not the executive or judicial. They are inherently weak, and we cannot too carefully guard against encroachments upon their prerogative by the legislative department."

When General Jackson sent his protest to this body agrinst the action of the Senate in a certain case, Daniel Webster and Henry Clay did not talk as the Senator from Illinois talks about the encroachments of the legislative power of this Government. They declared that the liberties of this country, if they were defended at all, must be defended by the immediate representatives of the people. The sovereignty of this nation lies buried with the people of this country. It is not in the President, nor is it in the judicial department of the Government. It rests with the people. They select their immediate spokesmen; they send their representatives to the great council of the nation. Those representatives come with their charter, and their commission from the people themselves; they get it not from any other power, and it is an absurdity for the Senator from Illinois, or the Senator from Pennsylvaniai to declare that there is danger of encroachment upon the rights of the people from their immediate and chosen representatives.

Perhaps, sir, I have consumed more time in alluding to this obnoxious, this offensive doctrine, promulgated by the Senator from Illinois, than its importance really demands. Were there any great number of members in the Senate Chamber or in the other House who advocated such a doctrine, perhaps it would be proper to consider it more at length.

These being my views, I believe in the right and power of Congress to pass the bill as it passed the House of Representatives, confiscating the property of rebels and traitors who are in arms against the Government. Believing that Congress has the right to exercise this power, I am in favor of its immediate exercise by Congress; and I am therefore opposed to the amendment of the Senator from New Hampshire. I do not regard the bill of the Senate select committee which he has moved as an amendment, as efficient as the one that has been sent to us from the House of Representatives.

And now, Mr. President, permit me to say that if we leave this Chamber, if we adjourn this Congress and go home to our people who are borne down with grief and sorrow, holding the tax bill in our hands, and say to them, "you must mourn in silence over the graves of your children, you must pay the enormous taxes necessary to carry on this war; but the necessity did not exist for us to compel your wicked enemies to contribute their portion of the vast expense; do not give vent, good people, to your sufferings; pay your money; we must be kind and merciful and conciliatory to these murderers, traitors, and worse than criminals; but you must suffer and submit in silence." The Senators from Illinois and Pennsylvania may go to their constituents with these words of consolation upon their lips, but I declare I never will. I am for stripping these rebels of everything they possess, and I am for turning it over to indemnify our people in some degree for the terrible sufferings which they have sustained. We cannot give them back the lives of their children, of their brothers, and of their husbands; but we can do something to convince them that we, at least sympathize with them in the conflict in which they have been engaged.

MR. WILKINSON. I do not know by what authority the Senator from Pensylvania states that I hold that we are not to pay any attention to the wishes of the Union men of the South. If the Senator will permit me, I will relate a circumstance that occurred in one of these rebellious States, as told me the other day by a gentleman from Knoxville, Tennessee. He was taken, with thirty other persons, private citizens, placed under the boiler-deck of one of the stern-wheel river steamboats, where the hold was but three feet, where they could not sit upright, kept four or five days in that situation, taken down South, put in prison, and that it cost him and two other men $2,500 to obtain their release at Richmond. Now, the point which he made to me was this: said he, "if you do not punish these rebels by some bold, decisive act on the part of the Government, it is useless for us to remain in the country; we shall have to leave it." That was a brother-in-law of Mr. Brownlow.

MR. SUMNER. I have letters to the same effect.

MR. WILKINSON. Sir, we do sympathise with the Union men of that country.

MR. COWAN. True, Mr. President; and the bold, decisive strokes which we are in favor of making in behalf of that gentleman and others in like situation, is to employ the military force of this country in war to suppress this rebellion; and so far as the municipal power of this Government is concerned, we intend to hang on the gallows, if you please as high as Haman's, all those who are convicted and are really guilty of instigating it.

MR. WILKINSON. I do not desire to interrupt the Senator, but I wish to state another thing the gentleman told me. He was a very intelligent gentleman. He said they wanted a Tennessee man to command the forces in Tennessee, and gave this as his reason: "Your officers will not punish these guerrillas as they ought to be punished, but if you will give us one of our men and let our Union men who have been robbed and plundered take up their muskets against them, we will see that they are taken care of as they ought to be." The difficulty is that our soldiers in the field do not pun sh traitors, and that is what we are complaining about; they protect them; they guard their property; they shield them from harm—while they leave the Union men to be robbed and plundered by the traitors who are in arms against the Government.

Mr. WILKINSON: I have but a word to say, and then I will give way. The Senator has alluded, in almost every speech he has made, to the size of the State of Pennsylvania. Everybody knows it is a great State. But, sir, does that give the Senator any more importance here than if he represented a small State? Does it make his views any more correct and right, or any more just, than if he represented the little insignificant State of Minnesota? I tell that Senator the people whom I represent have been in every battle fought east of the Mississippi river, and I apprehend they will be in every battle which will be fought hereafter. They have come west of the Mississippi river, and have stayed here on the banks of the Potomac for over a year. They have been in pretty much every battle, with the exception of two or three, which has been fought since this war commenced, and they will continue there. I do not claim any credit for this. I did not make the remarks I made because I was a representative of Minnesota, but a representative of a State in the Congress of the United States. I speak as much for the people and soldiers of Pennsylvania as for the soldiers of Minnesota, and I will say here, and now, when he assumes to represent the soldiers of Pennsylvania, that, in my humble judgment, nineteen-twentieths of those soldiers repudiate his doctrine. If the question could be tested, the result would be similar to the recent election taken on the constitution of the State of Illinois, where the troops from Egypt, even, as it is called in that State, turned around and repudiated the men who advocate the doctrine of the Senator from Pennsylvania.

Mr. Wilkinson. I offer an additional section as an amendment:

SEC.—. And be it further enacted, That the President of the United States is hereby authorized to negotiate for the acquisition, by treaty or otherwise, of lands or countries in Mexico, Central America, or South America, or in the islands of the Gulf of Mexico, or for the right of settlement upon the lands of said countries; and whenever any lands shall have been so acquired, or whenever the right of settlement shall have been so secured in any of said countries, then the President shall cause all the persons who shall have been liberated under the provisions of this act, to be removed, with their own consent, at such times and under such regulations as he may deem expedient, to the countries so acquired, or in which the right of settlement has been secured, and shall cause a reasonable quantity of land, not exceeding forty acres to any individual, or eighty acres to the head of a family, to be set apart for the use of such liberated persons, and shall guaranty to all such persons so removed, all the civil and political rights secured to all other citizens in said countries; and for the purpose of paying the expense of the purchase of such lands or countries as aforesaid, and the removal of said persons, the President shall use such sum or sums, not exceed $500,000, from moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, as may be necessary therefor; and the amount so used shall be returned to the Treasury as Congress may from time to time direct, from moneys arising out of the sales of the property formerly owned by rebels and which shall have been confiscated to the use of the United States.

I merely wish to state that this is the sixth section of the House bill with an amendment, and the amendment is that the President may use $500,000 for this purpose, and that the money shall be returned to the Treasury out of the proceeds arising from this confiscation, if there be any.

THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION AND ITS TREASON.

Under the above heading the Stillwater Messenger comes down as follows on the resurrection movement of the Buchanan Democracy:

It is a lamentable fact that while our noble army in front of Richmond was contending with the rebels against great odds in numbers—while steel was clashing with steel, and thousands of noble patriots were biting the dust in the agonies of death, and thousands of others were enduring every labor and danger that men could endure to put down the the rebellion and support the Government—while these things were transpiring on rebel ground, a class of politicians in Minnesota was plotting treason and aiding the rebellion almost to the same extent as were the rebels in arms in front of Richmond.

The convention of the 3d, called for the most part by the Breckinridge school of politicians and hangers on of the old putrified remains of the Buchanan administration—an administration that will be a stench in the nostrils of the civilized world, so long as civilization is sensitive to that which is corrupt, putrid and dishonest—met, made Congressional nominations, and adopted a platform which breathes treason in almost every sentence. We give the platform below as discussed and adopted with closed doors. No wonder the managers dared not adopt it with the faces of their fellow men looking upon them! The sun-light of Heaven would have paled in the presence of such an exhibition had it, too, not been shut out of their council room. Here it is. We beg all loyal men, all patriots and good citizens in this hour of our nation's extremity, to read and ponder the monstrocity.

[We omit the platform, having already published it.—ED. PRESS.]

And this is the trumpet-blast which is to resurrect the putrid carcass of Moccasin Democracy in Minnesota! It is said,

There is no vice so simple, but assumes
Some mark of virtue on its outer parts—

And hence, to assume an air of loyalty, while every other utterance is disloyal, it became necessary to preface the long indictment against the Government with a hollow profession of good-will, and a cold-hearted promise of assistance in putting down the rebellion "in all lawful measures" adopted—they to be the judges of the proper means, and to dictate the proper weapons. Patriotism, indeed—"a smile, with murder in the smile."

Every earnest effort to put down the rebellion is denounced as usurpation or extravagant robbery,—embracing nine long counts in the general indictment,—while not one word of condemnation of the murderers and assassins of the Government is uttered. The spirit of that convention is the same spirit which lurked about and controlled the Buchanan administration;—it is the same spirit which animated Secretary Floyd when he stole the money from our mints and custom houses, the arms from our arsenals, and every available vessel from our navy yards;—it is the same spirit which opened fire with stolen guns upon Fort Sumter, and trailed the American flag in the streets of Charleston;—the same that fired upon our soldiers in the streets of Baltimore, that met our gallant soldiers last week at Richmond, that every day gives contraband information to the enemy, that has so long encouraged and fostered the rebellion in the North.

The spirit of the platform is this: Perish Government, perish President and Cabinet and Congress, perish our past history and proud name, perish future hopes and future greatness—perish everything valuble to us as a people, but spare—O, spare the Democratic party!

Thank God! the mass of the Democratic party do not sympathize with the movement.

The Anoka Republican gives its views of the platform and the candidate:

How appropriate it is that one of Buchanan's four year office holders should be the candidate so willing to stand on and endorse such an infamous platform. In vain may his friends throw out the intimation "that he has money and will use it during the coming canvass." The platform alone will prove a mill-stone around his neck and secure his defeat. The tremendous haul which he is said to have made from the Indian Superintendency, will never haul him into Congress. The jingling of the money this moccasinite may have will hardly purchase the loyal people of the Second Congressional District.

—The resignation of Gen. Shields, tendered some time since, has not been accepted, and it is intimated that the important duty of raising and training a considerable portion of the 300,000 volunteers just called for will be devolved on him.

BUSINESS LOCALS.

JULY—PIMPLES AND SKIN DISEASES are the result of impure blood. The blood becomes thick and clogged. The skin is not able to cast off the impurities so important to health. How many young men and women we see with their faces covered with pimples and blotches, who are endeavoring to remove them by the use of soaps and washes of various kinds. This is very dangerous and should never be practised by persons desirous of good health. Mothers who have children afflicted with sores and eruptions, should never dry them up by external applications, for in this way they will drive in the humors and produce ill health for the child during its whole life time. There is no mother that likes to see her children afflicted with feeble health.

Judson's Mountain Herb Pills are prepared expressly for the cure of eruptions of the skin, such as Pimples, Blotches &c. They cleanse the blood of all impurities, producing a beautiful, clear and healthy skin, so much admired by all people of taste and refinement.

Judson's Mountain Herb Pills are sold by all medicine dealers.

THE CITY.

Minnesota Soldiers' Aid Society at Washington, D. C.

This Society was organized at the residence of W. S. King, Esq., in the city of Washington, on the evening of the 9th of June, 1862, for the purpose of rendering aid to the sick and wounded soldiers now or hereafter in the hospitals in the city of Washington and vicinity.

The following persons were elected officers to carry out the purposes of the organization:

President—Delano T. Smith of Minneapolis.
Vice-President—J. F. Stock of Shelbyville.
Secretary—Charles H. King of St. Paul.
Treasurer—J. A. Ashley of Louisville.

At a meeting of the Society at the residence of W. S. King, Esq., on the 16th of June, the following were reported as the number and names of sick and wounded from the 1st Minnesota Regiment, then under treatment in the various hospitals in and about Washington, all of whom are doing well, and it is expected will soon be fit for duty.

Hiram Drake, Co. E	A. Eastman, co. F.
Robert Armstrong, Co H.	Solon Webster Co. H.
John H. Wixon, "	A. Eppenberger, " B.
Charles Nassig, Co. I.	Simon E. Latta, Co A.

Committees were appointed to visit the hospitals of the city every week, and to report fully the name, company, regiment, and condition of each Minnesota soldier found therein to the regular weekly meetings of the Society, as changes may occur.

All communications directed to the officers of the Society, relative to the condition and whereabouts of the sick and wounded, will be promptly attended to and answered.

FROM CORINTH.—Lieut. Hunt, Quartermaster of the Fourth Regiment arrived here yesterday morning on a sick furlough. He will remain until he recovers his health, and then rejoin his regiment. It is a fact personally known to us that the Quartermaster of the Fourth has seen his share of really hard service since the regiment left Fort Snelling, and it is no wonder he is sick.

He reports the regiment in general good health as can be expected. Lieut. Col. Thomas is in command, and Col. Sanborn is directing the affairs of Buford's old brigade in a manner highly creditable to himself as a competent and faithful officer.

Gen. Thomas' old division, of which that officer has resumed command, has gone east from Corinth to join Buell's army—the Second Minnesota holding its old place in the division.

SCHOOL LAND APPRAISERS.—The Auditor of State, being ex-officio School Land Commissioner, has appointed on behalf of the State, in accordance with the act of last winter, the following persons to appraise the School Lands in the respective counties named. The commissioners of each county will appoint two persons to act with the appraiser appointed on the part of the State, who, together form a board of school land appraisers for the county:

ANOKA—Thos. G. Henderson.
BLUE EARTH—Henry Shanblatt.
BROWN—Augustus Westfall.
CARVER—Ernest Heyd.
DAKOTA—Lewis B. Carter.
DODGE—F. G. Ingalsbee.
FILLMORE—Wm. P. Underwood.
FREEBORN—Daniel Gates.
GOODHUE—L. A. Thatcher.
HENNEPIN—J. F. Cahill.
HOUSTON—Joseph Carr.
LE SUEUR—G. W. Stewart.
McLEOD—Andrew L. Snyder.
MOWER—Henry Allen.
NICOLLET—John Henderson.
OLMSTED—S. W. Baker.
RAMSEY—Peter Berkey.
RICE—L. W. Dennison.
SCOTT—L. S. Woolson.
STEARNS—Thos. C. Alden.
STEELE—M. A. Daily.
WABASHAW—J. W. Farnham.
WASECA—H. L. Baldwin.
WASHINGTON—H. L. Thomas.
WINONA—Ebenezer Warner.

CONVENIENT AND ECONOMICAL.—Messrs. E. & H. Y. Bell advertise three articles of late invention which are certainly most useful and economical.

The Magnetic Tack Hammer itself takes up the tack as well as drives it, doing work more rapidly and preventing bruised fingers.

The patent Coffee Strainer is very simple, and it is claimed will save a good deal.

But the patent Lifter is the best of all. With it you can remove from the stove caps and griddles with or without places to fit by: also, you can lift baking dishes, pudding dishes, in short any thing that you use with a stove that is liable to get too warm for the naked hands.

A COOL PLACE.—Concert Hall, of a hot afternoon, when Holcombe's Writing Class meets, is about as pleasantly cool as can be found in the city.

JOSEPH LEWIS, NOTARY PUBLIC, ETC.—We call attention to the card of our worthy friend, J. Lewis, Esq., who has opened an office in Irvine's Block. In St. Paul Mr. L. is too well known to need any commendation from the PRESS. To parties abroad, who have business in his line, we recommend him as thoroughly capable and entirely trustworthy.

WEST ST. PAUL ROAD.—Work on this desirable improvement was commenced again yesterday under the auspices of the contractors. We understand the matter of wages has been amicably arranged between the contractors and laborers. We hope to see a heavy force now put on so that the work will be completed at the latest by the first of October; and while we would always do just by the contractors, we would suggest the propriety of the city delaying payment after each estimate sufficiently long to prevent another stoppage, as it is evident the contractors have no considerable amount of stomach for the completion of the work.

RASPBERRIES, both Black and Red, have made their appearance on our streets this season, and find a ready sale at ten cents per quart.

RIVER MATTERS.—The arrivals yesterday were the Hawkeye State, Northern Light, and Northern Belle from below, and the Pomeroy and Antelope from the Minnesota river.

The War Eagle left for Dunleith, the McLellan for LaCrosse, and the Eolian for Carver.

The Hawkeye arrived yesterday forenoon, and will leave this morning for St. Louis.

The Antelope brought 600 sacks of wheat. She broke some of her machinery on the down trip, and will be laid up for a few days for repairs. The Ariel will take her place in the Carver trade, leaving daily at 2 P. M.

The Pomeroy will depart for Mankato this evening.

The Northern Belle is the regular packet this morning at 8 o'clock for La Crosse.

The Northern Light will depart at 8 A. M. for Prairie du Chien and Dunleith.

The Itasca is due from Dunleith this morning, and the Keokuk from La Crosse this evening.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.—The executive committee of the Ramsey County Agricultural Society met yesterday and appointed a committee of four of their number, consisting of Messrs. J. W. Selby, W. L. Wilson, Truman M. Smith and W. J. Cullen, to act with a committee composed of a similar number to be appointed on the part of the Executive Committee of the State Agricultural Society, to form a Union Executive Committee, for the purpose of holding a State and County Agricultural Fair this fall.

POLICE ITEMS.—Antoine Wolf was arrested for disorderly conduct, for which he was fined $3 and costs. He paid it and was discharged.

Thomas Brock was arrested for assault and battery, but was discharged.

THE CARS on the Minnesota and Pacific Railroad resumed their running yesterday, the track having been repaired.

SAINT PAUL, July 3d, 1862.

The undersigned will receive sealed proposals at his office in Saint Paul, Minnesota, until 12 o'clock M. on the 16th day of July, for furnishing and delivering, at Fort Snelling, Minnesota, compulsory rations for United States troops, prisoners of war, and to any other persons subsisted in kind by the Government, to be sent these.

The ration consists as follows: Three-fourths of a pound of pork or bacon, or one and a fourth pounds of fresh or salt beef; twenty-two ounces of bread or flour, or one pound of hard bread, or one and a fourth pounds of corn meal; and at the rate to every one hundred rations, of eight quarts of beans or peas, and ten pounds of rice or hominy; ten pounds of green coffee, or eight pounds of roasted and ground coffee, or one and a half pounds of tea; fifteen pounds of sugar; four quarts of vinegar; one pound of sperm candles, or one and a fourth pounds of adamantine candles, or one and a half pounds of tallow candles; four pounds of soap, and two quarts of salt.

In addition to the foregoing, there is allowed twice per week one gallon of molasses per one hundred rations, and thrice per week, if practicable, an issue of potatoes, at the rate of one pound per man. When beans, peas, rice, hominy, or potatoes cannot be issued in the proportions given above, an equivalent in value shall be issued in some other proper food. Desiccated potatoes, or desiccated mixed vegetables, at the rate, per one hundred rations, of one hundred and fifty ounces of the former, or one hundred ounces of the latter, may be substituted for beans, peas, rice, hominy, or fresh potatoes, when these articles cannot be issued; or, upon the requisition of the proper officer, and when the supply on hand will admit of it, they may be issued at the foregoing rate, twice per week in lieu of beans or peas, or in lieu of rice or hominy. Fresh beef may be issued as often as the commanding officer of any detachment or regiment may require it, when practicable, in place of salt meat.

The Acting Commissary reserves to himself the right to diminish or increase the number of rations required, whenever the interests of the government demand it.

Bidders must name their sureties in their bids. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any and all bids deemed extravagant.

The contract will extend to, and include the 31st day of December, 1862.

Bidders can be present at the opening of the bids. T. M. SAUNDERS,

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.—Whereas default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made and delivered by Lemon Ingalls and Maria M. Dayton, his wife, of St. Paul Ramsey county, Minnesota, to Wilder Constable Tromanson, of Worcester, Worcester county, Massachusetts, bearing date the seventeenth day of December, A. D. 1856 and recorded in the office of Registers of Deeds of the county of Ramsey and State of Minnesota, on the twenty-third day of December, A. D. 1856 in Book R of Mortgages on pages 234, 235 and 236, and conveying to the mortgagee the southwest quarter (¼) of section number four (4) in township number twenty-nine (29) north of range number two (2) west all in the county of Ramsey and state of Minnesota, which mortgage was given to secure the payment of certain notes for four hundred and eleven dollars ($411) and interest, of even date therewith, and there is now claimed to be due and to the thereon, four hundred and seventy six and 76 100 dollars ($476 76), and no proceedings at law or in equity have been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, nor any part thereof, and no part of said debt has been paid;
Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the above described mortgaged premises will be sold at public auction, by the sheriff of the county of Ramsey to the highest bidder for cash on the 16th (16) day of July, A. D. 1862 at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at the front door of the court house in St. Paul, Ramsey county, State of Minnesota, to satisfy and pay the amount due upon said promissory note and mortgage and all costs allowed by law.

SHERIFF'S SALE.—BY VIRTUE of an execution issued out of and under the seal of the District Court of the Second Judicial district, in the county of Ramsey on a certain judgment and decree rendered in said Court on the second day of May, A. D. 1862, and docketed in the office of the Clerk of said Court pending, where in Ira Bidwell is plaintiff, and Elizabeth C. Randall, Jane Randall, Charles Randall, Hermon Ferguson, Mary Brigham, Andrew J. Whiting, and Wm. H. Morton are defendants, in favor of said plaintiff for the sum of six thousand eight hundred and eighty six dollars and sixty six and two-third cents, the same being the amount of plaintiff's lien as creditor on lots number eleven (11) and twelve (12) in block number twenty (20) in Christie and Randall's addition to St Paul, in Ramsey County, and State of Minnesota, to sell said real estate to satisfy said lien with interest from May, 1862 and twenty two dollars and forty nine cents costs I did on the 9th day of June, 1862, levy upon and take into my possession the said above described real estate.
Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that on the 28th day of July, 1862, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at the front door of the court house in the City of St. Paul, in said county of Ramsey, I will sell the said real estate to the highest bidder for cash according to the statute in such case made and provided, to satisfy said decree and execution, with interest and the costs thereon.

The "FLORENCE" SEWING MACHINES make FOUR DIFFERENT stitches on one and the same machine. Thus the LOCK, DOUBLE-LOCK KNOT AND DOUBLE-KNOT, all of which make the seam alike on both sides of the fabric. Either or all can be produced while the Machine is in motion.
They have the REVERSIBLE FEED MOTION, which enables the operator to have the work carry either way, or to change the direction, and fasten the end of seams, which, together with making a long and a short stitch, is done simply by turning a thumb screw.
Their motions are all positive. There are no springs to get out of order. They are so simple that the most inexperienced can work them perfectly and with ease. They are NOISELESS, and can be used where quiet is necessary.
They are the FASTEST SEWERS in the WORLD, making five stitches to each revolution. They oil no dresses. Their stitch is the wonder of all, because of its combined ELASTICITY, STRENGTH and BEAUTY.

IMPORTANT TO ADVERTISERS.

The PRESS has—in accordance with the fact—claimed for the last six months a larger circulation, Daily, Tri-Weekly and Weekly, than any other paper in the city or State, and has challenged the Pioneer to compare the circulation of that paper with the PRESS, and make the result public, which challenge has been constantly declined, thus, on the part of the Pioneer, practically admitting the larger circulation of the PRESS. The bills of newspaper for the several editions of the PRESS and Pioneer show conclusively that the circulation of the several editions of the PRESS is nearly two thousand sheets per week greater than the circulation of the Pioneer.

THE NEWS THIS MORNING.

The President's visit to the army of the Potomac has been very satisfactory. He addressed the army, expressing the highest satisfaction with the situation of affairs, and his confidence in its commander, its officers and men. He promises to do everything that McClellan has asked in the way of reinforcements and supplies.

It is rumored that General Halleck will succeed Stanton. We believe he is better adapted for the Cabinet than the field, and has indeed rare administrative capacity; but we would like a change of policy from his famous Order No. 3, if he is to take the War port-folio.

Vicksburg yet holds out.

Astonishing guerrilla sucesses are reported in Tennessee on the Kentucky line. This don't look much like bringing back our erring brothers, as the Democracy are wont to call them.

NATIONAL ADDRESS FROM THE REPUBLICANS.

Our dispatches indicate as forthcoming an address to the country from a committee, of which Senator Wilkinson of this State, is a member.

A GENERAL EXCHANGE OF PRISONERS.

If it is true that a general exchange of prisoners is decided on at last, the country will rejoice.

THE TRANSIT RAILROAD AND ST. PETER.

The St. Peter Tribune takes us to task severely for naming Mankato as the terminus on the Minnesota river of the Transit Railroad. If we so mentioned it, it was, of course, a mistake so far as the land grant fixes a part of the road. We believe, however, that the road was so located as to insure a connection with Mankato quite as direct as with St. Peter. This connection involved the building of a short section independent of the land grant.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTIONS.

In Dakota County a Convention is called to meet at Hastings on Saturday, the 26th inst., to elect seven delegates to the Congressional Convention.

The call is in the following liberal terms:

An invitation is hereby given to all persons who support the National Administration, and who are for sustaining it in the vigorous prosecution of the war, to unite with the Republican party in the election of delegates at their primary meetings.

In HENNEPIN COUNTY a Convention is called to meet at Bassett's Hall, Minneapolis, on Saturday, the 26th inst. It is in the same liberal spirit of the Dakota County call.

"I'M UNION, BUT NO ABOLITIONIST."

The St. Louis Evening News, which has to deal in its locality with rebels, as well as sympathizers with rebels, talks as follows to both classes:

Pin a covert rebel to the wall, and he will try to escape by exclaiming—"I'm Union, but no Abolitionist." Such cant is all balderdash. You are a rebel, sir, and you know it, but too cowardly to avow what you conceal in your heart. No one has accused you of being an Abolitionist, unless rebel and abolition are synonymous terms, but you are accused of being a traitor, and to escape that odium you plead not guilty to another and a very different accusation.

It is high time that men of intelligence should drop this species of special pleading, and offer some more tangible excuse—for it is nothing but an excuse—for their disloyalty. When you resort to such subterfuge, it is evident the treason is in you. An honest confession is not only good for the soul, but under all circumstances, better than a lie. To attempt thus to play off on Union men only excites their contempt for your duplicity. In a word, you are as bad as the Pharisee who rested his claims, not upon his own merits, but upon the fact that he was not as bad as somebody else. Far better confess your sin, like the Publican, and ask to be forgiven on your own merits, than to base your claim upon the cowardly hypothesis that Abolitionists are worse than you.

THE FIRST MINNESOTA IN THE SEVEN DAYS' BATTLES BEFORE RICHMOND.

THE KILLED AND WOUNDED.

Letter from Chaplain Neill.

The following Letter from Chaplain Neill, gives a brief history of the part taken in the seven days' battle before Richmond, by the First Minnesota:

BERKLEY PLANTATION ON JAMES RIVER,
Thursday, July 50, 1862.

His Excellency, Alexander Ramsey, Governor of Minnesota:

DEAR SIR: An advance of the whole army of the Potomac, having been ordered, Sumner's corps d'armee was selected for the arduous and hazardous work of protecting our rear, and the valuable train, at least twelve miles long, from annoyance.

Sedgwick's division, that had, since the battle of Fair Oaks, held our advanced position, left the camp just before daylight on Sunday, June 29th, the First Minnesota, commanded by Lieutenant-Colonel Miller, and the Brigade by Colonel Sully, General Gorman being sick.

The division had proceeded about a mile and a half, when the enemy made their appearance. After a short contest the latter retired. About five o'clock in the afternoon, while our troops were at Savage Station, on the York Railroad, the enemy again gave battle. Until dark the conflict raged, but a kind Providence inspired our men with valor and coolness, and the foe were held in check.

The loss in the Minnesota Regiment, under the circumstances, has been slight, but the reading of the subjoined list will, therefore, cause none the less pain to the friends and relatives of our noble color-bearer, Sergeant Burgess, and others of the killed and wounded:

Company A—H. Adams, killed; Canfield, wounded; Pitkin, do.; Keyes, slightly; Thein, do.; Lyon, do. in leg; Matthison, do. slightly; Kiefer, do.; Crawley, do.

Company B—Goff, slighly wounded; Brown, do. do.

Company C—(Owing to an order causing the regiment to fall into line, I have not the list—about 12 killed and wounded.)

Company D—None.

Company E—Corporal Taylor, slightly wounded; Patterson, wounded in shoulder; Hugh Cassidy, do. in leg; Henry E. Scott, wounded; Calvin G. Sherlock.

Company F—Corporal Willihann, killed; Corporal Johnson, do.; Clark, wounded; Peterson, do.; I. P. Davis, do.; E. E. Davis, do.; Severdson, do.

Company G—McKinstry, wounded; Wells, do.

Company H—Gilman, wounded in shoulder.

Company I—None.

Company K.—Sergeant Burgess, the color-bearer, killed.

SUNDAY NIGHT, June 29.

Died of typhoid fever, James Skinner.

MONDAY, June 30.

Company F—One man killed.

Captain Colville, wounded by a shot in the breast.

On Monday, between White Oak Swamp and Willis' Church, the enemy again appeared, and at various points there was fighting.

In a skirmish, in which our division was engaged, Captain Colville was wounded in the breast.

On Tuesday, with the whole army, we were drawn up in line of battle, on the dividing line of Charles City and Henrico counties, in sight of James river. Although exposed to the shell, we were not actually engaged. At midnight we moved in a body, and arrived, in a rain, which lasted all the next day, on the James river, at Berkley, the seat where General Harrison was born.

Since I have commenced writing, the enemy have commenced shelling our rear, and the order has just passed for the Regiment to fall in. I must stop.

Yours truly, EDW'D. D. NEILL.
Chaplain.

News of the Day.

—It is said that some of the convicts are highly indignant at Gov. Johnson for sending the parsons to the penitentiary. They fear that their morals will be corrupted.—Nashville Union.

—The New York Evening Post, of Saturday, announces the death of Madame Susini, nee, Isabella Hinckley, the well known prima donna. She had lately given birth to an infant, and her confinement was followed by a fever, which resulted fatally.

—J. F. Welles, Esq., of Boston, has just completed a contract with the Government by which he agrees to raise the vessels sunk at the Gosport Navy Yard and in Hampton Roads. The value of the property upon which he proposes to operate amounts to over a million dollars.

—Mobile is now pretty well fortified, and the inhabitants are led to believe that it cannot be taken. They have got 10,000 troops, two gunboats and a ram. Confidence is a good thing; but, has Mobile heard from New Orleans, Vicksburg, Baton Rouge, Grand Gulf and Island No. 10.

—Over one hundred propellers are now employed on the canals in this country, and there is a general confidence that a great part of canal work will soon be done by them.

—The new law of Massachusetts allowing married women doing business on their own account to file a certificate in the office of the city or town clerk, and thus protect the property vested in their separate business against any claim of their husband's creditors, went into effect July 1st. This law applies to boarding house keepers as well as those engaged or trading otherwise.

—John S. C. Abbot, the author of the life of Napoleon, the most popular history of that great man ever published, is engaged in writing a history of the great rebellion, which will be issued at the close of the war. The style of Mr. Abbott is clear, graphic and strikingly dramatic, and is peculiarly adapted to the tastes of the great public. He knows what the people want and knows what they do not want, and so seizing upon the wheat he leaves the chaff to be gathered and sifted by the plodders. There are half a dozen histories of the rebellion now in progress, but none which promises so much as this—none which promises to provide so well for the popular want.

LAKE SUPERIOR IMPORTS.

To the Editor of the St. Paul Press:

The trade of Detroit, says the Ontonagon (Lake Superior) Miner, was probably never brisker than the present season. Among the heavy shipping houses of that city, Messrs. Williams & Co. hold a prominent place. Their shipments by the steamers Northern Light and General Taylor on one day amounted to two hundred and sixty tons of merchandise and produce, and fifty head of cattle. One Ontonagon merchant advertises 9,000 bushels oats, 60,000 pounds common ground feed, 10,000 pounds canvassed hams, 20,000 barrels mess-pork, 2,000 pounds lard, 3,000 pounds butter, and 150 barrels flour. When rails connect St. Paul with Superior City, we will drive off Detroit competition. The new smelting works at Ontonagon will probably be in operation by next fall. A prominent watch-maker of Ontonagon manufactures and sells articles of native silver, viz; spoons from $6 to $10 per set, forks $15 to $25, knobs $2 50 to $5 each, tobacco boxes $5 to $10 each—besides setting Lake Superior agates and freestones in fine gold.

The Marquette (Lake Superior) News says that the Forrestville furnace has manufactured three tons of pig-metal upon especial order for Europe. About two tons of the amount is very handsome pig, made in the ordinary way, of nearly one hundred pounds each; the balance pig about four inches square, cast in iron moulds. This is peculiarly handsome, the surface being almost as smooth as hammered iron. R.

SUPERIOR CITY, July 8, 1862.

State News.

From the State Atlas.

THE many friends of George H. Woods will regret to learn that he is very sick with fever. He is among his relatives in Salem, Massachusetts. His recovery is doubtful.

A SERIOUS CASUALTY.—On the evening of the 4th, two lads about 24 years of age, one the son of Sweet Case and the other of Widow Moore, suffered severely from the bursting of a can of powder in the hands of one of them. The faces of both of them were considerably scorched.

WE have not seen at Minneapolis so many visitors, invalids and others, since the summer of '57. The Nicollet House is nearly or quite full, besides a large number at private families.

INDIANS KILLED.—The Mankato Independent says: On Sunday evening a Winnebago Indian, while under the influence of liquor, stabbed and tomahawked another Indian, killing him instantly. The murderer was immediately caught and tied by other Indians, who kept him until morning, and turned him over to the relatives of the deceased, who executed summary justice, according to Indian custom, on the spot, by stabbing and tomakawking the murderer.

The Democracy on the Record.

The Central Republican thus notices the resurrection movement of the the bogus Democracy:

The Vallandigham Democracy of Minnesota, in obedience to the commands of their masters, the immortal fourteen traitor Congressmen, Vallandigham, Cox & Co., met in solemn council at St. Paul last week, and the resolutions and bill of indictment they found against the Administration are worthy the last remains of the traitorous Administration of James Buchanan, or the last relics of the Minnesota Moccasin Democracy. They have faithfully followed the course marked out for them by their treasonable masters in Washington, and placed themselves fairly on the record before the world; and their names will henceforth staud in the same roll with such men as Vallandigham, Cox, Voorhees, and others of the same class, and be held up to the scorn of the world, as the men who, when the country's existence was threatened by traitors in arms, gave all the aid in their power to their country's enemies.

They denounce all the acts of Government for the suppression of rebellion, which they admit ought to be put down, and at the same time they deny the authority of the Administration to put it down. They denounce all the acts of the Administration to suppress the rebellion as acts of usurpation and violations as the Constitution. They are for the "Constitution as it was," forgetful that the very propositions which the Republicans rejected were Democratic propositions to amend the Contitution to meet the demands of the Breckinridge Democracy of the Charlestlon Convention; to make the Constitution what it is not, never has been, and never will be, a pro-slavery instrument. * * * *

We are glad they are committed; we shall endeavor to pay our respects to platform and nominees, as often as convenient.

They have chosen fit representatives of the party; and as we believe in the universal fitness of things, we are entirely suited with the position of the leading Democrats of Minnesota, nominees and all.

"I'M FOR THE CONSTITUTION."—Are you, Mr. Rebel? Well, that platform suits us first rate. You could not add a plank to it and suit us better. But are you for the Constitution in good earnest? Yes, you say. Well, under it, every rebel would be hung as high as Haman. So are we for the Constitution, and its enforcement too, extending mercy on repentance and reformation. What say you to this platform?—St. Louis News.

AN ACCOMMODATING MAIL AGENT.—We have no mail from Saint Paul Saturdays, which leaves us without Saint Paul Papers, except when the Northern Light leaves Saint Paul on that day, when R. C. Armstrong, the gentlemanly and accommodating mail agent on that boat, takes pains to go to the offices for the papers, and distributes them along the route, which is a great advantage to the publisher as well as the reader. He is the only employee of Uncle Sam on the line who appears to be willing to perform extra labor for the accommodation of the public. We heartily wish we had more of the same sort.—Reed's Landing Monitor.

Exciting Debate.

COWAN AVOWS BUCHANAN'S SECESSION DOCTRINE.

Garrett Davis Rebukes Him.

WILKINSON HAS A HAND IN.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The Senate debate on Harris' bill providing provisional governments for seceded States brought Chandler out in a speech on the same subject, in which he severely criticised McClellan's whole management, beginning with interminable delays on the Potomac and coming down to his delays at Yorktown and before Richmond. On the same bill Cowan made a most remarkable speech, coming as near as it could to being an actual plea for secession. He avowed unqualifiedly that if the people of a State really decided to leave the Union, we had no power to keep the State in. The whole line of his argument was in that direction.

Garrett Davis earned forgivness for a large portion of his past errors, on this occasion. Springing promptly to his feet, as Cowan closed, he protested emphatically against such doctrine, declaring the power of Congress full and unquestioned on the subject.

Wilkinson cornered Cowan by several home questions, which Cowan dodged for a time, but finally broke down, and declined to answer.

Sumner attempted to get the bill amended so as to provide against making the execution of such laws of seceded States as those North Carolina ones, forbidding the education of negroes incumbent on provisional governments.

A lengthy debate ensued on this point. The matter was left undecided.

Free Negroes.

Any one who reads a secession Democratic paper, or a negro-hating, pro-slavery sheet of any kind, is familiar with the expressions used by them against everything looking towards the emancipation of the negro. Their constant cry is, "The North will be flooded with free negroes: they will compete with and starve out the white laborer; they will swarm over the country," and much other claptrap of a similar character. Facts, however, like the following, endorsed by the Washington Star, a paper that did its utmost to prevent the passage of the emancipation act in the District of Columbia, are a sufficient answer to the silly clamor of political mountebanks who attempt to secure party success by fostering the prejudice against the negro:

"If the statistics of the population in the New England States prove anything, they prove that emancipation banishes from the State as well the colored as the slave population. The statistics of the population of Pennsylvania more conclusively prove this to be the case. With an area of more than four times that of Maryland, the two States bordering on each other, the latter has a free negro population of upwards of 27,000 more than the former. Facts are stubborn things, and one is worth a world of theory. And what do the figures prove? Why, that the free States are not only rid of slaves, but in a great measure of the free negroes also; while, on the other hand, the slave States are not only stocked with slaves, but are abundantly stocked with free negroes also. The reason is obvious. The slave States are under a monopoly of the masters, who constantly discriminate against white laborers, shoving them out of their employ, and by thus excluding white men the owner of slaves creates, purposely, a negro social system that attaches odium to manual labor, which repels the laboring white man, and attracts the free negro to it. Hence you find free negroes but sparsely scattered through the northern, while they abound in the slave States.

Ole Virginny and Her Niggers.

"Kunnius," the facetious correspondent of the Mankato Record, writes from Fredericksburg, describing the recent march to the Shenandoah. He says:

On our last march we have seen considerable of the old State which will be renowned in coming years as having been the chief battle-ground of this rebellion. She presents the same sorry appearance everywhere. The unfortunate old State has principally run to niggers, and her niggers have run away. The planter sits smoking out on the verandah of his antique looking domicil, evidently in brown study, wondering when and how this war—also his niggers—will terminate. The plow remains in the furrow just where "Sambo" unhitched the mules when he heard the "Lincolnites" were coming. The little corn and potatoes he managed to get planted is choking to death with weeds, as his last nigger has joined our ranks: but hoeing won't save it now, as our army camped near the fences last night, and "right smart" of it has ended in smoke. It would do you good to see us, when we halt for the night upon a scrub fence—a myriad of black birds upon a Minnesota farmer's corn field is no comparison.

The Fort Snelling Case.

In the House on the 7th, Mr. Washburne, from the Committee on Government Contracts, offered a resolution, which was adopted, instructing the Committee on Private Land Claims to make full investigation into the patent for land claims, including the military reservation of Fort Leavenworth, and also into the facts connected with the present situation of the military reservation of Fort Snelling, with power to send for persons and papers.

The President's Visit to McClellan's Army.

He Addresses the Soldiers.

Is Entirely Satisfied with the Condition of the Army and what has been Done.

His Confidence in Commander, Officers and Men.

NEW YORK, July 11.

The Tribune says the President returned to Washington last evening. Nothing official has transpired as to his action while with Gen. McClellan.

Our letter from Fortress Monroe says he went to see for himself and learn what changes if any were needed—that all was going on satisfactorily; the troops were well rested and ready to a man, for another fight—the new position is impregnable and the road to Richmond—nineteen miles by land—dry and favorable. The Burnside reinforcements have all gone up river. They are in fine health and spirits, splendidly disciplined and efficient.

Burnside is an intimate friend of McClellan, and will be next in command.

Another correspondent learns that on the arrival of the President at Harrison's Landing, General McClellan with several others visited him on board, after which the President and the General held a private conference for about half an hour. They then proceeded in an ambulance to General Sumner's headquarters, when they took horses and visited the entrenchments.

The President briefly addressed the soldiers. He said he had come to see for himself, and to know the situation of affairs, and that he should go back satisfied. It was said they had been whipped; it was not so, and never would be. He knew the men he saw around him would prove equal to the task before them, and never give up without going into Richmond. He had been unable to sleep for anxiety, but after what he had seen and heard, he should go back to Washington satisfied that it was all right with the army of the Potomac. He declared his confidence in the army and its commander, in all the men and all the officers, who were all alike deserving the confidence of the country.

The party continued their ride along the lines, and at 9 o'clock in the evening returned to headquarters, after having been in the saddle seven hours.

On Wednesday morning after a conference at headquarters, the President started on his return.

[Special to Herald.]—President Lincoln is satisfied that affairs on the Peninsula are in much better conditon than has been reported. He gives great credit to Gen. McClellan for having in no way exaggerated facts. He has seen for himself the necessity for reinforcements, and returns with the conviction that McClellan is in his proper position; that the army is devoted to him and full of confidence in his ability; and that all he requires shall be done without delay.

FROM NEW ORLEANS.

Butler's Energetic Measures.

He Regulates Confederate Bank Accounts.

Enthusiastic Union Meeting.

NEW YORK, July 11.

By the schooner Hazel we have New Orleans papers to June 26th. The price of flour had advanced to twenty-four dollars per barrel; Gen. Shepley, in consequence, issued an order fixing the price of bread at twenty cents for twenty-four ounces, smaller amounts in proportion.

Gen. Butler had ordered all the banks in the department to make a return to headquarters of all sums due to the banks in the rebellious States, also of all sums due to the State of Louisiana or State officers, also that checks or drafts thereon shall not be paid without a permit from headquarters.

The Delta says there was quite a stir in cotton on the 25th of June, and samples which have been stored away for a year or more sold at 25 cents per pound. A number of vessels which have for sometime been reported below have arrived at New Orleans.

Butler has appointed Moses Bates, of Massachusetts, warden of State Penitentiary at Baten Rouge.

Gen. Butler had issued an order prohibiting masters of vessels from taking away any persons of color other than those coming to New Orleans on board their vessels, under penalty of imprisonment and liability to confiscation of their vessels.

Desperate gangs of outlaws are reported as nightly committing depredations on the Opelousas Railroad.

A large and enthusiastic Union meeting was held at New Orleans on the evening of the 21st of June.

The President's Favorable Report of the Condition of the Army of the Potomac Re-Establishes Confidence.

WASHINGTON, July 11.

Accounts brought by the President and party from the headquarters of the Army of the Potomac give a cheering view of the position of things in that vicinity.

It is represented that the entire loss on our part in the several battles will not exceed eleven thousand, in killed, wounded and missing. Stragglers are continually returning.

The loss of the enemy there is no doubt exceedingly large.

It is understood that, previous to the late battles before Richmond, General McClellan arranged with the rebel authorities for a general exchange of prisoners, and that General Dix has been instructed to consummate the same under a flag of truce.

FROM WASHINGTON.

The Republicans in Congress will Issue an Address to the Country.

Rumored that Halleck is to be Secretary of War.

WASHINGTON, July 10.

[Special to Tribune.]—The following are names of the committee of ten appointed by S. N. Sherman of St. Lawrence District, chairman of Republican Caucus, last night, to draft an address to the country:

Senator Howard of Michigan, Wilson of Massachusetts, Wilkinson of Minnesota, Lane of Kansas, Morrill of Maine, and Representatives Bingham of Ohio, Stevens of Pennsylvania, Sedgwick of New York, Potter of Wisconsin, and Sargent of California.

HOSPITALITY TO REBEL PRISONERS OVERDONE AND REWARDED.

The World's special says Lieut. McLane, of 32d Ohio regiment, who wears a United States uniform with Virginia coat of arms on buttons, was arrested to-day and sent to Old Capital, for entertaining a number of rebel prisoners under his charge, by taking them them to private residences, and escorting them around hotels.

HALLECK TO BE SECRETARY OF WAR—GENERAL EXCHANGE OF PRISONERS DECIDED ON.

(Special to Times.)—It was rumored to-day that General Halleck was with the President at Fort Monroe. It does not seem to be reliable, but report gains belief that Halleck is to be the new Secretary, for which position many regard him as the fittest man in the nation.

The friends of Union prisoners throughout the United States will be delighted to hear that the War Department has to-day determined on a general exchange of prisoners. This movement is traceable directly to the Times editorial of yesterday.

NEW YORK, July 11.

The rebel prisoners shipped aboard the Baltic are to be taken to Peapatch Island, Delaware river, where some hundreds were sent a few days ago.

It is stated that Burnside has all his command on the James river except the 17th, 23d, 24th, 25th and 27th Massachusetts regiments, which were left at Newbern.

Advices are received that the rebels are encamped all the way from Malvern Hill to Richmond, and are being largely reinforced.

Stonewall Jackson is on the south side of James river.

General Hooker's wife is going to Harrison's Landing, to take charge of our sick and wounded soldiers.

Expeditions up the Santee and Wacheran Rivers.

Rebel Demonstrations at Port Royal Ferry.

NEW YORK, July 11.

Advices from Hilton Head to the 6th state that several of our gunboats had been engaged for several days in making reconnoissances of the Santee and Wacheran rivers, and the result had proved important. Several small vessels, including a steam tug, had been captured, besides numerous flat-boats laden with rice.

The negroes, on the appearance of the gunboats, came in troops to claim protection, and they were taken off—some six hundred in number.

A company of rebel guerrillas, on the morning of the 8th, made a foray upon Pinckney Island, killed two of our pickets, and captured two others. The rebels had made a demonstration at Port Royal Ferry, which did not result in any damage; they were soon driven off.

ST. JOHNS, July 11.

The steamer Norwegian, from Liverpool on the 3d, via Londonderry on 4th, for Quebec, passed Cape Race today, and was boarded by the news yacht.

The Times has an editorial on Independence Day, and points out what should be the tone of the American oracles under the existing circumstances.

Breadstuffs had a downward tendency. The weather was favorable for crops. Wheat was dull, and 2d lower.

GREAT BRITAIN.—In the House of Commons on the 2d, Mr. H. Berkley moved the second reading of the bill providing for taking votes by ballot, and reiterated the various arguments in its favor. Sir John Gray approved the motion, which was rejected, 211 to 224.

The Times in a leader on American affairs says, four main armies have advanced into Confederate territory, half a dozen expeditions have fastened themselves on the coast, yet the South remains unconquered. It is demonstrated that the federals can only effect their purpose by gigantic expenditures far more lavish than that of the past 12 months. What becomes of the famous declaration of independence—the theory that Government derives the powers from the consent of the governed? The North now talks of conquest, confiscation and military colonies, with all the readiness of an Austrian Commandant. But unless the North can see that the only policy which is agreeable to wisdom and justice, is to let the South go peaceably, it must bring evils untold on itself and our European people.

Operations upon Vicksburg

MEMPHIS, July 9.

Vicksburg dates of the 7th state that the rebels recently made an attempt to strengthen their earthworks on the bluff, but were driven away by the shells from our mortars.

Most of the houses in the city were riddled.

Small squads of rebels occasionally appear on the upper battery in front of the city, but leave as soon as the guns of our fleet are brought to bear upon them.

Business in this city continues to revive. Northern merchants, with new stocks of goods, are opening stores, which are freely patronized.

French Actually Starving at Orizaba.

NEW YORK, July 11.

The steamer Columbia brings Havana advices of the 7th with Vera Cruz dates of the 2d. Orizaba, June 30th and Mexico city June 19th. Gen. Orteza with 7,000 men had joined Saragossa. The Mexicans on the 14th occupied the summit of a hill commanding Orizaba, where the French the same night surprised and routed them.

On the 25th the Mexicans commenced an attack on the French without result.

Five thousand guerrillas are between Teraja and Vera Cruz. The gates of the latter city are closed and no one dares go out. The dead, of whom there are many, of the yellow fever, are buried in the city.

The French trains were attacked on the 30th, and fifteen wagons of ammunition and five of flour were destroyed; twenty-five of the escort were killed and the rest taken prisoners. Only six wagons of provisions had reached Orizaba for some time, and French troops are actually starving. French bearers of dispatches were captured and some dispatches for the French Generals published in Mexico.

Four Companies of Federal Cavalry Cut to Piecss.

WASHINGTON, July 10.

[Special to Herald.]—Four companies of the 9th Pennsylvania Cavalry were surprised and cut to pieces at daybreak this morning at Tompkinsville, on the State line, by Stearns' Cavalry 1,500 strong. Col. Williams, and Majors E. Jordans and Brown are reported killed. The wounded men were assassinated. Stearns is reported en route for Bowling Green with the intention of destroying the bridge. Some of the railroad tracks have been torn up. Laters accounts state that it is not certain that Col. Williams was among the killed.

High Price of Exchange---Its Effect on the Dry Goods Trade.

NEW YORK, July 10.

The Express says dry goods importers decline to make sales except in small lots and credits are to end until prices of exchange will allow them to know what goods are worth. Exchange is quoted at 128 1-2.

SALE OF SCHOOL LANDS.

NOTICE is hereby given that in compliance with Section 46 of an act entitled "an act to establish the State Land Office, and for other purposes," approved March 10, 1862, appraisers have been appointed, and will appraise the school lands in the following counties, viz:

ANOKA,	McLEOD,
BLUE EARTH,	MOWER,
BROWN,	NICOLLET,

—Applicants for appointments under the tax bill reach Washington by every train, but do little more than file their papers. The perfected bill has not yet come from the printers. There seems to be but two prominent candidates for Commissioner of Internal Revenue. They are Joseph J. Lewis, Esq., of Pennsylvania, and Ex-Gov. Boutwell, of Massachusetts. Both possess excellent qualification for the position, and the appointment of either would be highly acceptable to the country. The appointment will probably be announced at once. The bill is to go into effect on the first of August. The Tax bill has not yet been put into the hands of the public printer, and will not be for several days. This fact will serve as an answer to very numerous inquiries.

—Our readers will be pained to hear of the death of the popular American prima donna, Isabella Hinkley, the wife of the basso Susini. She had lately given birth to an infant, and her confinement was followed by a fever, which, last Saturday morning at six o'clock, resulted fatally. Her remains were removed from New York to Albany.

—The Cincinnati Gazette is informed that Gen. Halleck passed through Indianapolis Sunday evening on his way to Washington. Generals Wallace, Mitchell, and the two Shermans, of the Western army, were also in Washington on the 4th.

—A meeting of the Governors of the Northern States was held at Cleveland last week for the purpose of conferring together on the subject of the best method of facilitating the raising of volunteers to fill up the old and form new regiments. The Assistant Secretary of War was present at the conference.

—The reported death of "Stonewall" Jackson is likely to prove a canard. The statement is credited to the Richmond Dispatch. It is better to "go slow" on the subject. Readers know that Beauregard, who was for a time the enagnum of the rebels, was frequently killed last year, but he still lives in various places. We are inclined to think Stonewall Jackson will ultimately prove equally promiscuous in his habits. His favorite General, Ewell, was with him on the Chickahominy.

GENERAL SIGEL.—The Harper's Ferry correspondent of the Boston Transcript says of General Sigel:

He is a man of mark, and his countenance indicates great energy and resolution. When asked if he was a family man, he laughed, and said, "Oh, yes, his family was very large; he had thousands of children." He said much about the war, which, perhaps, it is not prudent for me to transcribe. At any rate, I have not his authority for so doing. He made some sport of our trunks, and said if we ladies went with him, he should only allow us three dresses—one black, one middling color, and one white. He talks English fluently, but has a slight German accent, which only makes it pleasanter to listen to him. He never carried books with him, he remarked, as he always found some new work to read wherever he went. Sometimes it was a production of Theodore Parker's, or on spiritualism, or a new novel; and added that he wished he could make books. We thought it was better for us at present that he could command armies.

WHAT THE TENNESSEEANS THINK.—The correspondent of the New York Commercial Advertiser says that Wm. H. Polk, Parson Brownlow, and all other prominent Tennesseans in Washington are advocating stringent measures of confiscation, and declaring that emancipation may also soon be necessary,

A New York Democrat on the Conservative Party Movement.

Richard Busteed, Esq., of New York, a life long Democrat, was published as one of the vice-presidents of the recent conditional Union meeting at Cooper Institute, New York. In a letter published in the New York World Mr. Busteed emphatically denounces the honor. He says:

* * * Ordinarily, I would not deem such a matter of enough importance to require correction; but in times like these, the opinions and conduct of the humblest may have weight in giving direction to the sentiment and action of others.

For this reason I beg to say that while I am duly impressed with a sense of the honor intended, I did not and do not sympathize with the objects set forth in the call, and if I had been consulted, should not have sanctioned the use that was made of my name.

I am not opposed to the further agitation of the negro question.

In conducting this war for the nation's life, I would act upon the advice of La Pucelle to Burgundy, "Strike those that hurt, and hurt not those that help."

I am in favor of the restoration of the Union as it was, with this qualification: It shall be a Union in which the citizens of each State shall not only be entitled to have, but actually have "all privileges and immunities of citizens in the several States," and in which a New Yorker shall not be in terror of an application of tar and feathers or hanging in Georgia or Alabama, if he intimates that slavery is not a divine institution.

I am not in favor of maintaining "the constitution as it is," any longer than is requisite to amend it in the manner provided by law. I want a constitution in which there shall be no saving clause or ambiguous provision in favor of slavery, but which shall be founded upon the principles of God's eternal justice, and square with His golden rule.

These sentiments, you perceive, disqualify me from fraternizing with the so-called "anti-abolition, anti-secession" gathering at the Cooper Institute. They rather place me within the anathema and death sentence pronounced by that distinguished orator, Fernando Wood, against those who believe that "all men are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights," among which "are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

Important Information from Richmond.

Dr. D. G. Oliver, formerly of Grant county, Wisconsin, recently of Holly Springs, Mississippi, who was impressed into the rebel service at the beginning of the war, and, since the battle of Bull Run, has been acting as Assistant Surgeon in the rebel army, reached Washington on the 3d inst. He had persistently refused to take the oath of allegiance to the rebel Government, but was compelled to do so on Tuesday last. He was detailed in charge of twenty-five ambulances filled with wounded to go to Lynchburg. Being possessed of the countersign, he determined to take advantage of the existing confusion to get away. He bribed a negro in Richmond to swap clothes with him, and, after passing the pickets by means of the countersign, he tramped to Fredericksburg and got into the lines of the Union army at that point. He has had a good opportunity to observe.

He states that the entire white male population of the South, between the ages of fifteen and forty, have been forced into the army. The conscription is a reality. Numbers who are in arms are doing duty unwillingly, and would gladly get away from the tyranny of the Davis autocracy. Dr. Oliver has been in Richmond for the last two months. The rebel force in Virginia is estimated at fully two hundred and fifty thousand. They admit a loss of twenty-five thousand in the recent battles. They are subsisting on what is termed half rations, by which is meant only the substantials, without any of the small stores. They have an abundance of bacon, rice and corn, but no salt, nor coffee, nor other small stores that go to make up a soldier's rations. Since the occupation of the Mississippi by the Federal forces, cutting off communication with Texas, their supplies of beef are brought from Florida, where there is an abundance of cattle The stock of whisky is pretty well exhausted.

Dr. Oliver says the greatest depression observed was produced by the intelligence that President Lincoln had called out three hundred thousand additional troops. The opinion prevailed that if these troops should be promptly furnished the rebel game would be ended. They have exhausted their resources for soldiers, and would be unable to contend against a fresh army of that size. Their only hope is that this call will not be promptly responded to by volunteers, but that there will be sufficient delay to afford an opportunity for foreign intervention before they are forced to give it up. Dr. Oliver says the rebel plan of fighting is not with reserves, but that in every battle regiments are regularly relieved by fresh troops, after having fought for a little while. In this way it was hoped to wear out and tire down the troops under McClellan. It is seldom that the same regiments have been allowed to engage twice in the same battle.

The rebels have concentrated nearly all their available troops at Richmond, except so much of Beauregard's army as stopped at Charleston, and about thirty-five thousand of the same army left in Mississippi. The rebels are terribly afraid of the gunboats. They reckon one gunboat equal to a whole division on land. They admit that the recent movement of General McClellan was a masterly stroke of policy, and that his present position is infinitely stronger than the one he abandoned. It is his impression that no further attack will be made upon him where he is. The rebels are sending their wounded and prisoners to the interior. There is no room for them in Richmond, and medical stores are exceedingly scarce. Dr. Oliver was obliged to dress wounds and amputations with only cold water and bandages.

The reported death of Stonewall Jackson is untrue. Dr. Oliver saw him alive and well in Richmond on Tuesday night. Jeff. Davis went to Raleigh to see his family.

The Internal Tax Law---How it Will Work.

The New York Post thus discourses as to who will be affected by the tax bill just passed by Congress. Its remarks are as applicable to St. Louis as New York:

The final passage of the tax bill, directly interesting to every individual in the country, will of course affect all persons doing business in the city. For instance, every window adorned by the transparent colored vases of the apothecary signifies ten dollars for the Federal government. Every eating house, whether an elaborate affair like Taylor's, or a little basement in Nassau street where sandwiches and cold coffee are sold, must disgorge an X. Professor Anderson, the Wizard of the North, will have to pay the tax gatherer double this amount, for the cost of a juggler's license is $20; and, besides this, $100, the license fee for opening a theater. Bankers, who are generally supposed to have more money than anybody else, will pay $200, and peddlers, who have less, are charged but $5. Confectioners are charged $10, and pawnbrokers $50. Every reader can, by reflecting for a moment on the number of establishments in only his personal knowledge devoted to these pursuits, form some idea of the vast revenue which must flow to the Government from the licenses in this city alone.

Take the theatres, for instance—Wallack's Niblo's, Winter Garden, the two Boweries, Laura Keene's, Academy of Music, Barnum's, Bryant's, Christy's, Cremorne Gardens and the Stadt Theatre, all of which come under the title of theaters, will bring in an income of $1,200. The refreshment saloons attached to these places will bring in about $120 a year. And when this is calculated for all the theatres in the Union, the theatre tax will amount up to a very nice little sum—enough to pay the salary of at least one of the thousand fat officers and a dozen of the ten thousand lean ones, which this tax bill will create.

We in America have been accustomed to make frequent little squibs and satires about English taxation, but henceforth live in too fragile a glass house to indulge further in the luxury of throwing stones. A walk up Broadway shows that we claim the honors of taxations quite as much as our "down-trodden" cousins in Europe.

A tax gatherer's promenade in Broadway is by no means unsuggestive. Leaving Bowling Green he sees several taxed hotels, which pay licenses of at least one hundred dollars each. The bonded warehouse a few steps further reminds us that fifty cents duty is paid for the entry into or withdrawal therefrom of any goods. The splendid stores of the wholesale dealers are each worth fifty dollars a year to Uncle Sam. Every clerk standing in the doorway of these stores must pay three per cent. of his income over six hundred dollars. At the express office you observe that for every receipt for goods to be transmitted there is a charge of from one to five cents. That portly stock broker turning out of Wall street is worth $50 a year to his Government in licenses, while that carriage and horses driving up near the corner for him represents another $5. As he goes past the nest of lawyers at Trinity Buildings, it is a satisfaction to the tax gatherer to know that each of them has to pay a license of $10. He glances into the auctioneers' stores, and complacently remembers that each one must contribute $10 to the government. The druggist where he stops for soda-water has to pay his share, and on the eating-house where he takes a nibble there is a similar claim. If he pass a newspaper office, he reflects that for every advertisement the proprietor pays three per cent. on the gross receipts.

Every physician whose little tin sign he may see on his route must disgorge $10. The cigars smoked along the streets are taxed according to their value. If it rains and he puts an umbrella up, he need not pay for the privilege unless it is a silk umbrella, in which case he must pay five per cent. of its value—consequently cotton umbrellas will be in active demand. The theatres, wholesale and retail stores, and the incomes derived from every public building on your Broadway are taxed. People's clothes and what they eat are taxed.

The glass they look through and the gas they see by are taxed. If we wish to slaughter hags and sheep for our own consumption, Uncle Sam permits us to do so gratis; but he will not permit us to hang ourselves for nothing, as hemp is taxed three per cent. If you wish to leave the city and go to New Jersey we can do so freely; but if we prefer other foreign climes and think of Europe, we must pay three dollars for the passport, and a dollar tax for the privilege of buying your passage ticket.

Brevities.

—One thousand three hundred and fifty-four bales of cotton arrived in Cincinnati from points South during the past week, being about one thousand bales above the previous week, more than were shipped since the opening of the river.

—The total mercantile indebtedness of the South to Northern merchants is estimated at $300,000,000, of which New York holds $159,800,000. Philadelphia $24,600,000, Baltimore $19,000, and Boston $7,000,000.

—The seventeen year locusts have made their appearance in hordes in some parts of Kansas. The grass is full of holes from which they have emerged, and their crystal coats are lying around everywhere. The air is vocal with their music, and the bushes are covered with them. In company with the locusts are countless thousands of grasshoppers, and the ravages of the combined armies begin to excite a fear that vegetation along their line of march will be totally destroyed.

—The city of Quebec has a population of 50,000; Montreal 85,000, and Toronto 52,000, while three younger cities on the Yankee side of the lakes have a population as follows: Chicago, 120,000; Detroit, 70,000; Buffalo, 80,000.

—Four Sisters of Mercy were naturalized in New York on Saturday last, in order that they might acquire a legal title to real estate, which in New York can only be done by naturalized citizens. It is the first case where a woman has taken out naturalization papers in this country.

—Hermann, the great prestidigator, has gone to Europe. His tour in this country netted him sixty thousand dollars.

—A message sent from Burlington, Vermont, at 12 M. to San Francisco, reached its destination at 12:30 the same day.

THE SOUTHERN CONSCRIPTION LAW.—Jeff. Davis in a long letter to Governor Brown, of Georgia, defends the conscription law as constitutional, and absolutely indispensable to maintain the rebel armies. It will be remembered that Gov. Brown refused to comply with it.

BUSINESS LOCALS.

JULY—PIMPLES AND SKIN DISEASES are the result of impure blood. The blood becomes thick and clogged. The skin is not able to cast off the impurities so important to health. How many young men and women we see with their faces covered with pimples and blotches, who are endeavoring to remove them by the use of soaps and washes of various kinds. This is very dangerous and should never be practised by persons desirous of good health. Mothers who have children afflicted with sores and eruptions, should never dry them up by external applications, for in this way they will drive in the humors and produce ill health for the child during its whole life time. There is no mother that likes to see her children afflicted with feeble health.

Judson's Mountain Herb Pills are prepared expressly for the cure of eruptions of the skin, such as Pimples, Blotches &c. They cleanse the blood of all impurities, producing a beautiful, clear and healthy skin, so much admired by all people of taste and refinement.

Judson's Mountain Herb Pills are sold by all medicine dealers.

CASH CAPITAL.....$100,000
NETT SURPLUS..... 138,000

DIVIDENDS ON CAPITAL LIMITED BY ITS CHARTER TO SEVEN PER CENT. PER ANNUM—THE ENTIRE PROFITS GO TO THE POLICY HOLDERS.

This Society was organized in the year 1859, with a cash capital of $100,000 deposited irrevocably with the Insurance Department of the State of New York, in United States bonds, on which it allows but seven per cent. per annum to the stockholders, and the entire profits of the business is shared by the policy holders. The net profits in two years amounts to $126,000, which shows an unparalleled success in the history of Life Insurance. Its operations are managed by a Board of Directors composed of the ablest business men of the country, and its business is conducted entirely on the cash plan. Dividends to the policy holders will be made every five years, and no Company in the country offers equal advantages to its dealers.

HOME

INSURANCE COMPANY,

NEW YORK.

Extract from Third Annual Report of the Superintendent of the Insurance Department of the State of New York. WM. BARNES, Superintendent.

There are now ninety-five joint stock fire insurance companies incorporated by the State of New York, engaged in the transaction of business; of these companies, fourteen only received premiums during the last year, amounting to over one hundred thousand dollars; four only received premiums above the sum of two hundred thousand dollars, and the premium income of one only exceeded three hundred thousand dollars. The premium receipts of this Company, the HOME, with a capital of $1,000,000, were $636,252. The premium income of thirty of the smaller companies was $8,515,365 only, with capitals, however, amounting in the aggregate to the sum of $4,000,000.

The state of things should be improved: the premium income of the mass of our fire insurance companies is by far too small for their capitals, and inadequate to the proper support of a separate and independent corporation. The experience of the HOME, PHOENIX, (of Brooklyn) and some other companies, has demonstrated that, with proper skill, tact and sagacity, business can be increased and managed to an indefinite extent, with entire safety, and even additional security to the company. We have now the machinery and organization in working order for nearly one hundred joint stock fire insurance companies. In the course of a few years their business can be safely doubled, and even quadrupled, without doubling or quadrupling the yearly expenses. Any considerable expansion of business must of course be mainly effected through the instrumentality of reliable, safe, and well managed agencies. The premium income of the HOME amounts to nearly one-eighth part that of the ninety-five companies combined, so that eight corporations like the HOME could conduct the entire business of all these companies. If each company transacted the same amount of business as the HOME the aggregate premium income would reach the enormous amount of over seventy-eight millions of dollars per year. Our companies are not too numerous for the great future of this country, if managed on the progressive scale demanded by the spirit of the American people.

The annual statement of this our foremost local fire and inland company, made up to the first of January last, shows a condition of such positive strength and prosperity as to challenge unqualified admiration. In a circular accompanying the statement, subscribed by Charles J. Martin, President, A. F. Wilmarth, Vice President, and John McGee, Secretary, those well accredited officers very justly say: "The well-known reputation of the HOME for fair and honorable dealing, together with its capital of one million dollars, and surplus of over half a million in addition, all well invested, commend it to the special favor of all who desire reliable protection in the way of insurance, either fire or inland."

This is not saying one word too much for their company. The HOME is the cash company of our State, in high credit all over the Union, worked upon a comprehensive plan, and managed with admirable skill and efficiency. The assets of the HOME on the first of January last summed up to $1,521,268.08, against an actual liability of only $55,080.43; and, moreover, it is worth noting that the assets are all of the very first class. The balance in bank in cash was $124,434.14, very nearly enough to set up an ordinary company; bonds and mortgages $910,219.53, secured on real estate worth $1,715,900, and then government and other stocks, equivalent to cash and convertible into cash any day, $320,656. Any one not satisfied with the security of the HOME as an insurance institution, must be hard to please.

In 1861 the HOME wrote $105,715,148, taking $829,993 premium, and paid losses $555,775, including some losses for the year 1860. A dividend of ten per cent. was paid on the million capital; and after reserving an ample reinsurance fund, the company shows a "nett surplus" of $160,644 clear over capital and all claims, actual or possible, practical or theoretical.

The HOME is a good "testimony" in all places to the enterprise, energy and progress of the city of New York.

THE CITY.

HOT.—The thermometer was again up nearly to blood heat yesterday, but the exhilarating breeze rendered the day anything but oppressive.

THE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION of the City and County meet again to-day at the City Hall, for the equalization and reduction of delinquent taxes.

REV. D. D. CHAPIN will preach at Christ Church to-morrow morning at half-past ten o'clock; also, in the evening at quarter before eight.

THE first load of freight over the Minnesota and Pacific Railrrad was received yesterday, consisting of some eigthy barrels of flour from the mills at St. Anthony.

CAPT. WESTERN stated for Corinth on the Hawkeye State, yesterday morning, in charge of some fifteen or twenty convalescent soldiers of the Second, Fourth and Fifth Regiments, and the First and Second batteries.

NEW DAILIES.—A daily paper is about to be established at Eau Claire, Wisconsin.

The editor of the Journal, of this city, proposes to commence the publication of a daily next week.

THE Pioneer learns that Mrs. Danarce received a telegraphic dispatch from General Dana on Wednesday, at Fortress Monroe, informing her that he was on his way to Philadelphia, sick.

ONE of Burbank's Red River trains recently arrived at St. Cloud, consisting of thirty-five wagons. They took back a load of goods for the Hudson Bay Company.

INITIATORY steps are being taken for the holding of a Union Agricultural Fair at Hampton, in Dakota County, to be made up from the counties of Washington, Dakota, Rice and Goodhue.

LA CROSSE POSTMASTER.—Friend Lottridge, of the La Crosse Republican, is likely to be the new Postmaster of La Crosse, as his name has been sent to the Senate by the President.

DAN. RICE'S Circus is performing to crowded houses in the eastern part of Wisconsin. De Haven exhibited at La Crosse on the 4th inst. The Peak Family will perform at La Crosse to-night.

WHEAT.—Mr. Joseph Walker, of Walker's Landing, in Sibley County, showed us yesterday some heads of winter wheat of very fine quality. His field will be ripe in a week. The heads are large, and the berry very full. Mr. Walker thinks it will yield forty bushels to the acre.

THE WAR TAX thus far paid into the treasury of this State is about $45,000. $33,000 has already been forwarded to Washington. As county treasurers get no pay for bringing this tax to the capital, it is not expected there will be much more sent in till the treasurers make their annual settlement in the fall.

SERVICES as usual at half-past ten A. M., and a quarter to 8 P. M., at St. Paul's Church, to-morrow. The Rev. George W. DuBois, of Chillicothe, Ohio, officiating in the absence of the Rev. A. B. Patterson, who will be back by Sunday week.

RECRUITS are coming forward for the Sixth Regiment, though not very fast. Fourteen have lately arrived from Rochester for Captain Lindsley's company, and about forty are shortly expected from Honston county. Already some thirty-five have been enrolled in Major L. C. Dayton's company, at this place. The fact that some forty dollars will be paid to each volunteer at the time of the mustering in of the company, will have a tendency to hurry up matters.

IS IT A FEINT?—As we stated yesterday, work has been resumed on the road improvement in West St. Paul. From the few men now employed on the work by the contractor, there are many who believe that this is only a feint to get his pay on the last estimate, and then abandon the job. As the easiest part of the work is done, it is thought he would make money by quitting. The Mayor and Council, we presume, will exercise judicious discretion in this matter.

SCARCITY OF CHANGE.—The premium on gold and silver has made change very scarce in this city. It is almost impossible to get change for a bill. We heard of an instance yesterday of a farmer who wanted to purchase two fingers for his cradle, costing thirty cents, and after trying three stores was compelled to go home without them, as not one of the stores would give him back the change on his dollar bill.

RIVER NEWS.—Business on the river is getting quite dull, and is not expected to improve much till after harvest. Our list for the last few days does not show so many arrivals and departures, on account of so many boats being laid up.

The arrivals yesterday were the Itasca from Dunleith, Keokuk from La Crosse, and Eolian and Clara Hine from Carver.

The departures were the Hawkeye State for St. Louis, Northern Light for Dunleith, Northern Belle for La Crosse, Pomeroy for Mankato, and Ariel and Clara Hine for Carver.

The steamer Keokuk, Captain Hatcher, is the morning packet for La Crosse, and the steamer Itasca, Captain Hurd is the boat for Dunleith.

The steamer Canada is the next boat due from St. Louis, and may be expected here to-day or to-morrow.

WEALTH OF THE FARMERS.—The amount of grain going forward, and still coming in, just on the eve of another harvest, shows the prosperous state our farmers are getting into. Only a year or two since, they were compelled to sell their grain as soon as harvested, in order to enter their land or pay their debts. They were often obliged to sell so much as to render themselves short before another harvest. Now, however, they have been enabled to live the whole year without disposing of their staples, till a bounteous harvest replenishes their granaries almost as soon as they are emptied.

POLICE ITEMS.—Wm. Hicks, a lad of fourteen, was arrested for stealing grain bags from the wagon of a farmer. Sentenced to one month's imprisonment.

D. Fitzgibbon was arrested for robbing the money drawer of the Clara Hine and stealing a trunk which he was walking off with. On his way off the boat he was met by the Clerk, who promptly arrested him. A young man by the name of Farrill was also arrested, as an accomplice. The examination will take place this morning.

THE CHAPEL of the Baptist Church will be open for religious worship July 13th, (Sabbath) evening, at a quarter before eight o'clock. Preaching by the Pastor, Rev. J. D. Pope.

The Sabbath School will meet at 12 1-4 o'clock P. M. 2t

THE DROWNING OF GARIG AND BEALL A HOAX.—The Scott County Journal of the 10th says:

> By a note from a friend, we learn that the item published a fortnight since, in regard to the drowning of Messrs. Garig and Beall, is a hoax! Garig has written to his father, that they walked in from Long Lake to Shakopee that night, took a small boat down the river, and are now on their way to Dixie, going to join the confederate army. It seems they overturned the boat in order to deceive the people around Long Lake.

CROPS are looking exceedingly well in all parts of the State. Recent heavy rains have been just the thing for the parched earth. From the large amount of breadth sown, we expect to hear of a most abundant harvest.

SOME of the boys on the Levee yesterday soaked wheat in whisky and throwed out to the pigeons. It was no go—the pretty birds wouldn't eat a kernel.

NON-ARRIVAL OF THE MAIL.—We go to press without the mail due yesterday evening. The boat had not arrived at 11 o'clock.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.—DEFAULT has been made in the payment of the sum of seven hundred and eighty three dollars, which amount is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice, upon that certain mortgage executed, acknowledged and delivered by Allen Wesley Bond and Julianna A. H. Bond, his wife, of Ramsey county, Territory (now State) of Minnesota, to Lowman Hawes, of Bloomington, (late of Madison) state of Indiana, and which bears date August twentieth, (20th) A. D. one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven (1857) and was given to secure the payment of six hundred and twenty-four dollars and twenty-five cents ($624.25), in one year from the date thereof, and interest thereon, year from the date thereof, and interest thereon, and was duly recorded at three and a half (3½) of the clock, in the afternoon on the twenty-seventh (27th) day of August, in said year (1857), as a mortgage, in Book "L" of mortgages, pages three hundred and three (303) and three hundred and four (304), in the Registry of Deeds of said Ramsey county.

And the said Lowman Hawes, mortgagee, has duly paid the taxes upon the land therein described as situate in the said county of Ramsey, for the years 1858, 1859, 1860 and 1861, and all interest and charges thereon, and has the receipt of the treasurer of the said county of Ramsey therefor, and the amount so paid and the interest thereon, at the date of this notice, is twenty-eight and fifty-two one-hundredth dollars, ($28.52) and claims an additional lien upon the said land in the county of Ramsey, for the same; and no proceedings at law or in equity have been had to collect the said mortgage debt or any part of the same.

And whereas, said mortgagee, Lowman Hawes, deceased and died intestate on the eleventh (11th) day of February, A. D. 1861, and upon application, Mary Hawes, of Madison, in the county of Jefferson, State of Indiana, was on the eleventh (11th) day of April, A. D. 1861, duly appointed administratrix of the estate, &c., of said Lowman Hawes, deceased by the Court of Common Pleas, being also a Court of Probate, of said county of Jefferson, and letters of administration have been duly issued to her out of said Court, as administratrix of said estate; an authenticated copy of the said letters of administration and appointment are now on file in the Probate Court in and for the county of Ramsey, in the State of Minnesota.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that under and pursuant to a power of sale, in said mortgage contained, authorizing and empowering the said mortgagee, Lowman Hawes, his heirs, executors, administrators and assigns, to make sale upon default of the premises therein described upon default being made in the conditions of the said mortgage, and under and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the premises described in said mortgage, as follows, to wit: the south half (½) of the southeast quarter (¼) of section thirty-one (31) in township thirty (30) north of range twenty-three (23) west, lying and being in the county of Ramsey, and state of Minnesota; also the southeast quarter (¼) of section two (2), in township thirty-two (32) north, of range twenty-one (21) west, lying and being in the county of Washington and state of Minnesota, with the tenements, hereditaments and appurtenances belonging, or in anywise appertaining to the said tracts, will be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder or bidders, for cash, by the Sheriff of said county of Ramsey, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of St. Paul, in said county, at ten (10) of the clock in the forenoon, on Saturday, the sixteenth (16th) day of August, A. D. 1862, to pay said debt, taxes and interest and costs allowed by law.

Dated Saint Paul, Minn., July 1st, 1862.

SAINT PAUL, July 3d, 1862.

The undersigned will receive sealed proposals at his office in Saint Paul, Minnesota, until 12 o'clock M. on the 10th day of July, for furnishing and delivering, at Fort Snelling, Minnesota, complete rations for United States troops, prisoners of war, and to any other persons subsisted in kind by the Government, to be sent there.

The ration consists as follows: Three-fourths of a pound of pork or bacon, or one and a fourth pounds of fresh or salt beef; twenty-two ounces of bread or flour, or one pound of hard bread, or one and a fourth pounds of corn meal; and at the rate to every one hundred rations, of eight quarts of beans or peas, and ten pounds of rice or hominy; ten pounds of green coffee, or eight pounds of roasted and ground coffee, or one and a half pounds of ten thirteen pounds of sugar; four quarts of vinegar; one pound of sperm candles, or one and a fourth pounds of adamantine candles, or one and a half pounds of tallow candles; four pounds of soap, and two quarts of salt.

In addition to the foregoing, there is allowed twice per week one gallon of molasses per one hundred rations, and thrice per week, if practicable, an issue of potatoes, at the rate of one pound per man. When beans, peas, rice, hominy, or potatoes cannot be issued in the proportions given above, an equivalent in value shall be issued in some other proper food. Desiccated potatoes, or desiccated mixed vegetables, at the rate, per one hundred rations, of one hundred and fifty ounces of the former, or one hundred ounces of the latter, may be substituted for beans, peas, rice, hominy, or fresh potatoes, when these articles cannot be issued; or, upon the requisition of the proper officer, and when the supply on hand will admit of it, they may be issued at the foregoing rate, twice per week in lieu of beans or peas, or in lieu of rice or hominy. Fresh beef may be issued as often as the commanding officer of any detachment or regiment may require it, when practicable, in place of salt meat.

The Acting Commissary reserves to himself the right to diminish or increase the number of rations required, whenever the interests of the government demand it.

Bidders must name their sureties in their bids. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any and all bids deemed extravagant.

The contract will extend to, and include the 31st day of December, 1862.

Bidders can be present at the opening of the bids.

NOTICE OF FORECLOSURE AND MORTGAGE SALE.

Names of Mortgagors—A. Vance Brown and Louisa Brown, his wife, of St. Paul, Minn.

Name of Mortgagee—John H. McAllister, of Harrisburg, Pa.

Mortgage dated and acknowledged—June seventh, A. D. one thousand eight hundred and fifty nine (1859.)

Mortgage recorded—June eighth, A. D., one thousand eight hundred and fifty nine at 10¾ o'clock, A. M. in the office of the Register of Deeds in Ramsey county, Minnesota, in Book "I" of Mortgages on pages 101 and 102.

Description of mortgaged premises—Lots one (1), two (2), three (3), four (4), nineteen (19), twenty (20), twenty-one (21) and twenty-two (22), of block fourteen (14), in Brown and Ramsey's addition to St. Paul according to the recorded plat thereof on file in the office of the Register of Deeds of said county of Ramsey, situate and being in the county of Ramsey and State of Minnesota.

The note secured by said mortgage reads as follows:

$2,2.0 St. Paul, Minn. June —, 1859.

"One year after date for value received, I promise to pay to the order of John H. McAllister, of [illegible] two hundred dollars, at the Harrisburg Bank, Harrisburg, Penn., with interest thereon, payable semi annually, at the rate of twenty per cent. per annum.

"A. VANCE BROWN."

The interest on said note has been paid and received up to March first, A. D. 1862.

The amount claimed to be due upon said mortgage at the date of this notice, to wit, May 12, A. D., 1862, and now actually due thereon, is the sum of two thousand two hundred and thirty dollars ($2,23.)

Default having been made in the conditions of said mortgage, by the nonpayment of the money thereby secured, and no proceedings at law or in equity having been instituted to recover said mortgage debt or any part thereof:

Notice is hereby given that said mortgage will be foreclosed, and that the said mortgaged premises will, by virtue of a power of sale in said mortgage contained, and therein recorded, and pursuant to the provisions of the statute in such case made and provided, be sold at public vendue, at the front door of the Court House in the city of St. Paul, county of Ramsey, and State of Minnesota, on the third day of July, A. D. one thousand eight hundred and sixty two, (1862) at two o'clock, P. M., by the Sheriff of said county, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said mortgage debt with costs and legal charges.

Dated St. Paul, July 10th 1862.
O. DALRYMPLE, Att'y for Mortgagee.

MORTGAGE SALE.—John Oliver and Catharine, his wife, of the county of Ramsey, State of Minnesota, by mortgaged deed, dated May 14, A. D. 1859, granted, bargained, sold and conveyed unto William H. Pelham, of the same place, and to his heirs and assigns forever, all that tract or parcel of land lying and being in the county of Ramsey, State of Minnesota, described as follows, viz: Lots numbered one (1) and two (2) in block numbered thirty two (32) on the west of Jackson Street, according to the recorded plat thereof on file in the office of the Register of Deeds, in and for the said county of Ramsey, conditioned to be void upon the payment of a certain promissory note therein mentioned.

Said mortgage was duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Ramsey county aforesaid, on the 25th day of May, A. D. 1859 at 9 o'clock A. M., in Book B of mortgage deeds, on pages 565, 566 and 567.

The said mortgage and the said promissory note thereby secured, were duly assigned by the said Wm. H. Pelham to James M. Freeman, of the city of Saint Paul, county and State aforesaid, on the seventh day of December, A. D. 1861, which said instrument of assignment was duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of said Ramsey county, in Book B of assignments on page 225.

And whereas default exists in the conditions of payment of said promissory note and mortgage, and there is now claimed to be due and payable on said promissory note and mortgage, the just and full sum of one hundred and fifty dollars ($150), and no suit or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover said debt or any part thereof; and whereas the said mortgagee aforesaid claims the usual statute of redemption, and the mortgagors have waived surrendered and released for themselves, their heirs and assigns, forever all the right, title, equity and claim of redemption in and to the premises in said mortgage described, according to the statute in such case made and provided.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided, the above described mortgaged premises will be sold at public auction by the Sheriff of said county, on the 16th day of July, A. D. 1862, at ten o'clock in the forenoon at the front door of the Court House in the city of St. Paul, in said county, to satisfy said mortgage debt and legal disbursements.

St. Paul, Minn., April 17th, 1862.

SHERIFF'S SALE.—BY VIRTUE of an execution to me directed and delivered under the seal of the District Court of the Second Judicial District, in the county of Ramsey and State of Minnesota, upon a judgment and decree rendered in said Court on the seventeenth day of May, A. D. 1862, and docketed in said county the seventeenth day of May, 1862, in favor of Henry McKenty, in an action in said Court pending, where in Ira Bidwell is plaintiff, and Elizabeth C. Randall, Jno. Randall, Philo D. Randall, Herman Bergman, Mary Bergman, Andrew J. Lemery, and Wm H. Morton are defendants, in favor of said plaintiff for the sum of six thousand eight hundred and eighty six dollars and sixty six and twenty-five cents, the same being the amount of said judgment as rendered on lots number seven (7) and twelve (12) in block number twenty (20) in Roberts' and Randall's addition to St Paul, in Ramsey County, and State of Minnesota, to sell said real estate to satisfy said fees with interest from May 17, 1862, and twenty two dollars and forty nine cents costs I did on the 9th day of June, 1862, levy upon and take into my possession the said above described real estate.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that on the 28th day of July, 1862, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at the front door of the court house in the City of St. Paul in said county of Ramsey, I will sell the said real estate to the highest bidder for cash according to the statute in such case made and provided, to satisfy said decree and execution, with interest and the costs thereon.

St. Paul, June 9th, 1862.
D. A. ROBERTSON,
Sheriff of Ramsey County.
NEWELL, Attorney for Plaintiff.

The "FLORENCE" SEWING MACHINES make FOUR DIFFERENT stitches on one and the same machine. Thus the LOCK, DOUBLE-LOCK, KNOT AND DOUBLE-KNOT, all of which make the seam alike on both sides of the fabric. Either or all can be produced while the Machine is in motion.

They have the REVERSIBLE FEED MOTION, which enables the operator to have the work carry either way, or to change the direction, and fasten the end of seams, weld, together will making a long and a short stitch, is done simply by turning a thumb screw.

Their motions are all positive. There are no springs to get out of order. They are so simple that the most inexperienced can work them perfectly and with ease. They are NOISELESS, and can be used where quiet is necessary.

They are the FASTEST SEWERS in the WORLD, making five stitches to each revolution. They oil no dresses. Their stitch is the wonder of all, because of its combined ELASTICITY, STRENGTH and BEAUTY.

IMPORTANT TO ADVERTISERS.

The PRESS has—in accordance with the fact—claimed for the last six months a larger circulation, Daily, Tri-Weekly and Weekly, than any other paper in the city or State, and has challenged the Pioneer to compare the circulation of that paper with the PRESS, and make the result public, which challenge has been constantly declined, thus, on the part of the Pioneer, practically admitting the larger circulation of the PRESS. The bills of newspaper for the several editions of the PRESS and Pioneer show conclusively that the circulation of the several editions of the PRESS is nearly two thousand sheets per week greater than the circulation of the Pioneer.

THE NEWS THIS MORNING.

We have news of another battle on James River, supposed to have been fought on Thursday. There seems no positive evidence of the fact, yet circumstances create a strong probability that the enemy attacked McClellan and were repulsed. It seems unaccountable if this were so, that the country is kept from a knowledge of the fact: and on the other hand it seems equally strange that the War Department should let such rumors circulate for two days without contradicting them, if they had no foundation.

MR. BUELL' PATRIOTIC OFFER.

The offer in this paper of Henry Buel, Esq., to pay ten dollars bounty to a limited number of volunteers that may join companies in this city within the present month, is worthy of the highest praise, and is an example that hundreds more able than Mr. Buel, would do well to follow. Those whose age or business occupation prevent volunteering, should contribute of their means to induce others, and to lighten the burdens of those who do.

SENATOR RICE'S LATE SPEECH.

"THE WORLD MOVES."

We suggest an extra session of the Democratic State Convention of Minnesota, to take into consideration Senator Rice's late alarming fall from Democratic grace.

In the report of his remarks made in the Senate on the 9th instant, which we find in the Chicago Tribune of the 10th, and publish elsewhere, he is stated to have declared that "we must now choose between acknowledging the Southern Confederacy, or using all the means God has given us to curb the confederacy. Great Britain had long employed regiments of blacks in Canada, and Washington and Jackson had used them successfully. The rebels made use of torpedoes, poisons, and all barbarous means of warfare, and yet we hesitated whether it would be right, and humane, and civilized to let negroes shoot at them." He also very pertinently inquired of Garrett Davis, who had at length expressed his willingness that negroes should be used "for loading cannon and swabbing, and firing on certain occasions, why they should not be used for loading, firing and swabbing muskets."

Major Cullen, Dr. Massey and others must be looking after Mr. Rice, or they will soon have no candidate for United States Senator! Coupled with Mr. Rice's vote for the Arnold-Lovejoy bill, prohibiting slavery in the Territories, this last speech shows a more rapid improvement in Mr. Rice's political status than we have seen in that of any public man. That he will stand fire, and even grow in grace, is our ardent wish.

With the previous defection of patriotic Douglas men from the Democratic party of this State, the party's adoption of a treasonable platform which must repel all patriotic men, and Senator Rice's rapid progress, is what they style "abolitionism," we are somewhat at a loss to know where the managers of what is left of the Democratic party of this State are to find men to to make up their rank and file. The party is now pretty much all officers, like A. Ward's company of brigadier generals.

FIRST MINNESOTA KILLED AND WOUNDED.

The following corrections and additions to the list of wounded in the First Regiment, are contained in a letter of Chaplain Neill to Governor Ramsey, subsequent to the one published in yesterday's paper:

THE MINNESOTA FIRST.

The following letter from Senator Wilkinson contains some information in regard to the gallant First; and although the information which the Senator sought to obtain and communicate, has been quite fully given in Chaplain Neill's letter published yesterday, it will be gratifying to the friends of the First to know that Mr. Wilkinson has not been unmindful of the regiment:

WASHINGTON, JULY 7th, 1862.

To the Editor of the St. Paul Press.

DEAR SIR: Yesterday I visited the Surgeon-General's office, and the office of the Medical Director here, to learn, if possible, what wounded soldiers of the First Minnesota Volunteers had been forwarded here from the recent bloody battle-field in front of Richmond. Although a number of hundred soldiers have already reached this city, I could not learn that more than one of our Regiment was among the number, and I carefully examined the whole list. I am, therefore, entirely ignorant as to the loss which our Regiment has sustained in the five days' severe fighting in which our whole army has been engaged.

This morning, however, I received a letter from our friend E. L. Sprout, dated July 4th, Harrison's Landing, near City Point, which furnishes the first direct intelligence I have received from our Regiment, from which I will make a few extracts. He says: "The grand army reached this point yesterday, having fought a battle every day since leaving our former line (and some days two.) The First is here all right, and I do not think their loss will exceed 100 killed, wounded and prisoners. We had to leave the most of our sick and wounded in the hands of the Rebels. Our dead are unburied, they being left on the battle-fields. Our brigade was in five fights, (and very severe ones,) in four days. Colonel Sully is in command, General Gorman being at Fort Monroe, sick. We advance two miles and a half to-day, and I hope will have a little rest." * *

"If Governor Ramsey is in Washington, please say to him that I will send him a list of our losses as soon as it can be obtained. Captain Colville was the only officer wounded, and he was shot in the shoulder—not seriously. He has gone to Baltimore. Our brave Color Sergeant, Burgess, was killed on Sunday at the battle of Savage Station.

"The enemy attacked us fiercely day after day, but we repulsed them as often. They have not got advantage of us at any time since our flank was turned on Friday last. His loss is fearful to think of."

I will send you word as to the condition of our noble Regiment at as early a day as possible.

Very truly your friend,

M. S. WILKINSON.

LETTER FROM HENRY O'BRIEN OF COMPANY E, FIRST REGIMENT.

We make the following extract from a letter of Private O'Brien to his father, dated at Camp on James River, July 4th. Coming direct from one who suffered the fatigues, and shared the dangers of the terrible struggle, it is interesting:

We arrived at this point yesterday, after four days' retreating, and had a battle to fight every day, while we did our marching at night; all this time we have been without sleep.

In the battle which occurred at Savage's Station, our regiment suffered severely.

I have been sick nearly all the time, but by great perseverence, have managed to keep up with the regiment.

Many of our men gave out and were taken prisoners.

We all lost our knapsacks with everything we had. It will not be long before we are ready for another advance on Richmond. (He gives a list of the casualties in Company E, the same as given by Chaplain Neill. He says the wounded of Com. pany E, were all taken prisoners.) I hardly feel able to write. We are all covered with dirt and mud, and no clothes except what we have on. Sam. and Adam Stiles are both well—also, Drum-Major Kettle, Day, Bassett, Dow and Hollister. Our Colonel is sick, also Gen. Gorman—Company officers well.

IN MEMORIUM.

The following tribute to the deceased from the Colonel commanding, accompanies, as will be seen, the order of promotions to fill the vacancy occasioned by Sergeant Stewart's death.

CAMP OPPOSITE FREDERICKSBURG, VA.,
Headquarters 2d Reg't, U. S. S. S.
Company A, July 3d, 1862.

We have the painful duty to perform of announcing the death of a member of this company, Sergeant Jackson Stewart, at the Hospital in Alexandria, Va., June 28, and would request you to insert in your columns this last tribute of the respect entertained by this company for our beloved comrade in arms.

Beloved by all as he was, his attributes were those of a true soldier and a gentleman, ever ready to obey, and seemed most pleased when in the active performance of his duty. There was no call from his officers, but received his quickest response; no call for sympathy from his comrades but was met with his warmest friendship. Ever gentle, kind and agreeable, none knew him but to love him. Always prompted by the spirit which caused him to become a defender of his country, no duty was too arduous for him to attempt.

Thus, with his uniform manners, kind disposition, warm sympathy and high sense of duty, he was beloved by all with that fervor and strength of friendly feeling known only to the soldier.

And the friends who may read this tribute, may rest assured that the deepest feelings of sympathy of his associates are with them in their bereavement.

OFFICERS AND MEMBERS
Of Company A, 2d Reg't. U. S. S. S.

HEADQUARTERS, SECOND REG. U. S. S. S.
REGIMENTAL ORDER No. 50.
CAMP NEAR FALMOUTH, Va.
July 3d, 1862.

Corporal Uriah B. Penny is hereby promoted to Sergeant in Company A, and private Willard Wheaton is promoted to Corporal to date from 1st inst.

In filling the vacancy in Company A, the Colonel Commanding, can find no more appropriate time to express his regrets, on hearing of the death of Sergeant Jackson Stewart of that Company, and he truly sympathizes with both officers and men of his Company, in having lost a good soldier and a noble friend.

H. A. V. PAST,
Colonel Commanding.

This order was read on parade before the Regiment, Officers and Company.

per LIEUT. DOUGHTY.

PROCLAMATION.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, EXECUTIVE OFFICE,
St. Paul, July 10th, 1862.

To the people of Minnesota:

The President of the United States has, at the solicitation of the Governors of the loyal States, called upon the nation for a large increase of the Volunteer Force; and has by special communication, dated the 8th inst., required of Minnesota one Regiment of Infantry, to be furnished at once, as part of her entire quota.

This call, based in part upon the suggestion of the Executive of our own State, and rendered imperatively necessary by the events of the war, must be promptly and heartily responded to.

The check recently received by our army before Richmond, has resulted, without doubt, from the superior numbers of the enemy; our army being compelled not only to meet the enemy wherever he presents himself, but to hold at the same time, the vast regions of country already won from him. Without an increase of our forces we cannot hope for a successful termination of the war.

The call of the President comes home to the heart of every man who desires to see the greatness of the nation restored, and law and order re-established in the rebellious States.

This end must be accomplished though it should require the entire militia force of the nation, and all its treasure. There can be no turning back. Reverses can but intensify the determination of the people. Without a restored government, property, and life itself, will be valueless.

All classes must feel the terrible necessity which presses upon them. While we are struggling to preserve the unity of the best government on earth, it appears not improbable that we may be speedily called upon to resist the attacks of the monarchies of Europe, and wage a war, not only for free institutions, but for our individual independence. Coldness or indifference upon our part, at this time, cannot but result in our becoming one of the subservient populations of the earth: exercising the right of self government as the will of some other people.

As Minnesota has heretofore nobly done her duty in this war; as she has furnished more than the quota heretofore asked of her; as her sons have established for themselves a pre-eminent reputation for discipline and courage: it now becomes her to meet, in an equally heroic spirit, this new emergency.

Meetings should be held in every county. Wealth, energy and ability should be devoted to the task of rousing the people to a sense of their present danger. The merchant, the farmer, and the manufacturer, must all understand, that unless this rebellion is speedily suppressed, their toil can profit them little;—that in a ruined country there can be no individual prosperity.

Let the reinforcements which must speedily be thrown into the Peninsula, to turn the tide of battle and aid in the capture of the Rebel Capital, contain at least one additional regiment from Minnesota.

The recruits first obtained, under this call, will constitute the Sixth Regiment, all subsequent recruits, after that Regiment is filled, will be used to complete Minnesota's quota of the force now called for by the President.

IGNATIUS DONNELLY.
Acting Governor.

Supreme Court.

Albert Baze, Plaintiff in error, vs. Francis Z. Arper, Defendant in error.

Previous to March sixth, 1852, Judges of Probate had no power to take the acknowledgment of conveyances of real estate; subsequent to the last mentioned date they had such power. R. S. p. 211, 18, Comp. Stats., 495.

It is not necessary that official certificates of acknowledgment should be under seal unless the statute authorizing them expressly requires it. If the certificate styles the officer taking it, as an officer authorized by statute to perform the act, it will be prima facie evidence of his official character. No seal is required by our act in 1852.

The act of 1856, published on page 406 of the Compiled Statutes, does not comprehend acknowledgments of conveyances taken by Judges of Probate, but such only as were taken before the Clerks of the Supreme, District and Probate Courts.

A grantee of land who pays no new consideration, but takes the land in payment of a precedent debt, is not a bona fide holder for a valuable consideration, but takes the same subject to all claims and equities that could have been urged against his grantor.

The testimony had closed, and the defendant was arguing the case to the jury. At this point the defendant informed the Court that he had just discovered a material fact before unknown to him, and asked leave to prove it, which was refused. The defendant, after concluding his remarks to the jury, presented an affidavit to the Court setting forth the newly discovered fact, and again asked leave to prove it, which was again refused. Held, that the defendant was right in offering to prove the newly discovered fact immediately on discovering its existence; the evidence should be of that character that the party offering it could not, with due prudence, diligence and foresight, have discovered t before or at the trial, and that it should not be a mere explanation of the witness' evidence on the trial. Where a witness swears that the consideration of a deed was money paid at the time of the purchase, and after the trial states it was for a precedent debt, an affidavit alleging the latter statement of the witness will be insufficient to open the case on the ground of newly discovered evidence. Something should appear to satisfy the Court that the fact exists and can be proven: the mere statement of a witness who had sworn once the other way is too unreliable to be acted upon.

Section 7, page 595, of the compiled Statutes, cuts off the common law right that the defeated party in ejectment had to contest the right of possession as often as he saw fit until arrested by a court of chancery. The Statute limits this right to two trials, and declares the second judgment final, which means fina so far as to bar another action for the same cause, but, like all other final judgments, it may be renewed for error committed on the trial.

The record of a conveyance acknowledged before an officer not authorized to take acknowledgment is no notice to subsequent purchasers, but the deed was good against an attaching creditor until the passage of the act of 1858, chapter 52, section 1. General Laws 1858.

Ambrose Kennedy, plaintiff in error, vs. George H. Raught, defendant in error.

Section 33 of chapter 63 of the compiled statutes, on pages 592-3, is penal in its nature, where a Justice of the Peace is sued under that section for not setting up a fee bill in his office and acquitted, no appeal lies against him.

The section is limited in its operation to officers in, and to come into office within six months after its passage.

Where a jury retire in the evening, and the court adjourns before they agree, the Judge cannot meet the jury in the absence of the parties and receive their verdict out of court, discharge jury, and render the verdict himself on the opening of the court the following day: such a proceeding is irregular.

THE QUESTION OF ARMING NEGROES.

EXCITING DEBATE IN THE SENATE.

SENATOR RICE REDEEMING HIMSELF.

PROGRESS.

From the Chicago Tribune.

WASHINGTON, July 8.

The Senate had a long session to-day on the policy of arming the negroes. Preston King had a new bill which he moved as an amendment to Mr. Wilson's militia bill already before the Senate.

It authorizes the enlistment of negroes to be armed and equipped as soldiers, and used for digging entrenchments or any other military purposes for which they might be wanted.

Messrs. Saulsbury and Carlile opposed such attempts to elevate the miserable negro.

Mr. Sherman argued that the rebels had persistently used negroes for military purposes, and we ought to do the same. He warmly urged a more vigorous and earnest prosecution of the war.

Mr. Fessenden made a fine speech denouncing the milk and water policy of calling defeats strategy, and trying to humbug the people with flaming bulletins of victories that were really disgraces, declaring the white-kid-glove warfare would not do any longer, and insisting on the use of negroes like every other means and power God had given us.

Mr. Rice's speech was markedly significant. That an old and bitter Breckinridge Democrat should go further for prosecuting the war vigorously than the border State loyalists, provoked special notice. He declared that we must now choose between acknowledging the Southern Confederacy, or using all the means God has given us to crush the Confederacy. Great Britain had long employed regiments of blacks in Canada, and Washington and Jackson had used them successfully. If right for them them, why was it wrong for us? The rebels made use of torpedoes, poisons, and all barbarous means of warfare, and yet we hesitated as to weather it would be right, and humane, and civilized to let the negroes shoot at them.

Mr. Wilson, of Massachusetts, after picturing on the present military condition, complained of rose-colored military and newspaper bulletins from before Richmond, and urged the immediate necessity of a more vigorous prosecution of the war.

By this time Garrett Davis was thoroughly stirred up. He started off in his usual strain, "Negroes of no account for military purposes." Couldn't fight." "Barbarous and inhuman to arm them." "Murder." "Rape!" "Massacreing of the innocent." "Torture, universal anarchy and desolation," etc., etc., according to the catalogue of horrors.

Mr. Wilkinson referred him to Jackson's use of negroes at New Orleans, and with his address of thanks to them afterward, but Davis dodged very skilfully by declaring that was urgent necessity, and none now. He complained that Senators from the extreme Northern States were willing to bring the horrible danger of arming slaves upon the border States, and asked, why don't you listen to us who know more about the slaves than you do? At least, he was willing that negroes should be used for loading cannon and swabbing and firing them on certain occasions: but he prayed that these Senators, if they had any regard for innocent women and children, not to arm the blacks.

Mr. Rice at once replied that he regretted that the Senator had found no subjects for his eloquence in arming Indians at Pea Ridge, or that he had not come down later and denounced the use of the maddening compound of gunpowder and whisky at Richmond, but these were only actions of the rebels. The Senator's eloquence was reserved for other purposes.

Mr. Davis, interrupting, asked, "Do the barbarities of rebels justify barbarities in us?"

Mr. Rice continued. I will answer the Senator very briefly. If a stranger had entered the chamber during the Senator's speech he would have supposed him to be an ambassador from the Southern Confederacy.

Mr. Garrett Davis, excitedly—"It is not so." Several Senators called out "order."

This little passage between an old Breckinridge democrat and a Border State coercionist excited great attention.

Mr. Davis lost his temper and got decidedly the worst of the debate.

Mr. Rice resumed—"Let the Senator say what he pleases; he will not discompose me."

Mr. Davis (crabbedly)—"Well, don't misrepresent me."

Mr. Rice replied that "he had represented him fairly, and given the same spirit of his speech," and then went on urging the necessity of putting forth our every power. The Senator was willing negroes should, in case of necessity, be used for loading and swabbing, and even firing cannon. Why not, he would ask the Senator, let them be used for loading and swabbing and firing muskets?

It is generally believed that Congress will adjourn next Monday. Little business remains except the confiscation and tariff bills, which are in the hands of the conference committees, and Harris' provisional government bill, which still hangs fire in the Senate.

Some law authorizing employment of negroes in military duties is pretty certain to be crowded through before adjournment. The Republicans seemed unanimous on the subject, and late reverses before Richmond have opened the eyes of many conservative Democrats and border State men to our perilous condition and the absolute necessity of availing ourselves of every possible advantage. The feeling against the present easy mode of conducting the war is universal.

The recent course of the New York Herald, in threatening the President with being deposed if he does not displace Stanton, creates great indignation. To-day's Republican calls for its suppression, and the feeling is general that the suppression of little country papers for half what the Herald has said, while it goes unpunished, is intolerable.

It is announced that we have now at Front Royal quite a division of Pope's army. General Pope took the field to-day.

Major General Sigel and staff and Brigadier General Welsh are in town.

Senator Dixon telegraphs from Connecticut that they will fill up their quota of volunteers under the new call there with alacrity.

Garrett Davis introduced an exceedingly stringent bill, punishing all who have in any way given aid or comfort to the rebellion, expressing a wish of its success to their friends, by fine or imprisonment. It is hoped by some that such a bill as this, to secure a jury trial of all rebels and avoid any confiscation of slaves and property, will be assed.

Preston King's bill for enlisting negroes which the Senate debated this afternoon, was approved by every member of the military committee before its introduction. It liberates all slaves so enlisted.

Fessenden, Wilson and other Senators bitterly denounced Mr. Stanton's press censorship.

It is supposed now that one object of the War Department's temporary suppression of news about the Richmond battles was to delay the news getting to England. It now turns out that even this was a complete failure, as it is now known that the rebels had supplied Baltimore secessionists with full files of Richmond papers up to last Saturday, which were sent off by the last steamer to each of the prominent London and Paris journals.

Mexican Treaty Laid on the Table

WASHINGTON, July 12.

[Special to New York Commercial Advertiser.]—The treaty with Mexico sent home by Mr. Corwin, providing for a loan of $11,000,000 to the Republic of Mexico, was laid on the table in executive session this morning, and before the transaction of any other business.

Congressional Items.

WASHINGTON, July 11.

Among the business which will be left unfinished by Congress is the general bankrupt law, which has been steadily gaining friends.

Blair of Virginia, Casey and Maynard of Kentucky, and Fisher of Delaware, are the only representatives from Slave States who voted for the conference report on confiscation.

CAIRO, July 12.

The dispatch boat Shingess ran on a snag near Island 34 last night, and sunk. Mails and crew were taken off by the hospital boat Tycoon, which arrived here this morning.

The Cavalry Fight with Tennessee Guerillas.

PHILADELPHIA, July 12.

A private dispatch relative to the fight of the 9th Pennsylvania cavalry, says Major Brown was not in the fight. Major Jordan was captured, nine rebels killed, and three of our men.

Rebel Communication with the Capital Still Kept up.

Secessionists at the Capital Jubilant.

WASHINGTON, July 11.

It is evident communication has been kept open from Washington to Richmond by way of Leesburg, Middletown, White Plains, &c. The secessionists of Washington are glorying over the news of the battles near Richmond, but acknowledge if McClellan gets reinforcements enough to take Richmond the war will be over.

A scouting party which went from Warrenton has been as far as the Rappahannock reports that our pickets have been driven in, but gives no particulars.

WINSLOW'S LINE.

Rumors of Another Battle on James River.

THE ENEMY RETREAT.

McClellan Risks his Army.

Tantalizing Uncertainty in Regard to Fact

FORT MONROE, July 10.

Heavy cannonading has been distinctly heard at this place all day up the James river. Nothing definite is known, as no boat came down to-day.

PHILADELPHIA, July 11.

A private dispatch from General McClellan, dated to-day, says all is quiet. We are rested. The enemy has retreated.

The inference is that there has been another fight.

PHILADELPHIA, July 12.

The Press of to-day says a rumor apparently well authenticated, was afloat last evening, to the effect that an engagement had taken place yesterday before Richmond, in which the Union forces were victorious, and the enemy driven back several miles.

A dispatch on the subject understood to have been received, stated that our troops, after the conflict, rested upon their arms, eager to renew the engagement.

General McClellan and staff were well: no further particulars received.

FURTHER NEWS FROM RICHMOND.

Jeff. Davis Says His Troops Were Outnumbered.

Another Grand Battle Expected.

BALTIMORE, July 12.

The Richmond Dispatch of the 7th and 8th inst., was received this morning by the American. The Dispatch admits that McClellan has secured the safety of his army in a most masterly manner. The number of Federal prisoners is stated at 5,600, who are confined in the tobacco warehouses. The following is among the names of the wounded: Capt. John Pollard, 5th Michigan.

President Davis has issued an order to the rebel army, saying that, although they were greatly outnumbered by the enemy, they have won a great and glorious victory. A grand final battle was effected up to Tuesday morning, but reporters were shut from the line and nothing could be learned.

The Petersburg Express of Monday say from fifteen to twenty thousand reinforcements had reached McClellan, and that James river was almost bridged with transports.

Important Conference of the President with Border Slave State Representatives.

President Warns them to Accept Proffered Terms for Gradual Emancipation or General Emancipation will Follow.

WASHINGTON, July 12.

[Special to New York Evening Post.]—The President, this morning sent for the Slave State members of Congress and had an important interview with them. He urged upon them his plan of gradual emancipation and hinted strongly that if this be not adopted general emancipation would come under less pleasant circumstances.

From New Orleans to July 4th.

Further Energetic Action of Gen. Butler.

NEW YORK, July 12.

The steamers McClellan and Trade Wind have arrived, bringing New Orleans papers of July 4th.

General Butler has suspended the functions of the City Council's Bureaus of Finance, and of streets and landings, consisting of four members. Each had been appointed, among whom the duties appertaining to the councils of the city were divided.

Provisions, vegetables and fruit were being allowed to come freely into the city.

Two men, named Fidell Kelley and James W. Andrews, had been sent to Ship Island for confinement with hard labor, for exhibiting bones alleged to be of Yankee soldiers.

A Mrs. Phillips, for laughing and mocking at the remains of Lieutenant Dekay, during the passage of his funeral procession, had also been imprisoned at Ship Island.

A military celebration was to take place on Independence Day.

The British gunboats Rinaldo and Londrail had arrived in New Orleans.

The new cotton plant had appeared in New Orleans.

The steamship Rhode Island, from Boston, arrived on the 30th. The steamer Roanoke was going up the river on the 4th. The steamer Fulton was aground at Southwest Pass.

Advices from New Orleans state that Gov. Moore, of Louisiana, has issued a proclamation urging continued resistance, forbidding trade with the Federals and that the credit of the Confederate notes should be maintained. He urges the destruction of steamboats rather than they fall into the hands of the Federals. He eulogized Mumford, who was executed by Butler as a martyr, and stating that Southern independence is certain. He had moved the State government to Opelousas. Our pickets extend to Marietta, on the Amatie river. The health of the troops is fair, there being about 145 patients at St. James Hotel, which is now used as a hospital, all sick with chronic diarrhœa. A few cases of yellow fever had broken out.

Richmond Papers Complain of Being Kept in Ignorance of the Late Battles' Results.

WASHINGTON, July 11.

The Richmond Examiner says of its own Government: There has already been enough trifling and abuse of public mind by the suppression or reservation of facts on the part of the Government. If the commanding General could write a dozen lines giving the result of the fight at Gaines' Hill, why each succeeding day and night have we not had a bulletin of equal length, simply stating the results? It would have cost but a trifle of time, and would have conferred an incalculable benefit on the whole country in composing public anxiety.

If the first official display had not been fully sustained by subsequent events and if the public expectations are to be reduced, we believe our people can bear the disappointments without waiting to hear the facts drip out through the slow and forced confessions of those in authority. If McClellan has effected a communication with the river, why was not this fact boldly stated, instead of trifling with the public mind. We know the valor of our troops has so far prevailed, but what may be the strength of the remnant of his army—whether that remnant is yet involved by our lines, or has escaped our grasp, or has been reinforced for another grand battle, are questions which we have been asking for the last week and which the government plainly refuse to answer.

Upon the strait to which the rebels are now reduced there, the Examiner says the scene of operations has been removed to such a distance from Richmond that it is difficult to obtain any news, but from what is generally understood from the situation, it appears to admit only of the severe alternative of an immediate assault upon the enemy, or the falling back to our lines.

The Examiner also says it is sincerely to be hoped that the ability of our Generals, and the dauntless courage of our armies will soon relieve this portion of our State from the presence of an army. In them, under Heaven, is our only hope. So long as the enemy holds undisputed possession of the lower James river, so long is the capital of the Confederacy menaced.

The Examiner says that out of about 15,000 men carried into action by Gen. Price, 814 were killed or wounded.

Concerning a Flag of Truce.

FORTRESS MONROE, July 10.

An erroneous opinion in regard to the flag of truce which went up the York river on Sunday and attempted to bring down some 700 of our sick and wounded soldiers who had been captured at Balt store. No flag of truce was violated as the rebels at first readily consented to their removal on parole. There was doubtless some misunderstanding, as the rebels yesterday sent a flag of truce to McClellan, informing him he could send for them any time.

Appropriation for Relief of Invalid Soldiers.

Gen. Pope made a Brigadier General in the Regular Army.

WASHINGTON, July 12.

The army appropriation law contains the following clause: Providing for comfort of discharged soldiers who may arrive in the principal cities of the United States, so disabled by disease or wounds received in service, as to be unable to proceed to their homes, and forwarding destitute soldiers to their homes. 2,000,000 are to be applied to this purpose, and expended under direction of the President of the United States.

The President has appointed Major-General of Volunteers, Pope, now in command of Department of Virginia, a Brig. Gen. in the regular army, vice J. E Wool, promoted.

Additional Southern News.

The Examiner thus heads its account of McClellan's having secured his desirable new position:

The Richmond Lines: Enemy on a New Line of Defense: A Critical Situation.

That a pestilence is dreaded in Richmond just now, will be comprehended from the following brief extract:

The health of the city will suffer, unless some means are employed to neutralize the unhealthiness which so many hospitals bring.

General Beauregard's wife died in New Orleans a few days ago.

Shinplaster Operation.

NEWARK, N. J., July 12.

The City Council last evening voted to issue promissory notes to the amount of $50,000, in denominations ranging from ten to fifteen cents, to supply the want of small change. These promissory notes are to be redeemed by the city in sums of ten dollars or more. A temporary loan of $50,000 is authorized for the redemption of the notes.

The Council some years ago resorted to a similar plan, which worked satisfactorily.

Strike Among Grain Shovelers in New York.

In Consequence, Dealers Order no More Shipments from the West.

NEW YORK, July 12.

The strike among grain shovelers has extended to the stevedores. This has about finished the business of shipping breadstuffs. Grain brokers have consequently recommended their constituents to make no more purchases until the strike is ended.

Many receivers have ordered their grain stopped along the line till the difficulty is settled.

Miscellany.

—Which is the most solemn and awful moment of a naval battle? asked a lady of a naval officer. "The moment before the battle commences, Madam, when they sprinkle sand on the decks to absorb the blood that is soon to flow," replied the officer.

—A Dutchman being called upon to give a toast, said: "Here ish to de heroes what fit, pled and died at de battle of Bull Run—of which I am one."

—Fifty years ago there were only four hundred and fifty-one Protestant pastors in France; now they there are one thousand and fifty one. Then there was not a Protestant journal on French territory: now there are twenty-one.

—A white statin brocade ball dress is in the London Exhibition, from the Lyons looms, representing a perfect aviary of birds. The whole presents a beautiful ornithological picture as well as a dress.

— A new gold field has been discovered on the Colorado river, some 200 miles east of San Bernardino, and perhaps 150 above Fort Yumas. The diggings are eight or ten miles east of the Colorado, in a coarse gravel, where no water is near. A well sunk near it affords drinking water, which is retailed at fifty cents per gallon. Flour sells at $70 per 100 pounds, or $140 per barrel. The gold is obtained by dry-washing—that is, tossing in blankets or hides—and by pouring. As yet, the number digging is but a few hundred, but great expectations are cherished of extensive diggings to be discovered on the upper Colorado and all its tributaries. It is expected that the new gold-field will develop an extent of several thousand of square miles, and perhaps equal the original wealth of California.

—Charles Anderson, late of Texas, has been appointed Colonel of the 79th Ohio regiment. He has just returned from England. While there he endeavored to lecture on the rebellion, but the feeling was so intense against the Northern States that he obtained no hearing.

—Cleveland has offered a camp ground free of expense to the Government.

—Up to the present time this year, $21,750,000 in specie has left the United States for Europe. During the same time there has arrived at the port of New York from California $12,255,080.

—The Common Council of the city of Buffalo, on Monday, voted to furnish the funds necessary to put a new regiment in the field. The Mayor recomended the sum of $80,000 for this purpose, and the Council responded promptly, and in a manner which will meet the exigency. We shall now look for a regiment in a short space of time. Buffalo responds nobly to the call of the Government.

—From an officer just returned from Southwest Missouri, we learn that matters are quiet in that section of the State, and in fact are assuming quite a hopeful position. The people are gaining confidence that the country is not again to be overrun by the rebel hordes, and the Union sentiment is developing as rapidly as could be expected. The same is true of the adjoining counties in northwestern Arkansas. A regiment from that State completed its organization last week.

—We give below the names of the localities of the various battles which have been fought by the contending armies before Richmond:

Thursday, June 26—Battle of Mechanicsville.
Friday, June 27—Battle of Gaines' Mill.
Saturday, June 28—Battle of the Chickahominy.
Sunday, June 29—Battle of Peach Orchard; battle of Savage's Station.
Monday, June 30—Battle of White Oak Swamp, battle of White Oak Creek, battle of Charles City Cross Roads.
Tuesday, July 1—Battle of Turkey Bend.

—Commodore Foote writes from New Haven, July 3d: "My health is improving rapidly, and I hope soon to be afloat again."

—Iowa has now one Major General —Curtis; and seven Brigadiers, Elliott, McKean, Steel, Dodge, Lauman, Warren, and Tuttle.

— The Senate and House have agreed on a general pension act for disabled officers who have been in the military or naval service of the United States during the war. All ranking above and including lieutenant-colonel, receive thirty dollars per month; majors twenty-five; line officers fifteen, and privates eight dollars. The proportion with naval officers is about the same.

—The Richmond papers announce the arrival in that city of Gen. McCall. During the battle he had been wounded slightly, my informant thinks, in the arm, but the injury was not sufficiently severe or painful to cause him to leave the field. Some hours after, accompanied by an Aid, he rode into a piece of woods for the purpose of ordering a body of our troops he believed to be there to fall back, when a body of Rebels suddenly advanced and ordered him to halt. At the same instant one of the vandals seized his horse by the rein, and, before the General could draw his pistol or sword, he was a prisoner. The Aid escaped, but not without having a volley discharged at him. Fortunately none of the balls struck him.

—General or Senator Lane has been solicited to take a command in the army, and his friends have had an interview with the President on the subject.

Andy Johnson's Speech at Nashville on the Fourth.

We give the following extracts from the speech of that noble patriot, Gov. Johnson, whose burning words should sear every Northern sympathiser with the rebellion:

He had always stood before the people as advocate of popular government, against the government of property, as a Democrat in the true and primary sense of that word. And to-night he appeared to defend the great principles of civil and religious liberty. In our old contests, political parties contended whose policy was best adapted to promote the good and prosperity of the Government and of the Union, but now the great question was, shall this Government and this Union exist, or shall they perish? There were only two parties now, one composed of the friends and the other the foes of the Union. And although demagogues attempted to raise the cry of slavery and abolition, the real question to be decided was, shall free government live on the Western continent? Be assured that this is the question which underlies the rubbish and rant of corrupt and reckless office hunters. Negroes! Slavery! Southern Rights! Coercion! What terrible bug-bears to frighten timid people and blind them to the real point at issue. He asked the vast multitude before him, What Southern right any one of them had lost in the Union? Did it ever rob or impoverish? Did it ever defraud or oppress you? Then if you have lost no right, why all these vast armies? Why these bayonets, and cannon, and fleets, and tented fields? Why all these new-made graves and oceans of blood? Why are hundreds of you coming to the capitol, praying for the release of your deluded boys? He could tell why. It was because some corrupt and reckless politicians wanted place and power. They were determined to ruin the country if they could not govern the whole of the Union—they were determined to govern a part. He knew these Southern politicians, Yancey, Toombs, Davis, Wigfall, Mason, Benjamin and others well, for he had served with them for years in Congress. He was familiar with their views and feelings, and having watched their course closely, believed that he understood their motives clearly. He sat side by side with them when they professed that they wanted a compromise with the North. But the journals of Congress proved that these traitors had an opportunity to get the compromise they professed to desire, and yet they allowed it to be defeated when their vote would have obtained it. They talked hypocritically. A settlement of difficulties was the very last thing that these rebel Senators wanted. They sought continually how they might defeat a peaceable settlement of the questions in dispute. They took their seats in the Federal Congress for the purpose of breaking up the Union, and founding one which they could control. They succeeded, unhappily for the country, in plunging us into a bloody and cruel and unholy war. A war, and for what? Why this fearful sacrifice of life, this blight upon the happiness of a once happy people?

This is the people's Government; they received it as a legacy from Heaven, and they must defend and preserve it, if it is to be preserved at all. I am for this Government above all earthly possessions, and if it perish, I do not wish to survive it. I am for it, though slavery should be struck from existence and Africa be swept from the balance of the world. I believe indeed that the Union is the only protection of slavery—its sole guarantee; but if you persist in forcing the issue of slavery against the Government, I say in the face of Heaven, "Give me my Government and let the negroes go!"

These traitors who are perpetually clamoring about Southern rights and slave property, as if there were no other rights or property in existence, manifest the utmost bitterness, bigotry, and narrow-minded sectionalism. They are perpetually calling out Slavery, Abolitionist, Yankee, and Lincolnites! How malicious and invidious are all these slang phrases.

The strong arm of the Government must be bared and justice must do her work. We may as well understand the fact first as last, and go to work rationally. Without force and power to coerce we have no Government. How have matters gone on heretofore? Why when the Union army came, the first to run to it for protection and privileges, were Secessionists, who got promises of protection, if they would remain neutral. On the other hand, the poor Union men were terrified with threats of vengeance if the rebel army should return. The Secessionist was protected by the Union army, and was equally confident of protection should the rebel army return, so he felt perfectly easy. The Union man dreaded utter ruin, should a reverse occur, and was filled with perpetual alarm. So, under this strange policy the rebel had two guarantees, and the Union man but one. It is time this was stopped. The time has arrived when treason must be made odious and traitors impoverished. These men have used their property to destroy the Government, and fill the land with bankruptcy and distress; they have given their wealth freely to aid rebellion and treason, and drench the land in fraternal blood, and crush out the last vestige of liberty, and their property should be taken from them to defray the expenses of the war. They are the guilty ones. They are the real criminals. The poor have been deluded and dragged into this war, while the authors and instigators who have kept up the war by the money and contributions, have skulked at home and demanded the protection of the Federal Government.

And what was the motive of many of these men in Nashville for bringing on and aiding the rebellion? Why many of these elegant gentlemen rebelled to get rid of paying their Northern debts! If a miserable crippled negro, worth five hundred dollars, was stolen, the Government must be overthrown if the negro could not be recovered, but your polite, fastidious and chivalrous merchant, can go among what he calls "blue bellied Yankees," buy their goods on credit, and then when pay-day comes, tell his creditors in the North: "Oh, I have succeeded?" It is an outrageous crime to steal a negro, but it is gentlemanly financiering to defraud a Northern creditor of $50,000 or $100,000. Hundreds of instances could be related showing how far the rebellion was impelled and advanced by this swindling spirit. Yet these very men who had disgraced themselves by these frauds, would talk gravely about the sin of slave-stealing. Now take the value of all the negroes that have been stolen from the South, and then take the sum of all the Northern debts that have been repudiated by Southern men, and the latter will surpass the former at least ten to one. Who own many of your public buildings, railroad stocks, bank stocks and other property? Northern men. Yet you who clamor about your Southern rights can coolly defraud your Northern friends of millions of dollars.

Are we not all Americans, descended of one blood, and composing one great family? I recognize no such miserably narrow and selfish feeling as that which refuses fellowship to the loyal and just of all sections of the Republic. I scorn the trammels and fetters of sectional bigotry. I claim this world as my home and every honest man as my brother. I love my country, her constitution, her laws, and her free institutions. I love her history and the memory of her glorious dead. I love the precepts and teachings of her illustrious founders. I love my State, and pray for her happiness and prosperity, which must be found in the laws and under the flag of the Union. Looking around me to-night, I say to the gallant and patriotic soldiers who bear this flag: "Welcome, welcome, thrice welcome, defenders of the Union!" On with your glorious work, and in the face of all opposition, even at the point of the sword and bayonet, and amid the roar and crash of the battle, let the Government of Washington be defended.

Meritorious Officers.

The Potomac army correspondent of the New York Times thus speaks of the merits of leaders in the late battles. It will be seen that the two Minnesota Brigadiers receive honorable mention:

Of the Generals, great and just praise is accorded to Generals Sumner and Heintzelman, Corps Commanders; Generals Richardson, Kearney, Hooker, Couch, Smith and Sedgwick, to whom, as Division Commanders, the historian of this war and this movement will give such meed of praise as to satisfy the ambition of the most ambitious. General Caldwell, who, since the battle of Fair Oaks, and the wounding of General Howard, has commanded that gentlemanly and Christian officer's brigade, has demonstrated rare soldierly ability, and won the enthusiastic confidence of his men. His brigade was in every fight but those of Mechanicsville and Gaines' Hill, and lost perhaps more severely than any other in proportion to the number of men he brought into action. I was personally a witness of the gallantry of Lieutenants Draper, Miller and Hurlburt, of General Richardson's staff, and Captain Miles, of General Caldwell's, and hear a like good tale of the other staff officers of the different Generals. General French receives great and deserved praise for the masterly manner in which he covered the rear of our retreating columns, during the whole of the movement. To General Meagher, General Brooks, General Burns, General Dana and General Gorman, the country cannot accord too much credit.

Political Movements.

From the Goodhue County Volunteer.

We publish this week, the resolutions passed by the Democratic Convention lately assembled at St. Paul; and we also publish a call for a Republican State Convention to assemble there on the 30th inst.

After the party movement that has been made by the Democrats, we are convinced, as we stated last week, that Republicans can do nothing but meet them on party grounds. And yet we feel more than ever before, that we ought not to agitate party questions now. The country needs the help of every man; and if the country is to be saved, great sacrifice must yet be made.

We are convinced that the leaders in this Democratic party movement are persons who have but little or no sympathy with the Government, and who have great sympathy with the enemies of the Government—who would rather see the Government destroyed than to see one (by them admitted) right of rebellious traitors infringed—who prate loudly (sometimes) about the "Constitution as it is," and the "Union as it was," but who are all the time destorting the Constitution to justify them and their friends in arms, in their attempted destruction of the Union.

Let it be noticed, that the Democracy of Minnesota, in convention assembled, accredited to the Republican party, as a party, all the energetic measures that have been taken for the suppression of this rebellion. Let us see how long it will be, before they will be claiming part of that honor. And let it be remembered, too, that that part of the Democracy of Minnesota who took part in the Convention, and endorse the resolutions passed by them, bring it as one of the charges against the Republican party, that such measures were adopted; and that is one of the reasons they give why, as they say, the continuance of that party in power would be fatal to the integrity of the Republic.

We see secession and treason peeping out of almost every line of those resolutions, and we know that the Democracy of this State will not support them; if they do, we know the people of the State will not support the Democracy.

THE CONSTITUTION AS IT IS.—Are not those consistent gentlemen who prate about upholding "the constitution as it is?" How long is it since they were howling in and out of Congress for modifications, changes and amendments to the constitution? Who does not recollect their frantic efforts to subvert the constitution in the one-horse convention held in Washington in February, 1861, and presided over by John Tyler, calling itself the "Peace Congress?" They are beauties to be prating about the "constitution as it is. The only party that has been in favor of the constitution as it is, from first to last, is the Republican party.

CURRANT WINE.—The editor of "Field Notes," recommends the following receipt for currant wine: To one quart of currant juice add two quarts of water, and two and a half pounds of coffee sugar to the gallon. Let it work in the cask, and bottle at six months.

—We learn that McCook's division of Gen. Buell's army (20,000 men) has been moved to the east to reinforce McClellan, and has probably ere now reached its destination. Gen. McClellan's reinforcements within a few days past amount to not less than 50,000.

—Prisoners arrived from General Curtis' army—which is encamped at Des Arc, on White River—state that, though provisions are rather scarce, yet matters are not so bad as have been represented. The fleet dispatched to General Curtis relief, has been obliged to abandon the attempt, in consequence of low water; but a train is to leave for his army immediately, upon the arrival of which he will probably proceed down the river to a point where he can be reached by boat.

BUSINESS LOCALS.

JULY—PIMPLES AND SKIN DISEASES are the result of impure blood. The blood becomes thick and clogged. The skin is not able to cast off the impurities so important to health. How many young men and women we see with their faces covered with pimples and blotches, who are endeavoring to remove them by the use of soaps and washes of various kinds. This is very dangerous and should never be practised by persons desirous of good health. Mothers who have children afflicted with sores and eruptions, should never dry them up by external applications, for in this way they will drive in the humors and produce ill health for the child during its whole life time. There is no mother that likes to see her children afflicted with feeble health.

Judson's Mountain Herb Pills are prepared expressly for the cure of eruptions of the skin, such as Pimples, Blotches &c. They cleanse the blood of all impurities, producing a beautiful, clear and healthy skin, so much admired by all people of taste and refinement.

Judson's Mountain Herb Pills are sold by all medicine dealers.

THE CITY.

We learn that Gen. Emerson of our city is connected with the Commissary Department of the army at Norfolk, Virginia.

THRESHERS.—Several of these ponderous machines were landed on our Levee yesterday. There will soon be a great demand for them.

EMPIRE BLOCK.—Quite an improvement is taking place in Empire Block, at the upper end of Third street, by the deepening of the cellars and the lowering of the ground floor to correspond with the grade.

EMIGRATION.—The Milwaukee on her last trip, brought up several hundred Norwegian emigrants, which she put off at all the landings on the west side of the Mississippi, from Maegregor's to St. Paul. Quite a lot were landed at St. Paul, who are going up to Carver County. It is said there are some nine hundred Norwegians, who have just arrived at Chicago, and are only awaiting transportation to come to this State.

CONTRACT FOR RATIONS.—We call attention to the advertisement of Quartermaster Saunders, which has been in our paper for some days past, for the receiving of bids for rations for soldiers, prisoners of war, or other persons to be subsisted by the Government at Fort Snelling. The contract will extend to the 1st of January, 1863. Bids will be received up to 12 o'clock M, on Tuesday next. We expect all who have heretofore complained of the prices paid for for subsistence at this post, and who think they can furnish them cheaper will put in bids.

A GOOD CHANCE FOR BARGAINS.—R. & J. M. Warner will sell a general stock of goods, such as are usually kept in a country store, to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock, in Prince's new stone block, on Jackson street. The stock will be closed out without reserve.

GEN. DANA.—We learn from reliable authority that the illness of Gen. Dana is the return of a billious attack, to which he is subject in the summer season. By care he hopes to join the army before Richmond in fifteen or twenty days.

FROM THE SECOND REGIMENT.—Lieutenant Livingston, of Company F, Second Minnesota Regiment, writes to his father that the regiment is at Tuscumbia, Alabama. The boys were in fine health, and in better condition in regard to supplies and everything to make them comfortable than they have been since in the service. Ripe fruits were plenty, and all the supplies of a rich country were abundant about the camp. The regiment was nearly 700 strong, and all feeling well.

General Buell is directing affairs in that part of the country, and has now nearly all of his old army of the Ohio concentrated.

CHURCH NEWS—PERSONAL.—The Rev. Mr. DuBois and family, from Chilicothe, Ohio, are at the Winslow House. Mrs. DuBois is a daughter of Bishop Mellvaine, of Ohio.

The Rev. Mr. DuBois was Chaplain of one of the Ohio regiments, serving with the army of the Potomac, and was compelled to resign on account of ill health, which he hopes to recruit by a visit to our healthy climate. May his hopes be realized. Mr. DuBois will preach in the forenoon and afternoon at St. Paul's Church to-day.

As Mr. DuBois will remain in our city two or three weeks, the Rev. Dr. Patterson may prolong his visit to the East.

Bishop Whipple, with a party of ladies and gentleman from the East, is on a visit to St. John's Mission Sioux Agency.

The friends of the Rev. Mr. Towel, Rector of Emmanuel Church, Brooklyn, New York, will rejoice to learn that he finds his health quite benefitted by his visit to Minnesota. Mr. Towel will remain for the summer. He may be found at the Merchant's Hotel.

Rev. Dr. Chapin will preach at Christ Church this morning at half-past ten o'clock; also in the evening at quarter before eight.

The Chapel of the Baptist Church will be open for religious worship July 13th, (Sabbath) evening, at a quarter before eight o'clock. Preaching by the Pastor, Rev. J. D. Pope.

The Sabbath School will meet at 12 1-4 o'clock P. M.

RIVER ITEMS.—The Milwaukee from Dunleith, McLellan from La Crosse, Albany from Mankato, Clara Hine and Ariel from Carver, are the arrivals since our last report.

The departures were the Itasca for Dunleith, Keokuk for La Crosse, Albany and Pomeroy for Mankato, and Clara Hine and Ariel for Carver.

The steamer McLellan is the packet for La Crosse this morning, and the steamer Milwaukee for Dunleith.

The Monday morning packets are the Key City for Dunleith, and Northern Belle for La Crosse.

The steamer Clara Hine, as will be seen by advertisement, has changed her time, leaving St. Paul at ten o'clock in the morning and returning at night, so as to form a connection with the down river packets the next morning.

The Canada is expected to arrive in time to leave for St. Louis on Monday.

The steamer Wenona has been withdrawn from the Lake St. Croix trade. Her place will be supplied by the packet from St. Paul going up there once a week.

THE allotment funds of the Third Regiment have been received by the State Treasurer. Persons residing in St. Paul, expecting money from this source, can obtain the same by calling at his office.

STATE AGRICULTURAL FAIR.—A meeting of the Executive Committee of the State Agricultural Society was held at the Capitol yesterday afternoon, for the purpose of taking into consideration the propriety of uniting with the Ramsey County Society in the holding of a Fair this fall.

A sub-Committee of four, consisting of W. L. Ames, Jared Benson, J. H. Baker and J. A. Wheelock, were appointed to act in conjunction with the Committee announced as appointed on the part of the County Society.

Such further action was taken as will render it certain that the fair will be held, provided the necessary funds are raised by the people of St. Paul to put the grounds in order. Already there has been a considerable amount subscribed—many of our leading business men and hotel keepers subscribing liberally—but there yet remains to be raised about $150, which we hope will be subscribed for during the coming week.

It is proposed to hold the Fair on the Capitol grounds, on the 17th, 18th and 19th days of September—the Capitol building to be used, as much of it as can be spared, for the floral department and the fine arts; the grounds inside of the enclosure for the exhibition of vegetables and machinery, and the streets on the north, east and south sides to be enclosed for the display of stock.

Arrangements are in progress to have addresses by Hon. Horace Greeley, of the New York Tribune, and Mr. Wait the editor of the American Stock Journal. Hurry up then, business men of St. Paul, put down your subscriptions, and let us have the fair here.

THE ST. CROIX VALLEY PASTORAL UNION—The seventh semi-annual session of this body was held at Cottage Grove, Minnesota, commencing on Monday, July 7th, at half-past 7 o'clock, and continuing through Tuesday.

Eleven ministers, Congregational, Methodist and Presbyterian, were present, and took part in the exercises, which were also well attended by the people of the the neighborhood.

The hall they occupied is situated in an oak grove, and had been trimmed with green boughs by some of the children of the place, in onticipation of the meeting.

Rev. J. L. Howell of Stillwater, preached the opening sermon from Phil. 1:23,24.

AT 8 A. M. on Tuesday, the members re-assembled and spent an hour in devotional exercises. The Moderator, Rev. R. B. Bull of Stillwater, then took the chair, and the first part of the forenoon was spent in the discussion of resolutions that "Only one sermon per Sabbath is best for both pastor and people."

The last of the forenoon was occupied by the reading and criticism of an essay on "The place and condition of departed spirits," presented by Rev. W. R. Stevens of River Falls.

The discussion of the question, and the criticism which followed the essay, were both conducted with spirit, and engaged in by all the members present. Short speeches and lively, were the order of the day. * * * *

The afternoon session was occupied by the reading and criticism of essays, interspersed with singing.

The Moderator presented an article on prayer. Rev. L. N. Woodruff of Hudson, gave an essay on Melchizedec as a type of Christ. Rev. B. S. Biscoe of Cottage Grove, read a paper explaining and defending the imprecations of Scripture, and Rev. R. Hall of Point Douglas, contributed a plan of a sermon on Jude, 18-24, the subject of which might have been called "modern idolatry."

These were the previously prepared literary exercises of the afternoon.

They were criticised freely, and the criticisms were taken in good part.

Throughout the meeting the utmost harmony and good feeling prevailed.

Rev. L. N. Woodruff preached in the evening.

After passing a vote of thanks for the hospitable entertainment received, the Union adjourned to meet again in Hudson the second Monday in February, 1863. B.

HOLCOMBE'S WRITING CLASS is becoming the centre of attraction for the young folks. He offers a splendid premium to the pupil making the best improvement. If we were young, as we once were, we would have the prize, or break a pen trying for it.

FIRST AND THIRD CAVALRY.—Lieut. Eschlie of the First (Capt. Von Minden's) Minnesota Cavalry, now stationed at Fort Heiman, Tennessee, arrived home last evening, by the McLellan, on furlough. Lieut. E. will recruit for his company while here. It will be remembered that Capt. Von Minden and a part of his company were taken prisoners sometime since, still they are able to muster 67 men. Capt. Shelley's (Third Minnesota) Cavalry are stationed at the same post, and were in fine condition when Lieut. E. left.

FIRE.—A small building on Roberts street, between Sixth and Seventh, occupied by Charles Schafer, as a tin-shop and dwelling, was consumed by fire about two o'clock yesterday morning. Loss—principally in tools and furniture, about $500. Insurance in part.

SHOOTING AFFRAY.—A man by the name of John Obersch shot Christopher Manning, near the half-way house, between St. Paul and Stillwater, a day or two since, in consequence of a quarrel about some hay. Obersch is at large, though a warrant has been issued for his arrest. Manning is thought to be in a critical situation, the shot having taken effect in his breast. Obersch is represented as notoriously a hard case.

PRIVATE BOUNTY TO VOLUNTEERS.—The subscriber will give ten dollars in addition to the Government bounty to each of two persons when they have enrolled their names in companies of volunteers being organized in this city within the present month.

HENRY BUEL.

ST. PAUL, July 12, 1862.

POLICE ITEMS.—John Fitzgibbon was bound over in the sum of $200, to answer the charge of stealing on board the Clara Hine. Committed in default of bonds.

Farrell, who was arrested as an accomplice, was discharged, there being no complaint against him.

Margaret Meskell, alias Hickey, was convicted of getting drunk, and fighting. Fined $3 and costs, which she paid. Margaret is quite a valuable woman for the city. She is up before the City Justice as often as once a month for drunkenness and disorderly conduct, always gets fined, and always pays it. She is certainly a more sure source of revenue than many of our so-called heavy taxowners.

General Headquarters, State of Minnesota.

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, ST. PAUL, Minn., July 11, 1862.

[GENERAL ORDERS NO. FOURTEEN.]

1st. At the request of the Secretary of War, notice is hereby given that pursuant to General Order of the War Department No. 72, no more furloughs will be granted to paroled prisoners, that furloughs heretofore given to them are revoked and that all prisoners of war, belonging to regiments or independent companies raised in this State, and who are now at large on their parole or who may hereafter be paroled by the Rebel authorities, are commanded immediately to repair to the Camp near Jefferson Barracks, Missouri, and to report for such duty compatible with their parole as may be assigned to them by the officers in command of said camp; and that all, whether officers or privates who fail to comply with said order, within the space of time necessary for them to do so, will be accounted deserters and dealt with accordingly.

2d. The transportation necessary to a compliance with said order, can, on application, be procured from this office or from Capt. A. D. Nelson, United States Mustering Officer for the State of Minnesota.

SAINT PAUL, July 3d, 1862.

The undersigned will receive sealed proposals at his office in Saint Paul, Minnesota, until 12 o'clock M. on the 16th day of July, for furnishing and delivering, at Fort Snelling, Minnesota, complete rations for United States troops, prisoners of war, and to any other persons subsisted in kind by the Government, to be sent there.

The ration consists as follows: Three-fourths of a pound of pork or bacon, or one and a fourth pounds of fresh or salt beef; twenty-two ounces of bread or flour, or one pound of hard bread, or one and a fourth pounds of corn meal; and at the rate to every one hundred rations, of eight quarts of beans or peas, and ten pounds of rice or hominy; ten pounds of green coffee, or eight pounds of roasted and ground coffee, or one and a half pounds of tea; fifteen pounds of sugar; four quarts of vinegar; one pound of sperm candles, or one and a fourth pounds of adamantine candles, or one and a half pounds of tallow candles; four pounds of soap, and two quarts of salt.

In addition to the foregoing, there is allowed twice per week one gallon of molasses per one hundred rations, and thrice per week, if practicable, an issue of potatoes, at the rate of one pound per man. When beans, peas, rice, hominy, or potatoes cannot be issued in the proportions given above, an equivalent in value shall be issued in some other proper food. Desiccated potatoes, or desiccated mixed vegetables, at the rate, per one hundred rations, of one hundred and fifty ounces of the former, or one hundred ounces of the latter, may be substituted for beans, peas, rice, hominy, or fresh potatoes, when these articles cannot be issued; and upon the requisition of the proper officer, and when the supply on hand will admit of it, they may be issued at the foregoing rate, twice per week in lieu of beans or peas, or in lieu of rice or hominy. Fresh beef may be issued as often as the commanding officer of any detachment or regiment may require it, when practicable, in place of salt meat.

The Acting Commissary reserves to himself the right to diminish or increase the number of, rations required, whenever the interests of the government demand it.

Bidders must name their sureties in their bids. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any and all bids deemed extravagant.

The contract will extend to, and include the 31st day of December, 1862.

Bidders can be present at the opening of the bids. T. M. SAUNDERS,

Captain Third Artillery, Ac'g Com. Subsistence U. S. A.

NOTICE OF FORECLOSURE AND MORTGAGE SALE.

Names of Mortgagors—A. Vance Brown and Louisa Brown, his wife, of St. Paul, Minn.

Name of Mortgagee—John H. McAllister, of Harrisburg, Pa.

Mortgage dated and acknowledged—June seventh, A. D. one thousand eight hundred and fifty nine (1859.)

Mortgage recorded—June eighth, A. D., one thousand eight hundred and fifty nine at 10½ o'clock, A. M. in the office of the Register of Deeds in Ramsey county, Minnesota, in Book D of Mortgages on pages 101 and 102.

Description of mortgaged premises—Lots one (1), two (2), three (3), four (4), nineteen (19), twenty (20), twenty-one (21) and seventy-two (22), of block fourteen, in Stinson, Brown and Ramsey's addition to St. Paul according to the recorded plat thereof on file in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Ramsey, situate and being in the county of Ramsey and State of Minnesota.

The money secured by said mortgage reads as follows:

"$2,200 St. Paul, Minn. June 7, 1859.

"One year after date for value received, I promise to pay to the order of John H. McAllister, of Harrisburg, Penn., at the Harrisburg Bank, Harrisburg, Penn., with interest thereon, payable semi-annually, at the rate of twenty per cent. per annum.

"A. VANCE BROWN."

The interest on said note has been paid and received up to March first, A. D. 1862.

The amount claimed to be due upon said mortgage at the date of this notice, to wit, May 12, A. D. 1862, and now actually due thereon, is the sum of two thousand two hundred and thirty dollars ($2,23 .)

Default having been made in the conditions of said mortgage, by the company of the money thereby secured, and no proceedings at law or in equity, having been instituted to recover said mortgage debt or any part thereof:

Notice is hereby given that said mortgage will be foreclosed, and that the said mortgaged premises will, by virtue of a power of sale in said mortgage contained, and therewith recorded, and pursuant to the provisions of the statute in such case made and provided, be sold at public vendue, at the front door of the Court House in the city of St. Paul, county of Ramsey, and State of Minnesota, on the third day of July, A. D., one thousand eight hundred and sixty two, (1862) at two o'clock, P. M., by the Sheriff of said county, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said mortgage debt with costs and legal charges.

Dated St. Paul, May 12, 1862

JOHN H. MCALLISTER, Mortgagee.

OLIVER DALRYMPLE, Attorney for Mortgagee. my15-w6w Thr

Notice is hereby given that the foregoing sale is postponed one week, to take place on the 10th day of July A. D. 1862, at the same hour and place. JOHN H. MCCALLISTER, Mortgagee.

Dated July 3d, 1862.

O. DALRYMPLE, Att'y for Mortgagee.

Notice is hereby given that the foregoing sale is further postponed one week, to take place July 17th, 1862, at the same hour and place.

JOHN H. MCCALLISTER. Mortgagee.

Dated St. Paul, July 10th 1862.

O. DALRYMPLE, Att'y for Mortgagee.

MORTGAGE SALE.—John Cleaver and Catharine, his wife, of the county of Ramsey, State of Minnesota, by mortgage deed, dated May 4, A. D. 186 granted, bargained, sold and conveyed unto William H. Pelham, of the same place, and to his heirs and assigns forever, all that tract or parcel of land lying and being in the county of Ramsey, State of Minnesota, described in said deed of mortgage as follows, viz: Lots numbered one (1) and two (2) of Block numbered thirty two (32) of the recorded land called Town, according to the recorded plat thereof on the office of the Register of Deeds, in and for the said county of Ramsey, could lands to be sold upon the payment of a certain debt in said mortgage mentioned.

Said mortgage was duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Ramsey county aforesaid, on the 25th day of May, A. D. 1861 at 10 o'clock A. M. in Book R of mortgage deeds, on pages 565, 566 and 567.

The said mortgage and the debt or promissory note thereby secured, were duly assigned by the said William H. Pelham to James Wilkie, one of the firm of Saint Paul, county and state aforesaid, on the 28 day of December, A. D. 1861, which said instrument of assignment was duly recorded in the town ship of December, A. D. 186 , 1 o'clock A. M., of that day in the office of the Register of Deeds of said Ramsey county, in Book D of assignments on page 22.

Default has been made in the condition of payment of said promissory note and mortgage, and there is now claimed to be due and owing on the said promissory note and mortgage the principal sum of one hundred and ($100.) and no suit or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and there is now actually due thereon the sum of two hundred and thirty dollars ($2,23 .)

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided, the above described mortgaged premises will be sold at public auction by the sheriff of the county of Ramsey, to the highest bidder for cash on the 26th (16) day of July, A. D. 1862, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at the front door of the court house in St. Paul, Ramsey county, State of Minnesota, to satisfy and pay the amount due upon said promissory note and mortgage and all expenses allowed by law.

The "FLORENCE" SEWING MACHINES make FOUR DIFFERENT stitches on one and the same machine. Thus the LOCK, DOUBLE-LOCK, KNOT AND DOUBLE-KNOT, all of which make the seam alike on both sides of the fabric. Either or all can be produced while the Machine is in motion.

They have the REVERSIBLE FEED MOTION, which enables the operator to have the work carry either way, or to change in the direction, and fasten the end of seams, weich, together with making a long and a short stitch, is done simply by turning a thumb screw.

Their motions are all positive. There are no springs to get out of order. They are so simple that the most inexperienced can work them perfectly and with ease. They are NOISELESS, and can be used where quiet is necessary.

They are the FASTEST SEWERS in the WORLD, making five stitches to each revolution of all, because of its combined ELASTICITY, STRENGTH and BEAUTY.

IMPORTANT TO ADVERTISERS.

The PRESS has—in accordance with the fact—claimed for the last six months a larger circulation, Daily, Tri-Weekly and Weekly, than any other paper in the city or State, and has challenged the Pioneer to compare the circulation of that paper with the PRESS, and make the result public, which challenge has been constantly declined, thus, on the part of the Pioneer, practically admitting the larger circulation of the PRESS. The bills of newspaper for the several editions of the PRESS and Pioneer show conclusively that the circulation of the several editions of the PRESS is nearly two thousand sheets per week greater than the circulation of the Pioneer.

EXCITING NEWS.—THE THIRD MINNESOTA ENGAGED.

A rebel force of three or four thousand under the Texan Ranger, Col. Forest, made a sudden descent, Saturday morning, on Murfreesboro where Col. Lester's brigade, composed of the Michigan 11th and the 3d Minnesota with Hewitt's 1st Kentucky Battery, were stationed. The Michigan regiment had surrendered at 3 o'clock in the afternoon; our noble Third Minnesota with Hewitt's Battery had repulsed the enemy in three successive charges, with terrible slaughter. Col. Lester replied to a demand to surrender, that he could hold his position a week.

One statement is that Col. Lester was falling back to Nashville.

It was feared that Nashville would be attacked.

Evidently there was a panic at Nashville, and very possible the affair is exaggerated.

We believe all the troops had been withdrawn from Murfreesboro except the two regiments and battery named.

Murfreesboro, is 35 miles Southeast of Nashville. Negley's Brigade is at Shelbyville, about 40 miles South of Murfreesboro, and other troops were scattered along the railroad, guarding bridges. It is probable that the rebels will do what damage they can, and retreat in the direction of Chattanooga before a force could be concentrated to oppose them.

We have the strongest confidence that our gallant Minnesota boys will give a account of themselves. We await with deepest interest further news. It is remarkable that we had nothing later last night—two days from the beginning of the affair.

THE CAPITAL OF KENTUCKY THREATENED.

In addition to the startling news from Tennessee, we have an account of Morgan's guerrilla force being within nine miles of Frankfort, Kentucky.

The State archives were being removed.

What are we coming to in this war, if territory that we thought so securely in our possession as the Capitals of Kentucky and Tennessee are in danger of capture by the rebels? Is it not time that the tender policy of standing guard over rebel property were abandoned, and a more earnest and energetic policy adopted?

LATEST FROM OUR WESTERN TROOPS.

The Adjutant General has received a letter from Governor Ramsey, dated at Cornith on the 7th.

The Governor found the First Cavalry (Von Minden's) at Humboldt. He had also visited the camps of the Fourth and Fifth Regiments near Corinth; also the Second Battery. The well men of the Fourth and also of the Battery were absent from camp on duty. About three hundred of the Fourth were unfit for duty, but not really sick: not over fifty actually sick.

Of the Fifth, sixty-three were sick in camp, not over half a dozen very sick. Some eighteen were sick in hospital. Captains Clark and Curtis, were also sick.

About forty of the Second Battery were left behind, unable to march with the command. The Governor has ordered on surgeons forthwith for the First and Second Batteries.

The Governor has comissioned Geo. H. Johnson as Second Lieutentant in the Fifth in place of Lieutenant Oakes, deceased; also Rev. John Ireland as Chaplain of the Fifth, the Regiment having chosen him to that post.

CONFISCATION BILL PASSED.

The Senate on Saturday agreed to the Conference Committee's report on the confiscation bill. We believe it is substantially the House bill, and is nearly what the advocates of a strong bill desired. The report of the Committee of Conference had been agreed to in the House, and the President will no doubt approve the bill. Thus has triumphed another energetic measure calculated to make the war a war in earnest against traitors.

A FALSE REPORT.

The rumor by telegraph in our last issue, of a battle on James River, on the tenth, proves to have been unfounded.

SICK AND WOUNDED SOLDIERS

James K. Hall, of Company F, Second Minnesota regiment, was taken to the hospital at Keokuk, Iowa, on the 7th inst; William Schelling, of Company E; L. P. Paine, of Company G; and S. W. Paine, of the band, Fifth regiment.

CONGRESSIONAL NOMINATIONS.

We notice that several Republican papers in this Congressional district have declared their respective preferences for a Republican nominee for Congress. While we have a preference among the candidates, yet we have heard so many named who if nominated and elected would do credit to the district and the State, that we do not deem it our duty to "pitch in" for either. Rather, and decidely, we deem it our duty to abstain from advocating the claims of any, prior to the action of the Convention; using our influence in the mean time to secure a free and unbiased expression through the Convention, of the choice of the people. We prefer to leave the people of the district to their deliberate choice in the matter. And yet we query if there be any such marked and pre-eminent fitness of any one of the candidates over the others, that he may be unhesitatingly styled the peoples' choice. Our own impression is, that the people of the district have generally given but little thought to the matter, and will be satisfied with the nomination of any one of the candidates who is capable, true to freedom, in favor of sustaining the Administration in the most vigorous prosecution of the war, and popular enough to insure his election over Buchanau's Indian Superintendent.

One thing is certain. The Convention will not be likely to reflect the will of the people if the delegates shall be elected solely to vote for this man or that man in Convention. Not one voter out of ten participates in primary meetings, and if the friends of any particular candidate in any county do not number more than that propertion of the Republican vote of that county, yet they will carry the county for him if they all turn out to the primary meetings while the other voters stay at home.

We would be glad to see those elected as delegates from the several counties, who are deemed the most reliable and zealous Republicans; men in whose honesty and judgment the people can confide. Let them come to the Convention unpledged to the support of any particular candidate, even if (as would be natural) they should have their preferences. Then in Convention let them upon full consultation make such nomination as shall seem to them best calculated to insure success, to carry out the principles of the Republican party, and to sustain the Administration in suppressing this unnatural and wicked rebellion.

SAUK VALLEY.

Allen Harmon, Esq., of Minneapolis, writes us concerning the great emigration to Sauk Valley, on Sauk River. Men from all parts are daily going there to make homes for themselves and families. On the 3d inst. ten industrious and intelligent men from Nininger, Minnesota, made and surveyed their claims, and went to plowing and putting up hay—all joining each other under the homestead bill. What a blessing to the homeless! It is the most delightful place I ever saw—plenty of wood, water, hay and prairie. The town of Sauk Center is being rapidly settled by Americans. The wheat and oat crop bid fair to be good.

Persons wishing to make themselves homes on Sauk Valley, better do so as soon as possible, for if emigration there continues as it has begun, all the valuable claims will be taken this season. I have been in this State for twelve years, and never seen such inducements for the poor man, who wants to raise cattle, horses and sheep, as it is on Sauk Valley. It is on the great thoroughfare to the Red River of the North. I was told by a friend there, that as many as fifty to one hundred teams passed there in a day. In a few years may we not expect that the iron-horse will go snorting through that beautiful land? Sauk City is sixty miles from St. Cloud.

MORE ENERGETIC MEASURES.

Everywhere the demand is made that the Government should adopt a more energetic policy in dealing with the rebellion. Read the stirring appeal of Gov. Yates, of Illinois, to the President, and the demands of seven border States' Representatives such as Senator Henderson, of Missouri.

Surely every means known to civilized warfare will be used henceforth to bring the war to a speedy end. Will it be credited in the future that the Government refused to invite or accept the aid of millions of loyal men on account of their color?

FROM CAPT. FISK'S OVERLAND EXPEDITION.

Correspondence of the Press.

FORT ABERCROMBIE, D. T., July 7, 1862.

Believing that some among your numerous readers may feel a little interest in the prospects and progress of the expedition for the auriferous regions near Salmon River, I will jot down a few items thereto. After leaving St. Paul we made fair progress, with no accidents of moment and no incidents of the journey requiring notice in a communication for a public print, though the monotony of camp-life was not seldom broken by slight variations from the ordinary routine of travel, eat and sleep, which will find a place in our private journals and be pleasant to remember hereafter. At Minneapolis and St. Cloud we tarried long enough to transact some necessary matters of business, at the latter place from Saturday noon to three o'clock on Monday, when we proceeded to the Sauk River and made our camp on its farther bank. From this point on to our fourth and final crossing of the Sauk, we passed through as fine a country, both for fertility of soil and abundance of water, as the eye could wish to gaze upon, or the hand of honest industry till. On the Sunday evening of our sojourn at St. Cloud the Rev. Mr. Hicks delivered a short and impressive discourse to all our company and a large number of the citizens of the place, both gentleman and ladies, who, equally with every member of the train, seemed well impressed by the exercises of the occasion. After we had traversed the Sauk Valley the land was more rolling and less susceptible of easy tillage, yet suggestive of its peculiar fitness for grazing and stock-raising upon a most extensive scale. Of all the natural features of the country which I have observed with a curious and delighted eye, none struck me as so odd and novel in its character as our unexpected and abrupt arrival upon the bank of the Red River of the North, or the Ottertail, as its main branch is called by many. Young Bottineau, our guide's son, Dr. Dibb and myself had started out after a five o'clock breakfast to victimize what game should be hardy enough to cross our path, and in our enthusiasm rode some dozen miles from the road among the countless lakes interlacing themselves in countless numbers over the face of the country. We allowed no sordid thought of dinner to mar our sport and towards evening, well loaded with crane and duck, snipe, plover, et cetera, took our point of compass and started for a short cut to camp. Riding at a gallop over the boundless prairie before us it entered not into our thoughts that a river or even a rivulet was winding a rapid current across our path. No sign of such a thing did we see until within a hundred yards when an abrupt bank became visible, and we were in a moment more standing by the Red River of the North. Its course is southward where we first struck it after making a sharp bend it turns to the north and flows by Breckinridge and Fort Abercrombie to its outlet in the far north. We cross the river twice, and are at Abercrombie in the yet unpeopled Territory of Dakota.

It would occupy more time than I have at my disposal, and too much space in your columns, to give you a full account of the cordial reception, generous, soldierly courtesies and entertainment extended to us at this place, by Capt. Vander Hork, commandant of the Post, Dr. Brann, Post-Surgeon, Quartermaster, Groetsch, and all others at the Fort, including that blessed institution the ladies, whose names, though not too numerous, are too precious to be mentioned in this public manner.

As this is the last place at which we shall be able, for a long time, to enjoy such attentions, long shall we remember the "sweet courtesies of life" we have received, and implore a rich reward upon their bestowers. We arrived here last Thursday, and made our camp about half a mile from the Fort.

Preparations were immediately made by our train, in conjunction with the garrison at the Fort, to celebrate the glorious Fourth, if not in a gorgeous manner, yet in such a way as to evince our zeal and patriotism as best we might.

On the morning of the Fourth a national salute was fired at daybreak; at nine o'clock those of our train having hoses, formed a cavalcade, and accompanied by footmen armed with spade and pick, and other implements indicative of their present pursuit, proceeded to the Fort where we were received by the soldiers of the garrison; all then joining in procession proceeded to a grove, where shade and lager contributed largely towards counteracting the oppressive heat of the day. At noon all proceeded to our camp, where our men obtained their guns and fired a salute in honor of the day and our entertainers; for the moment our guests. The infantry then left the field, and the cavalry squad of about twenty or twenty-five, took a gallop and run across the broad prairies that stretch to the far west. At five o'clock P. M., the members met the garrison and people in and about the Fort, together with their neighbors, (some of them living at a distance of about forty miles) numbering about 250 men, and about 20 or 25 ladies, who graced the occasion with their inspiring presence, in grand conclave around the flag staff in the area in the Fort, where awnings trimmed with green boughs from the forest were prepared to screen them from the sun. The thermoneter stood 101 in the shade, (too cold to grow "cawn") and the enthusiasm of the audience was not a single degree cooler.

Capt. Vander Hork was chosen presiding officer. The Declaration of Independence, with its glittering generalities, was then read by Dr. Braun, in a style and spirit which are rarely attained in reading. Your humble correspondent was then introduced to the audience, and did the best he could to express the thoughts suggested to him by the day and the occasion. Capt. Fisk and Dr. Braun were called for, and made brief and appropriate remarks. I do assure you that it was a high and unexpected pleasure to be able thus to enjoy one more celebration of the glorious anniversary of our Nation's natal day, on this, the very verge of civilization, and the last point where we can hear of the progress of our arms, in regard to which we all feel so intense an interest.

At night we attended a ball at headquarters, which passed off with such eclat that it was repeated on the next night, and the "light fantastic toe" was tripped to every one's satisfaction.

We should have started from this point on Saturday, but letters were received stating that about a dozen teams were on their way which would not be able to reach their rendezvous until after that time. On Sunday we had religious services—using the Episcopal forms—at our camp, which were led by our second assistant, N. P. Langford,, and attended by the members of our train and a large number from the fort. These services lose nothing of their beauty and inpressive character by being read and responded to in the great cathredral of nature not made with hands. We shall not travel on Sundays, and shall have these religious services regularly, as such is the disposition and wish, not only of Capt. Fisk, but of every member of our party.

This morning a party of our men were started to Wild Rice river, four or five miles distant, to build a bridge across that stream, which is too muddy to ford. They completed the bridge, of about forty feet span, by noon, and our whole train, consisting of about 50 teams, 120 men, 12 or 15 women, 15 or 20 cows, &c., &c., with a 12-pound howitzer in charge of our guard, has now crossed over—passed the Rubicon—and by to-morrow night will camp upon the banks of the Shayenne, which we shall also have to bridge. No route could possibly be better adapted to the purposes of emigration, so far as grazing, wood and water are concerned, than that over which we have thus far traveled; and if the reports from the gold regions continue to be as favorable as heretofore, you may rest assured that a tide of emigration will pour through this route if we meet with no formidable obstructions to the successful completion of our journey.

Very truly yours, &c., S. R. B.

Governor Yates to President Lincoln.

A BOLDER AND STRONGER POLICY URGED.

EMPLOY EVERY LOYAL ARM.

Governor Yates of Illinois, has addressed the following urgent letter to the President of the United States:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 11.

President Lincoln, Washington, D. C.:

The crisis of the war and of our national existence is upon us. The time has come for the adoption of more decisive measures. Greater animus and earnestness must be infused into our military movements. Blows must be struck at the vital parts of the rebellion.

The Government should employ all available means compatible with the rules of warfare to subjugate the traitors. Summon to the standard of the Republic all men willing to fight for the Union. Let loyalty, and that alone, be the dividing line between the nation and its foes. Generals should not be permitted to fritter away the services of our brave men in guarding the property of traitors, and in driving back into their hands loyal blacks, who offer us their labor and who seek shelter beneath the federal flag.

Shall we sit supinely by and see the war sweep off the youth and strength of the land, and refuse aid from that class of men who are at least worthy foes of traitors and the murderers of our Government and of our children?

Our armies should be directed to forage and quarter on the enemy, and to cease paying traitors and their abettors exorbitant exactions for food needed by the sick or hungry soldier.

Mild and conciliatory means have been tried in vain to recall the rebels to their allegiance. The conservative policy has utterly failed to reduce them to obedience and restore the supremacy of the laws. They have by means of sweeping conscriptions, gathered in countless hordes, and threaten to beat back and overwhelm the armies of the Union. With blood and treason in their hearts, they flaunt the black flag of rebellion in the face of the government, and threaten to butcher our brave and loyal armies with foreign bayonets. They arm negroes and merciless savages in their behalf.

Mr. Lincoln, the crisis demands greater efforts and sterner measures. Proclaim anew the good old motto of the Republic, "Liberty and Union, now and forever, one and inseparable," and accept the services of all loyal men, and it will be in your power to stamp armies out of the earth—irresistable armies, that will bear our banners to certain victory.

Illinois, already alive with the beat of the drum, and resounding with the tread of new recruits, will respond to your call. Adopt this policy, and she will leap like a flaming giant into the fight. This policy for the conduct of the war will render foreign intervention impossible, and the arms of the republic invincible. It will bring the conflict to a speedy close, and secure peace on a permanent basis.

RICHARD YATES, Governor of Illinois.

Solan A. Bevans Heard From.

S. A. Bevans of Redwing, who was supposed to have been killed at the battle of Pittsburg Landing, was taken prisoner. The Ashland (Ohio) Times has the following notice of his return:

We are glad to welcome home Mr. S. A. Bevans from his long confinement in Southern Confederate prisons. Mr. Bevans was captured at Pittsburg Landon Sunday at 3 o'clock, A. M. He had charge of a hospital, which, as the Confederate army advanced, driving our soldiers back from their position, became much exposed to the fire of both armies. The patients in his charge, nine in number, were all killed dnring the battle, excepting two; one had his throat cut after he was taken. Mr. Bevans escaped all injury and surrendered himself a prsioner. He was taken to the rear, and brought in communication with Generals Bragg and Hardee. The prisoners were all sent to Memphis, thence to Mobile, and finally to Macon, Georgia. He speaks well of his treatment received, especially while they were stationed at Macon. For a long time they were of the impression that our army was completely defeated, but finally some Union men in Macon told them that the rebels were whipped on Monday, and that a day of thanksgiving had been appointed and observed in the North for the victory. All newspapers were strictly withheld from them, but Union men frequently clandestinely provided them with papers. He was informed that secret Union societies existed through Georgia and Alabama, and Union men were free to denounce the Southern Confederacy in the bitterst terms.

DIED.

On Monday the 4th inst., GERTRUDE, Daughter of Henry and Johannah D. McKenty, aged 9 months and 27 days.

Funeral on this (Tuesday) afternoon at three o'clock.

On Wednesday, 9th inst., SAMUEL, son of SAMUEL L. and MARY A. MAYALL, aged seven years.

Little Samuel was a bright and intelligent boy, and one that will be greatly missed in the family circle and among his old playmates. To the bereaved father and mother, who have lost one of the nearest and dearest of their little ones, the sympathy of their numerous friends are extended in the hour of their affliction.

STRAYED OR STOLEN.

From the subscriber, in St. Anthony, two horses, one of them a brown black mane and tail, right hind foot white, and a little lame; has a star in his forehead; weighs about thirteen hundred pounds; the other a roan, black mane and tail weighs about twelve hundred pounds. Any one bringing said horses to me, or give information where they may be found shall be liberally rewarded.

Rebels Attack Murfreesboro

The 11th Michigan Surrendered.

THE THIRD MINNESOTA HOLD OUT.

They Repulse the Enemy Three Times with Terrible Slaughter.

COL. LESTER REFUSES TO SURRENDER.

NASHVILLE, July 12.

Between 3,000 and 4,000 Georgian and Texan guerillas, under Col. Forest, attacked the 11th Michigan and 3rd Minnesota, in Murfreesboro, early this morning. After desperate fighting this 3 P. M., the Michigan troops had surrendered. The Minnesota troops were strongly entrenched, and cut up the enemy terribly, with Hewitt's Kentucky battery, repulsing them with great slaughter in three charges. Flags of truce were sent in by Forest demanding a surrender. Col. Lester replied that he would hold his position a week. The Railroad track was torn up but has been replaced. An attack on Nashville is not improbable. Col. Lester is reported falling back on this city. Cannonading is heard repeatedly here. Col. Boon has arrived with several companies.

LATER.—A special dispatch to the Associated Press, says that Murfreesboro has been taken by the rebels, mostly Texan rangers, under Forest, but were shelled by our battery.

It is reported there that the 11th Michigan was captured, and the 3rd Minnesota with a battery were holding out at last accounts. Brig. Generals Duffield and Crittenden, of Indiana, were prisoners. Great excitement in Nashville; an attack is expected; we will give the best fight possible, and if compelled to yield, will shell the city; a battery is in position or that purpose.

FROM VICKSBURG.

FIRING AWAY.

VICKSBURG, July 10.

Firing was quite rapid this evening. The enemy replied with rifled guns. No damage on either side.

President Davis issued a congratulatory order to the soldiers on the success of the recent brilliant victories, which under Divine Omnipotence they have recently won, and the President of the Confederate States tenders to them the thanks of the country.

Guerrillas Threaten the Capital of Kentucky.

State Archives Being Removed.

LOUISVILLE, July 13.

Two thousand eight hundred guerrillas in two squads are at Harrodsburgh and Danville destroying property.

Later.—Morgan's guerrillas are at Rough and Ready, nine miles south of Frankfort. State archives are being removed from the capital.

A dispatch from Fortress Monroe, dated 11th, says the rebels have forsaken the front of our army entirely; the opinion is they will soon appear in some other quarter.

Address of Gen. Pope on Assuming Command of the Army of Virginia.

To the officers and soldiers of the army of Virginia:

By assignment of the President of the United States, I have assumed command of this army. I have spent two weeks in learning your whereabouts, your condition and your wants in preparing you for active operations and in placing you in position from which you can act promptly and for this purpose I have come to you from the West, where we have always seen the backs of our enemies from our army; where success has been to seek the adversary and to beat him when found, whose policy has been attack and not defense. In but one instance has the enemy been able to place our Western army in a defensive attitude. I presume that I have been called here to pursue the same system, and lead you against the enemy. It is my purpose to do so and that speedily.

I am sure you long for an opportunity to win the distinction you are capable of achieving; that opportunity I shall endeavor to give you. In the meantime I desire you to dismiss from your minds certain phrases which I am sorry to find much in vogue against you. I hear constantly of taking strong positions and holding them, of lines of retreat, and of bases of supplies. Let us discard such ideas. The strongest position a soldier should desire to occupy is one from which he can most easily advance against the enemy. Let us study the probable line of retreat of our opponents, and leave our own to take care of itself. Let us look before us, and not behind. Success and glory are in the advance; disaster and shame lurk in the rear. Let us act on this understanding, and it is safe to predict that your banners shall be inscribed with many a glorious deed, and that your names will be dear to your countrymen forever.

(Signed) JOHN POPE, Major General Commanding.

OFFICERS PRISONERS AT RICHMOND.

The following names are among the officers prisoners at Richmond: Major General McCall, Brigadier General J. F. Reynolds, Brigadier General Rankin, Brigadier General Sumner, and Brigadier General Mead.

A LUCKY SUTLER.

A sutler who was at White House at the time of the evacuation, thought it not safe to take away his money and buried it, some $600. He went up on the the flag of truce boat John Tucker, and made known his case to some of the rebel officers, who went with him and helped him obtain the money, which he did.

CORRESPONDENCE SHOWING OUR FOREIGN RELATIONS TO BE PUBLISHED.

WASHINGTON, July 13.

Some weeks ago the House passed a resolution calling upon the President for correspondence showing the condition of our foreign relations. The reply is, through the State Department, that the business there is so pressing and the documents so voluminous that they cannot be supplied before the close of the session, but if the public exigencies demand it, they will be published during the ensuing recess of Congress.

Applicants for offices of collectors of taxes in the various collection districts are already counted by thousands, and are rapidly increasing. They are addressed to the Secretary of the Treasury and require the daily labor of many clerks to assort and endorse them.

CALIFORNIA COLLECTORS.

WASHINGTON, July 14.

C. W. Rand has been appointed Marshal for portions of California, vice Robe, resigned.

Secretary Chase declines to investigate the charges against Collector Rankin until he gets an impartial report from his special agent sent to California.

MEXICAN TREATY LAID ON THE TABLE.

The rebel gunboat captured on the James river, arrived here to-day. The project of a treaty with Mexico, providing for a loan of 11,000,000 to that republic, was briefly discussed by the Senate, in executive session, on Saturday night, and then laid on the table.

From Memphis and Arkansas.

Skirmishing of Curtis and Fitch.

THEY ROUT THE ENEMY.

MEMPHIS, July 12.

General Grant has issued an order, requiring the families of all persons connected with the Confederate army or Government to leave the city within five days, or take oath that they have not and will not furnish information to the enemy. This sweeping order is in consequence of constant communication between persons in the rebel army and friends here.

The order caused considerable excitement.

Refugees from Helena say the enemy, four to five hundred strong, attacked General Curtis' advance, but were utterly routed.

Colonel Fitch is still at St. Charles. It is reported that he had a sharp skirmish in that vicinity with the rebels, and that the latter were routed.

From the James River.

Rebels Treat Prisoners Kindly.

FORT MONROE, July 13.

The mail boat brought down last evening twenty-four rebel prisoners, which have been recently captured by our reconnoitering cavalry.

We learn by an officer of the Michigan Fifth, who is one of the 107 Federal prisoners who came from the Baltimore hospital, that the treatment they received from the rebel officers having charge of them while they were held captives was universally kind and humane—so different from what they had anticipated, that it was actually surprising to them.

FLORENCE SEWING MACHINE AGENCY,

One door East of Davenport's Bookstore, on Third street.

The "FLORENCE" SEWING MACHINES make FOUR DIFFERENT stitches on one and the same machine. Thus the LOCK, DOUBLE-LOCK, KNOT AND DOUBLE-KNOT, all of which make the seam alike on both sides of the fabric. Either or all can be produced while the Machine is in motion.

They have the REVERSIBLE FEED MOTION, which enables the operator to have the work carry either way, or to change the direction, and fasten the end of seams, which, together with making a long and a short stitch, is done simply by turning a thumb screw.

Their motions are all positive. There are no springs to get out of order. They are so simple that the most inexperienced can work them perfectly and with ease. They are NOISELESS, and can be used where quiet is necessary.

They are the FASTEST SEWERS in the WORLD, making five stitches to each revolution. They oil no dresses. Their stitch is the wonder of all, because of its combined ELASTICITY, STRENGTH and BEAUTY.

Prices No. 1, $47.00, No. 2, $57.00, No. 3, $67.00, No. 4, $72.00, No. 5, $77.00, No. 6, $82.00, No. 7 Cabinet opener, $90.00, No. 7 Cabinet cased, $95.00, Mahogany $97.00, Rosewood $105.00. Hemmers and all necessary tools included in the above prices.

On hand different kinds of lower priced Machines. Call and see the "Florence Machine."

News Items.

—Hon. Wm. H. Merritt, of Canada, whose sudden death is announced, was a man of extraordinary powers. No man in the Province has done so much to promote its prosperity. He projected the Welland Canal, and other improvements, and may be called the DeWitt Clinton of Canada.

—Parson Brownlow is for vigorous measures. In his speech at Washington last week he said: "This country is now pursuing a course with this infernal, wicked rebellion which I do not approve of; unless we pursue a different and more vigorous one, we shall never end this rebellion in God's world."

—While on the Peninsula the President had as accurate returns as possible made of the losses in the recent battles, but there are half a dozen stories as to what the actual footing was. The Washington Star, of the 12th, says the killed, wounded and missing in all the seven battles were reduced to 11,000. Frank Blair, who accompanied the President, says 10,000, while Senator Wilson was understood to say say that the President told him 15,000. At any rate reinforcements now have far more than supplied all the losses.

—The Richmond Examiner and Dispatch of July 7, gives us more encouraging views of the rebel despondency than anything we have yet had. Its articles are regarded as indicating a belief that McClellan's present position is entirely safe from any attack they can make, and a continued menace to the safety of their capital.

—The President, Assistant Secretary Watson and Frank Blair bring back most encouraging news from McClellan's army, which they report in fine condition and restored to more than the original strength and again ready for active operations.

—The Detroit Advertiser and Detroit Tribune have been consolidated, and is now published as the Advertiser and Tribune. This has been done with the desire to secure union and harmony in the Republican party, and the co-operative effort of every friend of the Government. The new paper will be presented in a few weeks with new type, and in an enlarged sheet. A morning and evening edition will be issued. This is a sensible movement, and is sure to be crowned with success.

—A letter from Gibraltar of the 30th of May, says the rebel steamer Sumter was still in port, and not sold, as reported in the England papers.

—The Breckinridge Democrats in California have abandoned their organization. In view of the fact that a large share of the leaders, and many of the rank and file are in the rebel army, the virtue of the act is not very striking. They may renew it in the Confederate States Army.

—Captain Helper, who was so unceremoniously directed to leave North Carolina by Governor Stanley, a short time since, has been authorized by Governor Morgan to raise a company for service in the army, and has opened an office to receive recruits in New York.

The Democratic Nominees.

The Mankato Independent thus notices the candidates of the opponents of the Government:

The Vallandigham convention nominated for Congress, in the Northern district, W. J. Cullen, known as Buchanan's Superintendent of Indian Affairs, and as a leader of the Breckinridge Democracy in the last Presidential campaign. In this district, A. G. Chatfield, of Belle Plain, was nominated. Chatfield, it will be recollected, has been repeatedly defeated for office in his own county, notwithstanding his party had a majority of from four to six hundred. He will not carry a single county in the district.

Our Army Correspondence.

FROM THE THIRD REGIMENT.

MURFREESBORO, Tenn., July 2, 1862.

To-day is damp, cloudy, and quite cool. In fact, so cool that overcoats are in demand among pickets and provost guards. For several days we have had occasional showers, with entervals of excessive heat. The effect of this combination has been to bring forward the crops with considerable rapidity. Corn is now about five or six feet high, and just ready to "tassel;" cotton is from six to eight inches in height; potatoes are just fit to eat; blackberries are plenty, and in their prime; apples are brought in occasionally. Other crops and fruits are in proportion.

Speaking of blackberries, they occasion a most delightful variation in our bill of fare at present. Instead of the usual unvaried beans, bacon and bread, we now have the addition of blackberry sauce, the same served up cold with sugar, or sometimes, a mysterious conglomeration called, by some accountable liberty with the English language, "blackberry pie." Perhaps this latter does not much resemble what we used so to designate at home—it is altogether probable that you would be at a loss to name one if you should see it, but still we call it "pie," and it takes very well I assure you.

JULY 3.—The ladies of St. Cloud were kind enough,—and that is very kind indeed,—to send Company I a box of clothing. It comprises shirts, handkerchiefs, drawers, slippers, etc., etc, ad infinitum—nearly. It was distributed today—just now, in fact—and gave us all a great deal of pleasure. We know very well, (our knowledge of human nature convinces us,) that we are in constant remembrance with those at home; but, such palpable evidence as these, gives one hearts one extra throb at least, and make us feel very happy indeed. No one, not a soldier, knows anything of the pleasure we feel on receipt of any memento from our dear friends at home. Letters for this reason are dearly prized, and have a value which they never had before. They are treasured long, and read and re-read with still increasing pleasure. In this box, I believe that only one person marked the articles they contributed; but, if they all knew what additional pleasure these delicately traced characters gave, I am sure they would have done likewise.

One day there came a sudden, heavy shower of rain. It poured and splashed away for about an hour, and then cleared away, as if to see what it had done. The camp was flooded. It looked funny to see the tents standing in the muddy water with soldiers splashing around in search of knapsacks, blankets, &c. In some tents, it took them so by surprise, that everything was afloat before they knew it. A man would be watching his little wedge-shaped bed place fill up, and perhaps swearing about it, while his knapsack with his bed, and clothing, complacently floated out of the tent and away. The Major's, Adjutant's and several other of the "staff tents" were unapproachable, except by means of a boat. You can perhaps imagine how matters stand; suffice to say it was deemed necessary, in consequence, to move the camp to its present site, which is a very pleasant one. There is a fine spring almost within our lines, while the river is only a few rods away.

JULY 6.—The ever-glorious Fourth "came, went and is gone."

I was detailed on picket duty, and, therefore, did not hear the speechifying which those in camp enjoyed. But nevertheless we had a very pleasant time of it. Our dinner was composed of chicken potpie, warm biscuits, fresh milk and blackberries with cream and sugar. We had no speechifying, as I before said, but argued the point of "Union and Disunion," with the handsome widow of a "secesh" officer, which answered the same purpose. The widow aforesaid concluded that,

"Happy could she be with either,
Were t'other dear charmer away!"

and many others about here are of the same opinion. Secessionism from the lips of a beautiful woman is quite a different thing from the same sentiment when uttered by a Northern orator. But it is Secessionism yet: as Satan may take the shape of an Angel of Light, and yet be the Devil for all that. M. P. H.

Secretary Stanton's Position Relative to Arming Negroes.

In the course of a debate, on Friday, in the House, on General Hunter's negro brigade, Mr. Mallory, of Kentucky, said:

He differed from his colleague (Wickliffe) as to the Secretary of War. He had an abiding confidence in that officer, and that the conduct of General Hunter would be repudiatd, and for the following reasons: Two or three weeks ago he had business with the Secretary. When he was about leaving the Department, the Secretary called him back, and folding over the date and signature of a letter, showed him that an officer had asked authority to raise a regiments of blacks. The Secretary inquired what answer ought to be given, to which he (Mallory) replied: "if you would allow me to dictate an answer, I would say, emphatically, NO!" The Secretary replied that he had not only done that, but he had ordered the officer's arrest. He therefore repeated to many gentlemen that the charges that the Secretary of War sanctioned recruiting of blacks, were false.

Mr. Kellogg (Illinois)—Was the arrest for making that suggestion?

Mr. Mallory—That was the impression I received. If there were other reasons, they were not stated.

YOUNG REBELS IN OUR MIDST.—Is it true that Uncle Sam's patronage at Washington is still made the nursery of rebellion? It is currently reported, from authorities believed to be good, that the sons of Charles E. Mix, Chief Clerk of the Indian Office, James Golzer, clerk of the War Department, or recently so, the late F. W. Risque, and the known secessionist, M. Williams, publicly appeared at the recent annual exhibition of the Conrad Select School, in Georgetown, wearing Confederate badges. If so, in what measures are the parents the aiders and abettors of such system of educating treason in our midst.—National Republican.

Thurlow Weed.

Thurlow Weed, in a letter to the New York City Council, in response to the complimentary resolutions tendering him public honor for his efficient labors in behalf of our Government, makes the following allusion to his first entrance into the city of New York. It reminds us of Franklin's first appearance in Philadelphia, and like the latter, is an incentive to young men of humble fortunes to persevere in honest endeavors to rise in the world:

Born upon the banks of the Hudson river, my advent in the city of New York, in the year 1807, was in the capacity of a cabin-boy to the sloop Jefferson, Captain Jacobus Bogardus, of Catskill, and my first entrance to the city, from Coentie's Slip up Broad street, with the trunk of a passenger on my shoulder, is a well-remembered incident. Subsequently, in 1816, '17 and '18, I wrought there as a journeyman printer. Having, therefore, obtained an early foothold in our great metropolis, and witnessed its wonderful growth, its unparalleled prosperity, and its unfolding material and intellectual glories, during a period which has augmented its population from less than one hundred thousand to more than a million, you will pardon the weakness which confesses its pride in being invested with the FREEDOM of a city destined to become what London is—a center and depository of the wealth, power and wisdom of the world.

Pennsylvania Democratic Convention.

The Pennsylvania Democratic fire-in-the-rear Convention assembled at Harrisburg on the 4th inst. Geo. W Cass was temporaay chairman, and F. W. Huges, president. A series of resolutions was unanimously passed, which defines the position of the Democracy of Pennsylvania:

The first, second and third resolutions are of no consequence. The fourth "justly views with alarm the reckless extravagance in the departments of the federal Government," and they "hold an entire change in the administration to be imperatively demanded." The 5th "that the party of fanaticism or crime, whichever it may be called, that seeks to turn the slaves of the Southern States loose, to overrun the North, and enter into competition with the white laboring classes is insulting to our race." The sixth affirms still stronger the fifth. The seventh asserts that the suppression "of the freedom of speech and of the press, and the unlawful arrest of citizens and the suspension of the writ of habeus corpus in violation of the constitution in States is most dangerous to civil liberty, and should be resisted at the ballot box by every freeman in the land. The eighth believes that this is a "government for white men" and that negroes are not entitled to, nor ought to be "admitted to any rights." They are of "opinion that Congress has no right to deprive any person of his property for any offense," and "that all acts of Congress like those lately passed by the House of Representatives which assume to forfeit or confiscate the estates of men for offenses which they have not been convicted by due trial by jury, are unconstitutional and lead to oppression and tyranny." The rest of the resolutions are buncombe.

Isaac Slenker was nominated for Auditor-General, and J. P. Barr for Surveyor-General.

The speeches made in the convention were strongly demneciatory of the administration, abolitionists, &c., but were as "gentle as sucking doves" on the rebels, who they claimed had been greatly outraged. We shall see how the people of Pennsylvania will treat this convention.

The National Currency Scheme.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—The financial measure reported from the Committee on Ways and Means to-day is in accordance with the recommendation of the treasury. It is proposed to establish a separate bureau charged with the execution of this act, and all laws that may be passed by Congress respecting the issue and circulation of a national currency secured by a pledge of the United States stocks. The chief officer is to be called the Comptroller of the Currency, with a salary of five thousand dollars per annum, and is to be under the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury. United States stock is considered to mean all coupon and registered bonds now issued on the faith of the United States by the Secretary in pursuance of law.

Any chartered bank or banking association in good credit, and whose capital is not less than $10,000, granted under the laws of any State or Territory, or the District of Columbia, may avail itself of the advantages of the national currency authorized by this act under certain conditions. The bill also provides for the formation of associations by any number of persons for carrying on the business of banking with United States stocks as a basis. Plates are authorized to be engraved for notes of the denominations of five, ten, twenty, fifty, one hundred, five hundred, and one thousand dollars. Banks or associations failing to redeem in lawful currency of the United States are to be proceeded against, the United States to have the first lien on their associations. The bill covers nearly fifty printed pages.

IMPORTANT AND TRUE.—The New York Evening Post, than which there is in this country no better newspaper authority, has an article on the President's assailants, who blame him for not sending reinforcements to Gen. McClellan, in which the following statement is made:

The President has McClellan's own letters thanking him for reinforcements, and declaring, after McCall's division arrived in the Peninsula, that he "had more than enough troops to enter Richmond." Yet these vicious journals conceal such facts and mislead the public mind, in order to defame a high officer who is objectionable to them.

DISINHERITED.—The Wheeling Intelligencer states that Mr. G. W. Rives, son of W. C. Rives, of Virginia, passed through that city on Monday evening, en route for Washington city. Mr. Rives has resided for some years in the State of Illinois, and when the war broke out he became a very prominent opponent of the rebellion. In consequence of this he recently received a letter from his father, who is quite wealthy, announcing that he had disinherited the son, for the reason that he had determined that no traitor and Abolitionist should ever have the benefit of his wealth. This information is derived from the younger Mr. Rives' own lips.

BUSINESS LOCALS.

JULY—PIMPLES AND SKIN DISEASES are the result of impure blood. The blood becomes thick and clogged. The skin is not able to cast off the impurities so important to health. How many young men and women we see with their faces covered with pimples and blotches, who are endeavoring to remove them by the use of soaps and washes of various kinds. This is very dangerous and should never be practised by persons desirous of good health. Mothers who have children afflicted with sores and eruptions, should never dry them up by external applications, for in this way they will drive in the humors and produce ill health for the child during its whole life time. There is no mother that likes to see her children afflicted with feeble health.

Judson's Mountain Herb Pills are prepared expressly for the cure of eruptions of the skin, such as Pimples, Blotches &c. They cleanse the blood of all impurities, producing a beautiful, clear and healthy skin, so much admired by all people of taste and refinement.

Judson's Mountain Herb Pills are sold by all medicine dealers.

HOME
INSURANCE COMPANY,
NEW YORK.

Extract from Third Annual Report of the Superintendent of the Insurance Department of the State of New York. WM. BARNES, Superintendent.

There are now ninety-five joint stock fire insurance companies incorporated by the State of New York, engaged in the transaction of business; of these companies, fourteen only received premiums during the last year, amounting to over one hundred thousand dollars; four only received premiums above the sum of two hundred thousand dollars, and the premium income of one only exceeded three hundred thousand dollars. The premium receipts of this Company, the HOME, with a capital of $2,000,000, were $820,806.31. The premium income of thirty of the smaller companies was $851,875.35 only, with capitals, however, amounting in the aggregate to the sum of $4,000,000.

The state of things should be improved: the premium income of the mass of our fire insurance companies is by far too small for their capitals, and inadequate to the proper support of a separate and independent corporation. The experience of the HOME, PHOENIX, (of Brooklyn) and some other companies, has demonstrated that, with proper skill, tact and sagacity, business can be increased and managed to an indefinite extent, with entire safety, and even additional security to the company. We have now the machinery and organization in working order for nearly one hundred joint stock fire insurance companies. In the course of a few years their business can be safely doubled, and even quadrupled, without doubling or quadrupling the yearly expenses. Any considerable expansion of business must of course be mainly effected through the instrumentality of reliable, safe, and well managed agencies. The premium income of the HOME amounts to nearly one-eighth part that of the ninety-five companies combined, so that eight corporations like the HOME could conduct the entire business of all those companies. If each company transacted the same amount of business as the HOME the aggregate premium income would reach the enormous amount of over seventy-eight millions of dollars per year. Our companies are not too numerous for the great future of this country, if managed on the progressive scale demanded by the spirit of the American people.

The annual statement of this our foremost local fire and inland company, made up to the first of January last, shows a condition of such positive strength and prosperity as to challenge unqualified admiration. In circular accompanying the statement, subscribed by Charles J. Martin, President, A. F. Wilmarth, Vice President, and John McGee, Secretary, those well accredited officers very justly say: "The well-known reputation of the HOME for fair and honorable dealing, together with its capital of one million dollars, and surplus of over half a million in addition, all well invested, commend it to the special favor of all who desire reliable protection in the way of insurance, either fire or inland."

This is not saying one word too much for their company. The HOME is the crack company of our State, in high credit all over the Union, worked upon a comprehensive plan, and managed with admirable skill and efficiency. The assets of the HOME on the first of January last summed up to $1,521,268.08, against an actual liability of only $35,180.43; and, moreover, it is worth noting that the assets are all of the very first class. The balance in bank in cash was $124,434.14, very nearly enough to set up an ordinary company; bonds and mortgages $2,0,249.53, secured on real estate worth $1,775,900, and then government and other stocks, equivalent to cash and convertible into cash any day, $320,659. Any one not satisfied with the security of the HOME as an insurance institution, must be hard to please.

In 1861 the HOME wrote $600,745.48, taking $289,903 premium, and paid losses $335,775, including some losses for the year 1860. A dividend of ten per cent. was paid on the million capital; and after reserving an ample reinsurance fund, the company shows a "nett surplus" of $360,644 clear over capital and all claims, actual or possible, practical or theoretical.

The HOME is a good "testimony" in all places to the enterprise, energy and progress of the city of New York.

News Items.

—Hon. Wm. H. Merritt, of Canada, whose sudden death is announced, was a man of extraordinary powers. No man in the Province has done so much to promote its prosperity. He projected the Welland Canal, and other improvements, and may be called the DeWitt Clinton of Canada.

—Parson Brownlow is for vigorous measures. In his speech at Washington last week he said: "This country is now pursuing a course with this infernal, wicked rebellion which I do not approve of; unless we pursue a different and more vigorous one, we shall never end this rebellion in God's world."

—While on the Peninsula the President had as accurate returns as possible made of the losses in the recent battles, but there are half a dozen stories as to what the actual footing was. The Washington Star, of the 12th, says the killed, wounded and missing in all the seven battles were reduced to 11,000. Frank Blair, who accompanied the President, says 10,000, while Senator Wilson was understood to say say that the President told him 15,000. At any rate reinforcements now have far more than supplied all the losses.

—The Richmond Examiner and Dispatch of July 7, gives us more encouraging views of the rebel despondency than anything we have yet had. Its articles are regarded as indicating a belief that McClellan's present position is entirely safe from any attack they can make, and a continued menace to the safety of their capital.

—The President, Assistant Secretary Watson and Frank Blair bring back most encouraging news from McClellan's army, which they report in fine condition and restored to more than the original strength and again ready for active operations.

—The Detroit Advertiser and Detroit Tribune have been consolidated, and is now published as the Advertiser and Tribune. This has been done with the desire to secure union and harmony in the Republican party, and the co-operative effort of every friend of the Government. The new paper will be presented in a few weeks with new type, and in an enlarged sheet. A morning and evening edition will be issued. This is a sensible movement, and is sure to be crowned with success.

—A letter from Gibraltar of the 30th of May, says the rebel steamer Sumter was still in port, and not sold, as reported in the England papers.

—The Breckinridge Democrats in California have abandoned their organization. In view of the fact that a large share of the leaders, and many of the rank and file are in the rebel army, the virtue of the act is not very striking. They may renew it in the Confederate States Army.

—Captain Helper, who was so unceremoniously directed to leave North Carolina by Governor Stanley, a short time since, has been authorized by Governor Morgan to raise a company for service in the army, and has opened an office to receive recruits in New York.

The Democratic Nominees.

The Mankato Independent thus notices the candidates of the opponents of the Government:

The Vallandigham convention nominated for Congress, in the Northern district, W. J. Cullen, known as Buchanan's Superintendent of Indian Affairs, and as a leader of the Breckinridge Democracy in the last Presidental campaign. In this district, A. G. Chatfield, of Belle Plain, was nominated. Chatfield, it will be recollected, has been repeatedly defeated for office in his own county, notwithstanding his party had a majority of from four to six hundred. He will not carry a single county in the district.

Our Army Correspondence.

MURFREESBORO, Tenn., July 2, 1862.

To-day is damp, cloudy, and quite cool. In fact, so cool that overcoats are in demand among pickets and provost guards. For several days we have had occasional showers, with entervals of excessive heat. The effect of this combination has been to bring forward the crops with considerable rapidity. Corn is now about five or six feet high, and just ready to "tassel;" cotton is from six to eight inches in height; potatoes are just fit to eat; blackberries are plenty, and in their prime; apples are brought in occasionally. Other crops and fruits are in proportion.

Speaking of blackberries, they occasion a most delightful variation in our bill of fare at present. Instead of the usual unvaried beans, bacon and bread, we now have the addition of blackberry sauce, the same served up cold with sugar, or sometimes, a mysterious conglomeration called, by some accountable liberty with the English language, "blackberry pie." Perhaps this latter does not much resemble what we used so to designate at home—it is altogether probable that you would be at a loss to name one if you should see it, but still we call it "pie," and it takes very well I assure you.

JULY 3.—The ladies of St. Cloud were kind enough,—and that is very kind indeed,—to send Company I a box of clothing. It comprises shirts, handkerchiefs, drawers, slippers, etc., etc., ad infinitum—nearly. It was distributed today—just now, in fact—and gave us all a great deal of pleasure. We know very well, (our knowledge of human nature convinces us,) that we are in constant remembrance with those at home; but, such palpable evidence as these, gives one hearts one extra throb at least, and make as feel very happy indeed. No one, not a soldier, knows anything of the pleasure we feel on receipt of any memento from our dear friends at home. Letters for this reason are dearly prized, and have a value which they never has before. They are treasured long, and read and re-read with still increasing pleasure. In this box, I believe that only one person marked the articles they contributed; but, if they all knew what additional pleasure these delicately traced characters gave, I am sure they would have done likewise.

One day there came a sudden, heavy shower of rain. It poured and splashed away for about an hour, and then cleared away, as if to see what it had done. The camp was flooded. It looked funny to see the tents standing in the muddy water with soldiers splashing around in search of knapsacks, blankets, &c. In some tents, it took them so by surprise, that everything was afloat before they knew it. A man would be watching his little wedge-shaped bed place fill up, and perhaps swearing about it, while his knapsack with his bed, and clothing, complacently floated out of the tent and away. The Major's, Adjutant's and several other of the "staff tents" were unapproachable, except by means of a boat. You can perhaps imagine how matters stand: suffice to say it was deemed necessary, in consequence, to move the camp to its present site, which is a very pleasant one. There is a fine spring almost within our lines, while the river is only a few rods away.

JULY 6.—The ever-glorious Fourth "came, went and is gone."

I was detailed on picket duty, and, therefore, did not hear the speechifying which those in camp enjoyed. But nevertheless we had a very pleasant time of it. Our dinner was composed of chicken pot-pie, warm biscuits, fresh milk and blackberries with cream and sugar. We had no speechifying, as I before said, but argued the point of "Union and Dissmon," with the handsome widow of a "secesh" officer, which answered the same purpose. The widow aforesaid concluded that,

"Happy could she be with either,
Were t'other dear charmer away,"

and many others about here are of the same opinion. Secessionism from the lips of a beautiful woman is quite a different thing from the same sentiment when uttered by a Northern orator. But it is Secessionism yet: as satan may take the shape of an Angel of Light, and yet be the Devil for all that. M. P. H.

Secretary Stanton's Position Relative to Arming Negroes.

In the course of a debate, on Friday, in the House, on General Hunter's negro brigade, Mr. Mallory, of Kentucky, said:

He differed from his colleague (Wickliffe) as to the Secretary of War. He had an abiding confidence in that officer, and that the conduct of General Hunter would be repudiated, and for the following reasons: Two or three weeks ago he had business with the Secretary. When he was about leaving the Department, the Secretary called him back, and folding over the date and signature of a letter, showed him that an officer had asked authority to raise a regiments of blacks. The Secretary inquired what answer ought to be given, to which he (Mallory) replied: "if you would allow me to dictate an answer, I would say, emphatically, NO!" The Secretary replied that he had not only done that, but he had ordered the officer's arrest. He therefore repeated to many gentlemen that the charges that the Secretary of War sanctioned recruiting of blacks, were false.

Mr. Kellogg (Illinois)—Was the arrest for making that suggestion?

Mr. Mallory—That was the impression I received. If there were other reasons, they were not stated.

YOUNG REBELS IN OUR MIDST.—Is it true that Uncle Sam's patronage at Washington is still made the nursery of rebellion? It is currently reported, from authorities believed to be good, that the sons of Charles E. Mix, Chief Clerk of the Indian Office, James Golzer, clerk of the War Department, or recently so, the late F. W. Risque, and the known secessionist. M. Williams, publicly appeared at the recent annual exhibition of the Conrad Select School, in Georgetown, wearing Confederate badges. If so, in what measures are the parents the aiders and abettors of such system of educating treason in our midst.—National Republican.

Thurlow Weed.

Thurlow Weed, in a letter to the New York City Council, in response to the complimentary resolutions tendering him public honor for his efficient labors in behalf of our Government, makes the following allusion to his first entrance into the city of New York. It reminds us of Franklin's first appearance in Philadelphia, and like the latter, is an incentive to young men of humble fortunes to persevere in honest endeavors to rise in the world:

Born upon the banks of the Hudson river, my advent in the city of New York, in the year 1807, was in the capacity of a cabin-boy to the sloop Jefferson, Captain Jacobus Bogardus, of Catskill, and my first entrance to the city, from Coenties' Slip up Broad street, with the trunk of a passenger on my shoulder, is a well-remembered incident. Subsequently, in 1816, '17 and '18, I wrought there as a journeyman printer. Having, therefore, obtained an early foothold in our great metropolis, and witnessed its wonderful growth, its unparalleled prosperity, and its unfolding material and intellectual glories, during a period which has augmented its population from less than one hundred thousand to more than a million, you will pardon the weakness which confesses its pride in being invested with the FREEDOM of a city destined to become what London is—a center and depository of the wealth, power and wisdom of the world.

Pennsylvania Democratic Convention.

The Pennsylvania Democratic fire-in-the-rear Convention assembled at Harrisburg on the 4th inst. Geo. W Cass was temporaay chairman, and F. W. Huges, president. A series of resolutions was unanimously passed, which defines the position of the Democracy of Pennsylvania:

The first, second and third resolutions are of no consequence. The fourth "justly views with alarm the reckless extravagance in the departments of the federal Government," and they "hold an entire change in the administration to be imperatively demanded." The 5th "that the party of fanaticism or crime, whichever it may be called, that seeks to turn the slaves of the Southern States loose, to overrun the North, and enter into competition with the white laboring classes is insulting to our race." The sixth affirms still stronger the fifth. The seventh asserts that the suppression "of the freedom of speech and of the press, and the unlawful arrest of citizens and the suspension of the writ of habeas corpus in violation of the constitution in States is most dangerous to civil liberty, and should be resisted at the ballot box by every freeman in the land. The eighth believes that this is a "government for white men" and that negroes are not entitled to, nor ought to be "admitted to any rights." They are of "opinion that Congress has no right to deprive any person of his property for any offense," and "that all acts of Congress like those lately passed by the House of Representatives which assume to forfeit or confiscate the estates of men for offenses which they have not been convicted by due trial by jury, are unconstitutional and lead to oppression and tyranny." The rest of the resolutions are buncombe.

Isaac Slenker was nominated for Auditor-General, and J. P. Barr for Surveyor-General.

The speeches made in the convention were strongly denunciatory of the administration, abolitionists, &c., but were as "gentle as sucking doves" on the rebels, who they claimed had been greatly outraged. We shall see how the people of Pennsylvania will treat this convention.

The National Currency Scheme.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—The financial measure reported from the Committee on Ways and Means to-day is in accordance with the recommendation of the treasury. It is proposed to establish a separate bureau charged with the execution of this act, and all laws that may be passed by Congress respecting the issue and circulation of a national currency secured by a pledge of the United States stocks. The chief officer is to be called the Comptroller of the Currency, with a salary of five thousand dollars per annum, and is to be under the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury. United States stock is considered to mean all coupon and registered bonds now issued on the faith of the United States by the Secretary in pursuance of law.

Any chartered bank or banking association in good credit, and whose capital is not less than $10,000, granted under the laws of any State or Territory, or the District of Columbia, may avail itself of the advantages of the national currency authorized by this act under certain conditions. The bill also provides for the formation of associations by any number of persons for carrying on the business of banking with United States stocks as a basis. Plates are authorized to be engraved for notes of the denominations of five, ten, twenty, fifty, one hundred, five hundred, and one thousand dollars. Banks or associations failing to redeem in lawful currency of the United States are to be proceeded against, the United States to have the first lien on their associations. The bill covers nearly fifty printed pages.

IMPORTANT AND TRUE.—The New York Evening Post, than which there is in this country no better newspaper authority, has an article on the President's assailants, who blame him for not sending reinforcements to Gen. McClellan, in which the following statement is made:

The President has McClellan's own letters thanking him for reinforcements, and declaring, after McCall's division arrived in the Peninsula, that he "had more than enough troops to enter Richmond." Yet these vicious journals conceal such facts and mislead the public mind, in order to defame a high officer who is objectionable to them.

DISINHERITED.—The Wheeling Intelligencer states that Mr. G. W. Rives, son of W. C. Rives, of Virginia, passed through that city on Monday evening, en route for Washington city. Mr. Rives has resided for some years in the State of Illinois, and when the war broke out he became a very prominent opponent of the rebellion. In consequence of this he recently received a letter from his father, who is quite wealthy, announcing that he had disinherited the son, for the reason that he had determined that no traitor and Abolitionist should ever have the benefit of his wealth. This information is derived from the younger Mr. Rives' own lips.

BUSINESS LOCALS.

JULY—PIMPLES AND SKIN DISEASES are the result of impure blood. The blood becomes thick and clogged. The skin is not able to cast off the impurities so important to health. How many young men and women we see with their faces covered with pimples and blotches, who are endeavoring to remove them by the use of soaps and washes of various kinds. This is very dangerous and should never be practised by persons desirous of good health. Mothers who have children afflicted with sores and eruptions, should never dry them up by external applications, for in this way they will drive in the humors and produce ill health for the child during its whole life time. There is no mother that likes to see her children afflicted with feeble health.

Judson's Mountain Herb Pills are prepared expressly for the cure of eruptions of the skin, such as Pimples, Blotches &c. They cleanse the blood of all impurities, producing a beautiful, clear and healthy skin, so much admired by all people of taste and refinement.

Judson's Mountain Herb Pills are sold by all medicine dealers.

CASH CAPITAL.....$300,000
NETT SURPLUS..... 138,000

DIVIDENDS ON CAPITAL LIMITED BY ITS CHARTER TO SEVEN PER CENT. PER ANNUM—

—THE ENTIRE PROFITS GO TO THE POLICY HOLDERS.

This Society was organized in the year 1859, with a cash capital of $300,000 deposited irrevocably with the Insurance Department of the State of New York, in United States bonds, on which it allows but seven per cent. per annum to the stockholders, and the entire profits of the business is shared by the policy holders. The net profits in two years amounts to $328,000, which shows an unparalleled success in the history of Life Insurance. Its operations are managed by a Board of Directors composed of the first business men of the country, and its business is conducted entirely on the cash plan. Dividends to the policy holders will be made every five years, and no company in the country offers equal advantages to its dealers.

HOME

INSURANCE COMPANY,

NEW YORK.

Extract from Third Annual Report of the Superintendent of the Insurance Department of the State of New York. WM. BARNES, Superintendent.

"There are now ninety-five joint stock fire insurance companies incorporated by the State of New York, engaged in the transaction of business; of these companies seventy-seven received premiums during the last year, amounting to over one hundred thousand dollars; four only received premium above the sum of two hundred thousand dollars, and the premium income of one only exceeded three hundred thousand dollars. The premium receipts of this Company, the HOME, with a capital of $1,000,000, were $829,985,35. The premium income of thirty of the smaller companies was $851,850,80 only, with capitals, however, amounting in the aggregate to the sum of $21,000,000.

The state of things should be improved; the premium income of the mass of our fire insurance companies is by far too small for their capitals, and inadequate to the proper support of a separate and independent corporation. The experience of the HOME, PHOENIX, (of Brooklyn) and some other companies, has demonstrated that, with proper skill, no one capacity, business can be increased and managed to an indefinite extent, with entire safety, and even additional security, to the company. We have now the machinery and organization in working order for nearly one hundred joint stock fire insurance companies. In the course of a few years their business can be safely doubled, and even quadrupled, without doubling or quadrupling the yearly expenses. Any considerable expansion of business must of course be mainly effected through the instrumentality of reliable, safe, and well managed agencies. The premium income of the HOME amounts to nearly one-eighth part that of the ninety-five companies combined, so that eight corporations like the HOME could conduct the entire business of all these companies. If each company transacted the same amount of business as the HOME the aggregate premium income would reach the enormous amount of over seventy-eight millions of dollars per year. Our companies are not too numerous for the great future of this country, if managed on the progressive scale demanded by the spirit of the American people.

The annual statement of this our foremost local ire and inland company, made up to the first of January last, shows a condition of such positive strength and prosperity as to challenge unqualified admiration. In a circular accompanying the statement, subscribed by Charles J. Martin, President, A. F. Wilmarth, Vice President, and John McGee, Secretary, those well accredited officers very justly say: "The well-known reputation of the HOME for fair and honorable dealing, together with its capital of one million dollars, and surplus of over half a million in addition, all well invested, commend it to the special favor of all who desire reliable protection in the way of insurance, either fire or inland."

This is not saying one word too much for their company. The HOME is the rock, the company of our State, in high credit all over the Union, worked upon a comprehensive plan, and managed with admirable skill and efficiency. The assets of the HOME on the first of January last summed up to $1,521,268.08, against an actual liability of only $55,080.43; and, moreover, it is worth noting that the assets are all of the very first class. The balance in bank in cash was $221,434.14, very nearly enough to set up an ordinary company; bonds and mortgages $9,029.93, secured on real estate worth $17,5,000, and then government and other stocks, equivalent to cash and convertible into cash any day, $320,686. Any one not satisfied with the security of the HOME as an insurance institution, must be hard to please.

In 1861 the HOME wrote $4,067,545.48, taking $820,993 premiums, and paid losses $335,775, including some losses for the year 1860. A dividend of ten per cent. was paid on the million capital; and after reserving an ample reinsurance fund, the company shows a "net surplus" of $360,954 clear over capital and all claims, actual or possible, practical or theoretical.

The HOME is a good "testimony" in all places to the enterprise, energy and progress of the city of New York.

H. J. BRAINARD & CO.'S

MILLS,

SITUATED ON PHALON'S CREEK, WHERE THE STILLWATER ROAD CROSSES.

This Mill is just completed, and is in good running order. Our machinery embraces all the latest improvements, and was got up in the East, without regard to expense. It has two run of Burrs, which will be kept running night and day, so that farmers coming from a distance can be accommodated without much delay.

The need of a first class Mill of this kind has long been felt by the citizens of St. Paul and vicinity. We have secured the services of James Craigie, who has made milling the business of his life, and in whom we can place entire confidence.

All kinds of grain will be weighed

THE CITY.

CUCUMBERS were in the market yesterday morning, the first of the season.

THE weather, yesterday, was quite cool, in consequence of showers in the neighborhood the evening before.

WE have never seen such a profusion of Blueberries for sale in this city as at present. They are sold when taken in quantities at six cents per quart.

A LARGE number of ox-carts from the Red river were in town yesterday, loading up with goods recently purchased from our merchants.

CHAPLAIN CRESSEY, of the Second Minnesota regiment gave us a call yesterday afternoon. He has been home for a short time, visiting with his family and friends. The Chaplain looks well, and will return to the regiment in a few days.

PATRICK NASH protests that he is acting in good faith with the city in the matter of the contract for the road improvement in West St. Paul; that he is hurrying up the completion of the work as fast as he reasonably can: and that he is a better judge than the public of the number of men that can be worked to advantage on the job, &c.

A NUMBER of excursionists, both ladies and gentleman, arrived in this city yesterday morning by the Canada from St. Louis. They were about town during the day examining buildings, gardens, and all places of interest with a great deal of enthusiasm.

ST. PAUL ORATORS.—We notice that a number of our citizens delivered orations abroad on the 4th inst. J. B. Brisbin, Esq., orated at Winona, W. H. Peckham at Red Wing, J. W. Taylor at Faribault, and D. C. Cooley at LeSueur. Hon. Ignatius Donnelly and Hon. James Baker, whose positions in the State administration have made them residents here a portion of the time for the last three years, delivered orations—the former at Plainview, Wabashaw county, and the latter at Garden City, Blue Earth county.

MCELROY'S BANK NOTE REPORTER.—This reporter and detector is published in Chicago at $1.00 for monthly, $2.00 for semi-monthly.

It is claimed for this publication that it is a great improvement on all others of the class, in this, that instead of the numberless descriptions of spurious bills it describes the genuine bills in all cases where they have been counterfeited. By this means much time is saved, in examining the detector to test doubtful bills.

RAILROAD PROSPECTS.—As we stated a few days ago, the contract for extending the railroad from St. Anthony to St. Cloud this season, has already been let, and the contractors are expected here in a few days to commence operations. The iron for the whole distance has been purchased, and one hundred tons shipped. Mr. Rice, the President of the road, who has been in New York a short time to execute the contract, is expected home this week. It is not known, positively, that the road can be completed to St. Cloud this fall, but in all events it is believed the cars will run into Anoka, thirty miles from here, before the close of navigation.

EMIGRATION.—An installment of the large number of Norwegian emigrants lately collected at Chicago, came up on the Key City Sunday morning. About two hundred were in the party, who immediately re-embarked on the Jeannette Roberts, and proceeded to Carver, from which point they diverge in all directions to get on government land, they being already well posted up in regard to the free homestead. It is expected that four hundred more of them will arrive on the Milwaukee

A DESIRABLE CHANGE.—We observe that the large stone building near the International Hotel, recently occupied for an Amphitheatre is being reclaimed from a haunt of dissipation. Under the management of Sam. Snow, of the First Ward, the busy hum of industry is already thriving. He has put on a new roof and fixed a portion of the building for an extensive blacksmith shop. A wagon and paint shop are to be added, when the whole building will be occupied in a manner much more creditable to the industry of the town.

HOUSE OF HOPE—INSTALLATION OF REV. MR. NOBLE.—The services connected with the ordination and installation of Rev. F. A. Noble as Pastor of the House of Hope Church will take place to-morrow (Wednesday) evening at the Chapel on Walnut street, commencing at quarter before eight.

The exercises will consist in part of a sermon, charge to the Pastor and charge to the people, conducted by the Presbytery of Minnesota, which body will commence its semi-annual session at that Church this evening.

THE MODEL SEWING MACHINE.—We examined yesterday at the Sewing Machine Depot of G. W. Babcock, on Third Street, a new machine called the Florence Sewing Machine, which appears to be better adapted for the purpose for which sewing machines were invented, than any thing that has heretofore come under our observation. Its chief advantage over other machines is what is called its tension, making an evenness of sticking never before seen. Then it is so noiseless—a dozen of them running at once will not make the noise of one of the other kinds. These advantages strike the beholder at the first glance, but there are still those which space will not permit us to recapitulate.

MR. BUEL'S PATRIOTIC OFFER.—It will be seen by the subjoined statements that the patriotic offer of Mr. Buel, published on Sunday morning, has already been accepted and the money paid over. If some of our other citizens would volunteer the same liberal offer which Mr. Buel has, the Sixth Regiment would fill up much more rapidly. Who will be the next man;

A CARD.—It affords me great pleasure to certify that Henry Buel, Esq. of St. Paul, Minnesota, paid ten dollars as a bounty to Mr. Stewart Irvine, who was one of the first two men, who mustered into the 6th Regiment of Minnesota Volunteers in my Company, the Minnesota Grenadiers—after his patriotic offer of July 13th.

LYMAN C. DAYTON,
Recruiting Officer for the Sixth Regiment, Bridge Block, St. Paul, Minn.

The undersigned gratefully acknowledges the receipt of ten dollars paid M. Brant by Henry Buel, Esq., as one of the two of the first recruits from St. Paul, mustered into the Union Guards Sixth Regiment, since his patriotic offer of July 13th, 1862.

H. P. GRANT.

St. Paul, July 14th, 1862.

ROBERT HELLER.—We refer our readers to the advertisement of this very celebrated gentleman, which appears in our columns this morning. As an Illusionist and Pianist and in his wonderful mystery of "Second Sight," our exchanges pronounce him unequalled. We clip the following notice of him from the Cincinnati Gazette:

HELLER.—The engagement of this unrivalled magician and pianist at Pike's opera house, during the week has sufficiently demonstrated that as an artist, either in the art of prestidigitation or as a musician, he stands unequalled. Many persons wonder upon this enthusiast. We can commend his feats of magic, as beyond anything conceived prior to his advent, while the "second sight," still remains as incomprehensible a mystery as ever puzzled an universal community. His piano forte performance will rank coeval with Thalberg, Gottschalk, or any of the modern luminaries, and take him all in all, and he may be set down as a genius of the first water.

A European by birth, he has acquired, in the various musical academies, the highest honors, and there are but few portfolios but contain one or more of his works, for, as a composer, he holds a place with the most popular modern masters, such is Robert Heller, whose "second sight" necromancy and music have created such a furor in this community as will be long remembered.

PERSONAL.—Hon. Jared Benson, of Anoka, and Judge F. M. Crosby, of Hastings, are among the guests at the International.

Lord Milton, of England, accompanied by W. R. Cheedle, Esq., and C. Missiter, Esq., are also at the International, en route for the British settlements, for a summer hunt. It will be recollected that Lord Milton was here last summer, and went through just such a tour as this party now propose to make.

Alexander Paul, a merchant of Fort Garry, and W. Coldwell, editor of the Nor' Wester, at that place, are also in town. The latter is on his return from Canada, and proposes to leave for Fort Garry next Friday. In the meantime some of our wholesale dealers would do well to cultivate his acquaintance. He stops at the Winslow.

Hon. Chas. McClure, of Red Wing, is stopping at the Merchant's, looking hearty. He represents the prospects of the harvest in his locality to be exceedingly bright.

A. Pratt, the general agent of the Illinois Central Railroad, is again among us. His long connection with the railroad interests, has rendered him thoroughly identified with the wants of the business and traveling public, and brought him into familiar intercourse with a large portion of our citizens.

POLICE ITEMS.—There were arrests for three or four cases of disorderly conduct, but the only one prosecuted was Patrick Tracy, who contributed one dollar for the benefit of the city, and was let off.

ARRESTED.—Obersch, the German, who shot Manning, an account of which was in the Press of Sunday morning, was arrested on Saturday last and taken to Stillwater, where he was put under $200 bonds to answer the charge. We also learn he was subsequently arrested for some other offence in connection with the shooting affray.

RIVER NEWS.—The arrivals since Saturday night are the Canada from St. Louis, Key City and War Eagle from Dunleith, Northern Belle and Keokuk from La Crosse, Ariel and Clara Hine from Carver, and Jeannette Roberts from Mankato.

The departures are the Canada for St. Louis, Milwaukee and Key City for Dunleith, McLellan and Northern Belle for La Crosse, and Ariel and Clara Hine for Carver.

The Keokuk is the down packet for La Crosse this morning, and the War Eagle for Dunleith.

The Pomeroy has been laid up in consequence of the low water and low freights on the Minnesota river.

Milwaukee Market.

MILWAUKEE, July 14.

Saturday has been the dullest day of the week in the wheat market. The opening offers were 77c for No. 2 and 81c for No. 1 in store, but not being able to get any at these figures buyers raised their offers ½c on both grades, and subsequently another ½c on No. 2. The closing quotations were 87 81½c, or 1@2c below yesterday's prices on Change. The whole amount of sales were less than 25,000 bushels.

Flour was very dull, partaking of the depression in wheat, and some dealers quoted it 10@15c lower. The only sale reported was 200 barrels good country spring extra at $3,85.

Coarse grain quiet with high receipts.

Chicago Money Market.

The Chicago Tribune of Saturday says:

New York Exchange is not quite so active.—Most of the leading houses sell round lots at par, and the range as heretofore, is par @¼—¾ being the more usual figure where any change is made. The buying rate is par, ¼@¾ per cent. discount. Gold is drooping. The buying price to-day was 1344; selling, 1516. The sellers to-day are more plenty than the buyers, the brokers sell very little here. Most of it is shipped to New York. For prices there we refer to our dispatches.

SAINT PAUL, July 3d, 1862.

The undersigned will receive sealed proposals at his office in Saint Paul, Minnesota, until 12 o'clock M. on the 10th day of July, for furnishing and delivering, at Fort Snelling, Minnesota, complete rations for United States troops, prisoners of war, and to any other persons subsisted in kind by the Government, to be sent there.

The ration consists as follows: Three-fourths of a pound of pork or bacon, or one and a fourth pounds of fresh or salt beef; twenty-two ounces of bread or flour, or one pound of hard bread, or one and a fourth pounds of corn meal; and at the rate to every one hundred rations, of eight quarts of beans or peas, and ten pounds of rice or hominy; ten pounds of green coffee, or eight pounds of roasted and ground coffee, or one and a half pounds of tea; fifteen pounds of sugar; four quarts of vinegar; one pound of sperm candles, or one and a fourth pounds of adamantine candles, or one and a half pounds of tallow candles; four pounds of soap, and two quarts of salt.

In addition to the foregoing, there is allowed twice per week one gallon of molasses per one hundred rations, and thrice per week, if practicable, an issue of potatoes, at the rate of one pound per ann. When beans, peas, rice, hominy, or potatoes cannot be issued in the proportions given above, an equivalent in value shall be issued in some other proper food. Desiccated potatoes, or desiccated mixed vegetables, at the rate, per one hundred rations, of one hundred and fifty ounces of the former, or one hundred ounces of the latter, may be substituted for beans, peas, rice, hominy, or fresh potatoes, when these articles cannot be issued; or, upon the requisition of the proper officer, and when the supply on hand will admit of it, they may be issued at the foregoing rate, twice per week in lieu of beans or peas, or in lieu of rice or hominy. Fresh beef may be issued as often as the commanding officer of any detachment or regiment may require it, when practicable, in place of salt meat.

The Acting Commissary reserves to himself the right to diminish or increase the number of rations required, whenever the interests of the government demand it.

Bidders must name their sureties in their bids. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any and all bids deemed extravagant.

The contract will extend to, and include the 31st day of December, 1862.

Bidders can be present at the opening of the bids.

NOTICE OF FORECLOSURE AND MORTGAGE SALE.

Name of Mortgagor—A. Vance Brown and Louisa Brown, his wife, of St. Paul, Minn

Name of Mortgagee—John H. McAllister, of Harrisburg, Pa.

Mortgage dated and acknowledged—June seventh, A. D. one thousand eight hundred and fifty nine. (1859.)

Mortgage recorded—June eighth, A. D., one thousand eight hundred and fifty nine at 10 o'clock, A. M. in the office of the Register of Deeds in Ramsey county, Minnesota, in Book P of Mortgages on pages 101 and 102.

Description of mortgaged premises—Lots one (1), two (2), three (3), four (4), nineteen (19), twenty (20), twenty one (21), and twenty two (22), of block fourteen, in Robinson, Brown and Ramsey's addition to St. Paul according to the recorded plat thereof on file in the office of the Register of Deeds, in and county of Ramsey, situate and being in the county of Ramsey and State of Minnesota.

The note secured by said mortgage reads as follows:

"$2200 St. Paul, Minn. June 7, 1859.

"One year after date, for value received, I promise to pay to the order of John H McAllister two thousand two hundred dollars, at the Harrisburg Bank, Harrisburg, Penn., with interest thereon, payable semi-annually, at the rate of twenty per cent. per annum.

"A. VANCE BROWN."

The interest on said note has been paid and received up to March first, A. D. 1862.

The amount claimed to be due upon said mortgage at the date of this notice, to wit, May 12, A. D. 1862, and now actually due thereon, is the sum of two thousand two hundred and thirty dollars ($2,23.)

Default having been made in the conditions of said mortgage, by the nonpayment of the money thereby secured, and no proceedings at law or in equity having been instituted to recover said mortage debt or any part thereof:

Notice is hereby given that said mortgage will be foreclosed, and that the said mortgaged premises will be sold by virtue of a power of sale in said mortgage contained, and therewith recorded, and pursuant to the provisions of the statute in such case made and provided, by the sheriff of said county, at the front door of the Court House in the city of St. Paul, county of Ramsey, and State of Minnesota, on the third day of July, A. D., one thousand eight hundred and sixty two, (1862) at two o'clock, P. M., by the Sheriff of said county, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said mortgage debt with costs and legal charges.

MORTGAGE SALE.—John Oberser and Catharine, his wife, of the county of Ramsey, State of Minnesota, by mortgaged deed, dated March 4, A. D. 1861, granted bargained, sold and conveyed unto William H. Pelham, of the same place, and to his heirs and assigns forever, all that tract or parcel of land lying and being in the county of Ramsey, State of Minnesota, described in said deed of mortgage as follows, viz: Lot numbered one (1) and two (2) of block numbered thirty-two (32) of the tract of land called Como, according to the recorded plat thereof in the office of the Register of Deeds, in and for the said county of Ramsey, conditioned to be void upon the payment of a certain promissory note therein mentioned.

Said mortgage was duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Ramsey county aforesaid, on the 25th day of May, A. D. 1861 at 10 o'clock A. M. in Book R of mortgage deeds, on pages 565, 566 and 567.

The said mortgage and the debt or promissory note thereby secured, were duly assigned by the said Wm H. Pelham to James M. Freeman, of the City of Saint Paul, county and State aforesaid, on the seventh day of December, A. D. 1861, which said instrument of assignment was duly recorded on the ninth day of December, A. D. 1862, at 9 o'clock and 45 A. M., of that day in the office of the Register of Deeds of said Ramsey county, in Book B of assignments on page 29.

Default has been made in the conditions of payment of said promissory note and mortgage, and there is now claimed to be due and is due on the said promissory note and mortgage the just and full sum of one hundred and fifty dollars ($150), and no suit or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover said debt remaining secured by the said mortgage or any part thereof. The said mortgage aforesaid contains the usual clause of waiver, whereby the mortgagors have waived all errors and relieved themselves, their heirs and assigns forever of the right, benefit, equity and claim of redemption in and to the premises in said mortgage described, according to the statute in such case made and provided.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided, the above described mortgaged premises will be sold at public auction, by the Sheriff of the county of Ramsey and State of Minnesota, upon a judgment and decree rendered in said Court on the seventeenth day of May, A. D. 1862, and docketed on the seventeenth day of May, 1862, in said county of Ramsey, in an action in said Court pending, wherein in Ira Bidwell is plaintiff, and Elizabeth C. Randall, Jno. Randall, Elbridge D. Randall, Herman Burgman, Mary Burgman, Andrew J. Lovering, and Wm H. Morton are defendants, in favor of said plaintiff for the sum of six thousand eight hundred and eighty six dollars and sixty six and two-third cents, the same being the amount of plaintiff's lien as vendor on lots number eleven (11) and twelve (12) in block number twenty (20) in Robert and Randall's addition to St Paul, in Ramsey County, and State of Minnesota, to sell said real estate to satisfy said lien with interest from May, 1862, and twenty two dollars and forty nine cents costs I did on the 9th day of June, 1862, levy upon and take into my possession the said above described real estate.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that on the 26th day of July, 1862, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at the front door of the court house in the City of St Paul, in said county of Ramsey, I will sell the said real estate to the highest bidder for cash according to the statute in such case made and provided, to satisfy said decree and execution, with interest and the costs of sale thereon.

CALL AND SEE.

IN PROBATE COURT STATE OF MINNESOTA, Ramsey County, Special Term, June 24, 1862.

In the matter of the estate of Joseph Charles, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Edward Webb, Administrator of said estate, setting forth the amount of personal estate, the amount of debts, and a description of the real estate of which said deceased died seized, the condition and value thereof, and praying that license be to him granted to sell the whole of said real estate; and it appearing by said petition that there is not sufficient personal estate in the hands of said Administrator to pay said debts, and that it is necessary, in order to pay the same, to sell the whole of said real estate. It is therefore ordered that all persons interested in said estate appear before the Judge of this Court on the 5th day of August, 1862, at ten o'clock A. M., at the office of the Judge of Probate, then and there to show cause, if any there be

THE CITY.

CUCUMBERS were in the market yesterday morning, the first of the season.

THE weather, yesterday, was quite cool, in consequence of showers in the neighborhood the evening before.

WE have never seen such a profusion of Blueberries for sale in this city as at present. They are sold when taken in quantities at six cents per quart.

A LARGE number of ox-carts from the Red river were in town yesterday, loading up with goods recently purchased from our merchants.

CHAPLAIN CRESSEY, of the Second Minnesota regiment gave us a call yesterday afternoon. He has been home for a short time, visiting with his family and friends. The Chaplain looks well, and will return to the regiment in a few days.

PATRICK NASH protests that he is acting in good faith with the city in the matter of the contract for the road improvement in West St. Paul; that he is hurrying up the completion of the work as fast as he reasonably can; and that he is a better judge than the public of the number of men that can be worked to advantage on the job, &c.

A NUMBER of excursionists, both ladies and gentleman, arrived in this city yesterday morning by the Canada from St. Louis. They were about town during the day examining buildings, gardens, and all places of interest with a great deal of enthusiasm.

ST. PAUL ORATORS.—We notice that a number of our citizens delivered orations abroad on the 4th inst. J. B. Brisbin, Esq., orated at Winona, W. H. Peckham at Red Wing, J. W. Taylor at Faribault, and D. C. Cooley at LeSueur. Hon. Ignatius Donnelly and Hon. James Baker, whose positions in the State administration have made them residents here a portion of the time for the last three years, delivered orations—the former at Plainsview, Wabashaw county, and the latter at Garden City, Blue Earth county.

MCELROY'S BANK NOTE REPORTER.—This reporter and detector is published in Chicago at $1.00 for monthly, $2.00 for semi-monthly.

It is claimed for this publication that it is a great improvement on all others of the class, in that that instead of the numberless descriptions of spurious bills it describes the genuine bills in all cases where they have been counterfeited. By this means much time is saved, in examining the detector to test doubtful bills.

RAILROAD PROSPECTS.—As we stated a few days ago, the contract for extending the railroad from St. Anthony to St. Cloud this season, has already been let, and the contractors are expected here in a few days to commence operations. The iron for the whole distance has been purchased, and one hundred tons shipped. Mr. Rice, the President of the road, who has been in New York a short time to execute the contract, is expected home this week. It is not known, positively, that the road can be completed to St. Cloud this fall, but in all events it is believed the cars will run into Anoka, thirty miles from here, before the close of navigation

EDUCATION.—An installment of the large number of Norwegian emigrants lately collected at Chicago, came on the Ivey City Sunday morning. About two hundred were in the party, who immediately reembarked on the Jeannette Roberts, and proceeded to Carver, from which point they diverge in all directions to get on government land, they being already well posted up in regard to the free homestead. It is expected that four hundred more of them will arrive on the Milwaukee

A DESIRABLE CHANGE.—We observe that the large stone building near the International Hotel, recently occupied for an Amphitheatre is being reclaimed from a haunt of dissipation. Under the management of Sam. Snow, of the First Ward, the busy hum of industry is already thriving. He has put on a new roof and fixed a portion of the building for an extensive blacksmith shop. A wagon and paint shop are to be added, when the whole building will be occupied in a manner much more creditable to the industry of the town.

HOUSE OF HOPE.—INSTALLATION OF REV. MR. NOBLE.—The services connected with the ordination and installation of Rev. I. A. Noble as Pastor of the House of Hope Church will take place to-morrow (Wednesday) evening at the Chapel on Walnut street, commencing at quarter before eight.

The exercises will consist in part of a sermon, charge to the Pastor and charge to the people, conducted by the Presbytery of Minnesota, which body will commence its semi-annual session at that Church this evening.

THE MODEL SEWING MACHINE.—We examined yesterday at the Sewing Machine Depot of G. W. Babcock, on Third Street, a new machine called the Florence Sewing Machine, which appears to be better adapted for the purpose for which sewing machines were invented, than any thing that has heretofore come under our observation. Its chief advantage over other machines is what is called its tension, making an evenness of sticking never before seen. Then it is noiseless—a dozen of them running at once will not make the noise of one of the other kinds. These advantages strike the beholder at the first glance, but there are still those which space will not permit us to recapitulate.

MR. BUELS PATRIOTIC OFFER.—It will be seen by the subjoined statements that the patriotic offer of Mr. Buel, published on Sunday morning, has already been accepted and the money paid over. If some of our other citizens would volunteer the same liberal offer which Mr. Buel has, the Sixth Regiment would fill up much more rapidly. Who will be the next man?

A CARD.—It affords me great pleasure to certify that Henry Buel, Esq. of St. Paul, Minnesota, paid ten dollars as a bounty to Mr. Stewart Irvine, who was one of the first two men, who mustered into the 6th Regiment of Minnesota Volunteers in my Company, the Minnesota Grenadiers—after his patriotic offer of July 13th.

LYMAN C. DAYTON,
Recruiting Officer for the Sixth Regiment, Bridge Block, St. Paul, Minn.

The undersigned gratefully acknowledges the receipt of ten dollars paid M. Brant by Henry Buel, Esq., as one of the two of the first recruits from St. Paul, mustered into the Union Guards[?] Sixth Regiment, since his patriotic offer of July 13th, 1862.

H. P. GRANT.

St. Paul, July 14th, 1862.

ROBERT HELLER.—We refer our readers to the advertisement of this very celebrated gentleman, which appears in our columns this morning. As an Illusionist and Pianist and in his wonderful mystery of "Second Sight," our exchanges pronounce him unequalled. We clip the following notice of him from the Cincinnati Gazette:

HELLER.—The engagement of this unrivalled magician and pianist at Pike's opera house, during the week has sufficiently demonstrated that as an artist, either in the art of prestidigitation or as a musician, he stands unequalled by any rival presented upon this continent. We can commend in terms of magic, as beyond anything conceived prior to his advent, while the "second sight," still remains as incomprehensible a mystery as ever puzzled an universal community. His piano forte performance will rank equal with Thalberg, Gottschalk, or any of the modern luminaries, and take him all in all, and he may be set down as a genius of the first water.

A European by birth, he has acquired, in the various musical academies, the highest honors, and there are but few portfolios but contain one or more of his works, for, as a composer, he holds a place with the most popular modern masters, such is Robert Heller, whose "second sight" necromancy and music have created such a furor in this community as will be long remembered.

PERSONAL.—Hon. Jared Benson, of Anoka, and Judge F. M. Crosby, of Hastings, are among the guests at the International.

Lord Milton, of England, accompanied by W. R. Cheedle, Esq., and C. Missiter, Esq., are also at the International, en route for the British settlements, for a summer hunt. It will be recollected that Lord Milton was here last summer, and went through just such a tour as this party now propose to make.

Alexander Paul, a merchant of Fort Garry, and W. Coldwell, editor of the New Wester, at that place, are also in town. The latter is on his return from Canada, and proposes to leave for Fort Garry next Friday. In the meantime some of our wholesale dealers would do well to cultivate his acquaintance. He stops at the Winslow.

Hon. Chas. McClure, of Red Wing, is stopping at the Merchant's, looking hearty. He represents the prospects of the harvest in his locality to be exceedingly bright.

A. Pratt, the general agent of the Illinois Central Railroad, is again among us. His long connection with the railroad interests, has rendered him thoroughly identified with the wants of the business and traveling public, and brought him into familiar intercourse with a large portion of our citizens.

POLICE ITEMS.—There were arrests for three or four cases of disorderly conduct, but the only one prosecuted was Patrick Tracy, who contributed one dollar for the benefit of the city, and was let off.

ARRESTED.—Obersch, the German, who shot Manning, an account of which was in the Press of Sunday morning, was arrested on Saturday last and taken to Stillwater, where he was put under $200 bonds to answer the charge. We also learn he was subsequently arrested for some other offience in connection with the shooting affray.

RIVER NEWS.—The arrivals since Saturday night are the Canada from St. Louis, Key City and War Eagle from Dunleith, Northern Belle and Keokuk from La Crosse, Ariel and Clara Hine from Carver, and Jeannette Roberts from Mankato.

The departures are the Canada for St. Louis, Milwaukee and Key City for Dunleith, McLellan and Northern Belle for La Crosse, and Ariel and Clara Hine for Carver.

The Keokuk is the down packet for La Crosse this morning, and the War Eagle for Dunleith.

The Pomeroy has been laid up in consquence of the low water and low freights on the Minnesota river.

Milwaukee Market.

MILWAUKEE, July 14.

Saturday has been the dullest day of the week in the wheat market. The opening offers were 57c for No. 2 and 58c for No. 1 in store, but not being able to get any at these figures buyers raised their offers ½c on both grades, and subsequently another ½c on No. 2. The closing quotations were 57 3-8@½c for large below yesterday's prices on 'change. The whole amount of sales were less than 25,000 bushels.

Flour was very dull, partaking of the depression in wheat, and some dealers quoted it 10@15c lower. The only sale reported was 200 barrels good country spring extra at $5.85.

Coarse grain quiet with light receipts.

Chicago Money Market.

The Chicago Tribune of Saturday says:

New York Exchange is not quite so active. Most of the leading houses sell round lots at par, and the range as heretofore, is par @ ¼—½ being the more usual figure when any change is made. The buying range is par, ¼@½ per cent. discount.

Gold is drooping. This morning price to-day was 104½ selling, 104½. The sellers to-day are more plenty than the buyers. The brokers sell very little here. Most of it is shipped to New York. For prices there we refer to our dispatches.

SAINT PAUL, July 3d, 1862.

The undersigned will receive sealed proposals at his office in Saint Paul, Minnesota, until 12 o'clock M. on the 10th day of July, for furnishing and delivering, at Fort Snelling, Minnesota, complete rations for United States troops, prisoners of war, and to any other persons subsisted in kind by the Government, to be sent there.

The ration consists as follows: Three-fourths of a pound of pork or bacon, or one and a fourth pounds of fresh or salt beef; twenty-two ounces of bread or flour, or one pound of hard bread, or one and a fourth pounds of corn meal; and at the rate to every one hundred rations, of eight quarts of beans or peas, and ten pounds of rice or hominy; ten pounds of green coffee, or eight pounds of roasted and ground coffee, or one and a half pounds of tea; fifteen pounds of sugar; four quarts of vinegar; one pound of sperm candles, or one and a fourth pounds of adamantine candles, or one and a half pounds of tallow candles; four pounds of soap, and two quarts of salt.

In addition to the foregoing, there is allowed twice per week one gallon of molasses per one hundred rations, and thrice per week, if practicable, an issue of potatoes, at the rate of one pound per man. When beans, peas, rice, hominy, or potatoes cannot be issued in the proportions given on above, an equivalent in value shall be issued in some other proper food. Desiccated potatoes, or dislocated mixed vegetables, at the rate, per one hundred rations, of one hundred and fifty ounces of the former, or one hundred ounces of the latter, may be substituted for beans, peas, rice, hominy, or fresh potatoes, when these articles cannot be issued; or, upon the requisition of the proper officer, and when the supply on hand will admit of it, they may be issued, at the foregoing rate, twice per week in lieu of beans or peas, or in lieu of rice or hominy. Fresh beef may be issued as often as the commanding officer of any detachment or regiment may require it, when practicable, in place of salt meat.

The Acting Commissary reserves to himself the right to diminish or increase the number of rations required, whenever the interests of the government demand it.

Bidders must name their sureties in their bids. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any and all bids deemed extravagant.

The contract will extend to, and include the 31st day of December, 1862.

Bidders can be present at the opening of the bids.

MORTGAGE SALE.—John Chester and Catharine, his wife, of the county of Ramsey, State of Minnesota, by mortgaged deed, dated May 4, A. D. 1861 granted bargained, sold and conveyed unto William H. Pelham, of the same place, and to his heirs and assigns forever, all that certain parcel of land lying and being in the county of Ramsey, state of Minnesota, described in said deed of mortgage as follows, viz: Lots numbered one (1) and two (2) of block one (1) subject to thirty two (32) of the tract of land called Como, according to the recorded plat thereof on file in the office of the Register of Deeds, in and for the said county of Ramsey, conditioned to be void upon the payment of a certain promissory note therein mentioned.

Said mortgage was duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Ramsey county, Minnesota, on the 25th day of May, A. D. 1861, at 9 o'clock A. M. in Book R of mortgage deeds, on pages 565, 566 and 567.

The said mortgage and the debt or promissory note thereby secured, were duly assigned by the said Wm. H. Pelham to James M. Freeman, of the city of Saint Paul, county and State aforesaid, on the seventh day of December, A. D. 1861, by assignment in writing, which said instrument of assignment was duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds aforesaid, in Book R of mortgage deeds, on page 23.

Default has been made in the conditions of said mortgage, and there is now claimed to be due and payable upon said note and mortgage the sum of one hundred and eighty dollars ($180), in addition to the costs and disbursements incurred in foreclosing said mortgage, and otherwise, by reason of said default.

Notice is hereby given that said mortgage will be foreclosed by the sale of the premises described in said mortgage, and the whole thereof, and praying that license be to him granted to sell the whole of said real estate; and it appearing by said petition that there is not sufficient personal estate in the hands of said Administrator to pay said debts, and that it is necessary, in order to pay the same, to sell the whole of said real estate. It is therefore ordered that all persons interested in said estate appear before the Judge of this Court on the 6th day of August, 1862, at ten o'clock A. M., at the office of the Judge of Probate, then and there to show cause, if any there be, why license should not be granted to said Administrator to sell said real estate.

And it is further ordered that a copy of this order be published for four successive weeks, prior to said day of hearing, in the Saint Paul Press, a newspaper published at Saint Paul, Ramsey county.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE

ST. PAUL, TUESDAY, JULY 15.

IMPORTANT TO ADVERTISERS.

The PRESS has—in accordance with the fact—claimed for the last six months a larger circulation, Daily, Tri-Weekly and Weekly, than any other paper in the city or State, and has challenged the Pioneer to compare the circulation of that paper with the PRESS, and make the result public, which challenge has been constantly declined, thus, on the part of the Pioneer, practically admitting the larger circulation of the PRESS. The bills of newspaper for the several editions of the PRESS and Pioneer show conclusively that the circulation of the several editions of the PRESS is nearly two thousand sheets per week greater than the circulation of the Pioneer.

THE PRESIDENT AGAIN BEFORE CONGRESS IN BEHALF OF EMANCIPATION.

HE IS IN EARNEST IN THE MATTER.

Another most cheering advance has been made by the Chief Magistrate of the Nation in submitting to Congress, and recommending the passage of a bill providing specifically and fully for compensation to States that shall abolish slavery.

The resolution which the President recommended, and which passed Congress in March, was a mere abstract proposition declaring it the duty of the Government to afford aid to States abolishing slavery. The draft of a bill now submitted, and recommended by the President, provides practically for the performance of the previously declared duty.

We hail with great joy this action of President Lincoln as further evidence that he is thoroughly in earnest in the purpose of getting rid of slavery. It re-assures us that he has not apostatised from the faith that the nation could not exist half slave and half free, and that the country would never enjoy peace until men could rest in the assurance that slavery is in the process of of certain extinction.

LOSS OF THE MINNESOTA THIRD.

It is with inexpressible pain we give to our readers this morning news of the surrender of Col. Lester and his splendid regiment—the Minnesota Third.

It was no fault of the brave men, who by reports yesterday fought heroically, for they were overpowered more than two to one.

We are without any particulars of the fight or terms of the surrender. We shall doubtless to-day get full particulars so far as they are known in Nashville.

THE TAX BILL.

We are indebted to the Tribune Association, of New York, for a copy of the Tax Bill, published at the office of the New York Tribune. It is in double column pamphlet form, and has an alphabetical recapitulation, which renders it very convenient for reference. Price 6 cents.

THE CAMPAIGN ON THE POTOMAC.

Much of our space is occupied to-day with the debate in Congress, and other canvassing of the facts and responsibility in regard to the conduct of the campaign in Virginia.

We have presistently refrained from taking sides in the angry controversy that has raged in the Eastern press upon the merits of McClellan, and the reputed difficulty between him and the Secretary of War. We now desire to give such facts, and intelligent criticism as shall enable our readers to form a just judgment in the matter.

That McClellan has failed in the accomplishment of what was expected the country too well knows. We cannot resist the conviction that his plans have not been wise, and that he has signally failed in that greatest element of success in military art, celerity of movement, and vigor of attack.

We have insisted that McClellan should have ample time to test the wisdom of his plans. He has certainly had it, and if the country is correctly informed, after he was reinforced by McCall's reserves, he had, by his own confession, ample means to take Richmond.

We are still willing to defer to the judgment of the President in retaining General McClellan at the head of the army before Richmond, trusting that he will profit by experience, and per force of ambition to retrieve reverses and to make amends for past failures, he will yet accomplish the great work that has been assigned him. We sadly lack great military ability in our Generals. We must do the best we can with what we have.

The self-constituted champions of McClellan—the World, Herald and other journals—have been unsparing in their abuse of Secretary Stanton and the Administration generally. We acquit Gen. McClellan of any responsibility for these malignant assaults upon the President and his Cabinet. We believe McClellan has, according to the best of his ability, been doing his duty. It will be seen that the President himself is responsible for the acts for which Stanton has been denounced.

—The reference of Senator Wright's resolution for the expulsion of Senator Simmons to the Judiciary Committee, at this stage of the session, is probably equivalent to its refection.

THIRD MINNESOTA REGIMENT

The following regular monthly report of Colonel Lester, for the month of June, received but a day or two since, at the Capital, will be read with much interest at this time, under the circumstances in which that gallant regiment is now placed:

HEADQUARTERS 2D BRIGADE,
Murfreesboro', Tennessee, July 3, 1862.

His Excellency, Alexander Ramsey, Governor of Minnesota:

During the last month the Third Regiment has been at this point in the performance of ordinary garrison duty.

An expedition across the Cumberland mountains, of which my regiment was a part, is the only event of importance occurring since my last monthly report.

This expedition was organized by Brigadier-General Dumont, from troops stationed at different points in Middle Tennessee, for the purpose of routing a band of rebel cavalry stationed beyond McMinnville, as well as to make a reconnoissance towards Chattanooga, in connection with a movement made by Brigadier-General Negley, in the same direction, by the valley of the Tennessee River.

Our examination was extended across the Cumberland range to the valley of Pikeville, in the Segnatchie Valley, a distance of eighty miles, and resulted in the discovery that the enemy had left the valley before our arrival, and marched to Kingston.

The expedition was worth of remark only for the rapidity of the march and its fatigues, which were admirably borne by my regiment.

The only casuality occurring, was the case of Stewart, of company H, accidently shot through the lungs. The man is now nearly recovered.

I have the honor to be, very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
H. LESTER,
Colonel Commanding.

FROM THE NORTH-WEST.

We have received the Nor'-Wester of June 25th. It contains no news of special interest. The friends in St. Paul of John E. Harriot, Esq., will be pained at the following notice:

DEATH.—At Hawthorn Lodge, on thursday the 12th instant, Alexander, son of John Edward Harriott, Esq., retired Chief-Factor of the Hudson's Bay Company.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTIONS.

In Wright county a convention is called to meet at Monticello on the 23d inst., to appoint delegates to the Congressional District Convention.

In Anoka county a convention is called to meet at Anoka on the 26th inst., at two o'clock. In both Wright and Anoka counties, all in favor of supporting the national administration are invited to join in the conventions.

TAX COLLECTORS.—Tax collectors and assessors will be selected in the mode usually adopted in the Treasury Department. All applications are received and filed, together with all letters in support of proposed appointments, whether from members of Congress or other citizens. The names of all applicants, with abstracts of the letters, and information relating to each, are submitted to the President, together with the judgment of the Secretary of the Treasury as to the proper persons to be selected, with these papers before him. The President forms his own opinion and makes his own appointments.

GOV. RAMSEY.

A rumor was on the streets yesterday, that Governor Ramsey had shared the fate of the Third Regiment, and was probably captured with the regiment at Murfreesboro. There is plausibility in this report, but not a certainty, inasmuch as had the rebels made so good a haul as a Governor from one of the loyal States, we would have heard of it in connection with the other important news.

The Governor was at Corinth on the 7th. His course to visit the Second Regiment (which he had not done at last accounts) would be east from Corinth, on the Charleston and Memphis railroad. Then, to get to the Third, he would be compelled to go to Huntsville, (headquarters of Gen. Buell), and thence north to Murfreesboro. The Governor, if he left Corinth, say on the 8th, could scarcely, with intervening business and official visits, reach the camp of the Third before the 12th—the day upon which the attack was made upon Col. Lester's forces. But he may have taken the more round-a-bout way of the Ohio river to Louisville, or even from Corinth to Pittsburg Landing, and thence down the Tennessee and up the Ohio to Louisville.

We trust, at least, that our worthy Governor has not been "gobbled up" by the rebels.

News of the Day.

—Gen. Stoneman is highly spoken of for his bravery and skill in his late management of affairs on the York River.

—Foreign-born residents will be interested in an act which has just been passed by Congress bestowing full citizenship after one year's residence, on condition of honorable service in the army.

—The Hon. Truman Smith, whose selection we already noted, was nominated as the Judge for New York under the bill carrying into effect the slave trade treaty with Great Britain.

—The following paragraph is from the Nashville (Tennessee) Union—not from a Massachusetts paper: "The rebels who were the prime movers in the rebellion are the loudest to complain that slavery is being injured by the war. Keep your fingers from under the trip-hammer, then. The Federal army has no time to catch a rebel's negroes, and ought not, if it had time."

—Facts have come to light recently which explain the inefficiency of the rebel artillery. At the battle of White Oak Swamp they fired gas-pipe from their field pieces charged with gunpowder. This pipe was taken from the street-mains of Richmond, they having no shell.

CAPTAIN ANDREWS' ADDRESS.

At the special request of our correspondent with the unfortunate Third regiment, as well as for intrinsic merits of the address, we give place to the speech of Captain C. C. Andrews on the national anniversary, to the noble men of the Third, who now perchance languish in rebel prisons, experiencing most vividly the truth of the portrayal in the address of the diabolic spirit of a rebellion instigated by slavery.

We commend to our Democratic friends the wholesome truths that their former political associate tells them.

McClellan's Strategy.

To the Editor of the St. Paul Press.

SIR: I do not seek to dictate your course in speaking or refusing to speak of the competency of General McClellan. But the secession organs throughout the North, from the New York Herald and Boston Courier, down to the St. Paul Journal, are daily making infamous attacks upon the President and Secretary of War in their articles professedly intended to defend McClellan. They do not hesitate to charge the Secretary of War with being willing to see McClellan's army slaughtered, in order that their General may be humiliated. It is high time that the public should know that there is another side to this matter. To this end, please publish the annexed extract from Wilkes' Spirit of the Times:

* * *

Shocked and dejected at the unforseen result, the loyal public have anxiously endeavored to ascertain the cause: while taking advantage of the general perturbation, every traitor in our midst has sought to locate the blame against the Government. It is also a feature of this vicious clamor, nay, it is its leading feature, that all these denunciations of the Government, are invariably accompanied by the most fulsome eulogies of Gen. McClellan, and a schism is thus attempted to be set on foot, the object of which is either to open a Presidential campaign in his favor, or to distract the public mind on the subject of the prosecution of the war.

This game has been going on now for a considerable time, and it appears to us a little singular, that Gen. McClellan suffers it to proceed, without a word calculated to rebuke the treason, and sustain the Administration from such injurious slanders. He cannot fail to see that he is put forward virtually as the leader of this factious opposition, and that his pretended wrongs are the redoubts behind which these sneaking traitors level their shafts against the bosom of the country. A warfare of this sort, being made apparently in his interest, should receive a share of his attention; and if he be not able to drive back the armed insurgents, he can at least rebuke their slanderous allies who are co-operating with them in the midst of our society.

In looking back upon the battles of the week, and reviewing the fruitless valor of our soldiers in connection with the sad result, it is not difficult to arrive at the conclusion that the whole campaign of the Peninsula has been a blunder. The true road to Richmond was due south from Washington, by which course an army of 250,000 men, covering the capital as it advanced, might many a time during the last nine months have been driven in one compact mass upon the then debilitated stronghold. The division of it into parts, so that one-half might make the strategic circuit round Robin Hood's barn, with the door opened and the road clear (vide Jackson) toward the North, was the most fatal error that could have been committed; and the commanding general who consented to perform the leading part is truly responsible for the weakness of the scheme. If he did not approve of it, he should not have consented to it; if he thought his force insufficient, his resignation would have been a more honorable and soldierly alternative than the sacrifice of the army. Being deficient in strength, he should not have located his forces amid swamps and extended his lines for thirty miles in the face of a compact and superior enemy, nor for a long period of days assumed the attitude of giving battle. The position in which he had placed himself, could hardly have been chosen worse. He was perfectly isolated from Pope's army and from Burnside's, while the Rebels, with superior tactics, had made masterly combinations of their forces at a common center. Worst of all he separated himself from his gunboats, the co-operation of which was what sent him to the Peninsula. One would suppose, that the military mind, which could, after the reflection of a fortnight, detect the fatal error of this inland isolation, might have seen its absurdity at the outset, and by occupying the river bank at the first available point below Fort Darling, moved forward with the gunboats acting as a left wing, and, in themselves, representing a strength equal to 30,000 men. He might have taken this position at Turkey Bend or Harrison's Landing before the battle of Fair Oaks, or on any day for a week after it; and it is most unfortunate that he did not think of a base of operations on the James River until the enemy were prepared to make it cost us 20,000 lives.

"It is proper that the people should think these things well over, and, while they give due credit to the wondrous valor of our troops, and the skill of those great captains, Heintzelman, Sumner, Kearney and Franklin, who extricated them from their dreadful situation, administer condemnation wherever it may be due. Our seven days struggle was one continuous retreat, conducted under a general order to that effect by the Commander-in-Chief; but its triumphs were reaped in a series of separated battles, the varying fortunes of which, the above named able marshals were separately obliged to steer and govern for themselves. All that we have to add on the subject of this week of fighting is, that the rebels suffered equally with ourselves, but nevertheless, they have earned a great moral advantage, and the Union army has received a check which will retard its progress for six months."

Proceedings of Congress.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—SENATE.—On motion of Mr. Wilkinson, the resolution to pay the first senators from Minnesota was taken up and passed.

The bill amendatory of the act of 1795, calling out the militia of the United States, was taken up, the question being on Mr. Browning's amendment to the second section of the amendment by Mr. Grimes, to strike out the words "mother, wife or children."

Mr. Browning's amendment was rejected—yeas 17, nays 21.

Mr. Browning offered, as a further amendment, that "such mother, wife or children shall not be freed, unless they give service or labor to the rebels."

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.—Mr. Cooper, from the Committee on Ways and Means, reported a bill providing for a national currency secured by United States stocks, and for the circulation and redemption thereof. The bill was recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means, and ordered to be printed. The House then proceeded to the consideration of private bills.

Mr. Bingham, from the Judiciary Committee, reported back the Senate bill with verbal amendment to prevent members of Congress and officers of the government from taking considerations or procuring contracts, office, or place under the government of the United States. The bill was read. It provides that any member of Congress or officer of the government, or other persons offering or receiving pecuniary or other considerations for procuring contracts, or aiding to procure them, or offices, under the government, shall be liable to indictment as for a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall pay fines not exceeding $10,000 and imprisonment not exceeding two years, at the discretion of the court, and any such contract, at the option of the President, may be declared absolutely void. Any member of Congress or official of the government so convicted, shall be disqualified from holding any office of honor, profit or trust under the government of the United States. The bill was passed.

Mr. Wickliffe suggested that there be entered on the journals that the bill was unanimously passed.

The SPEAKER.—There being no objection the entry will be made.

The House concurred in the report of a committee of a conference on the naval appropriation bill. The bill passed giving to masters and other officers of gunboats the benefits of the pension bill passed during the present session.

Mr. Elliot made a report from the committee of conference on the confiscation bill. They recommend that the House recede from the disagreement, and agree to the Senate with certain modifications so as to provide as follows:

Every person who shall commit the crime of treason against the United States, and shall be adjudged guilty thereof, shall suffer death, and all his slaves, if he has any, shall be declared and made free, or he shall be imprisoned for not less than five years, and fined not less than $10,000, and all his estate, real and personal, excluding slaves, shall be levied upon, any sale or conveyance to the contrary notwithstanding. If any person shall hereafter incite, set on foot assistance, or engage in any rebellion or insurrection against the authority of the United States or the laws thereof to any such existing rebellion and be convicted thereof, such person shall be punished by the forfeiture of all his personal property, or shall be punished by imprisonment ten years and fined not exceeding $10,000 and his slaves, if he has any, shall be liberated at the discretion of the court, and all such property, excluding slaves, shall be forfeited to the United States. Every person guilty of either of the offences described in this act shall be forever incapable and disqualified to hold any office of trust under the United States government. This act is not to be construed in any other way to affect or alter the prosecution, conviction or punishment of any person guilty of treason.

To insure the speedy termination of the present rebellion, the President is authorized to cause the seizure of all property, real and personal, of all such persons, and apply and use the proceeds of the same for the support of the United States. Five classes are affected by this bill, those who shall hereafter hold the office of president, vice-president, member of congress, foreign minister, &c., under the so-called Confederate States. The President is authorized to issue a proclamation that if after sixty days all persons in rebellion do not return to their allegiance, that their property shall be forfeited, &c. All slaves of persons engaged in rebellion, or who shall in any way give aid and comfort thereto, escaping to and taking refuge within the lines of our army, and all slaves deserted by their masters and coming under control of the Government of the United States, and all slaves found at places occupied by rebel forces, and afterwards United States troops, shall be held to be captives of war and be forever free.

No slave escaping from one State to another shall be delivered up, except for crime or some offense against the laws of the United States, until the rightful claimant shall first make oath as to his loyalty. No person engaged in the naval or military service shall decide on the validity of the claim or surrender of such slaves on pain of being dismissed from the service. The President is authorized to employ as many persons of African descent for the suppression of the rebellion, and use them in such manner as he may deem best, and is authorized to make provision for colonizing the blacks beyond the limits of the United States. The President is authorized to extend to prisoners in rebellion pardon and amnesty on such conditions as he may deem expedient for the public welfare. The title of the bill was amended so as to read:

For the suppression of insurrection and the punishment and sequestration of the property of the rebels, and for other purposes.

Mr. Allen, of Illinois, moved to lay the report on the table. The motion was lost by a vote of 42 to 77.

The report of the Committee of Conference on the confiscation bill was then concurred in—yeas 82, nays 42.

Mr. Stevens made a report from the Conference Committee, which was concurred in.

Adjourned.

MORE GUERRILLA WORK IN KENTUCKY.

MORGAN'S MEN THREATEN THE RAIL ROAD.

LOUISVILLE, July 11.—Twelve hundred rebel infantry and cavalry, with three pieces of artillery, under John Morgan, are at Glasgow. They sent a reconnoissance party within three miles of Murfordsville yesterday. It is supposed they are intending to burn the bridges, and commit other depredations. This is the same party which recently attacked a detachment of the 9th Pennsylvania cavalry at Tomkinsville of not over twenty Pennsylvanians, of whom three were killed. The reports of great losses there are false. Morgan has issued a proclamation calling on Kentuckians to rise.

No injury has yet been done to the Louisville and Nashville railroad, but the cars will not run till Monday next.

LATER.

A Nashville dispatch to headquarters says that three companies of Pennsylvania cavalry were attacked at Tomkinsville by 2,000 guerrillas under Ferguson, and were all killed or taken prisoners. There is a rumor that the prisoners were killed. The guerrillas taken at Glasgow by the 11th Michigan, were sent up to Louisville. Advices to headquarters here per previous dispatches, were contradicted as above.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

LOUISVILLE, JULY 11.—At Cave City, Kentucky, nineteen pardoned federalists who just arrived report an attack at daybreak of the Pennsylvania 9th at Tomkinsville. The federal loss is Sullivan of Wynkoop's Pennsylvania cavalry, and three privates killed, two taken prisoners. All the prisoners are released except Major Johnson. The rebel loss was nine killed and several wounded. The rebel Col. Hunt, so badly that the rebels had to leave him at Tomkinsville. All previous accounts of losses by this raid are greatly exaggerated.

—In accordance with a joint resolution of Congress, the corporators of the Pacific Railroad are to meet in Chicago on the first Tuesday in September.

—Rebel prisoners lately arrived in New York, say that another Merrimac is building at Richmond.

The Minnesota Third Surrender to the Enemy.

THE REBELS MARCHING UPON NASHVILLE.

NASHVILLE, July 14.

[Special to Herald.]—The Unionists lost $30,000 worth of army stores at Murfreesboro. The Union forces engaged were the 3d Minnesota, Col. Lester, six companies of the 11th Michigan, Col. Parkhurst, 300 strong, the 3d battalion 7th Pennsylvania cavalry, 225, Hewett's battery, 60 men, the 4th Kentucky, in all about 1,400 men.

The rebel force consisted of one regiment of mounted infantry; a regiment of Texan rangers, and Georgia, Alabama, and Tennessee cavalry, between 3,000 and 4,000, mostly armed with carbines and shot guns. Their loss in killed and wounded is heavier than ours.

The Pennsylvania 7th lost in killed, wounded and missing, 200 men.

The only officers escaped as far as reported, are Capt. J. F. Andrus, Capt. C. C. McCormick, and Lieut. H. D. Mooney.

The Commissary Department was recently replenished with new clothing, &c., which has fallen into the hands of the enemy.

Capt. Rounds, Provost Marshal of Murfreesboro, and Guard, shot nine rebels before surrendering. The rebel Gov. Harris and Andrews Ewing were known to be near Sparta a few days since, organizing a raid on Murfreesboro, which may, it is apprehended, be extended to the Capital of the State.

The public are still in a great state of excitement, many families having left. The Louisville cars this morning were filled with alarmed speculators and adventurers.

It is reported that Gen. John C. Breckinridge, Col. Forest and Col. Raines, of Nashville, commanded the rebel forces at Murfreesboro. It is also reported that they have taken Lorreign, fifteen miles from Nashville, and that Gen. Kirby Smith is advancing on Nashville from Chattanooga with 15,000 men.

Murfreesboro was barricaded with bales of hay, and the federal shells set fire to many of the houses. Col. Lester is falling back towards Nashville.

Union reinforcements are coming up by special trains.

The 28th Kentucky has just arrived. They were cheered as they passed through the streets The secessionists confidently expect the arrival of the rebel forces some time to-night.

Batteries have been placed on Capital Hill and other points.

There may be music in Nashville before this reaches the north.

Colonel Lester surrendered at Murfreesboro at four o'clock P. M.—the Minnesota Third and Hewitt's battery included—the latter for want of ammunition.

Men are lying on the sidewalks asleep, holding their horses' bridles in their hands, expecting every moment to be called into action.

Important Message from the President.

He Submits Draft of a Bill to Aid States Abolishing Slavery.

"Border States, Now's your time."

WASHINGTON, July 14.

The President has submitted to Congress a brief message enclosing a draft of a bill to compensate any State which may abolish slavery within its limits, and respectfully recommending its passage. The following is the message:

Fellow citizens of the Senate and House of Representatives:—Herewith is a draft of the bill to compensate any State which may abolish slavery within its limits, the passage of which substantially as presented I respectfully and earnestly recommend.

(signed) ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That whenever the President of the United States shall be satisfied that any State has lawfully abolished slavery within and throughout such State, either immediately or gradually, it shall be the duty of the President, assisted by the Secretary of the Treasury, to prepare and deliver to each State an amount of six per cent. interest, bearing bonds of the United States equal to the aggregate value at blank dollars per head of all the slaves within such State as reported by the census of 1860.

The whole amount for any one State to be delivered at once, if the abolishment be immediate, or in equal annual installments, if it be gradual, interest to begin running on each at the time of delivery, and not before; And be it further enacted, that if any State having so received any such bonds, shall at any time afterwards by law reintroduce or tolerate slavery within its limits, contrary to the act of abolishment, upon which such bonds shall have been received, said bonds so received by said State, shall at once be null and void, in whosesoever hands they may be, and which State shall refund to the States all interest which may have been paid on such bonds.

NEWS FROM RICHMOND.

Another Merrimac Building at Richmond.

Stonewall Jackson Loose Again.

BALTIMORE, July 14.

The American says: We learn from an escaped Union man from Richmond, who left there Tuesday last, that the rebel troops in and around Richmond prior to the recent battles were estimated from 217,000 to 220,000. Large reinforcements from the direction of Petersburg had been arriving for the previous ten days and others which were said to be from the coast, but our informant could not ascertain whether a portion of them were from Beauregaad's army.

Beauregard had been sick in Richmond several weeks, suffering from a severe attack of fever and was still at the Spottswood House confined to his room.

A gunboat on the plan of the Merrimac, though much smaller, is rapidly approaching completion at Richmond, though great difficulty is experienced in obtaining iron for her armor.

The forces of Gen. Jackson had moved off, it was thought towards Fredericksburg, and it was said he would strike a blow in the valley.

Charges against General Mitchell Denied.

BALTIMORE, July 14.

The following correspondence was occasioned by the strange and mysterious charges put forth a few days since by the Louisville Journal:

Major-General Mitchell:

DEAR SIR: Your attention is hereby called to an extract from the Louisville Journal of the 10th. Those of us who know you personally, know that the charge is utterly false. The world needs only your denial over your own signature.

Yours very truly.
(Signed) B. F. CAMP.

WASHINGTON, July 14.

To HON. B. F. CAMP:

I have your note of the 12th instant, calling my attention to an editorial in the Louisville Journal of the 10th, in which I am charged with conduct not only injurious to the Government, but disgraceful to humanity. As there are no specifications to this charge, I can only pronounce it to be, in the broadest sense, unjust, unfounded, false and calumnious. I have never in all my life consciously done an injury to any human being. As to deeds of cruelty and guilt, my entire nature revolts at both, and my countrymen can never be persuaded that I have been guilty of either. I demand the specifications, pronouncing the charges utterly and absolutely false.

Very respectfully your obed't serv't.

Border State Consultation.

Col. Blair's Movements.

WALHINGTON, July 14.

Col. F. P. Blair left Washington for Missouri to proceed at once to raise a brigade.

The members from the border States met but did not conclude their business to-night. It seems certain, however, that while they, with perhaps a dozen exceptions, will not authorize the President's emancipation scheme, they will nevertheless propose its respectful consideration by their States.

The Fredericksburg Mayor Fails to get Gen. Reynolds Released.

Free Communication Kept Up with Richmond.

NEW YORK, July 15.

A Fredericksburg correspondent of the Herald says Mayor Slaughter returned from Richmond day before yesterday, perfectly disgusted with affairs at the rebel headquarters.

He was sent by the citizens last week to procure the release of Gen. Reynolds, but to his great disappointment he was coolly informed that the General could not be released nor seen, and that the Secretary of War was equally invincible. After vainly endeavoring to obtain an interview with the Secretary, Mayor Slaughter filed his petition, and returned to Fredericksburg.

Richmond papers are received here every other day within thirty hours of their issue, and there is not the least doubt but the rebels have free and uninterrupted communication with parties within our lines.

Deserters come in occasionally and report that the authorities in Rhichmond have taken possession of almost every house for hospital purposes.

Reported Trouble with Rebel Prisoners Untrue.

PHILADELPHIA, July 15.

The reported mutiny among the rebels at Fort Delaware is believed to be untrue. Gentlemen from there last evening say they heard nothing of any disturbance.

Proposed Legislation to Relieve the Banks.

WASHINGTON, July 15.

The Committee on Ways and Means has a recommendation before it urging the necessity of Congressional legislation to relieve the specie market. No official action by the Committee has yet been taken upon the subject, but it is known that some of the members are opposed to the project, preferring to leave the matter to take care of itself. Others are in favor of issuing 2 1-2 dollar treasury notes.

The Canadian Banks Strong in Specie.

TORONTO, July 15.

The statement in some United States papers that Canadian banks were about suspending specie payment is without the least foundation. They were never stronger than at present. The last official statement shows over $7,000,000 in gold on hand, against $4,000,000 at the same time last year. The total assets are over $60,000,000; liabilities, $31,000,000.

FROM FORT MONROE

Shelling the Woods Along James River.

Skirmish at Williamsburg.

FORT MONROE, July 14.

A spy was captured yesterday afternoon by some telegraph men.

Our gunboats have been shelling the woods along the banks of the river. Only one gun was seen to be fired by the rebels.

A schooner was seized at Harrison's Landing yesterday by order of General McClellan, and was sent to Baltimore with all her cargo. She had liquors aboard and belonged to sutlers.

There was a skirmish at Williamsburg on Friday, between Federal and rebel pickets; three rebels were killed and seven captured.

About two hundred laborers came down from the army, on their way north.

Generals Richardson and Gorman paid a flying visit here to-day; they return immediately to the army.

Hospitals are being rapidly constructed at Hampton.

Colonels Forney, of Louisiana, and Williams of Virginia, and Captain Murphy of Alabama, arrived here from Harrison's Landing; they were wounded and taken prisoners at Williamsburg.

LATEST FROM ARKANSAS.

General Curtis is All Right.

General Halleck at Corinth.

His Army Eager for Active Operations.

ST. LOUIS, June 14.

Dispatches to military authorities received to-day say that General Curtis' command, about 14,000 strong, has reached Helena, Arkansas, where they are resting.

Information from Corinth to Thursday says General Halleck is there, with various divisions of his army, who are in excellent condition, and eager for active operations.

Bragg has about forty thousand troops at Tupelo, and some thirty-five thousand more are at Kelly Springs and other places. Their movements are said to indicate offensive operations.

A Skirmish on the Kansas Border.

KANSAS CITY, July 12.

The Santa Fe mail has arrived, with dates to the 30th. The news is unimportant. It is rumored that all Texans excepting one company have left Arizonia, and commenced their homeward march.

An engagement took place yesterday between a company of State militia and Quantrell's band near Pleasant Hill. The rebels were finally repulsed with a loss of six killed and five mortally wounded. Our loss is 9 killed and 15 wounded. Capt. Hohle, commanding the militia, is reported wounded. Quantrell's coat and sabre, and list of the names of all his men were taken.

REMOVED.

Of Chicago, Ill., the eminent and skilful operator on the Eye and Ear, whose name and fame is so extensively known throughout the United States, for his science, skill and success in performing formidable operations, and in removing difficult and dangerous diseases from those delicate organs, has arrived in St. Paul and may be consulted in INGERSOLL'S BLOCK for a short time only.

Dr. U., who is a regular Physician and Surgeon of the old school, has had an extensive experience in both hospital and private practice of twenty-eight years, and will be found competent to perform any operation necessary to restore lost sight or hearing, or by other mild and gentle means to remove any disease from those delicate organs within the reach of science and human skill.

CHRONIC DISEASES, of every grade and character, whether requiring medical or surgical treatment, POSITIVELY and PERMANENTLY CURED, when not clearly beyond the reach of science and human skill.

Dr. Underwood treats all diseases on regular and scientific principles as recognized by the medical profession both in Europe and America, and hence does not use or deal in those pretended new and never failing remedies—specifics, inhaling vapors, and clairvoyant prescriptions—which are so ostentatiously paraded before the public by those impudent traveling quacks and money-fleecing empirics, nine-tenths of whom never were inside of a medical college. Patients afflicted or laboring under diseases of long standing, can consult Dr. U. with the most confident hope and expectation of being perfectly cured, or receiving with unerring certainty all the relief that the highest skill, the most judicious and scientific treatment can possibly bestow.

AUCTION.

The remaining stock of goods unsold by auction in Rogers' Block will be offered at wholesale or retail for the next few days at and below New York cost, among which are a fine lot of soft hats and military caps. IRA BIDWELL.

Speech of Capt. C. C. Andrews before the Third Regiment, Minnesota Volunteers, Murfreesboro, Tenn., July 4th, 1862.

FELLOW SOLDIERS, OFFICERS AND MEN:—Although duly sensible of the honor of being selected as your orator to-day, I feel a hesitation in undertaking to address you with only three or four hours' notice. I think that anybody who undertakes to furnish a Fourth of July entertainment to the Minnesota Third should have something better than hard bread in his haversack. In my opinion you deserve one of Everett's best orations, and I heartily wish you could have such a luxury.

We meet here far away from our frontier homes. Natives of different States, natives of different climes, representing indeed almost every enlightened part of the world, we find ourselves at length pursuing the same path, regardless whether it is the path of danger or of safety, mindful only that it is the path of duty. Already have you earned that sublime tribute uttered by Pericles, and which in all time to come will stimulate to deeds of valor. "Those," said he, at the burial of the first slain in the Pelaponnesian war, "those must be owned to have the noblest souls, who, most acutely sensible of the miseries of war and the sweets of peace, are not hence deterred from facing danger."

The heroic have a peculiar right to commemorate heroic events. But it seems almost idle for us to be talking about the memories of the Fourth of July. It seems to me you have been solemnly commemorating that day ever since you first volunteered in this war, and pledged yourselves to put your lives at hazard in the cause of your country. In your acts of duty faithfully performed, your zeal to confront danger, your night watches, your long and weary marches, your patient submission to the stern discipline of war you have worthily emulated the example of those revolutionary patriots, whose wisdom and valor are indentified with this day. And yet we may rouse up to greater exertions, our hearts will glow with more fervid valors if we recall how great were the perils and sacrifices which were endured to gain the liberties and the government we seek to preserve. Herein was the surpassing merit of the heroes of "76," that they sought to establich a free and independent republican government, and devoted everything to the work while it was yet an experiment, and before they could realize how beneficial would be its results. If they were willing to give up their lives in order to work out an experiment, what sacrifices ought we not to make to preserve that system of government, when we have seen its wonderful success and its wide-spread blessings!

Again, their sacrifices were all the more noble and their example all the more praiseworthy and august, because their efforts were altogether voluntary, and their purposes free from everything selfish. They were not driven by actual oppression into revolution. They prospered in all their arts; they enjoyed affluence; their ships sailed into every sea; they were refined and proud. In their respective Legislatures, they exercised almost exclusive control over their local and domestic affairs. But the mother country asserted the right of legislating in Parliament on their affairs without giving them a voice in that legislation. She undertook, at first, to assert this power in a manner little more than formal, and as if her object was principally to show a purpose not to abandon it. All this could hardly have affected the temporal prosperity of the colonists. But they resisted such an exercise of power because it implied that they were inferiors of other British subjects. They were determined not to obey the acts of the British Parliament unless they could be represented there and have a voice in the legislation. They were too high-spirited to submit to be inferiors. To vindicate their independence, and the principles of self-government, they were willing to exchange luxury for poverty, to give up their splendid commerce, to behold decay and solitude on their once busy wharves, and for many years to suffer the hardships of war. Sidney on the scaffold, Huss at the stake, Galileo in his lonely cell, Socrates drinking the poisoned cup, have each left an example of fidelity and self-sacrifice, which has elevated human nature and encouraged every effort for the right. But the era of our independence is crowded with grand and heroic examples; and he who can be indifferent to them is not worthy to be a freeman.

In one sense this is a war of independence. The people of the United States, in conformity with the constitution, elected Abraham Lincoln President, (and here let me say that I heartily believe he has to-day more sincere friends in the South than his predecessor, James Buchanan, had while President), and a large number of men rose up in rebellion against that choice of the sovereigh people. It became a question, then, whether our fellow-citizens, who had given their votes for him were to be considered the equals or inferiors of other citizens! Whether, in fact, the right of suffrage, when exercised in a non-slaveholding State was not equally as sacred as when exercised in a slaveholding State! I think the question is in a fair way of being settled, and settled too, so justly and effectually, that nobody will ever again dare to raise it.

When this rebellion broke out, the people were almost bewildered. We had been habituated to sympathize with revolutions. We had sympathized with the glorious revolution of 1688; we had sympathized with Ireland in her longing for independence; we had sympathized with the South American republic, with Greece, with Italy, and with Hungary, and we paused in amazement to reflect if it was possible that there could be any justification for the South to revolutionize against our own free Government. The first blow against our National flag brought us to our senses. We saw that there was not a shadow of a shade of comparison between this rebellion and the progressive revolutions I have mentioned. We saw that this rebellion was a step backwards—a step from popular to aristocratic institutions. In rallying to suppress it therefore, we were not only defending our own Country and Union, with its ten thousand prescious interests, but we were preserving these invaluable principles of liberty which are the common inheritance in the world.

In countries where the people are oppressed by an unequal and unjust government, and where a standing army, an ever-present police and prisons, stifle the the freedom of speech and the press, a resort to force is a justifiable remedy to reform their government. But it a free country where the popular will constitutionally expressed is sovereign where men have the most perfect latitude in discussing all their political and social measures, a resort to war to work a change of government is wicked in the extreme. Never under the sun were more paltry and frivolous pretexts for revolution uged than those put forth by the leaders of the rebellion—never any more selfish and disruptable. But assume that their imagined grievances existed; admit that the duties on imports, the priveleges of the coasting trade, the bounties of the sea-fisheries, and the agitation of slavery were injurious to them, could not time and reason redress every wrong? Was there anything so oppressive that they could not wait a reasonable time for the constitutional remedies to be applied? Why, what are four years of discontent in a republic that ought to live a thousand years? Where was their love of the common country that they should be so hasty? Where their regard for the success of popular government that they should court an alliance with absolute rulers? Where was their respect for the glorious memories of our eras of settlement and independence? Where their reverence for the teachings of the illustrious fathers of the republic that they should imperil the liberties of this fair land? No wonder they proceeded at once to abolish the old anniversaries which add lustre to our history! No wonder they ceased to commemorate the Fourth of July! Ah, indeed, what words can express the scorn and execrations they deserve for such monstrous crimes!

But their alleged grievance did not exist. Senator Hammond of South Carolina, and Mr. Stephens of Georgia, were both right in saying that the South had no real danger to apprehend from slavery discussion. Senator Hammond told his constituents that slavery had been constantly gaining strength at the South: that it had received new judicial and Congressional guarantees; that agitation of the subject only made the South more united in support of it, and that the institution had become as strong as the rock of Gibralter.

Refuting, as we can, the rebel leaders, out of their own mouths, their guilt seems all the more enormous. In history they will appear not only as the enemies of their country, but as the malignant enemies of mankind. And shall they be permitted to destroy this noble government of ours? Shall they much longer be allowed to bring devastation upon the country? They destroy the American Constitution and Union! they tear down the fair fabric of our liberties! They have as good right to go and extinguish the copious and living springs which give life and verdure to nature: they have as much right to forever quench the sources of our great rivers which wait commerce on their bosoms, and revive and fertilize the earth. No, the constitution is ours to enjoy,—not ours to destroy.

We are not disposed to rail at our enemies. It is not our interest to depreciate them. Of course you had rather fight a gentleman than a loafer. The more enlightened we acknowledge our enemies to be, and the greater their powers, the more creditable are our achievements in suppressing them. It has been said that the great boast of polished life is the delicacy, and even the generosity of its hostility. Certainly we will not deny the rebels any consolation they are thus entitled to from this test. We come with no enmity towards the South—with no disposition to molest their rights. We have exemplified this in our acts. While we have seen many things behind the vigor and energy of the South, we have seen many things to admire. We have seen much culture and refinement. We have enjoyed kind hospitality. We have visited the homes of the Southern people. With pleasure have we noticed their numerous institutions of learning. We have passed where their loved ones lie buried, and witnessed in their lofty monuments and flower-besprinkled graves, how tender and endearing is their affection. These things have served to make us love and venerate still more highly a country so vast, and whose civilization has so richly prospered.

The rebel leaders charged that our army would kindle the fires of insurrection. From the bottom of their hearts they may thank God it is not so! But still it is fair for us to say that we mean, in an honorable manner to re-establish the Constitution in all its integrity. We intend, and as speedily as possible, to plant the flag of the Union wherever it has before waved, and in such a manner that it will remain secure as the ensign of our national supremacy. This we intend to do at all hazards—at all hazards. Slavery is nothing—we ourselves are nothing—this whole generation is nothing, compared with the perpetuity of popular representative government and the Union of the American States!

Let us take heed, fellow soldiers, how momentous is this era in which our lot is cast. It will stand out conspicuous in the history of the world. We desire to reflect honor on our State. We desire that she shall not be behind any other State in the share of valor she contributes to this war. And while we are anxious for her renown, let us remember that every act of duty on our part—every heroic deed we perform, will add so much to the glory of our common country. Let us then emulate the example of the most illustrious of heroes. Nay, let us set new examples of valor—brighter than even the past can furnish, so that generations to come will look back and admire this age. Our own names may not become famous, but the place where we fall may become famous. Let us determine to make it as eternal as Thermopylæ, and so the reign of Peace will be longer and more delightful when again, on easy wing, she shall descend from the skies. So shall man's capacity for self government be better vindicated. So shall the American name be made respected throughout the world, and more dreadful to the enemies of liberty. And so our hardy mariners, as they carry our flag above them, will find a safe protection, whether they sail into the proud harbors of warlike nations or penetrate to barbaric shores.

An Important Debate in the United States Senate.

GEN. McCLELLAN, SECRETARY STANTON, AND THE ARMY IN VIRGINIA.

EMPLOYING THE NEGRO IN THE ARMY.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—SENATE.—Mr. Chandler, of Michigan, called up the resolution calling for all the orders issued by General McClellan, his correspondence, the number of his forces, &c. He then modified the resolution so as to request the President to furnish his information, if not incompatible with the public interest.

Mr. Wright, of Indiana, said he had been mortified at and regretted the tone of the Senator's (Chandler's) speech, when he (Chandler) offered this resolution. It was not to his (Wright's) taste, in this hour of the country's trouble, to make any charges against, or throw any obstacles in the way of, the General in the field. In the opinion of the Senator, (Chandler,) General McClellan must have committed an atrocious crime, worthy of the severest penalty of the law. General McClellan has not been a newspaper General, written up by correspondents, but he has been most indiscreetly denounced by them; yet he has never made any reply. He (Wright) would would not go back to the operations of General McClellan on the Potomac, but ventured to say that McClellan's ten days' campaign in front of Richmond, fighting an infiniated enemy, would arouse as much admiration among the people of foreign countries as it has awakened confidence at home among our own people. He (Wright) was in favor of the vigorous prosecution of the war, and in favor of a strong confiscation bill, but he would do nothing to divide the true Union men of the country. This was not the place to pass such resolutions as these, sactioned as they were by the speech of the Senator from Michigan. If President Lincoln can trust Gen. McClellan and Secretary Stanton, he (Wright) was willing to trust them. He would stand by the man, McClellan, who was fighting the battles of the country.

Mr. Chandler said that the Senator from Indiana (Wright) must have mistaken his (Chandler's) remarks. The press of the country has been filled with denunciations of the Secretary of War for what they said was a military crime on his part, not sending reinforcements to Gen. McClellan. It was intended that this assault upon the Secretary of War should be deadly, and lead to his removal. He denied that Secretary Stanton was guilty of the crime, and he simply called for the evidence in the case. It is plain to every man in the land that when the army was sent off to the Peninsula there should have been a force sufficient retained to defend the capital. He had the evidence of nine Major Generals taken before the Committee on the Conduct of the War, which they said it was absolutely necessary to retain a force here for the defense of Washington. Gen. Richardson, in his sworn statement, said it would require 40,000 men, and corps of 60,000 men to stop the movements of the enemy above or below the city. Gen. Franklin thought that 35,000 to 50,000 men would be necessary; and the others said 50,000 to 75,000 men must be left here for the proper defense of the place. When Gen. McClellan went to Fortress Monroe it was found that he had not left a solitary regiment here, except the 19th, and that he had not left a solitary gun on wheels for the defense of the capital. Had this gone on, the enemy would have taken the capital before the month of April. But the President interposed and stopped it, and kept a corps for the defense of the capital. Was it not proper that these facts should go to the country? Was it not right that the people should know what the facts really are? The President and Secretary Stanton sent every man, every musket, every sabre and bayonet to the army of the Peninsula that could possibly be spared from the defense of the capital. Nothing was refused to that army that could by any possibility be spared. Was it not fair, then, that the press should stop denouncing the man (Secretary Stanton) who was opposed to this division of the army, but who was in favor of marching the army straight into Richmond!

Mr. Lane of Kansas, moved to postpone the further consideration of the resolution until December.

Mr. Trumbull was in favor of the passage of the resolution. Let the facts go to the people and the country. He was willing to trust all the people with the facts.

Mr. Wilson of Massachusetts, said he would not vote on any speech that had been made on the subject, but simply on the resolution calling for the facts, which ought to go to the people.

Mr. Cowan thought such a resolution should not have been introduced, but, now that the issue was made, the resolution ought to be passed, that the facts might come forth.

Mr. Henderson thought this resolution was going to have the effect to make two parties in the country in regard to the operations of the Generals in the field. If reinforcements are sent McClellan, the rebel capital can be taken in a month. Cease, then, these mischevious resolutions, which only tend to excite party feeling. If any General is incompetent, let the President remove him at once; but he had seen no incompetency in front of Richmond. We are always apt to underrate force of the rebels. We must have more energy and a larger force, or we shall never put down the rebellion. It is useless to close our eyes to the fact that the rebels are as strong as we are, and the people may as well know the fact. The newspapers have been saying for months that the Southern army is starving. Is it possible that there is such ignorance as to suppose that, with the climate and soil of the South, the rebels can be starved out? It is perfectly idle to attempt to conceal the facts from the people. They ought to know everything connected with this war. The South are as well furnished with cannon and weapons of war as we are, and they will continue to make them.

He wanted to inspire a little more zeal in the country. Let them use all their energy to suppress the rebellion. Let the whole country join as one, and let certain leaders of the Republican party cease their schemes of emancipation. Not but he believed them honest in their views, but he believed they were mistaken. There had not been sufficient confidence placed in the men of the border States. He (Henderson) had heard it said that the men from the border States were not as loyal as they should be, because they were so much attached to slavery. The border States had but their share of men in the Union army in Missouri. They were ready to put into the field the 12,000 men asked for by the recent call, and, if this was not enough, Missouri would put into the field 20,000 more. In regard to Kentucky, he believed that the neutrality, adopted by the Union men of that State, saved that State to the Union. These schemes of emancipation might as well be postponed until December, because nothing can be done until the serried ranks of the rebels were broken up, and he did not believe they were going to be broken up before that time; but he was not going to call loyal men abolitionists, because he believed many of these men were most sincere in their belief. Loyal men of the South certainly cannot complain as much of the abolitionists as they can of the rebels, for the latter have taken 50 per cent. of the slaves from Missouri. He was not in favor of arming the negroes. The slaves never could be made soldiers, but he would have the slaves used at every kind of labor. He should vote for the resolution of the Senator from Michigan, Mr. Chandler, for the people might as well have all the facts now, but he was very sorry to hear any charges of disloyalty against Gen. McClellan.

Mr. Chandler said he had made no charges of that kind, or anything that would bear that construction. He believed that great mistakes had been made, but he charged nothing further.

Mr. Henderson was glad to hear that, and he wanted it to go to the country that there was no suspicion of disloyalty in the minds of any one against Gen. McClellan. He had the most perfect confidence in him.

Mr. Saulsbury offered an amendment to the resolution, so as to include the number of troops under General Fremont and General Banks at the date of General McClellan's departure for the Peninsula; also, the number of troops in and around Washington; also the number of troops between Washington and the Rappahannock; also the number of troops actually in service under General McClellan in the recent engagements before Richmond.

Mr. Chandler accepted the amendment.

Mr. Trumbull said he was astonished that Senators were so united in praising McClellan, and were yet so unwilling to hear any different opinion concerning him. The Senator from Indiana (Wright), with strange forgetfulness, said that General McClellan had not defended himself in the newspapers. Has that Senator read the newspapers? The papers have been full of the praise of General McClellan and his great strategic skill, and how he was drawing the rebels into a trap, &c. General McClellan was placed in command, more than a year ago, of the army, with full power. If the Senator from Missouri (Henderson) had been told that General McClellan was to take command of the army, and remain in one position not only all the fall, but all the winter, without making an attack upon the enemy, would that gentleman have chosen such a general?

Mr. Henderson said he had thought Manassas should have been attacked, but he also thought the Senator from Illinois, like a great many others, had underrated the force of the rebels everywhere.

Mr. Trumbull said he had always acted on the defensive. We were putting down the rebellion—but has the General whom the Senator has "such unbounded confidence ever made an attack? Is this rebellion to be put down by digging trenches and acting on the defensive? The fact is, taking out the loyal slaves, there are only about eight million people in all the States now in rebellion. The rebels could not raise as large an army as the State of New York, and they have to watch the slave population. Let the Union army stop watching slaves. He was not going to express any opinion this morning, but the country will know whether digging trenches a year was the way to put down rebellion, and then, when attacked, leaving the trenches and doing the fighting outside of them. He believed the people were ready to make any sacrifice to put down the rebellion, and he believed they would do it.

Mr. Davis was in favor of the resolution, but believed the Secretary of War was intriguing to supplant McClellan. McClellan had submitted his plan for the campaign, but the Secretary of War had overruled it, showing hostility to Gen. McClellan.

Mr, Morrill asked if the Senator (Davis) stated what he knew, or was it on mere information.

Mr. Davis said what he had stated he understood to be so, and, if the Senate would give him a committee, he thought he could prove it.

Mr. Chandler said General McClellan's plan, as submitted, was to leave the enemy at Manassas and the Potomac river, and the whole army was to be shipped off by way of Annapolis. This plan was overruled by the President and Secretary of War. The facts ought to be stated fairly.

Mr. Wilson, of Massachusetts, said the Senator from Kentucky (Davis) had made some statements which ought not to go to the country. He (Wilson) should, without hesitation or qualification, say that the Senator from Kentucky (Davis) was utterly mistaken. He (Wilson) did not believe that the Secretary of War was engaged in any intrigue against McClellan. His (Wilson's) position as Chairman of the Committee on Military Affairs gave him advantages for finding out if such were the case, and this was the first time that he ever heard of it. There has been considerable difference in regard to the plan of taking Richmond. It was understood that there were three plans. One was, General Rosecrans to go by the Valley of the Shenandoah to Richmond, and he believed that the Secretary of War approved of this plan; another was to go down to Richmond by way of the Rapahannock; the third plan was to go to Richmond by way of the Peninsula, which was the plan of General McClellan.

Mr. Chandler's resolution was then passed—yeas 39, yeas 6.

BUSINESS LOCALS.

JULY—PIMPLES AND SKIN DISEASES are the result of impure blood. The blood becomes thick and clogged. The skin is not able to cast off the impurities so important to health. How many young men and women we see with their faces covered with pimples and blotches, who are endeavoring to remove them by the use of soaps and washes of various kinds. This is very dangerous and should never be practised by persons desirous of good health. Mothers who have children afflicted with sores and eruptions, should never dry them up by external applications, for in this way they will drive in the humors and produce ill health for the child during its whole life time. There is no mother that likes to see her children afflicted with feebie health.

Judson's Mountain Herb Pills are prepared expressly for the cure of eruptions of the skin, such as Pimples, Blotches &c. They cleanse the blood of all impurities, producing a beautiful, clear and healthy skin, so much admired by all people of taste and refinement.

Judson's Mountain Herb Pills are sold by all medicine dealers.

CASH CAPITAL.....$100,000
NETT SURPLUS..... 135,000

DIVIDENDS ON CAPITAL LIMITED BY ITS CHARTER TO SEVEN PER CENT. PER ANNUM—THE ENTIRE PROFITS GO TO THE POLICY HOLDERS.

This Society was organized in the year 1859, with a cash capital of $100,000 deposited irrevocably with the insurance Department of the State of New York, in United States bonds, on which it allows but seven per cent. per annum to the stockholders, and the entire profits of the business is shared by the policy holders. The nett profits in two years amounts to $329,000, which shows an unparalleled success in the history of Life Insurance. Its operations are managed by a Board of Directors composed of the the ablest business men of the country, and its business is conducted entirely on the cash plan. Dividends to the policy holders will be made every five years, and no Company in the country offers equal advantages to its dealers.

HOME

NEW YORK.

Extract from Third Annual Report of the Superintendent of the Insurance Department of the State of New York. WM. BARNES, Superintendent.

There are now ninety-five joint stock fire insurance companies incorporated by the State of New York, engaged in the transaction of business; of these companies, fourteen only received premiums during the last year, amounting to over one hundred thousand dollars; four only received premiums above the sum of two hundred thousand dollars, and the premium income of one only exceeded three hundred thousand dollars. The premium receipts of this Company, the HOME, with a capital of $1,000,000, were $829,963.33. The premium income of thirty of the smaller companies was $851,578.65 only, with capitals, however, amounting in the aggregate to the sum of $4,900,-000.

The state of things should be improved; the premium income of the mass of our fire insurance companies is by far too small for their capitals, and inadequate to the proper support of a separate and independent corporation. The experience of the HOME, PHOENIX, (of Brooklyn) and some other companies, has demonstrated that, with proper skill, tact and sagacity, business can be increased and managed to an indefinite extent, with entire safety, and even additional security to the company. We have now the machinery and organization in working order for nearly one hundred joint stock fire insurance companies. In the course of a few years their business can be safely doubled, and even quadrupled, without doubling or quadrupling the yearly expenses. Any considerable expansion of business must of course be mainly effected through the instrumentality of reliable, safe, and well managed agencies. The premium income of the HOME amounts to nearly one-eighth part that of the ninety-five companies combined, so that eight corporations like the HOME could conduct the entire business of all these companies. If each company transacted the same amount of business as the HOME, the aggregate premium income would reach the enormous amount of over seventy-eight millions of dollars per year. Our companies are not too numerous for the great future of this country, if managed on the progressive scale demanded by the spirit of the American people.

The annual statement of this our foremost local fire and inland company, made up to the first of January last, shows a condition of such positive strength and prosperity as to challenge unqualified admiration. In a circular accompanying the statement, subscribed by Charles J. Martin, President, A. F. Wilmarth, Vice President, and John Mackie, Secretary, those well accredited officers very justly say: "The well-known reputation of the HOME for fair and honorable dealing, together with its capital of one million dollars, and surplus of over half a million in addition, all well invested, commend it to the special favor of all who desire reliable protection in the way of insurance, either fire or inland."

This is not saying one word too much for their company. The HOME is the crack company of our State, in high credit all over the Union, worked upon a comprehensive plan, and managed with admirable skill and efficiency. The assets of the HOME on the first of January last summed up to $1,521,268.08, against an actual liability of only $55,080.43; and, moreover, it is worth noting that the assets are all of the very first class. The balance in bank in cash was $124,424.14, very nearly enough to set up an ordinary company; bonds and mortgages $890,219.53, secured on real estate worth $1,775,900, and then government and other stocks, equivalent to cash and convertible into cash any day, $329,636. Any one not satisfied with the security of the HOME as an insurance institution, must be hard to please.

In 1861 the HOME wrote $106,715.148, taking $829,993 premium, and paid losses $355,775, including some losses for the year 1860. A dividend of ten per cent. was paid on the million capital; and after reserving an ample reinsurance fund, the company shows a "nett surplus" of $160,944 clear over capital and all claims, actual or possible, practical or theoretical.

The HOME is a good "testimony" in all places to the enterprise, energy and progress of the city of New York.

Speech of Capt. C. C. Andrews before the Third Regiment Minnesota Volunteers. Murfreesboro, Tenn., July 4th, 1862.

FELLOW SOLDIERS, OFFICERS AND MEN:—Although duly sensible of the honor of being selected as your orator to-day, I feel a hesitation in undertaking to address you with only three or four hours' notice. I think that anybody who undertakes to furnish a Fourth of July entertainment to the Minnesota Third should have something better than hard bread in his haversack. In my opinion you deserve one of Everett's best orations, and I heartily wish you could have such a luxury.

We meet here far away from our frontier homes. Natives of different States, natives of different climes, representing indeed almost every enlightened part of the world, we find ourselves at length pursuing the same path, regardless whether it is the path of danger or of safety, minded only that it is the path of duty. Already have you earned that sublime tribute uttered by Pericles, and which in all time to come will stimulate to deeds of valor. "Those," said he, at the burial of the first slain in the Peloponnesian war, "those must be owned to have the noblest souls, who, most acutely sensible of the miseries of war and the sweets of peace, are not hence deterred from facing danger."

The heroic have a peculiar right to commemorate heroic events. But it seems almost rife for us to be talking about the memories of the Fourth of July. It seems to me you have been solemnly commemorating that day ever since you first volunteered in this war, and pledged yourselves to put your lives at hazard in the cause of your country. In your acts of duty, faithfully performed, your zeal to confront danger, your night watches, your long and weary marches, your patient submission to the stern discipline of war —you have worthily emulated the example of those revolutionary patriots, whose wisdom and valor are indentified with this day. And yet we may rouse up to greater exertions, our hearts will glow with more fervid valor if we recall how great were the perils and sacrifices which were encountered to gain the liberties and the government we seek to preserve. Herein was the surpassing merit of the heroes of '76," that they sought to establish a free and independent republican government, and devoted everything to the work while it was yet an experiment, and in force they could realize how beneficial would be its results. If they were willing to give up their lives in order to work out an experiment, what sacrifices ought we not to make to preserve that system of government, when we have seen its wonderful success and its wide-spread blessings!

Again, their sacrifices were all the more noble and their example all the more praiseworthy and august, because their efforts were altogether voluntary, and their purposes free from everything selfish. They were not driven by actual oppression into revolution. They prospered in all their arts; they enjoyed affluence; their ships sailed into every sea; they were revered and proud. In their respective Legislatures, they exercised almost exclusive control over their local and domestic affairs. But the mother country asserted the right of legislating in Parliament on their affairs without giving them a voice in that legislation. She undertook, at first, to assert this power in a manner little more than formal, and as if her object was principally to show a purpose not to abandon it. All this could hardly have affected the temporal prosperity of the colonists. But they resisted such an exercise of power because it implied that they were inferiors of other British subjects. They were determined not to obey the acts of the British Parliament unless they could be represented there and have a voice in the legislation. They were too high-spirited to submit to be inferiors. To vindicate their independence, and the principles of self-government, they were willing to exchange luxury for poverty, to give up their splendid commerce, to behold decay and solitude on their once busy wharves, and for many years to suffer the hardships of war. Sidney on the scaffold, Hass at the stake, Gallileo in his lonely cell, Socrates drinking the poisoned cup, have each left an example of fidelity and self-sacrifice, which has elevated human nature and encouraged every effort for the right. But the era of our independence is crowded with grand and heroic examples; and he who can be indifferent to them is not worthy to be a freeman.

In one sense this is a war of independence. The people of the United States, in conformity with the constitution, elected Abraham Lincoln President, (and here let me say that I heartily believe he has to-day more sincere friends in the South than his predecessor, James Buchanan, had while President), and a large number of men rose up in rebellion against that choice of the sovereign people. It became a question, then, whether our fellow-citizens, who had given their votes for him were to be considered the equals or inferiors of other citizens! Whether, in fact, the right of suffrage, when exercised in a non-slaveholding State was not equally as sacred as when exercised in a slaveholding State! I think the question is in a fair way of being settled, and settled too, so justly and effectually, that nobody will ever again dare to raise it.

When this rebellion broke out, the people were almost bewildered. We had been habituated to sympathize with revolutions. We had sympathized with the glorious revolution of 1688; we had sympathized with Ireland in her longing for independence; we had sympathized with the South American republic, with Greece, with Italy, and with Hungary, and we paused in amazement to reflect if it was possible that there could be any justification for the South to revolutionize against our own free Government. The first blow against our National flag brought us to our senses. We saw that there was not a shadow of a shade of comparison between this rebellion and the progressive revolutions I have mentioned. We saw that this rebellion was a step backwards —a step from popular to aristocratic institutions. In rallying to suppress it therefore, we were not only defending our own Country and Union, with its ten thousand precious interests, but we were preserving these invaluable principles of liberty which are the common inheritance in the world.

In countries where the people are oppressed by an unequal and unjust government, and where a standing army, an ever-present police and prisons, stifle the the freedom of speech and the press, a resort to force is a justifiable remedy to reform their government. But it a free country where the popular will constitutionally expressed is sovereign where men have the most perfect latitude in discussing all their political and social measures, a resort to war to work a change of government is wicked in the extreme. Never under the sun were more paltry and frivolous pretexts for revolution urged than those put forth by the leaders of the rebellion—never any more selfish and disruptable. But assume that their imagined grievances existed: admit that the duties on imports, the privileges of the coasting trade, the bounties of the sea-fisheries, and the agitation of slavery were injurious to them, could not time and reason redress every wrong? Was there anything so oppressive that they could not wait a reasonable time for the constitutional remedies to be applied? Why, what are four years of discontent in a republic that ought to live a thousand years? Where was their love of the common country that they should be so hasty? Where their regard for the success of popular government that they should court an alliance with absolute rulers? Where was their respect for the glorious memories of our eras of settlement and independence? Where their reverence for the teachings of the illustrious fathers of the republic that they should imperil the liberties of this fair land? No wonder they proceeded at once to abolish the old anniversaries which add lustre to our history! No wonder they ceased to commemorate the Fourth of July! Ah, indeed, what words can express the scorn and execrations they deserve for such monstrous crimes!

But their alleged grievance did not exist. Senator Hammond of South Carolina, and Mr. Stephens of Georgia, were both right in saying that the South had no real danger to apprehend from slavery discussion. Senator Hammond told his constituents that slavery had been constantly gaining strength at the South; that it had received new judicial and Congressional guarantees; that agitation of the subject only made the South more united in support of it, and that the institution had become as strong as the rock of Gibralter.

Refuting, as we can, the rebel leaders, out of their own mouths, their guilt seems all the more enormous. In history they will appear not only as the enemies of their country, but as the malignant enemies of mankind. And shall they be permitted to destroy this noble government of ours? Shall they much longer be allowed to bring devastation upon the country? They destroy the American Constitution and Union! they tear down the fair fabric of our liberties! They have a good right to go and extinguish the copious and living springs which give life and verdure to nature: they have as much right to forever quench the sources of our great rivers which waft commerce on their bosoms, and revive and fertilize the earth. No, the constitution is ours to enjoy,—not ours to destroy.

We are not disposed to rail at our enemies. It is not our interest to depreciate them. Of course you had rather fight a gentleman than a loafer. The more enlightened we acknowledge our enemies to be, and the greater their powers, the more creditable are our achievements in suppressing them. It has been said that the great boast of polished life is the delicacy, and even the generosity of its hostility. Certainly we will not deny the rebels any consolation they are thus entitled to from this test. We come with no enmity towards the South—with no disposition to molest their rights. We have exemplified this in our acts. While we have seen many things behind the vigor and energy of the South, we have seen many things to admire. We have seen much culture and refinement. We have enjoyed kind hospitality. We have visited the homes of the Southern people. With pleasure have we noticed their numerous institutions of learning. We have passed where their loved ones lie buried, and witnessed in their lofty monuments and flower-besprinkled graves, how tender and endearing is their affection. These things have served to make us love and venerate still more highly a country so vast, and whose civilization has so richly prospered.

The rebel leaders charged that our army would kindle the fires of insurrection. From the bottom of their hearts they may thank God it is not so! But still it is fair for us to say that we mean, in an honorable manner to re-establish the Constitution in all its integrity. We intend, and as speedily as possible, to plant the flag of the Union wherever it has before waved, and in such a manner that it will remain secure as the ensign of our national supremacy. This we intend to do at all hazard—at all hazards. Slavery is nothing—we ourselves are nothing—this whole generation is nothing, compared with the perpetuity of popular representative government and the Union of the American States!

Let us take heed, fellow soldiers, how momentous is this era in which our lot is cast. It will stand out conspicuous in the history of the world. We desire to reflect honor on our State. We desire that she shall not be behind any other State in the share of valor she contributes to this war. And while we are anxious for her renown, let us remember that every act of duty on our part—every heroic deed we perform, will add so much to the glory of our common country. Let us then emulate the example of the most illustrious of heroes. Nay, let us set new examples of valor—brighter than even the past can furnish, so that generations to come will look back and admire this age. Our own names may not become famous, but the place where we fall may become famous. Let us determine to make it as eternal as Thermopylæ, and so the reign of Peace will be longer and more delightful when again, on easy wing, she shall descend from the skies. So shall man's capacity for self government be better vindicated. So shall the American name be made respected throughout the world, and more dreadful to the enemies of liberty. And so our hardy mariners, as they carry our flag above them, will find a safe protection, whether they sail into the proud harbors of warlike nations or penetrate to barbaric shores.

An Important Debate in the United States Senate.

GEN. McCLELLAN, SECRETARY STANTON, AND THE ARMY IN VIRGINIA.

EMPLOYING THE NEGRO IN THE ARMY.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—SENATE.—Mr. Chandler, of Michigan, called up the resolution calling for all the orders issued by General McClellan, his correspondence, the number of his forces, &c. He then modified the resolution so as to request the President to furnish his information, if not incompatible with the public interest.

Mr. Wright, of Indiana, said he had been mortified at and regretted the tone of the Senator's (Chandler's) speech, when he (Chandler) offered this resolution. It was not to his (Wright's) taste, in this hour of the country's trouble, to make any charges against, or throw any obstacles in the way of, the General in the field. In the opinion of the Senator, (Chandler,) General McClellan must have committed an atrocious crime, worthy of the severest penalty of the law. General McClellan has not been a newspaper General, written up by correspondents, but he has been most indiscreetly denounced by them; yet he has never made any reply. He (Wright) would would not go back to the operations of General McClellan on the Potomac, but ventured to say that McClellan's ten days campaign in front of Richmond, fighting an infuriated enemy, would arouse as much admiration among the people of foreign countries as it has awakened confidence at home among our own people. He (Wright) was in favor of the vigorous prosecution of the war, and in favor of a strong confiscation bill, but he would do nothing to divide the true Union men of the country. This was not the place to pass such resolutions as these, sanctioned as they were by the speech of the Senator from Michigan. If President Lincoln can trust Gen. McClellan and Secretary Stanton, he (Wright) was willing to trust them. He would stand by the man, McClellan, who was fighting the battles of the country.

Mr. Chandler said that the Senator from Indiana (Wright) must have mistaken his (Chandler's) remarks. The press of the country has been filled with denunciations of the Secretary of War for what they said was a military crime on his part, not sending reinforcements to Gen. McClellan. It was intended that this assault upon the Secretary of War should be deadly, and lead to his removal. He denied that Secretary Stanton was guilty of the crime, and he simply called for the evidence in the case. It is plain to every man in the land that when the army was sent off to the Peninsula there should have been a force sufficient retained to defend the capital. He had the evidence of nine Major Generals taken before the Committee on the Conduct of the War, which they said it was absolutely necessary to retain a force here for the defense of Washington. Gen. Richardson, in his sworn statement, said it would require 40,000 men, and corps of 60,000 men to stop the movement of the enemy above or below the city. Gen. Franklin thought that 35,000 to 50,000 men would be necessary: and the others said 50,000 to 75,000 men must be left here for the proper defense of the place. When Gen. McClellan went to Fortress Monroe it was found that he had not left a solitary regiment here, except the 19th, and that he had not left a solitary gun on wheels for the defense of the capital. Had this gone on, the enemy would have taken the capital before the month of April. But the President interposed and stopped it, and kept a corps for the defense of the capital. Was it not proper that these facts should go to the country? Was it not right that the people should know what the facts really are? The President and Secretary Stanton sent every man, every musket, every sabre and bayonet to the army of the Peninsula that could possibly be spared from the defense of the capital. Nothing was refused to that army that could by any possibility be spared. Was it not fair, then, that the press should stop denouncing the man (Secretary Stanton) who was opposed to this division of the army, but who was in favor of marching the army straight into Richmond!

Mr. Lane of Kansas, moved to postpone the further consideration of the resolution until December.

Mr. Trumbull was in favor of the passage of the resolution. Let the facts go to the people and the country. He was willing to trust all the people with the facts.

Mr. Wilson of Massachusetts, said he would not vote on any speech that had been made on the subject, but simply on the resolution calling for the facts, which ought to go to the people.

Mr. Cowan thought such a resolution should not have been introduced, but, now that the issue was made, the resolution ought to be passed, that the facts might come forth.

Mr. Henderson thought this resolution was going to have the effect to make two parties in the country in regard to the operations of the Generals in the field. If reinforcements are sent McClellan, the rebel capital can be taken in a month. Cease, then, these mischevious resolutions, which only tend to excite party feeling. If any General is incompetent, let the President remove him at once; but he had seen no incompetency in front of Richmond. We are always apt to underrate force of the rebels. We must have more energy and a larger force, or we shall never put down the rebellion. It is useless to close our eyes to the fact that the rebels are as strong as we are, and the people may as well know the fact. The newspapers have been saying for months that the Southern army is starving. Is it possible that there is such ignorance as to suppose that, with the climate and soil of the South, the rebels can be starved out? it is perfectly idle to attempt to conceal the facts from the people. They ought to know everything connected with this war. The South are as well furnished with cannon and weapons of war as we are, and they will continue to make them.

He wanted to inspire a little more zeal in the country. Let them use all their energy to suppress the rebellion. Let the whole country join as one, and let certain leaders of the Republican party cease their schemes of emancipation. Not but he believed them honest in their views, but he believed they were mistaken. There had not been sufficient confidence placed in the men of the border States. He (Henderson) had heard it said that the men from the border States were not as loyal as they should be, because they were so much attached to slavery. The border States had but their share of men in the Union army in Missouri. They were ready to put into the field the 12,000 men asked for by the recent call, and, if this was not enough, Missouri would put into the field 20,000 more. In regard to Kentucky, he believed that the neutrality, adopted by the Union men of that State, saved that State to the Union. These schemes of emancipation might as well be postponed until December, because nothing can be done until the serried ranks of the rebels were broken up, and he did not believe they were going to be broken up before that time: but he was not going to call loyal men abolitionists, because he believed many of these men were most sincere in their belief. Loyal men of the South certainly cannot complain as much of the abolitionists as they can of the rebels, for the latter have taken 50 per cent. of the slaves from Missouri. He was not in favor of arming the negroes. The slaves never could be made soldiers, but he would have the slaves used at every kind of labor. He should vote for the resolution of the Senator from Michigan, Mr. Chandler, for the people might as well have all the facts now, but he was very sorry to hear any charges of disloyalty against Gen. McClellan.

Mr. Chandler said he had made no charges of that kind, or anything that would bear that construction. He believed that great mistakes had been made, but he charged nothing further.

Mr. Henderson was glad to hear that, and he wanted it to go to the country that there was no suspicion of disloyalty in the minds of any one against Gen. McClellan. He had the most perfect confidence in him.

Mr. Saulsbury offered an amendment to the resolution, so as to include the number of troops under General Fremont and General Banks at the date of General McClellan's departure for the Peninsula; also, the number of troops in and around Washington; also the number of troops between Washington and the Rappahannock; also the number of troops actually in service under General McClellan in the recent engagements before Richmond.

Mr. Chandler accepted the amendment.

Mr. Trumbull said he was astonished that Senators were so united in praising McClellan, and were yet so unwilling to hear any different opinion concerning him. The Senator from Indiana (Wright), with strange forgetfulness, said that General McClellan had not defended himself in the newspapers. Has that Senator read the newspapers? The papers have been full of the praise of General McClellan and his great strategic skill, and how he was drawing the rebels into a trap, &c. General McClellan was placed in command, more than a year ago, of the army, with full power. If the Senator from Missouri (Henderson) had been told that General McClellan was to take command of the army, and remain in one position not only all the fall, but all the winter, without making an attack upon the enemy, would that gentleman have chosen such a general?

Mr. Henderson said he had thought Manassas should have been attacked, but he also thought the Senator from Illinois, like a great many others, had underrated the force of the rebels everywhere.

Mr. Trumbull said he had always acted on the defensive. We were putting down the rebellion—but has the General whom the Senator has "such unbounded confidence ever made an attack? Is this rebellion to be put down by digging trenches and acting on the defensive? The fact is, taking out the loyal slaves, there are only about eight million people in all the States now in rebellion. The rebels could not raise as large an army as the State of New York, and they have to watch the slave population. Let the Union army stop watching slaves. He was not going to express any opinion this morning, but the country will know whether digging trenches a year was the way to put down rebellion, and then, when attacked, leaving the trenches and doing the fighting outside of them. He believed the people were ready to make any sacrifice to put down the rebellion, and he believed they would do it.

Mr. Davis was in favor of the resolution, but believed the Secretary of War was intriguing to supplant McClellan. McClellan had submitted his plan for the campaign, but the Secretary of War had overruled it, showing hostility to Gen. McClellan.

Mr. Morrill asked if the Senator (Davis) stated what he knew, or was it on mere information.

Mr. Davis said what he had stated he understood to be so, and, if the Senate would give him a committee, he thought he could prove it.

Mr. Chandler said General McClellan's plan, as submitted, was to leave the enemy at Manassas and the Potomac river, and the whole army was to be shipped off by way of Annapolis. This plan was overruled by the President and Secretary of War. The facts ought to be stated fairly.

Mr. Wilson, of Massachusetts, said the Senator from Kentucky (Davis) had made some statements which ought not to go to the country. He (Wilson) should, without hesitation or qualification, say that the Senator from Kentucky (Davis) was utterly mistaken. He (Wilson) did not believe that the Secretary of War was engaged in any intrigue against McClellan. His (Wilson's) position as Chairman of the Committee on Military Affairs gave him advantages for finding out if such were the case, and this was the first time that he ever heard of it. There has been considerable difference in regard to the plan of taking Richmond. It was understood that there were three plans. One was, General Rosecrans to go by the Valley of the Shenandoah to Richmond, and he believed that the Secretary of War approved of this plan; another was to go down to Richmond by way of the Rapahannock: the third plan was to go to Richmond by way of the Peninsula, which was the plan of General McClellan.

Mr. Chandler's resolution was then passed—yeas 39, yeas 6.

BUSINESS LOCALS.

JULY—PIMPLES AND SKIN DISEASES are the result of impure blood. The blood becomes thick and clogged. The skin is not able to cast off the impurities so important to health. How many young men and women we see with their faces covered with pimples and blotches, who are endeavoring to remove them by the use of soaps and washes of various kinds. This is very dangerous and should never be practised by persons desirous of good health. Mothers who have children afflicted with sores and eruptions, should never dry them up by external applications, for in this way they will drive in the humors and produce ill health for the child during its whole life time. There is no mother that likes to see her children afflicted with feeble health.

Judson's Mountain Herb Pills are prepared expressly for the cure of eruptions of the skin, such as Pimples, Blotches &c. They cleanse the blood of all impurities, producing a beautiful, clear and healthy skin, so much admired by all people of taste and refinement.

Judson's Mountain Herb Pills are sold by all medicine dealers.

CASH CAPITAL.....$100,000
NETT SURPLUS..... 68,000

DIVIDENDS ON CAPITAL LIMITED BY ITS CHARTER TO SEVEN PER CENT. PER ANNUM—
—THE ENTIRE PROFITS GO TO THE POLICY HOLDERS.

This society was organized in the year 1859, with a cash capital of $100,000 deposited irrevocably with the Insurance Department of the State of New York, in United States bonds, on which it allows but seven per cent. per annum to the stockholders, and the entire profits of the business is shared by the policy holders. The nett profits in two years amounts to $429,000, which shows an unparalelled success in the history of Life Insurance. Its operations are managed by a Board of Directors composed of the oldest business men of the country, and its business is conducted entirely on the cash plan. Dividends to the policy holders will be made every five years, and no Company in the country offers equal advantages to its dealers.

HOME

NEW YORK.

Extract from Third Annual Report of the Superintendent of the Insurance Department of the State of New York.

WM. BARNES,

Superintendent.

There are now ninety-five joint stock fire insurance companies incorporated by the State of New York, engaged in the transaction of business; of these companies, fourteen only received premiums during the last year, amounting to over one hundred thousand dollars; four only received premiums above the sum of two hundred thousand dollars, and the premium income of one only exceeded three hundred thousand dollars. The premium receipts of this Company, the HOME, with a capital of $1,000,000, were $829,987,53. The premium income of thirty of the smaller companies was $851,573,65 only, with capitals, however, amounting in the aggregate to the sum of $4,980,000.

The state of things should be improved; the premium income of the mass of our f

THE CITY.

A SPECIAL meeting of the Board of County Commissioners will be held to-day.

ABOUT ten bushels of red raspberries, be the same more or less, came down on the Ariel from Carver, Chaska and Shakopee yesterday morning.

THESE cool days are just the thing for our ripening crops of wheat. After the abundance of rain we have lately had, hot weather would have scalded the grain and rusted the straw.

QUERY.—Does the Mankato Independent publish a semi-weekly edition? We rarely see a specimen of it. Its neighbor, the semi-weekly Record, comes to hand regularly.

REV. F. A. NOBLE will be ordained as Pastor of the "House of Hope," at the chapel on Walnut street, this evening.

The services will be conducted by the Presbytery of Minnesota, and will commence at 7 3-4 o'clock.

SHINPLASTERS.—The community have been agitated for the last few days about the substitute for silver change, and we understand several of our business men have made arrangements to issue small notes representing fractions of a dollar. We presume the necessity for this is now obviated by the action in the City Council yesterday.

[By oversight of ours, the following has laid on our table several days, as indicated by the date.—ED. PRESS.]

ST. ANTHONY, July 7, 1862.

Feeling truly grateful to the citizens of St. Anthony in general, and to the Firemen in particular, for their strenuous endeavors to save our property from destruction at the time of the burning of the Jones House, last Sunday morning, we take this method of returning to all our sincere thanks.

WM. E. JONES,
MARK T. BERRY,
D. P. PALMER.

CEDAR STREET.—Is it not time this street was opened? It seems to us that it has been made a stone quarry long enough to satisfy any reasonable contractor. A very little work would now put it in good condition between Third and Fourth streets, and add greatly to the convenience of the public.

CONNECTION.—In announcing the arrival of Lieutenant Eschlic, of the First Minnesota (Captain Von Minden's) Cavalry, the other day, we should have said Lieutenant Gustav Lenc. There is no Lieutenant Eschlic in that, or any other company from Minnesota, that we are aware of.

NEW BUILDINGS.—A new stone block is about to be erected on Third Street, adjoining Cathcart's Store by the Messrs. Thompson, consisting of two buildings—one to be occupied by themselves for a bank, and the other for a store. The old wooden tenements recently occupying the site, have just been removed for that purpose. It is expected the buildings will be completed this fall.

REMOVAL—EYE AND EAR.—On account of the great number of patients already received under treatment by Dr. Underwood, the celebrated operator on the eye and ear, and the daily applications of others, he has been compelled to remove his office from the American House, to Ingersoll's Block, where he may be hereafter consulted for blindness and deafness, and all diseases of the eye and ear, and chronic diseases generally.

THE FIRST IMPRESSION.—There is a popular opinion that the first impression is the best, and those who entertain it have it confirmed in the events and observations of life. We heard a lady remark, the other day, that when she commenced housekeeping she was impressed with the belief that the Chemical Saleratus made by D. B. DeLand & Co., was the only pure and unadulterated article in market. She acted upon this impression, bought it, used it, always had good biscuits, always found her husband pleased with the bread, and has never had occasion to doubt that her first impression about Saleratus was the correct one. This Chemical Saleratus is for sale at all first class groceries. For sale by all wholesale grocers in Chicago and Milwaukee. d&wlt

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.—The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Council was held at the City Hall yesterday.

FIREWOOD ORDINANCE.

The amendment to the ordinance for the measurement of firewood was taken up and adopted. The ordinance as now established requires all wood brought to the city for sale to be measured, whether brought by water or land. The fees established are, for half cord or less, five cents; over half cord and under five cords, ten cents per cord; over five cords and under fifteen, five cents per cord; over fifteen cords, two cents per cord.

BROADWAY SEWER.

A petition, unanimously signed, was presented, representing the unsafe condition of the sewer on Broadway, in consequence of the recent heavy rains, and requesting the Council to take action to have the sewer completed the present season. Referred to the committee on streets, with directions to report to the next meeting of this Council.

CITY TREASURER'S REPORT.

The City Treasurer submitted a very interesting and minute report respecting the financial affairs of the city, concluding with a recommendation that the outstanding amount of city script (some $5,000) be retired by the issue of small notes or shinplasters for the convenience of the business public in the making of change.

UNITING THE LEVEES.

A report was submitted by the City Engineer in response to a resolution of the Council, estimating the expense of uniting the upper with the lower levee to be $2,051.25. The report was laid over. A resolution was adopted authorizing the publication of proposals.

MONEYS COLLECTED.

The report of the Wharfmaster for the week ending July 7th, showed a collection of $345.40, for the week ending July 14th, $355.81. The report of the City Justice showed a collection of $122 for the month ending July 15th. Amount of tolls collected on the St. Paul Bridge since June 1st, $668.84.

THIRD WARD CONSTABLE.

A vacancy having occurred in the office of Constable in consequence of the refusal of James Waters, who was elected last spring, to qualify, the Council proceeded to an election for said vacancy. M. Miller was duly elected.

INDEBTEDNESS CANCELLED.

A report of the Committee of Ways and Means was submitted showing the cancellation of City indebtedness as follows: City orders and scrip $11,071,06; City bonds of various description $10,487.84; Coupons. $263,01—in all $21,911,91.

SMALL NOTES OR SHINPLASTERS.

Alderman Fitz offered the following resolution, which was passed. Alderman Steele and the President only voting in the negative:

Resolved, That small notes be issued by the City, signed by the Mayor, Comptroller and City Clerk, in denominations of 5, 10, 25 and 50 cents, and be placed in the hands of the Committee on Ways and Means for the purpose of exchanging the same for the City Scrip now outstanding, to be redeemable in sums of five dollars and upwards by the Treasurer, and receivable for all chimas due the city; and that said committee be authorized to have said notes printed in a suitable manner, and report at each regular meeting the amount of such exchanges—such issue not to exceed the sum of five thousand dollars.

THE STREET COMMISSIONER.

On motion of Alderman Valentine, the resolution for the removal of Patrick Murnan from the office of Street Commissioner on account of incompetency was taken up.

The Committee on Streets submitted written charges touching the incompetency of that officer, and made quite a number of specifications.

The Street Commissioner put in a defense, denying some and admitting and and excusing some of the other specifications.

The resolution was debated at some length and with considerable warmth, when the resolution was lost.

AYES—Ald. Fitz, Grant, Paine, Thompson and Valentine—5.

NOES—Ald. Daily, Eddy, Finck, Gross, Steele, Wiley and President—7.

Ald. Valentine and Fitz then tendered their resignation as members of the Committee on Streets, which were accepted by the Council.

RIVER NEWS.—The arrivals since our last report, are the Northern Light from Dunleith, McLellan from LaCrosse, and Ariel and Clara Hine from Carver.

The departures are the War Eagle for Dunleith, Keokuk and Favorite for La Crosse, Clara Hine and Ariel for Carver, Jeannette Roberts for Mankato.

The Frank Steele, which has been running between Winona and LaCrosse, has been laid up for repairs. The Keokuk will take her place, and the Favorite, Captain Bell, will take the place of the Keokuk.

The McLellan is the down packet for LaCrosse this morning, and the Northern Light for Dunleith.

FLORENCE SEWING MACHINE AGENCY,

One door East of Davenport's Bookstore, on Third Street.

The "FLORENCE" SEWING MACHINES make FOUR DIFFERENT stitches on one and the same machine. Thus the LOCK, DOUBLE-LOCK, KNOT AND DOUBLE-KNOT, all of which make the seam alike on both sides of the fabric. Either or all can be produced while the Machine is in motion.

They have the REVERSIBLE FEED MOTION, which enables the operator to have the work carry either way, or to change the direction, and fasten the end of seams, work, together with making a long and a short stitch, is done simply by turning a thumb screw.

Their motions are all positive. There are no springs to get out of order. They are so simple that the most inexperienced can work them perfectly and with ease. They are NOISELESS, and can be used where quiet is necessary.

They are the EASTEST SEWERS in the WORLD, making five stitches to each revolution. They oil no dresses. Their stitch is the wonder of all, because of its combined ELASTICITY, STRENGTH and BEAUTY.

Prices No. 1, $45.00, No. 2, $55.00, No. 3, $65.00, No. 4, $72.00, No. 5, $77.00, No. 6, $82.00, No. 7 Cabinet cases, $90.00, No. 7 Cabinet cased, $95.00, Mahogany $97.00, Rosewood $105.00. Hemmers and all necessary tools included in the above prices.

On hand different kinds of lower priced Machines. Call and see the "Florence Machines."

A SMALL EMIGRATION DOCUMENT.

A circular by the Commissioner of Statistics, entitled "Free Homes in Minnesota," and which condenses a great many leading facts about Minnesota in the compass of a page of letter paper, is in type at this office, and will be printed without charge for any one who will supply the paper. This is one of many forms by which the Commissioner of Statistics is endeavoring to diffuse abroad a knowledge of the advantages which Minnesota offers for settlement under the Homestead, and as it costs no one anything but the trouble of bringing their letter paper to this office, we hope our business men will generally "take a hand in" and push on the good work.

SAINT PAUL, July 3d, 1862.

The undersigned will receive sealed proposals at his office in Saint Paul, Minnesota, until 12 o'clock M. on the 10th day of July, for furnishing and delivering, at Fort Snelling, Minnesota, complete rations for United States troops, prisoners of war, and to any other persons subsisted in kind by the Government, to be sent there.

The ration consists as follows: Three-fourths of a pound of pork or bacon, or one and a fourth pounds of fresh or salt beef; twenty-two ounces of bread or flour, or one pound of hard bread, or one and a fourth pounds of corn meal; and at the rate to every one hundred rations, of eight quarts of beans or peas, and ten pounds of rice or hominy; ten pounds of green coffee, or eight pounds of roasted and ground coffee, or one and a half pounds of tea; fifteen pounds of sugar; four quarts of vinegar; one pound of sperm candles, or one and a fourth pounds of adamantine candles, or one and a half pounds of tallow candles; four pounds of soap, and two quarts of salt.

In addition to the foregoing, there is allowed twice per week one gallon of molasses per one hundred rations, and thrice per week, if practicable, an issue of potatoes, at the rate of one pound per man. When beans, peas, rice, hominy, or potatoes cannot be issued in the proportions given above, an equivalent in value shall be issued in some other proper food. Desiccated potatoes, or desiccated mixed vegetables, at the rate, per one hundred rations, of one hundred and fifty ounces of the former, or one hundred ounces of the latter, may be substituted for beans, peas, rice, hominy, or fresh potatoes, when these articles cannot be issued; or, upon the requisition of the proper officer, and when the supply on hand will admit of it, they may be issued at the foregoing rate, twice per week in lieu of beans or peas, or in lieu of rice or hominy. Fresh beef may be issued as often as the commanding officer of any detachment or regiment may require it, when practicable, in place of salt meat.

The Acting Commissary reserves to himself the right to diminish or increase the number of rations required, whenever the interests of the government demand it.

Bidders must name their sureties in their bids. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any and all bids deemed extravagant.

The contract will extend to, and include the 31st day of December, 1862.

Bidders can be present at the opening of the bids.

NOTICE OF FORECLOSURE AND MORTGAGE SALE.

Names of Mortgagors—A. Vance Brown and Louisa Brown, his wife, of St. Paul, Minn.

Name of Mortgagee—John H. McAllister, of Harrisburg, Pa.

Mortgage dated and acknowledged—June seventh A. D. one thousand eight hundred and fifty nine (1859.)

Mortgage recorded—June eighth, A. D., one thousand eight hundred and fifty nine, at 10 o'clock, A. M. in the office of the Register of Deeds in Ramsey county, Minnesota, in Book "D" of Mortgages, on page 101 and 102.

The following mortgaged premises—lots one (1), two (2), three (3), four (4), thirteen (13), fourteen (14), twenty (20), twenty-one (21), and twenty-two (22), of block number eighty-seven. Brown's addition to St. Paul according to the recorded plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said county of Ramsey, situate and being in the county of Ramsey and State of Minnesota.

The note secured by said mortgage reads as follows:

$2,200 St. Paul, Minn. June 7, 1859.

One year after date, we, or either of us, for value received, I promise to pay, to the order of John H. McAllister two thousand two hundred dollars, at the Harrisburg Bank, Harrisburg, Penn'a, with interest thereon, payable semi-annually, at the rate of twenty per cent. per annum.

A. VANCE BROWN.

The interest on said note has been paid and received up to March first, A. D. 1862.

The amount claimed to be due upon said mortgage at the date of this notice, to wit, May 12, A. D. 1862 and now actually due thereon, is the sum of two thousand two hundred and thirty dollars. ($2,230.)

Default having been made in the conditions of said mortgage, by the nonpayment of the money thereby secured, and no proceedings at law or in equity having been instituted to recover said mortgage debt or any part thereof:

Notice is hereby given that said mortgage will be foreclosed, and that the said mortgaged premises will by virtue of a power of sale in said mortgage contained, and thereof recorded, and pursuant to the provisions of the statute in such case made and provided, be sold at public vendue, at the front door of the Court House in the city of St. Paul, county of Ramsey, and State of Minnesota, on the third day of July, A. D. one thousand eight hundred and sixty two, (1862) at three o'clock P. M., by the Sheriff of said county, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said mortgage debt with costs and legal charges.

Dated St. Paul, May 12, 1862.

JOHN H. McALLISTER, Mortgagee.

OLIVER DALRYMPLE, Attorney for Mortgagee. my15-6w

Notice is hereby given that the foregoing sale is postponed one week, to take place on the 10th day of July A. D. 1862, at the same hour and place. JOHN H. McALLISTER, Mortgagee.

Dated July 3d, 1862.

O. DALRYMPLE, Att'y for Mortgagee.

Notice is hereby given that the forgoing sale is further postponed one week, to take place July 17th, 1862, at the same hour and place.

JOHN H. McALLISTER, Mortgagee.

Dated St. Paul, July 10th 1862.

O. DALRYMPLE, Att'y for Mortgagee.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.—DEFAULT has been made in the payment of the sum of seven hundred and eighty three dollars, which amount is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice, upon that certain mortgage executed, acknowledged and delivered by John Wesley Bond and Johanna A. H. Bond, his wife, of Ramsey county, Territory (now State) of Minnesota, to Lowman Hawes, of Bloomington, (late of Madison), State of Indiana, and which bears date August twentieth, (20th) A. D. one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven (1857) and was given to secure the payment of six hundred and twenty-four dollars and twenty-five cents ($624.25), in one year from the date thereof, and interest thereon, and was duly recorded at three and a half (3½) of the clock, in the afternoon on the twenty-seventh (27th) day of August, in said year (1857), as a mortgage, in Book "L" of mortgages, pages three hundred and three (303) and three hundred and four (304), in the Registry of Deeds of said Ramsey county.

And the said Lowman Hawes, mortgagee, has duly paid the taxes upon the land therein described as lying in the said county of Ramsey, for for the years 1858, 1859, 1860 and 1861, and all interest and charges thereon, and has the receipt of the treasurer of the said county of Ramsey therefor, and the amount so paid and the interest thereon, at the date of this notice, is twenty-eight and fifty-two one-hundredth dollars, ($28.52) and claims an additional lien on the said land in the county of Ramsey, for the same; and no proceedings at law or in equity have been had to collect the said mortgage debt or any part of the same.

And whereas, said mortgagee, Lowman Hawes, deceased and died intestate on the eleventh (11th) day of February, A. D. 1861, and upon due application, Mary Hawes, of Madison, in the county of Jefferson, State of Indiana, was on the eleventh (11th) day of April, A. D. 1861, duly appointed administratrix of the estate, &c., of said Lowman Hawes, deceased by the Court of Common Pleas, being also a Court of Probate, of said county of Jefferson, and letters of administration have been duly issued to her out of said Court, as administratrix of said estate; an authenticated copy of the said letters of administration and appointment are now on file in the Probate Court in and for the county of Ramsey, in the State of Minnesota.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that under and pursuant to a power of sale, in said mortgage contained, authorizing and empowering the said mortgagee, Lowman Hawes, his heirs, executors, administrators and assigns, to make sale of the premises therein described upon default being made in the conditions of the said mortgage, and under and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the premises described in said mortgage, as follows, to wit; the south half (½) of the southeast quarter (¼) of section thirty-one (31) in township thirty (30) north of range twenty-three (23) west, lying and being in the county of Ramsey, and State of Minnesota; also the southeast quarter (¼) of section two (2), in township thirty-two (32) north, of range twenty-one (21) west, lying and being in the county of Washington and State of Minnesota, with the appurtenants, hereditaments and appurtenances belonging, or in anywise appertaining to the said tracts, will be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder or bidders, for cash, by the Sheriff of said county of Ramsey, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of St. Paul, in said county, at ten (10) of the clock in the forenoon, on Saturday, the sixteenth (16th) day of August, A. D. 1862, to pay said debt, taxes and interest and costs allowed by law.

Dated Saint Paul, Minn., July 1st, 1862.

MARY HAWES,
Administratrix of Mortgagee.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.—Whereas default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made and delivered by Lyman Dayton and Maria B. Dayton, his wife of St. Paul, Ramsey county, Minnesota, to William Coombs Thompson, of Worcester, Worcester county, Massachusetts, dated the seventeenth day of December, A. D. 1860, and recorded in the office of Register of Deeds of the county of Ramsey and State of Minnesota, on the twentieth day of December, A. D. 1860, in Book R, of Mortgages, on pages 234, 235 and 236, and conveying in mortgage, the southeast quarter (¼) of section thirty-four (34) in township twenty-nine (29) north of range twenty-two (22) west, all in the county of Ramsey and State of Minnesota, which mortgage was given to secure the payment of a certain note for four hundred and eleven dollars ($411) and interest, of even date therewith, and there is now claimed to be due and is due thereon, four hundred and seventy and 76-100 dollars ($470.76), and no suit or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, nor any part thereof, and no part of said debt has been paid.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the above described mortgaged premises will be sold at public auction by the Sheriff of said Ramsey county, on the 6th day of June, A. D. 1862, at ten of the clock in the forenoon at the front door of the Court House in St. Paul, in said county, to satisfy said mortgage debt and legal disbursements.
